(1) Any owner engaged in operating a fleet of apportionable vehicles in this state in interstate commerce may, in lieu of registration of such vehicles under the general provisions of sections 60-301 to 60-344, register and license such fleet for operation in this state by filing a sworn statement with the Department of Motor Vehicles, which shall be in such form and contain such information as the department shall require, declaring the total mileage operated by such vehicles in all states and in this state during the preceding year and describing and identifying each such vehicle to be operated in this state during the ensuing license year. The application shall be accompanied by payment of the registration fee determined as provided in this section. Upon receipt of such statement, the department shall determine the total fee payment which shall be equal to the amount obtained by applying the proportion of in-state fleet miles to total fleet miles, as reported in ~~said~~ such states, to a fee of thirty-two dollars per ton based upon gross vehicle weight of the empty weights of a truck or truck-tractor and the empty weights of any trailer, semitrailer, or combination thereof with which it is to be operated in combination at any one time, plus the weight of the maximum load to be carried thereon at any one time, and shall notify the applicant of the amount of any additional payment required to be made. Mileage operated in noncontracting reciprocity states by vehicles based in Nebraska shall be applied to the portion of the formula for determining the Nebraska in-state fleet miles.

Temporary authority which shall permit the operation of a fleet or an addition to a fleet in this state while the application is being processed may be issued upon application to the department if necessary to complete processing of the application.

Upon completion of such processing and receipt of the appropriate fees, the department shall issue to the applicant a sufficient number of distinctive registration certificates and such other evidence of registration for display on the vehicle as the department determines appropriate for each of the vehicles of his or her fleet, identifying it as a part of an interstate fleet proportionately registered. All fees received as provided in this section shall be credited to the International Registration Plan Distributive Fund, which fund is hereby created. Such fund shall be disbursed to carry out the provisions of the International Registration Plan.

The vehicles so registered shall be exempt from all further registration and license fees under sections 60-301 to 60-344 for movement or operation in the State of Nebraska. The proportional registration and licensing provision of this section shall apply to vehicles added to ~~said~~ such fleets and operated in this state during the license year.

The right of applicants to proportional registration hereunder shall be subject to the terms and conditions of any reciprocity agreement, contract, or consent made by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

When a nonresident fleet owner has registered his or her vehicles on an apportionment basis, his or her vehicles shall be considered as fully registered for both interstate and intrastate commerce when the state of base registration for such fleet accords the same consideration for fleets with a base registration in Nebraska. Each vehicle of a fleet registered by a resident of Nebraska on an apportionment basis shall be considered as fully registered for both interstate and intrastate commerce.

(2) Mileage proportions for interstate fleets not operated in this state during the preceding year shall be determined by the department upon the sworn application of the applicant on forms to be supplied by the department which shall show the operations of the preceding year in other states and estimated operations in Nebraska, or if no operations were conducted the previous year, a full statement of the proposed method of operation.

(3) Any owner complying with and being granted proportional registration shall preserve the records on which the application is made for a period of three years following the current registration year. Upon request of the department, the owner shall make such records available to the department at its office for audit as to accuracy of computation and payments, or pay the costs of an audit at the home office of the owner by a duly appointed representative of the department if the office where the records are maintained is not within the State of Nebraska. The department may enter into agreements with agencies of other states administering motor vehicle registration laws for joint audits of any such owner. All payments received to cover the costs of an audit shall be paid by the department into the state treasury and the State Treasurer shall credit the same to the state General Fund. No deficiency shall be assessed nor any claim for credit allowed for any license registration year for which records on which the application was made are no longer required to be maintained.

(4) If it is claimed by the Department of Motor Vehicles that the owner should have paid a greater amount of fee under ~~the provisions of~~ this act than was paid, the department shall notify the owner of the additional amount claimed to be due. The owner may accept such claim and pay the amount due, or he or she may dispute the claim and submit to the department any information which he or she may have in support of his or her position. If the dispute cannot otherwise be resolved within the department, the entire matter shall be submitted to the director for his or her final departmental determination thereof. The director shall incorporate his or her determination into a written order. Such order may be appealed to the district court in the manner provided in section 60-420, except that the bond shall be filed with the clerk of the district court and shall be a surety bond or a cash bond equal to the amount claimed to be due plus two hundred dollars as security for costs that might be assessed against the owner and a certified copy of the director's order shall be filed in lieu of a transcript. Upon expiration of the time for perfecting an appeal, if no appeal is taken, or upon final judicial determination, if an appeal is taken, the department shall deny the owner the right to further registration for a fleet license until the amount finally determined to be due, together with any costs assessed against the owner, has been paid. This subsection shall apply to all disputes which have not been processed to final determination as of September 2, 1977.

(5) Every applicant who shall license any vehicles under ~~the provisions of~~ this act shall have ~~their~~ his or her registration certificates issued only after all fees are paid and, if applicable, has furnished proof of payment, in the form prescribed by the Director of Motor Vehicles as directed by the United States Secretary of the Treasury, of the federal heavy vehicle use tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code, 26 U.S.C. section 4481.

(6) In the event of the transfer of ownership of any registered motor vehicle, or in the case of loss of possession because of fire or theft or because the motor vehicle was wrecked, junked, or dismantled, its registration shall expire, except that the registered owner, if he or she applies to the department after such transfer or loss of possession and accompanies the application with the fee of one dollar and fifty cents, may have assigned to another motor vehicle the registration identification of the motor vehicle so transferred or lost. If the assigned motor vehicle has a greater gross weight than the transferred or lost motor vehicle, the owner of the assigned motor vehicle shall additionally pay only the registration fee for the increased gross weight for the remaining months of the registration year based on the factors determined by the department in the original fleet application.

(7) Whenever a Nebraska-based fleet owner files an application with the department to delete a registered motor vehicle from a fleet of registered motor vehicles because of (a) the transfer of ownership, or (b) the loss of possession due to fire or theft or because the motor vehicle was wrecked, junked, or dismantled, the registered owner may, by returning the registration certificate or certificates and such other evidence of registration used by the department or, if such certificate or certificates or such other evidence of registration is unavailable, then by making an affidavit to the department of such transfer or loss, receive a refund of the registration fee based upon the number of unexpired months remaining in the registration year. When such motor vehicle is transferred or lost within the same month as acquired, no refund shall be allowed for such month. Such refund may be in the form of a credit against any registration fees that have been incurred or are, at the time of the refund, being incurred by the registered motor vehicle owner.

