

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I might just spend my time chuckling but I am not going to do that. I am going to ask unanimous consent to withdraw my amendment, and when Senator DeCamp makes his motion that you take this bill through without any more discussion or amendment, I think you ought to pass it. Nobody is interested anyway other than me, and when it gets to Select File, I can go through the job of further distancing myself from this. My pride won't even let me go for the syntax of the bill. Senator Chronister, when I was in grade school, they call it elementary school now, I had difficulty learning how to print my name. In order to learn how to print my name, I stayed after school in elementary school. I stayed there on my lunch hour and I had a teacher who was willing to take time and describe the letters as objects that I would recognize to teach me how to put those together to spell my name. The only one I remember now is that "N" was a loaf of bread, "S" was like a snake standing on its tail, and "T" was like a cross or maybe she said a telephone pole and that is how I learned how to print my name. When I printed it, I saw those objects, not letters that made a word. I am a slow learner. I read very slowly now. By the time I get to the end of a page, I have forgotten what I read in the first part of the page. My mind is like a piece of iron. It is almost impossible to scratch it, but once the scratch is there, it is impossible to erase it. I am going to give Senator Higgins a minute of my time, but I am not going to encumber you on General File with any more of my observations on this bill. This meets with the standard of excellence of the Nebraska Legislature, and on other bills like those look-alike drugs, Senator Hefner, we are interested in truth in advertising, why should I try to get a bill in the shape that does not accurately represent the level of quality that the Legislature desires in its legislation. Whatever time I have left I will give to Senator Higgins.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Excuse me, did you withdraw your motion? Not until Senator Higgins gets through. Then did you wish to withdraw it?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Then if I get irritated, I still may not withdraw it but I will leave it sitting there for the moment.

SPEAKER NICHOL: All right, Senator Higgins.
