

April 17, 1973

have A bills or anything else and if you choose not to pass that bill, just don't vote to pass it, but I think when we try to pass resolutions which have no legal significance, we get into difficulty because people vote on them without thinking. When we try to make amendments and motions like we're doing this morning to refind an action which cannot be corrected except by repudiating the whole thing, then we run into the difficulty that we had this morning

(End of Belt #3)