(8) Whenever a Nebraska-based fleet owner files an application with the department to delete a registered motor vehicle from a fleet of registered motor vehicles because the vehicle is disabled and has been removed from service, the registered owner may, by returning the registration certificate or certificates and such other evidence of registration used by the department or, in the case of the unavailability of such certificate or certificates or such other evidence of registration, then by making an affidavit to the department of such disablement and removal from service, receive a credit for that portion of the registration fee deposited in the Highway Trust Fund based upon the number of unexpired months remaining in the registration year. When such motor vehicle is removed from service within the same month in which it was registered, no credit shall be allowed for such month. Such credit may be applied against registration fees for new or replacement vehicles incurred within one year after cancellation of registration of the motor vehicle for which the credit was allowed. When any such vehicle is reregistered within the same registration year in which its registration has been canceled, the fee shall be that portion of the registration fee provided to be deposited in the Highway Trust Fund for the remainder of the registration year.

(9) In case of addition to the registered fleet during the registration year, the owner engaged in operating the fleet shall pay the proportionate registration fee from the date of the application for the remaining balance of the registration year.

(10) In lieu of registration under subsections (1) to (9) of this section, the title holder of record may apply to the department for special registration, to be known as an unladen-weight registration, for any commercial vehicle or combination of vehicles. Such registration shall be valid only for a period of thirty days and shall give no authority to operate the vehicle except when empty. The fee for such registration shall be twenty dollars for each vehicle, which fee shall be remitted to the State Treasurer for deposit in the Highway Trust Fund. The issuance of such permits shall be governed by subsection (1) of section 60-305.03.".

3. On page 19, line 7, strike "on the application for certificate of" and show as stricken; in line 8 strike "title or" and show the old matter as stricken; in line 17 after "who" insert "sells three or more motor vehicles per year who"; and in line 24 strike "8, 9, and 15" and insert "9, 10, and 16".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 38
March 18, 1985

Dear Senator Hoagland:

This is in response to your inquiry concerning LB 406 concerning so-called "look-alike" drugs.

Section 1 (8) of said bill provides in part:

Any person who knowingly ~~or~~ and intentionally manufactures, distributes, delivers, or possesses with intent to distribute or deliver any substance which is not a controlled substance, but which by way of representations made or by appearance, including color, texture, shape, size, packaging, or markings, would lead a reasonable person to believe that the substance is a controlled substance shall:

The language starting with "or by appearance" in the above portion of said bill immediately raises doubts as to its validity.

This is so because intentional delivery of an innocent substance which, by appearance alone, would lead a reasonable person to believe that it is a controlled substance, would be a violation of the act.

Such language could cover a perfectly innocent, albeit intentional, delivery as well as one intended to mislead.

For example, a person bringing a white powdery substance known as "coffee-mate" to work in a clear bag with intent to share with his fellow coffee drinkers could be in violation of this section if it led a reasonable observer to believe that the substance was a controlled substance. We are sure it is not the intent of the bill to punish such innocent behavior.

In State v. Huffman, 202 Neb. 434 (1979), the Supreme Court of Nebraska was construing the meaning of "any person who operates a vehicle in a manner so as to endanger or be likely to endanger any person or property shall be guilty of careless driving." That language is probably more definite than the language from LB 406 set forth above. Nevertheless, a majority of the court held that it was unconstitutionally vague. In discussing this language, the court stated:

> The dividing line between what is lawful and unlawful cannot be left to conjecture. State v. Adams, supra; State v. Nelson, supra. The citizen cannot be held to answer charges based upon penal statutes whose mandates are so uncertain that they will reasonably admit of different constructions. A criminal statute cannot rest upon an uncertain foundation. . . . Penal statutes prohibiting the doing of certain things and providing a punishment for their violation should not admit of such a double meaning that the citizen may act upon one conception of its requirements and the courts upon another. State, ex rel. English v. Ruback, 135 Neb. 335, 281 N.W. 607; Connally v. General Construction Co., 269 U.S. 385, 46 S. Ct. 126, 70 L.Ed. 322.

In State v. Metzger, 211 Neb. 593 (1982), the Supreme Court of Nebraska quoted from State v. Huffman and several other cases as follows:

> A statute which forbids the doing of an act in terms so vague that men of common intelligence must necessarily guess as to its meaning and differ as to its application violates the first essential elements of due process of law. Connally v. General Const. Co., 269 U.S. 385, 46 S.Ct. 126, 70 L.Ed. 322 (1925); State v. Pocras, 166 Neb. 642, 90 N.W.2d 263 (1958). It is not permissible to enact a law which in effect spreads an all-inclusive net for the feet of everybody upon the chance that, while the innocent will surely be entangled in its meshes, some wrongdoers may also be caught. State v. Adkins, 196 Neb. 76, 241 N.W.2d 655 (1976).

In light of the position of the Supreme Court of Nebraska, evidenced by the foregoing, and other recent cases, it is our opinion that the provisions of Section 1(8) of LB 406 would likely, if challenged, be ultimately held to be in violation of due process and unconstitutional.

You have also asked for guidance in developing appropriate language.

We certainly do not question your concern or the wisdom for some type of legislation in this field. As you know, the provisions of Article II, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution providing for three distinct departments of government prevents us from extending any authoritative guidance to you.

With the above caution, we are happy to suggest that nearly all the statutes from other jurisdictions submitted with your letter contain explanatory language enlarging upon the meaning of an "imitation controlled substance" which was not included in LB 406. For example, see, Section 1d of the Model Imitation Controlled Substances Act, subsection 19(a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) of Section 195.010 of the Federal Drug Regulations and Section 18-5-603 of the Colorado Criminal Code.

We are hoping this will be of assistance to you.

Very truly yours,

AM0728

1. Strike original section 1 and all amendments thereto and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 45-103, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

45-103. (1) Interest on all decrees and judgments for the payment of money, subject to subsections (2) to (4) of this section and except when the state or any of its political subdivisions is party thereto, shall be from thirty days after the date the summons is served ~~the date of the rendition thereof~~ at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature until the same shall be paid. If ~~; PROVIDED, if~~ such judgment or decree shall be founded upon any contract, either verbal or written, by the terms of which a greater rate of interest, not exceeding the amount allowed by law, than the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, shall have been agreed upon, the rate of interest upon such judgment or decree shall be the same as provided for by the terms of the contract upon which the same was founded. Interest on a judgment appealed to the district court shall be determined in accordance with subsection (3) of section 24-541.06.

(2) Interest prior to judgment shall only accrue on lost wages and special damages if no compensation was previously received for such lost wages or special damages.

(3) If a plaintiff has refused to accept an offer by defendant to confess judgment pursuant to section 25-906 or 25-907 or sections 25-1309 to 25-1312 and if the judgment is for an amount equal to or less than the amount confessed, no interest shall accrue between the time of the offer to confess judgment and the time of rendition of the judgment.

(4) This section shall not apply to any action arising under Chapter 42 or to any action arising under Nebraska law in which judgment interest rates are otherwise specifically provided.

