SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, I intend to do that, Senator Wehrbein. And the reason I'm not going to do it by way of a study resolution, I don't want it to get caught up in the business of committees. I am assuming this responsibility because it's easier for me, as I have time, to go into whatever area is needed to gather the information that would be pertinent.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: And these, at this point, are strictly Spanish interpreters as you foresee it?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, unless they can get two for one and maybe find somebody who is multilingual, but it's aimed at the Spanish speaking inmates at this particular point.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Okay, thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Vrtiska.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the body. I just had a couple of questions that I wanted to follow up with Senator Chambers, if I might.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Chambers, would you respond?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, and what I thought Senator Wehrbein was going to say, after the way that I answered the questions and used the hamburger analogy, I thought he was going to say, when he sat down, well done!

SENATOR VRTISKA: (Laugh.) I'll say that in his stead, Senator Chambers. Senator Chambers, just a couple of questions, and some of this has been covered. And I appreciate this sheet that you sent around because it does answer a number of things that I had intended to talk to you about. But I still have a couple of questions I'd like to get some response on, and that is, how do they deal with these non-English speaking inmates that are incarcerated right now? What type of measure do they use? Do they hire somebody or what?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Not trying to be flippant, but I've been receiving a number of calls in the last few days, and one
