set for Monday--

SPEAKER: No, you'd have to vote on it first. You've just amended the, the--

SENATOR PROUD: All right, that's fine, I object to his withdrawl.

SPEAKER: Would you object to the unanimous consent to withdraw?

SENATOR PROUD: Certainly.

SPEAKER: All right. Motion now made to withdraw the motion.

SENATOR PROUD: Mr. President.

SPEAKER: Senator Proud.

SENATOR PROUD: This is a bunch of procedural gymnastics again to confuse the public and sweep this whole matter under the rug, because if the motion, now the motion now before the house as I understand it is that this be set the first thing on general file Monday, right, if my amendment carries. My amendment to his motion carried, didn't it?

SPEAKER: Yes--

SENATOR PROUD: Therefore his motion now is--

SPEAKER: Before the house--

SENATOR PROUD: --to put this on the top of general file next Monday.

SPEAKER: Monday. That is correct.

SENATOR PROUD: Now, Senator Barnett now is attempting to withdraw his motion. That didn't work so he's attempting to put it to a vote so he's put it to the bottom of general file and then he'll have somebody tomorrow get up and move to put it to the top of general file again so we're just kidding ourselves. I urge that we vote for the motion to set it for Monday. That's what's before the house now, isn't it, Mr. President?

SPEAKER: Well, Senator Barnett has now moved to withdraw the motion--

SENATOR PROUD: And I objected to it so--

SPEAKER: I, I'm not--

SENATOR PROUD: I objected, he asked unanimous consent, oh, he has moved--

SPEAKER: He has moved to withdraw it since the--

SENATOR PROUD: Well, that's okay to take a vote on there, I, I--

SPEAKER: I would rule that the motion before us now is on Senator Barnett's motion to withdraw the--

SENATOR PROUD: All right, then, I urge everybody to vote red.

SPEAKER: Any, now, Senator Waldron, I believe has--

SENATOR WALDRON: Mr. President, to add more to the confusion, maybe I sympathize with Senator Proud. He does seem to be a little bit confused which is understandable and what I think we