Sec. 2. (1) No prejudgment interest or defense expenses shall be allowed under section 3 or 4 of this act on any tort action which is completed within the time specified by the Nebraska Supreme Court standards or guidelines for the progression of civil cases in existence on the effective date of this act.

(2) A delay, under section 3 or 4 of this act, which is caused by a party's counsel or insurer shall be deemed a delay by the party.

Sec. 3. (1) In a tort action in which a judgment has been entered for the payment of money, any party, by appropriate motion within thirty days of entry of judgment, may allege to the court that any other party caused unreasonable delay in the progress and final disposition of the action.

(2) If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay by a party against whom a judgment was entered, the court shall assess interest on the total judgment at a rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, against the dilatory party for the period of the delay. Such period of interest shall not commence prior to the date on which service of process was accomplished on the dilatory party in the action nor subsequent to the date of entry of judgment. The prejudgment interest, if awarded pursuant to this section, shall be in lieu of any prejudgment interest provided for in section 45-103 and shall be in addition to the post-judgment interest provided for in section 45-103.

(3) If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay by the party in whose favor the judgment was entered, the court shall award the moving party that portion of his or her total defense expenses as are reasonably attributable to the delay.

Sec. 4. In a tort action seeking payment of money which results in a judgment that no money is owed, or which is dismissed or otherwise disposed of without settlement or trial, any defendant may allege by appropriate motion filed within thirty days of such judgment or other disposition that any other party caused unreasonable delay in the progress and final disposition of the action. If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay, it may order the dilatory party to pay such portion of defense expenses as are reasonably attributable to the delay. Such amounts shall be in addition to any taxable court costs otherwise allowed by law.

Sec. 5. If a tort action is tried by a jury, the jury shall be instructed by the court that it is not to include in an award of damages any sums for prejudgment interest, as such interest will be added by the court in those instances where it is allowed by law.

Sec. 6. This act shall be operative for all causes of action filed on or after April 1, 1986.".

2. Renumber original section 2 as section 7.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1986 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 10, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 10. Regular ~~Beginning with the year 1975, regular~~ sessions of the Legislature shall be held for ninety and sixty days on an alternating basis. Beginning December 1, 1986, ninety-day sessions shall commence at 10 a.m. on the fifth Wednesday after the general election in each even-numbered year and sixty-day sessions shall commence ~~annually, commencing~~ at 10 a.m. on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January of each even-numbered year. The duration of regular sessions held shall not exceed ninety or sixty legislative days, respectively, ~~in odd-numbered years~~ unless extended by a vote of four-fifths of all members elected or appointed to the Legislature. ~~, and shall not exceed sixty legislative days in even-numbered years unless extended by a vote of four-fifths of all members elected to the Legislature.~~ Bills and resolutions under consideration by the Legislature upon adjournment of a regular ninety-day session ~~held in an odd-numbered year~~ may be considered at the next regular sixty-day session, as if there had been no such adjournment. The Lieutenant Governor shall preside, but shall vote only when the Legislature is equally divided. A majority of the members elected or appointed to the Legislature shall constitute a quorum; the Legislature shall determine the rules of its proceedings and be the judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its members, shall choose its own officers, including a Speaker to preside when the Lieutenant Governor shall be absent, incapacitated, or shall act as Governor. No member shall be expelled except by a vote of two-thirds of all members elected or appointed to the Legislature, and no member shall be twice expelled for the same offense. The Legislature may punish by imprisonment any person not a member thereof who shall be guilty of disrespect to the Legislature by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence, but no such imprisonment shall extend beyond twenty-four hours at one time, unless the person shall persist in such disorderly or contemptuous behavior.".

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by Article XVI, section 1, of the Constitution of Nebraska. The proposition for the submission of the proposed amendment shall be placed upon the ballot in the following form:

The procedure for preparation, settlement, signature, allowance, certification, filing, and amendment of a bill of exceptions shall be regulated and governed by rules of practice prescribed by the Supreme Court, except as otherwise provided in this section.

When a bill of exceptions has been ordered according to law, and the court reporter or transcriber fails to prepare and file the bill of exceptions with the clerk of the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Court within two months from the date of the filing of the praecipe, the Supreme Court may, on the motion of any party accompanied by a proper showing, grant additional time for the preparation and filing of the bill of exceptions under such conditions as the court may require. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Dear Senators Warner and Landis:

This is in response to your letters of March 11 and March 12 concerning agricultural land valuation. Your letters essentially deal with the same issue and you both indicate that one response would be adequate. For that reason we have consolidated your opinion requests within the following response.

The basic issue is the effect of the recently enacted constitutional Amendment 4 concerning agricultural land values, upon the existing greenbelt provisions of the Constitution. Both provisions are found in Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution which provides initially that, "Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises, . . ." Amendment 4 was intended to provide an exemption from this uniform valuation requirement to allow agricultural land to be valued in a different manner than other types of property. It provides as follows, "The Legislature may provide that agricultural land and horticultural land used solely for agricultural or horticultural purposes shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation." Likewise, the so-called green belt provision was also intended to be an exemption from the uniformity requirement. It provides as follows:

> The Legislature may enact laws to provide that the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use shall, for property tax purposes, be that value which such land has for agricultural or horticultural use without regard to any value which such land might have for other purposes or uses, and prescribed standards and methods for the determination of the value of real or other tangible property at uniform and proportionate values.

Senator Warner's understanding of these two provisions is essentially correct. Each provision was intended to address a completely different issue and thus each has a separate purpose and effect. The greenbelt provision deals with the problem of land which is being used for agricultural production, but which has a much higher value than land used solely for agricultural production because of its proximity to urban development. In essence, it could be considered that such land is actually vacant residential or commercial property. The principle of the highest and the best use would thus have required this land to be valued at the higher level of value due to its status as undeveloped urban land, rather than any lesser value it might otherwise have solely for agricultural purposes. The purpose of the greenbelt provision was not only to allow preferential tax treatment for this particular agricultural land, but to promote the conservation of agricultural land and the orderly and controlled growth of urban areas. This was in turn accomplished through the passage of the greenbelt laws, Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-1343, et seq. (Reissue 1981) which not only allow such land to be valued solely on the basis of its value for agricultural use, but also contains a recapture provision which comes into play when the land is subsequently developed. In such a case the taxes which would otherwise have been assessed upon the land if it had been valued at its highest and best use would then be required to be paid by the landowner.

Amendment 4, on the other hand, was intended solely to provide a separate basis for valuing agricultural land different than that used for all other types of property. By itself, it has no impact on land which, while it may be presently being used for agricultural production, also has a much higher value due to its status as undeveloped urban commercial or residential property. Consequently, the two provisions are separate and distinct and both can be given meaning without one repealing or otherwise diminishing the effect of the other.

