gave in regard to the cost of stock, that is par value and book value. Have you been involved in figuring book values of stock?

SENATOR SIMON: Senator Duis, I neglected to mention all this information is compiled by the Department of Health. These are not my figures. These are put out by the Department of Health, so if that is the point.

SENATOR DUIS: I think I would, if you don't mind, I would ask that you might check with someone that owns a business that has and I think you could be quite close at home when you did that.

SENATOR SIMON: Those are the figures that they have said.

SENATOR DUIS: I don't like their figures because they do not give you an explanation on how they figured what the book value is. The book value is to be.....

SENATOR SIMON: That's the nursing homes own figures. I can't help that but that is what the nursing home said it is worth.

SENATOR DUIS: Then I would ask if you might get from them the formula that they used for book value because otherwise it is not of value to me. Thank you.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator DeCamp. I am sorry.

SENATOR DUIS: I will give my time to Senator Kennedy.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Kennedy.

SENATOR KENNEDY: I appreciate the extra time, Senator Duis. I guess probably as I look at it, you were talking about figures and I was trying to bring a little Irish humor into it because, yes, I don't think that we are paying attention to figures. I don't think we are paying attention to the service to the people. Let's say we have, and Senator Maresh made a fine statement using the idea of the home health service, you have thrown them back into the control again and we ought to encourage that home health service. They should not be penalized and criticized for trying to deliver good service not in the hospital but outside the hospital in taking care of the people that can be taken. We have got some good programs going on that so we excluded them out to encourage that to happen. Maybe that is not large buildings but it is something that is needed very sincerely. We
