Poland is not going to result in any Communist member in the army or any other Communist in Poland going hungry. I am afraid those economic sanctions may in effect serve to injure the very people whom we do not want it to injure, and history has shown that embargoes have been ineffective and the economic sanctions which President Reagan speaks of certainly have not been spelled out to my satisfaction. I guess I would just say that there has to be....I think, Senator Labeledz, if we delete that last "Whereas", then we need to change some of the wording in the final statement also so that we can....(interruption).

PRESIDENT: Senator Schmit. Senator Schmit, the Chair would like to observe that we ought to get an amendment before us so that we can speak to that amendment. Would you two gentlemen...(interruption).

SENATOR SCHMIT: I would be glad to work with Senator Labeledz on that.

PRESIDENT:work up an amendment right away so we can talk to an amendment? Senator Labeledz.

SENATOR LABEDZ: Yes, I will agree to that. I think that I would like to see the amendment before I agree to anything. The last paragraph where we say that the Legislature supports the Reagan program of economic sanctions against Poland and the Soviet Union, I would hate to see that stricken because then we are so much as saying that we disagree with President Reagan and his economic sanctions and I for one strongly believe that this is necessary. But maybe we can word it so that it in some way will not affect agriculture.

PRESIDENT: Senator Kremer.

SENATOR KREMER: Another question. Senator Labeledz, would you agree to hold the resolution over until tomorrow and let us work with you. We are behind you...I am, at least, and I'm sure Senator Schmit is....(interruption).

PRESIDENT: All right, is that....

SENATOR LABEDZ: I think Monday would be fine.

PRESIDENT: Senator Fowler and Senator Labeledz....

SENATOR KREMER: We will work with you and see if we can't come up with something.

PRESIDENT: Senator Fowler and Senator Labeledz, is that agreeable to you two?
