LB 401, 806, 806A

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...defeats, defeats to numerous to mention or even tally, defeats of the kind which I have become accustomed to absorbing, but they never have a lasting negative effect. One of the reasons I'm going to participate in the discussion this afternoon, and not just talking about my objection to the rules being perverted, but to give those people who may be acting in good faith the time they need to arrive at some kind of agreement. So I've put my light on again and I will do on this bill as I did on LB 401. Horatius at the bridge.

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: Senator Bruning, you have requested a point of personal privilege. Would you state your point.

SENATOR BRUNING: Mr. President, I rise to a point of personal privilege. Since we have a few spare moments here I just wanted to take this opportunity to say thank you to my colleagues for your kindness after the birth of my daughter here two weeks ago. I was going to write everybody a personal note and I thought this might be a better way to do it. So I wanted to say thank you. The women senators got Lauren a Raggedy Ann doll, which she loves, and the dads and the granddads and the one bachelor senator got a gift certificate, and I just wanted to take this opportunity to say thank you. We...my family and I very much appreciate it and your kindness is overwhelming. So thank you.

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: Thank you, Senator Bruning. Senator Wehrbein.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Mr. Speaker, members, I had my light on previously from this morning's debate and I...it struck me as we were talking this morning on that, the previous amendment about changing to April first, that perhaps there was more to that in some people's mind than others, and I just wanted to visit at that time and will do so at this point. Some of...I know that some of the decision that has not been made in many people's mind, I realize that this now, is the going the trust fund route versus (LB) 806A, which will inject $100 million into the formula by this next year. And I guess I just wanted at that point to remind the body that it probably is getting time to
