

not unthinkable to me at all but a situation that might be unmentionable is something that comes to my mind where maybe a brother impregnated his sister or a father impregnated his daughter and now this child has to go to the daddy and talk about this thing. If anything, the daddy is going to make her get an abortion or perhaps perform one on her himself. What a lot of people in this Legislature, what is being done here in a lot of instances, a lot of self-righteous males are making decisions that relate to females who wouldn't be in that position in the first place without the complicity and cooperation, sometimes instigation and duplicity of males. Women don't become pregnant alone and there are men everywhere of all descriptions who cause women to be in this situation. In one of the surrounding states, there was a very anti-abortion Senator who wound up having to help a young woman get an abortion but what is said in public is often different from what happens in other places. What ought to be done is have frank discussions and education about what produces a baby. We talk about fetuses, unborn children and all these kind of things as though this just suddenly comes into being. There is a male and there is a female and the burden in this situation is always placed on the female by self-righteous men who may not be above placing women in that situation themselves. In the case of incest, what would be done? What a lot of people don't want to recognize also in this body is that a lot of young girls who might want to keep their babies are pressured by their parents into having abortions. So what you are going to do is put the young child into the meat grinder, Senator Dworak. You cannot give a rationale other than to say that a child should have to talk to parents about anything and what we mean by a child here is a woman seventeen years three hundred sixty-four days old. I believe this requirement of talking to parents is unrealistic and it is impractical. You don't make the girl or the boy talk to the parents before receiving treatment for venereal diseases and it is all in the pubic area. That is what we are dealing with. We are dealing with genitals and sex and we can't bring ourselves to say the words that deal with the issues that have brought the problem into existence in the first place. Boys and girls know what make babies and they know how to make them.

SPEAKER MARVEL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And I think until we come to a frank recognition of the realities of this situation, games are going to be played and lives are going to be blighted and
