

January 15, 1973

change their remuneration while their term of office and this here is pension or any added thing, other than what you are elected for is considered as such. Now in the judges case what I was referring to, they got elected without having a pension plan, we passes a pension plan and they got the benefit of it while--that they didn't run for in the first place. in other words, it was an added fringe benefit they received and that's why ours was turned down because we were getting an added fringe benefit. The same thing.

SENATOR PROUD: Yes, we can't change the salary during term. Now I would like to comment

(End of Belt #5)