chicanery and therefore the time is up, Mr. President, I suggest that Senator Hoagland has accomplished his ultimate goal.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Did you want to close on the amendment, Senator Hoagland? No other light is on.

SENATOR HOAGLAND: No, I don't want to. I don't see any point in voting on the amendment, Senator Nichol. No, let's hold the amendment and when we debate the bill again then we can take it up at that time.

SPEAKER NICHOL: But we are going to.

SENATOR HEFNER: Okay. I would just suggest that we handle this bill and then we will be through with Select File and then we will go to General File.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Well, there are no other lights on and no amendments. If you want to run the vote on it, okay. Okay, Senator Hoagland still has his amendment. We are going to have to make a decision here and I will make it and we are going to go to General File right now and this bill will come up early next week, probably Monday.