In response to the more specific questions of Senator Landis, Amendment 4 does not render Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-1348 unconstitutional. Likewise, the present greenbelt laws when placed into effect by the actions of local governments can require the owners of agricultural land, which would otherwise have a higher value because of its potential for urban development, to apply for a special assessment in order to allow the land to be treated solely as agricultural land. Such landowners would thus not automatically be eligible for any preferential tax treatment they might otherwise be accorded under the legislation implementing Amendment 4, because the land nevertheless has another and higher use than agricultural land. Landowners currently receiving special assessments under the existing greenbelt provisions would therefore continue to be subject to the recapture provisions of these laws upon a change in use. The Legislature thus can define agricultural land for purposes of Amendment 4, to exclude land having a higher and better use, and subsequently a higher value, than it would as agricultural land, unless the landowner seeks the relief afforded under the greenbelt provisions.

Finally, since both provisions are specific exemptions from the uniformity requirements of Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution, and each provision addresses a separate and distinct issue, there are no real issues of non-uniform treatment of agricultural land. This would be true, even though some counties may not have implemented the greenbelt provisions. In this regard, it must be remembered that when the land is accorded its highest and best value, it is no longer being valued as agricultural land but in effect as a different class of land. This would also be true for agricultural land which was never subject to the greenbelt special assessment options, and which in turn is later developed and is thus not subject to the recapture provisions as would be similar agricultural land that was subject to the greenbelt laws. This is merely a reflection of the fact that at the time the land in question was valued it presumably had only one apparent use, as agricultural land, and not as urban commercial or residential property. This would not be true of agricultural land which was adjacent to a developing urban area and clearly had a separate and distinct use and value other than as agricultural land. The issue simply does not involve non-uniform treatment of agricultural land because we are actually dealing with two separate classes of land, only one of which is truly agricultural land.

We trust that this response adequately addresses all of the questions contained in your requests.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Opinion No. 40
March 21, 1985

Dear Senator Remmers:

This is in response to your letter of March 7, 1985, concerning your proposed amendment to LB 158. This amendment would provide as follows:

> (4) A buyer who purchases farm products, including livestock, or a person who sells farm products, including livestock, for another for a fee or commission shall pay the seller the total purchase price by means of a check payable to such seller and a lending institution who shall be specified by such seller, and if the lending institution authorizes the cashing of such check, such buyer or person shall be free of any security interest in such farm products, including livestock, held by any security interest holder up to the amount of the check. Any such buyer or person who does not include the name of a lending institution on such check shall take such farm products, including livestock, subject to any valid security interest which may exist in such farm products, including livestock.

As we read this amendment, there is no requirement that the designated financial institution be the actual security interest holder in the property. Likewise, there is nothing in the amendment which provides that this designated financial institution actually assumes responsibility for any security interest in the property if it cashes such check. In effect, this legislation would extinguish an otherwise valid security interest in the property sold without any knowledge on behalf of the security interest holder. Such a result would undoubtedly be an impermissible impairment of the obligation of contract under Article I, Section 16, of the Nebraska Constitution and the taking of property without due process of law.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Opinion No. 41
March 22, 1985

Dear Senator Landis:

This is in response to your letter of March 16, 1985, concerning the constitutionality of your subcommittee's proposed amendment to LB 271. Specifically, you ask for our opinion on section 13 of the amendment which provides as follows:

> If the total value of agricultural and horticultural land in any county decreases, as a result of implementation of a new agricultural land valuation manual, by more than ten per cent in any one taxable year, the county shall be required to implement a ten per cent decrease each year until the full amount of the decrease is reflected in the values of agricultural land. This section shall apply for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1987.

The result of this proposal would mean that such property would be subject to a tax levy in a year in which its total value had been decreased by more than ten percent without a true determination of its actual value for that year. It was this same result which led the court to conclude that the former biennial valuation statute, Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-1301(1) (Reissue 1981) was unconstitutional and a violation of the Nebraska Constitution, Article VIII, Section 1, in Xerox Corp. v. Karnes, 217 Neb. 728 at 733, ___ N.W.2d ___ (1984). This provision of your proposed amendment would be subject to the same challenge and the result would undoubtedly be the same.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 42
March 22, 1985

Dear Senator V. Johnson:

This is in response to your letter of March 12, 1985, requesting an opinion on the constitutionality of imposing the Nebraska Sales and Use Tax on the purchase of magazines and journals and the purchase of subscriptions to such materials. Your specific question is whether such taxation infringes upon the constitutional right of freedom of the press.

The courts have routinely held that such taxes do not constitute a restraint upon the freedom of the press and hence a deprivation of due process where the legitimate purpose of the tax is to raise revenue and such sales are not singled out for taxation. Giragi v. Moore, 49 Ariz. 74, 64 P.2d 819, 110 A.L.R. 320, appeal dismissed, 301 U.S. 670, 81 L.Ed. 1334, 57 S.Ct. 946 (1937); Shoppers Guide Pub. Co., Inc. v. Woods, 547 S.W.2d 561 (Tenn. 1977); and Arizona Pub. Co. v. O'Neil, 22 F.Supp. 117, aff'd, 58 S.Ct. 950, 304 U.S. 543, 82 L.Ed. 1518 (1937). The Nebraska Sales and Use Tax would appear to fall within the guidelines set forth in these cases, since the sole purpose of the tax is for the general raising of revenues for the operation of state government and neither its intent nor its effect is to act as a prior restraint upon publication. Therefore, such legislation would not constitute an impermissible infringement upon the right of freedom of the press.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 45

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your letter of March 22, 1985, in which you seek an opinion on the constitutionality of a proposed amendment to LB 691. The apparent purpose of this amendment is to overcome the constitutional defects we noted in our opinion on LB 691 to Senator Lundy dated March 8, 1985.

That opinion centered primarily on Article VIII, Section 4, of the Nebraska Constitution which provides as follows:

> Except as to tax and assessment charges against real property remaining delinquent and unpaid for a period of fifteen years or longer, the Legislature shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town, or district whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or any corporation, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for state purposes, or due any municipal corporation, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatever; Provided, that the Legislature may provide by law for the payment or cancellation of taxes or assessments against real estate remaining unpaid against real estate owned or acquired by the state or its governmental subdivisions.

Instead of the original language of LB 691 which would have placed legal and equitable title to the property of a failed institution in the Banking Department as receiver, the amendment provides that:

> In addition to the forgoing (sic), the department shall be vested with legal, as well as equitable, title to all of the real estate owned by such bank when the unsecured depositors and the unsecured creditors representing 85% or more of the total amount of the deposits and unsecured claims of the bank shall have assigned their legal interest in such real estate to the department. The assignment of the depositors' and creditors' legal interest in the real estate to the department may be accomplished by, but shall not be limited to, the depositors' and creditors' approval of a settlement agreement relating to a claim submitted under sections 81-8,209 to 81-8,239 which incorporates such assignment as a term of settlement, or by the depositors' or creditors' approval of a contract or plan of reorganization under section 8-1,118.

