getting ready for the next fight, every legislator should have on his or her desk a General File sheet. This came from forty General File bills that were suggested basically by chairmen of committees. This morning at the chairmen's meeting each chairman had a list of the forty and they selected their priorities from those lists. The sheet that you have before you is a result of that particular priority. Some time between now and next week, if we have time, we can proceed with these General File bills. I would suggest to you that unless we can move through them rather rapidly it will be a futile operation. This is for your information. When we get the time we will approach the Legislature and see if you want to continue. We've got time only for today and for the first of next week on General File. We have some time for Select File. If we use up all the time today then we have one day left for General File. Yes, sir.
