PRESIDENT: The Chair has the privilege this morning of introducing 21 high school seniors from Beemer High School. They are in the north balcony. I think I saw Senator Haasebroock up there with them a minute ago. The instructor is Dan Van Dike, we are delighted to have you here today as observers to the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature. We hope you enjoy your trip. Also the visit to still one of the ten architectural achievements of the world. The Nebraska State Capital. We would like to move on to Final Reading. Is the group from Newcastle, Nebraska also in the balcony up there? Newcastle, Nebraska. O.K. We are going to move on to Final Reading and those of you who are spectators might be interested to know that we will take up these bills which are bracketed over here. It says for the 25th for today. There is, 721, 877, 897, 983 and 983A. This means that while the Senators are in their seats there is to be no one on the floor while they are there and while we are on Final Reading. And there is no debate on final reading unless someone wants to return a bill, to strike some clause or to add an amendment to it, in which case the motion is just to bring it back. So, if we can get the Senators in their seats we