The obvious purpose of this proposed amendment is to fall within the exception to Article VIII, Section 4, which permits the Legislature to cancel taxes against real estate owned or acquired by the state.

One initial problem with the amendment is the fact that the creditors and depositors of the financial institution do not have title to the assets of that institution but merely a claim and lien against the assets of the institution pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-1,110 (Reissue 1983). It is difficult to see how the mere assignment of these claims and liens against the assets can vest title to the property in the Banking Department. This apparent attempt to transfer title by legislative fiat thus raises additional questions of due process, particularly in regard to the shareholders of such an institution. It would furthermore appear that the Banking Department would nevertheless continue to act in its limited fiduciary capacity as receiver even under this amendment, and from that standpoint our original comments to Senator Lundy are still pertinent.

These difficulties aside, there nevertheless remains a fundamental constitutional problem with this attempt to place title to the property of a failed financial institution in the state solely for the purpose of falling within the constitutional exemption for the release of taxes on property owned by the state. What we have here is a not so subtle attempt by the Legislature to do indirectly what it cannot do directly.

When faced with such a challenge, the court would have to examine the rationale behind the constitutional prohibition against the forgiveness of taxes which has existed in the Constitution since its origin, and would furthermore have to take recognition of their uniform application of this provision forbidding the release of taxes. This rationale was aptly summarized in Peterson v. Hancock, 155 Neb. 801, 54 N.W.2d 85 (1952):

> In Steinacher v. Swanson, 131 Neb. 439, 268 N.W. 317, this court held that: "The legislature does not have the power to release or discharge a tax, such action being prohibited by section 4, art. VIII of the Constitution." Further, "Neither may the legislature circumvent an express provision of the Constitution by doing indirectly what it may not do directly." The opinion, quoting from County of Lancaster v. Trimble, 33 Neb. 121, 49 N.W. 938, said: " 'The legislature is without power to release any inhabitant or corporation from his or its proportionate share of taxes, nor can it confer such authority upon county commissioners. * * * The legislature is powerless to confer such authority. It cannot do indirectly what the Constitution prohibits it from doing directly; that is clear. Wood v. Helmer, 10 Neb. 65, 68.' "
> In State ex rel. Cornell v. Poynter, 59 Neb. 417, 81 N.W. 431, this court held: "The rule of uniformity prescribed by section 1, article 9, of the constitution, inhibits the legislature from discriminating between taxpayers in any manner whatever.
> "Under section 4, article 9, of the constitution the legislature is powerless to pass a law releasing or discharging any individual or corporation or property from the payment of any proportion of the taxes to be levied for state or municipal purposes." In the opinion, it is said: "The rule of uniformity inhibits the legislature from discriminating between taxpayers in any manner. See State v. Graham, 17 Nebr., 43. In every instance where this court has spoken upon the subject it has been determined that the legislature is powerless to relieve from the burdens of taxation the property of any individual or corporation, but that the constitutional rule of uniformity requires all taxable property within the taxing district where the assessment is made shall be taxed, except property specifically exempt by the fundamental law. This doctrine is entirely sound, and the language of the constitutional provision we have been considering will not authorize or permit of any other or different interpretation.

"By section 4, article 9, of the constitution the legislature, in plain and unequivocal language, is inhibited from enacting any law releasing or discharging any individual or corporation or property from their or its proportional share of taxes to be levied for state or municipal purposes."

In State ex rel. Bee Building Co. v. Savage, 65 Neb. 714, 91 N.W. 716, this court said: "The subject relating to the rule of uniformity has heretofore received consideration by this court in the case of State v. Osborn, 60 Nebr., 415. It is there held that the valuation of property for taxation must be uniform. Says the court in the opinion, at page 419: 'There is another cardinal rule of taxation, and that is that "every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her or its property and franchises." Constitution, art. 9, sec. 1. And this rule of uniformity applies not only to the rate of taxation but as well to the valuation of property for the purposes of raising revenue. High School District No. 137 v. Lancaster County, 60 Nebr., 147. The constitution forbids any discrimination whatever among taxpayers. State v. Graham, 17 Nebr., 43; State v. Poynter, 59 Nebr., 417. * * *' "

Id. at 821-823.

It is readily apparent here that the constitutional prohibition against the forgiveness of taxes is merely another manifestation of the principle of uniformity of taxation set forth in Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution. Taxpayers must simply be treated uniformly throughout the entire process of taxation. With this understanding of the principle, we cannot say that the courts would uphold such an attempt to avoid the obvious intent of the constitutional prohibition against the release of taxes. Admittedly, the Constitution was amended to allow the release of taxes upon property owned or acquired by the state, no doubt in recognition of the perfectly valid principle of intergovernmental immunity from taxation. Can this provision, however, be used merely as a mechanism to avoid the principle of uniformity of taxation as it is applied in the general prohibition against the release or forgiveness of taxes? Under this scheme, there would be, in effect, discrimination against certain taxpayers. Would the court thus uphold the purported transfer of title of such property to the state for a limited period of time and for the sole purpose of forgiveness of the taxes upon this property? In view of the foregoing rationale, we think not.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 46
March 26, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutional validity of LB 616, which would allow a taxpayer entitled to a refund to designate a portion of the refund to be paid as a contribution to the United Sates Olympic Committee.

In a previous opinion, this office concluded a virtually identical bill violated Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution, which prohibits special legislation, and specifically prohibits granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity, or franchise. Attorney General Opinion No. 209, March 2, 1982. Under LB 616, the United States Olympic Committee would be placed in special class, and the Committee would be singled out for special treatment not accorded to other charitable organizations.

We therefore adhere to the analysis contained in our earlier opinion, and conclude that LB 616 would be held unconstitutional as establishing unreasonable class legislation, in violation of Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 47
March 27, 1985

Dear Senator Warner:

This is in response to your letter of March 20, 1985, requesting an interpretation of Neb.Rev.Stat. §81-1328 (Reissue 1981) for purposes of preparing the annual budget.

Apparently, an employee of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture is claiming to have accrued a total of 2,900 hours of vacation leave. This is based in part upon the "approval" of the extension of this accumulated leave by two former Governors.

Neb.Rev.Stat. §81-1328 (Reissue 1981) provides in its pertinent part as follows:

> The vacation leave account of each employee shall be balanced as of December 31 each year. Each employee shall be entitled to have accumulated as of December 31 of each calendar year the number of hours of vacation leave which he earned during that calendar year. Hours of vacation leave accumulated in excess of that number shall be lost. Any employee shall be entitled to use any vacation time as soon as it has accrued. Any vacation time not used within one year following the calendar year during which the time accrued shall be lost. In special and meritorious cases, where to limit the annual leave to the period therein specified would work a peculiar hardship, such leave may be extended in the discretion of the Governor, or in situations involving employees of the Legislature, in the discretion of the Executive Board of the Legislative Council.

