

March 21, 1973

or your loved ones leave home, to go to school or make a living, they are absolutely vulnerable to the terrible problems of drugs. I don't care what this costs, we must and do everything we can to bust the pushers and whatever goes with it. Now so far as Colonel Krueger coming before the budget committee, he was very wise, he is not, he is not insubordinating himself to anyone, by insubordination he operates in a bureau where he must be very, very careful not to insubordinate any of his superiors which include the Governor and the Legislature. This is the way of being a former bureaucrat is a real wise way to operate, you'll never get fired. Colonel Krueger operates in a glass house, and wisely throws no stones. If he did, you know, he may lose his job, it's just that simple, so I certainly hope that we can override this veto and I'm sorry that we aren't appropriating more money than the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which I agree is peanuts.

PRESIDENT: Senator Keyes, did you wish to be recognized? Before Senator Keyes speaks however, the Chair would like to take the prerogative of interrupting the debate for just a moment, we have a very distinguished guest and, visiting with us this morning, and he is seated under the north balcony, Jell Friedheim, member of the Norwegian Parliament, he is here today observing the debate and he is accompanied by Professor and Mrs. Audun Ravnan and I wish that they would rise over there and I would like to have the legislature at least welcome them here, we are pleased to have you today as a visitor to the legislature. It's not every day that we have someone from the Norwegian Parliament here visiting and we are pleased to have you as an observer. Now then, Senator Keyes and then we have scheduled next to speak yet, Senator Keyes, Clark, Moyland, Simpson, Stahmer, Fred Carsters, and Syas on the motion regarding LB 13.

(End Belt #5)