March 19, 1998 LB 1108, 1112

was told we could get a case manager to handle finding solutions for our son. I called the next morning and was asked how soon I could get a case manager. I was told the waiting list is a year. There are not enough staff so they are eliminating beds. Please keep the beds until the families get what they need. Now when I introduced this amendment, it was turned in last night, people who hadn't been listened to before, and here I am speaking about some of the representatives of the employees, began to receive some communications that now they wanted to talk and as a result they have talked and I think we have an acceptable compromise. It's not going to be on this bill. I'm going to withdraw this amendment. Senator Robak had a bill in committee, (LB) 1112...

PRESIDENT ROBAK: One minute.

SENATOR TYSON: ... (LB) 1112, and I was one of the people that kept it from getting out of committee. It was about mental health. And the reason that I did so I think was a good and valid reason. I think so now more so. In some South American countries they have a fish in a stream called a piranha who is very voracious, eats anything. And to get a herd of cattle across the river they'll take an old cow or an old steer and they'll cut it so it bleeds, send it into the water and this draws the piranha down and they eat that one, strip it down to the bones, even the cartilage. The reason that I didn't like 1112 is it was sending a cow in and getting nibbled on by a goldfish. One of the most serious problems we have in the state today is mental health. We have to have a comprehensive review...

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Time.

SENATOR TYSON: ...and we have to have a comprehensive plan.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Tyson. Senator Wesely.

SENATOR WESELY: Actually you want to use some time to finish up? Would you mind? Okay. Madam President, members, Senator Tyson and I have been working I think all through session on trying to...and actually we started last year talking about what we're going to do with these regional centers and he has been