In essence then, an employee's leave account is balanced every year and the excess accrued leave is lost. This would likewise apply in those circumstances where the Governor has exercised his limited authority to extend such excess accrued leave where it would otherwise be lost on December 31. On December 31 of the following year any excess accrued leave, including that previously extended by the Governor, would be lost. It would appear then that this employee has no legitimate claim under this statute.

We must also point out that pursuant to the Crete Mills v. Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, 132 Neb. 244, 271 N.W. 684 (1937), this office has maintained that the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture is not a state agency. This is true, even though the Board receives appropriations from the Legislature and apparently in this case has opted to maintain its personnel records under the NEIS system. Consequently, we fail to see how a former Governor would have any authority over an employee of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 48
March 28, 1985

Re: Retrocession of Winnebago Reservation in Thurston County

Dear Senator Goll:

You have asked for a very comprehensive opinion from this office as to various effects of retrocession of the Winnebago Reservation in Thurston County as proposed in Legislative Resolution 57.

Federal Indian law, as developed by Congress and the courts, is very complex and, in many respects, rather unclear. Also it is very difficult to give specific answers to general questions directed to any field of law because, usually, the results depend on the particular facts of particular cases. Therefore, we are unable to provide the kind of certain and specific answers you seek. Nonetheless, we can provide some guidelines which should prove useful in anticipating some of the effects of the proposed retrocession.

General Background

Generally speaking, federal Indian laws and treaties pre-empt state laws in Indian country so that without a specific federal statute delegating jurisdiction over areas of Indian country to a state, jurisdiction within Indian country remains exclusively in federal and tribal hands.

Public Law 280, enacted by Congress in 1953, did make a specific delegation of jurisdiction to Nebraska and four other states granting those states authority over criminal and civil matters arising within Indian country located within their borders.

It has generally been held, however, that this Public Law 280 grant of jurisdiction extended only to matters over which the federal government had earlier had authority and that it was not meant to detract from tribal jurisdiction as it existed. Therefore, it is "probable that this jurisdiction of the tribes remains concurrent with the states in Indian country subject to Public Law 280 to the same extent it was concurrent with the federal government prior to the Act." F. Cohen, Handbook of Federal Indian Law, 367 (1982 ed.).

In 1968 Congress amended Public Law 280 to provide the states a means to give back to the federal government "all or any part of the criminal or civil jurisdiction, or both" which the states had acquired under the original Public Law 280. 25 U.S.C. §1323. This act of giving back jurisdiction to the federal government is called "retrocession."

Civil Matters

Your letter seems to assume that in civil matters retrocession will have the effect of increasing the authority and jurisdiction of the Winnebago Tribe. This is not the case, however, because, as pointed out above, even under Public Law 280 the tribe retained substantial inherent tribal authority over civil matters arising in Indian country. While some of this tribal jurisdiction and authority may have been concurrent with state jurisdiction (i.e., existing together with it), or while the Tribe may have chosen not to exercise all of its authority and jurisdiction, nonetheless that tribal jurisdiction and authority was always there. Therefore, rather than increasing the authority and jurisdiction of the Tribe, what retrocession will do is substantially decrease the authority and jurisdiction of the state in connection with civil matters arising in Indian country. Winnebago tribal authority and jurisdiction will continue as is or, presumably, will be increased by the Tribe to cover any gaps in its civil law.

The result of this is that civil matters arising in Indian country involving Indians will generally have to proceed before a tribal court. The state courts will not have jurisdiction, even if one of the parties is a non-Indian. However, where such a matter arises in Indian country and both parties are non-Indians, the state courts would have exclusive jurisdiction unless somehow the matter had a direct effect on Indians, the Tribe, their property or federal activities. This would likely be an unusual situation. And we further note that the language of proposed LR 57 confirms this conclusion by leaving exclusive jurisdiction in the state courts "over those causes of action arising within the Reservation where both parties are non-Indians and tribal self-government is not implicated." Further in this connection proposed LR 57 states:

> The State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall continue to exercise jurisdiction over those civil causes of action for which the Tribe has not assumed exclusive jurisdiction through retrocession, i.e., over those civil causes of action which affect the interest of the State of Nebraska or its citizens to the point where tribal self-government would be affected.

Another assumption in your letter seems to be that somehow after retrocession Indian and non-Indian property within the Reservation will be treated differently for jurisdictional purposes in civil matters. For example, you refer to "tortious acts on Indian and non-Indian property." A tortious act within Indian country will be dealt with under the jurisdictional guidelines set out above regardless of whether it occurred on property owned by Indians or property owned by non-Indians. In other words, if an Indian is a party, the tribal court will hear the action. If only non-Indians are parties, the state courts will have jurisdiction. Therefore, it is not correct to assume that Indian property and non-Indian property within Indian country will be treated differently for civil jurisdictional purposes.

What we have said to this point should answer your inquiry with regard to disputes between property owners, tortious acts on Indian and non-Indian property, contracts involving Indian and non-Indian property, quiet title actions, and other actions involving Indian and non-Indian property.

Taxation and Eminent Domain

You ask if the Tribe will have additional powers regarding taxation and condemnation as a result of retrocession. The answer would appear to be "no." Even without retrocession, under Public Law 280 the Indian tribes retained broad authority in the areas of taxation and eminent domain (i.e., condemnation). Retrocession will not affect this authority one way or the other.

Of course, there is a large body of law dealing with the power of tribes to impose taxes on non-Indians and non-Indian property or to condemn such property located within Indian country. It is a complex subject; but for purposes of your inquiry it is sufficient to say that retrocession will not increase or alter those powers to tax and condemn. Moreover, any exercise of those powers by the Tribe is subject to a number of limitations imposed by federal law, including due process, equal protection and just compensation considerations.

Estates

Your inquiry regarding estates gets into a highly complex area also. There are no easy answers because each situation would depend on its unique facts: Whether the decedent was an Indian or non-Indian; where the decedent was domiciled at date of death; whether the property to be passed is in Indian country or somewhere else; whether the property was held in fee simple title or some other type of ownership; etc. Were there to be full unrestricted retrocession, this subject would require extensive research, especially as to the effect on non-Indians domiciled within Indian country and owning property there.

However, we believe that the retrocession resolution, as currently drafted, handles this problem as to non-Indians by stating:

> The State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall continue to exercise jurisdiction over those civil causes of action for which the Tribe has not assumed exclusive jurisdiction through retrocession, i.e., over those civil causes of action which affect the interest of the State of Nebraska or its citizens to the point where tribal self-government would be affected. Accordingly, the state shall retain exclusive jurisdiction over those causes of action arising within the Reservation where both parties are non-Indians and tribal self-government is not implicated.

