deal with him on whatever basis he chooses to deal with me. And that goes for his special interests who back him.

PRESIDENT: All right, Senator Proud.

SENATOR PROUD: Mr. President and members, let's look at this thing realistically. Now Senator Chambers said some things about Senator Beam. Yes, Senator Beam, and I know brother Beam and he's not too bad a fellow. And he's paid lobbyist of course. He's got a job to do and he's paid for it and I imagine he's paid well. Take, at the same time you have people in public agencies paid for by us taxpayers who don't believe they are not lobbying on this bill. They are lobbying plenty and they've got plenty of tax money behind them. And I'm not saying in this particular instance that that's wrong. But Senator Carpenter wants to kill the bill. And I'll have to give Senator Carpenter in his present form a can of worms. Real wormy. But Senator Simpson he doesn't I don't think wants to kill the bill at this time, and I was amazed that they had me presiding. I didn't say anything I wasn't in any position to. But Senator Goodrich had a string of amendments, and nobody objected to them. Now we all fairly well understand I think what the two interests are here and I've always felt for a long time, I've examined a number of leases, I've had the tenants come to me and landlords and there's something on both sides of this. And I move to hear the bill tomorrow, or Monday, or to kill it today and I think is wrong. And besides what can I do to argue it when I get my instructions either from the people who represent the tenants or the people who represent the landlords or from the public. Nobody down here knows what to do until and if these people can get together and if they do get together, even then I would be a little bit suspicious. Maybe more so than the other way. But none of us really know what we are doing on this bill until these sides have a reasonable chance to confer and then we'll take our action. So I suggest that the rest of you withdraw your motions and we bracket this bill until any time the introducer wants to take it up and then we'll hear from both of these sides and it isn't going to hurt us a thing to bracket it. Not a thing at all. And when Senator Simpson wants to take the bill up and then we may. I say we may know what we're doing. Now what could be more fair than that PRESIDENT: All right, Senator Stahmer do you care to respond.

SENATOR STAHMER: I agree a hundred percent. I think it's the smartest thing I've heard here all morning.

PRESIDENT: Well, let's see it's your motion to bracket the bill until Friday. What do you choose to do?

SENATOR STAHMER: I'll withdraw in favor of the Proud motion to bracket it until the introducer wants it.

PRESIDENT: Now, Senator Stahmer is asking unanimous consent to withdraw. Now listen carefully please. Senator Stahmer is asking unanimous consent to withdraw his motion to bracket the bill until Friday. That's all before the body at this time. Do you object to withdrawing that particular motion? Hearing none. So ordered. The motion is withdrawn. Now, 293, what do you care to do, it's open for any motion you want to make. Senator Stahmer.
