because I know it's in conflict with other rules and regulations but yet life safety code 101 is a statute in the Nebraska legislature. So I will go along with it but I don't think we should feel as though if the fire marshall goes out and gets ready to close up five jails, I think he is still going to have to follow the life safety code 101 as in the statute, but those jails then would have the right to appeal this closing, but if he says they're going to be closed immediately, they'll have to be closed immediately I suppose and then they will have to go to the court and get an injunction against the closing and