Descent and distribution of property owned by non-Indians should not affect tribal self-government. Therefore, the state would have exclusive jurisdiction. On the other hand, the descent and distribution of on-reservation property of an Indian domiciled on the reservation would likely fall under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Tribe because it would affect the welfare of the Tribe and its members.

Enforcement of Judgments

You ask about enforcement of judgments after retrocession. We assume you are asking to what extent state court judgments will be enforceable in Indian country by execution or seizure by state authorities.

It appears that if the judgment debtor is an Indian and his or her property is in Indian country there could be no execution of the state court judgment without registering the judgment with the tribal court and getting process to issue from that court.

The situation when the judgment debtor is a non-Indian and the property sought is located within Indian country is very unclear. Generally, execution of judgments is confined to the territorial jurisdiction of the court issuing process. So if the state court does not have territorial jurisdiction in Indian country, its process cannot reach there. But if the state court had jurisdiction to hear the dispute and render a judgment, because both parties were non-Indians, then it might be argued that the state court's territorial jurisdiction extends to property owned by non-Indians within the reservation. However, we simply cannot say for certain how that issue, if it arises, will be decided.

Procedures Where There is Concurrent Jurisdiction

You ask about procedures to be followed where jurisdiction of the Tribe and jurisdiction of the state courts overlap in the civil matters. This should cause no major problem. There are already many instances where different courts and different governmental authorities have concurrent jurisdiction over civil disputes. There are well-accepted rules which are followed to resolve these situations, and there should be nothing unique about any concurrent jurisdiction of a tribal court and a state court. When that happens, generally, the plaintiff has his or her choice of forum. The other jurisdiction should normally defer to the court in which the litigation was started.

Arrests and Criminal Prosecutions

With the exception regarding offenses involving the operation of motor vehicles by non-Indians as set forth in paragraph 2 of the retrocession resolution, county and state authorities would have no authority to make arrests or prosecute crimes committed within Indian country regardless of whether the particular land was owned by Indians or non-Indians. Tribal and federal authorities would have that responsibility. It should be noted, however, that a crime by a non-Indian against a non-Indian would still be prosecuted in state court.

Again the distinction you draw between land owned by Indians and land owned by non-Indians within Indian country is simply not pertinent when it comes to criminal jurisdiction. Basically, the power to investigate crimes and make arrests within Indian country would belong to tribal and federal authorities regardless of who owned the particular piece of land involved. However, it is important to remember that, regardless of the nature of the crime, a non-Indian defendant cannot be tried before a tribal court.

Area Covered by Retrocession

You additionally ask whether a retrocession resolution must cover all area within the boundaries of Indian country or whether it can be limited to land owned by Indians only. There is no clear answer to this question.

The federal retrocession statute is codified at 25 U.S.C. §1323. It reads in pertinent part as follows:

> The United States is authorized to accept a retrocession by any State of all or any measure of the criminal or civil jurisdiction, or both, acquired by such State pursuant to the provisions of section 1162 of Title 18, section 1360 of Title 28, or section 7 of the Act of August 15, 1953 (67 Stat. 588), as it was in effect prior to its repeal by subsection (b) of this section.

While this statutory language is somewhat unclear in the context of your particular inquiry, it does appear that a reasonable reading of it would allow retrocession to be limited to certain areas within Indian country. The language allows retrocession "of all or any measure of the criminal or civil jurisdiction, or both." The term "any measure" could be interpreted to mean a measure of area for jurisdictional purposes as well as a measure of the nature of the jurisdiction retroceded.

Two federal court cases have arisen in Nebraska in which the nature of retrocession under 25 U.S.C. §1323 was at issue. Omaha Tribe of Nebraska v. Village of Walthill, 334 F.Supp. 823 (D.Neb. 1971), affirmed, 460 F.2d 1327 (8th Cir. 1972), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 1107; United States v. Brown, 334 F.Supp. 536 (D.Neb. 1971).

The background of both of these cases was the same. In 1969 the Nebraska Legislature passed a retrocession resolution seeking to give back to the federal government criminal jurisdiction in all "areas of Indian country located in Thurston County, Nebraska." LR 37, 80th Legislature, First Session. This description would have included both the Omaha and Winnebago Reservations.

After consulting with the Omaha and Winnebago tribes the Secretary of the Interior, acting under 25 U.S.C. §1323 and Executive Order No. 11435, accepted on behalf of the United States the retrocession of criminal jurisdiction only over Omaha Indian country and not Winnebago Indian country. Subsequently the two cases cited above were brought before the federal district court in Nebraska; and one of the issues in both cases was whether or not the retrocession of criminal jurisdiction over only Omaha Indian country was effective because the United States had not accepted the totality of the retrocession offered by the Nebraska Legislature in LR 37.

One case (Omaha Tribe) was decided by Judge Robinson, and the other (Brown) was decided by Judge Denney. In both cases the court went extensively through the history and purpose of 25 U.S.C. §1323 and concluded that the state could offer to retrocede any part or all of the jurisdiction it had acquired under Public Law 280 and that the United States could accept or not accept any part or all of the jurisdiction which the state was seeking to retrocede. In short, the state can couch its retrocession offer in any jurisdictional terms it chooses. It is then up to the United States (acting through the Secretary of the Interior) to accept any or all or none of the jurisdiction so offered by the state.

Therefore, we believe that the state could offer in its retrocession resolution to retrocede criminal and civil jurisdiction over only Indian-owned land in Winnebago Indian country. However, whether, as a practical matter, such a division of jurisdiction would be realistic and workable is another question. It could create an even more confused jurisdictional picture and cause more problems than it would help. Moreover, the Secretary of the Interior might well not accept any such limited offer of retrocession. Such a split-up of jurisdiction within the boundaries of Indian country could be deemed to conflict with federal Indian policy encouraging tribal self-government and Indian responsibility for governance of the areas within Indian country.

Nonetheless there appears to be nothing in the federal retrocession statute which would prohibit the state from making the offer you suggest. If the offer is accepted by the federal government, we suspect that it would take federal court litigation to decide for certain if such a retrocession is valid under 25 U.S.C. §1323.

We hope that the foregoing discussion will be helpful to you in considering the effects of LR 57. As indicated at the outset, Indian law is extremely complex and arises from an amalgam of ancient treaties, numerous federal statutes, many court decisions, countless federal rules, regulations and procedures, tribal customs and traditions, and some applicable state laws. Therefore, we cannot do more than describe what we perceive to be the general effects of retrocession in various settings. We have attempted to do that in the foregoing discussion.

