

is standing on a street corner you presume she is a prostitute so you have to get laws to throw them in jail forever. Then some of the other nonsensical things that come before this Legislature. You are not going to stop gambling. I am convinced of that. There are a lot of things that are not going to be stopped but the thing that sticks in my craw and pardon me for using that lame expression, the thing that sticks in my craw is that this hypocritical Legislature, yes, hypocritical Legislature can pass laws without being bothered to allow bingo playing in church. Now Jesus went through a synagogue and threw the money changers out. At least you are getting money for money. When you gamble in church you get money and don't get anything from it. Now I was the only one to vote against that church gambling bill and I don't even go to church but I am trying as an outsider to keep the churches sacred if possible. Now, I've got people's attention. After they gamble in church they go to the racetrack and the people who run Aksarben are considered wonderful upstanding citizens and once a year, Senator Johnson, they trot out an old man and put a wig on him and short pants and powdered clothes and call him a king or something and then get some young innocent fox to be his queen. They never pick an old woman his age, do they, to make a queen. Do they? So we see that there are Freudian slips when we deal in these kind of situations. What is an old man looking at? A young woman but while that is being done what undergirds this entire sham? Gambling on a monumental scale and your constitution authorizes that gambling and protects it. Then you are going to stand on this floor and tell me you are trying to get a law to discourage gambling and Senator Hoagland who has had legal training has the unmitigated gall and audacity to stand there and tell me that this bill defies common sense and yet he will vote for a gambling bill in good conscience, the bingo bill. I don't understand it. Now what Senator DeCamp's bill does is to lower the penalty on these others who want to gamble. Why are you going to make them run in the alley and do theirs when the preachers and the lawyers and the doctors can go to Aksarben, put on their finery, sit in air conditioned comfort, drink and talk to their buddies...

SPEAKER MARVEL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and gamble? The little old ladies, as they want to say, can trot home after working all day with their few little hard-earned pennies and plop them down on the bingo board and give that money to God's representatives on earth. Then these same ones who can authorize and approve
