

Nebraska is the only state with a board specifically for Advanced Practice Registered Nurse (APRN) licensure. In other states, most APRNs are governed through a Board of Nursing, i.e. the same board that governs RN licensure in the state. Nurse midwives in some states are regulated through a Board of Midwifery.