

very definitely to make yesterday, which is that this body is not that aware of the principles involved in banking to be legislating something that is this uncertain and I ask again that you consider laying this over until January as Senator Lewis is going to recommend and let the people involved in this thing, as Senator Carpenter says, sit down around the table and work out an answer.

SPEAKER: Yea, he is here, but just a moment. Now we have a motion on the desk, clerk will read.

CLERK: I move to bracket 312 on general file until January 10, 1974, signed Richard Lewis, Senator Richard Lewis.

SPEAKER: Well, the Senator has the right to make that motion. Senator Lewis.

SENATOR LEWIS: What is the status of this bill at the moment. Are we going to procede since Senator Carsten is here, or are we--

SPEAKER: Nothing has been decided Senator.

SENATOR LEWIS: Well I would like to have this motion on the desk and be in order whenever we take this bill up.

SPEAKER: Well then that is, that in orther words, your not you would rather not take you motion right at the moment, if we're going to delay further action until 2:00 p.m.

SENATOR LEWIS: This is true.

SPEAKER: Is that correct?

SENATOR LEWIS: Yes.

SPEAKER: All right, Senator Schmidt.

SENATOR SCHMIDT: I think we just as well go ahead if, if Senator Lewis wants to make the motion, why let's go ahead and see what the wish of the body is. Of course, I will oppose the motion.

SPEAKER: Is there anybody else that wishes to talk on this? Now, now we will procede then with Senator Lewis's motion. Senator Lewis.

SENATOR LEWIS: I think every suggestion that has been made on this bill, just further indicates the wide differences of opinion between the two factions involved here and I don't think they are going to resolve this, unless that they, we have a bill in position to move immediately in the new session and I would suggest that we bracket this until this, this date certain, and with the hopes that the two factions resolve their differences and not use the legislature as a battle ground here, or a place to settle domestic problems. I would move adoption of the motion.

SPEAKER: Does everybody understand the motion? We'll have that reread, but the chair would like to recognize the presence of 50 high school seniors from York High School, in Senator Epkes district, with their teachers. They are in the north balcony and 50 eighth grade students from Wakefield, in Senator Murphys district with their teachers. They are in the north balcony. Senator Carpenter.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Well I rise to oppose the motion, because it has notbasis of fact. The only time this is:ever going to be
