

you said. It is a very clear, absolute branch banking bill. There is no question about that. It says that you can have another bank, a full-fledged bank and the two facilities now that are drive-ins that can't make loans and do things can become full banks. Now that is branched banking, Senator George. You can have branched banking in the city or in the state, in the county but it is branched banking. That was your second allegation that I was wrong. I think I was right on both of those. I urge you to kill the bill, send the bankers back to the bargaining table and come back here with something we can all hopefully live with.
