LR 27

PRESIDENT: Senator Hefner, why do you want to get involved in this? But go ahead.

SENATOR HEFNER: Mr. President, I would like to know how to vote. If I push my green button I will be voting for the Irish instead of the Czechs.

PRESIDENT: We will let Senator Lewis close on his motion now.

SENATOR LEWIS: Mr. President, I was trying to give everybody a good deal. Maresh, once he gets a bill, you know how he is. He never repays but if you think he will do it this time, I withdraw the motion.

PRESIDENT: Motion withdrawn. Senator Maresh, you may close on the motion on the resolution.

SENATOR MARESH: Just a few words that this is an important issue. The Czech people have designated Wilbur as the Czech capital of Nebraska and I think this is just...and Senator Hasebroock says don't forget Clarkson. I am sure that nobody forgets Clarkson. They have a wonderful celebration. I have been there and Dwight has a wonderful celebration. I think these communities all have shown that there is an importance in the Czech heritage and so I hope that you vote to adopt this resolution. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: A record vote has been requested and to settle you down so you know how to vote...Senator Fitzgerald, for what purpose do you arise?

SENATOR FITZGERALD: A point of information.

PRESIDENT: Yes, sir.

SENATOR FITZGERALD: I am kind of confused on this resolution he has up here. I mean it is trying to tie themselves onto the Irish. I'm not Polish but I am confused. What kind of a check is this, soybean, corn, wheat? Would you tell me what kind of a checkoff is this? He has talked about Czechs.

PRESIDENT: You can vote green for Irish and red for anybody else. That is the way it was suggested. Just to settle down the tension here, I am going to introduce at this time in behalf of Senator Tom Vickers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quigley and Perry Quigley from Indianola. They are under the South balcony and would they break the
