

February 8, 1973

if a person is starving to death and then you'll only let him half starve, why this is an inflationary change, considering the base, I think we don't have any inflation.

SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes Senator Waldron.

SENATOR WALDRON: Mr. President, members of the legislature, I rise to oppose Senator DeCamp's motion, I at one time represented ten small counties and I know Senator Stull represented part of those, and Senator Lewis has spoken also who represented several small counties, but I see if you let the county board set the salaries of some of the other county officials, I might say the county officials don't always get along with the county board and in a small county it would be very easy for them to set the salaries so they could get rid of the person that they, that the county board didn't like holding the other office and, make it very difficult for him to make a living.

(End of Belt #4)