money or let somebody hire them on the other side of the issue and you will hear the same kind of thing on the opposite side of the issue and we all know that.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Lewis.

SENATOR LEWIS: Mr. President, this is a great day of my life. It is a great day because this is the first time since in the City of Jerusalem have I had the pleasure to serve with a perfect man. I want to tell you and we might as well get the issues out. First of all, some people have a long way to go to perfect the Carpenter routine and I want to give him a little advice. When you talk about the lobbyist, Senator Carpenter used to look right up there at the crow's nest and he used to point and shake his finger and then he would meet one on the outside and go to lunch and he was very good and I always gave him an A but the performance I just saw doesn't rate that but I don't mean Senator Chambers' because I have heard that before and he is truthful in his remarks and his relationships. I remember Monday too. I remember a certain member standing up and reading the list of lobbying organizations that supported his bill. I know it didn't come from that source. The issue is very clear, that there is an attempt to either get my way or else. I was told myself that we needed new leadership by some members. Well I will tell you, I invite them to do so because if they think that I am going to collapse and fold under intimidation they've got the wrong okie on their hands. I think we ought to suspend the rules and get rid of it but we ought to remember Robert Burns' great poem called To a Louse, "Oh if God would give ourself the gift to see us as others see us."

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Beutler, we are speaking to the Cullan motion.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature, I would urge you again as I have urged you many times in the past not to suspend the rules lightly. Why are we
