LB36 requires schools to display the National motto of the United State of America.

On and after the effective date of this act, each school board will prominently display the national motto of the United States, "In God We Trust", written legibly in English, in each classroom or in another prominent place in each school building where each student will be able to see and read it each day that school is in session.

A school board can accept contributions to defray the costs of implementing LB36.

Upon the filing of an action seeking to invalidate LB36 in any state or federal court, the Attorney General will intervene on behalf of any school board and any other party named as a defendant for their role in implementation.

The fiscal impact would be on the school districts and should be minimal as they have the ability to collect donations to cover or reduce the costs of implementing LB36. The Attorney General's office estimates an annual cost of ten thousand dollars to cover the operating expenses of the litigation that would be required of them.

For LB36: Under Neb. Rev. Stat. §25-21,159, "If a statute is alleged to be unconstitutional, the Attorney General of the state shall also be served with a copy of the proceeding and be entitled to be heard." LB36 would not necessitate additional personnel costs for the Attorney General's Office, however, the bill will likely require litigation costs approximating $10,000.
