

because he was poor. Mr. Whitfield didn't go to Hell because he was rich. Lazarus went to heaven, if he went, because he was a poor man and Whitfield went to hell because he was a rich man. There is nothing wrong in and of itself with having wealth. There is nothing wrong in and of itself in administering wealth. It is the way wealth is administered that makes it right or wrong, and I think this Legislature is in the position of the rich man this morning. I think the genuine compassion ought to be shown. Although the need is so obvious in this area, I don't think it takes compassion any more than it takes compassion for you to feed your cattle; any more than it takes compassion for you to stop your hogs, but when it comes to human beings, we begin to use a different standard and where we ought to show the most concern, we show the least. If the revenue sharing funds were to this State as has been promised by the Federal Government, a man stood up there and says that money could be used for anything the State chose to use it for. There is money to fund this program. In no case where a welfare bill was concerned:
