the agenda for today, in the memo last week we...I think I anticipated that the discussion on permanent rules would take longer than it did. With that motion to adopt the permanent rules being disposed of so quickly this morning, that modifies how I see the rest of the day unfolding. And what I would propose to us that we do is, you know, obviously stand at ease and introduce bills here while we're appending the arrival of the Governor for the State of the State Speech. Secondly, all of us give just undivided attention to the Governor as he delivers the State of the State Speech. There'll be a quiz delivered by the Lieutenant Governor afterwards to make sure everyone is listening. At the conclusion of that, we, I think, would stand at ease for some time, hopefully with the goal of adjourning for the day at around 11:30 so the Reference Committee can get its work done and then we can get on with the activities, whatever else you might have planned. There would be absolutely no reason for us to return to the Chamber in the afternoon, unless somebody wants to overrule the Speaker's agenda and put some significant matters for us to discuss this afternoon, but at this point, there really aren't any before us. So, that's how I see the rest of the day unfolding.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Withem.