Sincerely,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 49

Dear Senator Smith:

This letter is in response to your request that our office render an opinion with regard to the following questions: (1) Do the statutes of the State of Nebraska, including Neb.Rev.Stat. §§83-306 and 83-307.01 (Reissue 1981), prevent, prohibit, or discourage the Department of Public Institutions from closing the Medical Detoxification facility at the Hastings Regional Center?; and (2) is the Medical Detoxification facility at the Hastings Regional Center mandated to be, encouraged to be, or by application a state responsibility under either the statutes of this state or the common law? The answer to each of your inquiries is "no".

First, it is our opinion that the statutes of the State of Nebraska do not prevent, prohibit, or discourage the Department of Public Institutions from terminating the Medical Detoxification program at the Hastings Regional Center. Our opinion is based on the understanding that there are two different types of treatment provided at the Hastings Regional Center to individuals who are "addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic liquors": (1) the short-term Medical Detoxification program through which individuals' withdrawal from alcohol is managed and monitored; and (2) the longer term alcoholic treatment program through which individuals are educated and counseled with regard to their alcohol addiction. As we use the term "Medical Detoxification program" in this opinion, we are referring solely to the Medical Detoxification program as just described, and are not referring to any aspects of the alcohol treatment program as just described.

> (4) Dipsomaniacs, inebriates, and other persons addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic liquors shall, unless request is made in writing by the patient that he be committed to another state hospital, be committed to the Hastings Regional Center and shall be placed and kept together in a separate building or in one ward, except when, in the opinion of the superintendent, some individual patients would be detrimental to the treatment, care, and program adopted; Provided, if no space is available at the Hastings Regional Center to take care of the patient, he may be committed to and accepted by any of the other state hospitals having space available.

Section 83-306 clearly places upon the Department of Public Institutions the responsibility for providing treatment to "individuals addicted to the excessive use of alcohol" at the Hastings Regional Center. The manner in which such treatment is to be provided is identified in Neb.Rev.Stat. §83-307.01 (Reissue 1981), which provides:

> Each patient addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic liquors who is confined in such a hospital shall be given such treatment as is deemed best to eliminate the effects of alcohol, to build up his system physically and mentally, and to strengthen his moral character and enable him to resist the temptation to use alcoholic drinks. Such patient shall, during the course of treatment, be given diets, baths, recreational facilities, exercise, and such other accepted treatment as will rehabilitate him. The hospitals shall give or cooperate with an educational program recommended by the organization known as Alcoholics Anonymous to aid the patient after such rehabilitation. Any patient that does not cooperate with the educational program may be transferred to another ward of the Hastings Regional Center or to another of the state hospitals for the mentally ill in this state. There shall be a sufficient number of attendants who are trained in the principles and teachings of the organization known as Alcoholics Anonymous to insure that such educational program will be carried out.

It is our understanding that each of the methods of treatment prescribed in §83-307.01 falls within the scope of the alcohol treatment program and not within the scope of the Medical Detoxification program.

Our opinion that the Department of Public Institutions would not be prohibited by statute from terminating the Medical Detoxification program is based on the fact that although §83-306 provides that individuals "addicted to alcohol" must be treated at the Hastings Regional Center, it does not provide that a Medical Detoxification program must be established as a part of such treatment. Simply, no specific statute requires that a Medical Detoxification program must be maintained at the Hastings Regional Center. Whether the Medical Detoxification program at the Hastings Regional Center is terminated is a management decision which may be made by the Department of Public Institutions.

Second, it is our opinion that neither the statutes of the State of Nebraska nor the common law mandates, encourages, or by application makes the Medical Detoxification facility at the Hastings Regional Center a state responsibility. As above, the distinction between the Medical Detoxification program and the alcohol treatment program is crucial. The Medical Detoxification program at the Hastings Regional Center exists as a part of the alcohol treatment scheme because it has been voluntarily provided by the Department of Public Institutions and not because it has been mandated by statute or the common law.

Very truly yours,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 50
March 29, 1985

Dear Senator Remmers:

This is in response to your letter of March 26, 1985, concerning the constitutionality of your proposed amendment to LB 158. This amendment provides as follows:

> A buyer who purchases farm products, including livestock, or a person who sells farm products, including livestock, for another for a fee or commission shall pay the seller the total purchase price by means of a check payable to such seller and a financial institution who shall be specified by such seller, and if the financial institution authorizes the cashing of such check, such buyer or person shall be free of any security interest in such farm products, including livestock, held by any security interest holder up to the amount of the check. The financial institution whose name appears on the check and who authorizes the cashing of the check shall be liable to the lienholder for the amount of the check. Any such buyer or person who does not include the name of a financial institution on such check shall take such farm products, including livestock, subject to any valid security interest which may exist in such farm products, including livestock.

We see no apparent constitutional problems with this amendment. We would note, however, that the procedure outlined in this amendment may be unavailable to buyers in transactions subject to the regulations enacted pursuant to the Federal Packers and Stockyards Act, 7 U.S.C.A. 181 et seq. Specifically, 9 C.F.R. 201.39 prohibits payment for livestock in such transactions to anyone other than the owner or valid security interest holder of such livestock.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 51
March 27, 1985

RE: LB 516

Dear Senator Nichol:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning the constitutionality of certain provisions contained in the amendments to LB 516.

The first about which you inquired is Section 1, subsection (3) on page 6 of the amendments. This provides in part:

> (3) After January 9, 1988, the Supreme Court may by rule change the number of election districts, the boundaries of the election districts, and the number of judges who will serve in each election district. The boundaries of the election districts shall follow county boundaries and shall reflect a proportionate share of the total district court caseload for each district judge district. The Supreme Court shall review and change the election district boundaries as is necessary to provide for efficient court functioning but shall review such boundaries at least once every three years. The Supreme Court shall adopt and promulgate rules to carry out this section.

As you know, Article II, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution divides the powers of government into three distinct departments and no one department may exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as expressly permitted in the Constitution.

Interpreting this provision in C.R.T. Corp. v. Board of Equalization, 172 Neb. 540, (1961), the Supreme Court stated:

> It is elementary in the area of the constitutional interpretation of Article II, section 1, of the Constitution, that the Legislature may not impose upon the courts the performance of nonjudicial duties nor delegate to them any legislative power. See, State ex rel.

. . . " 'That which distinguishes a judicial from a legislative act is, that the one is a determination of what the existing law is in relation to some existing thing already done or happened, while the other is a predetermination of what the law shall be for the regulation of all future cases falling under its provisions.' "

In McDonald v. Rentfrow, 176 Neb. 796 (1964), the Supreme Court also held that "the fixing of boundaries of school districts is exclusively a legislative function. . ." However, the court further held that such legislative function "may be properly delegated to a subordinate agency, providing the Legislature prescribes the manner and standards under which the power of the designated board may be exercised." After citing a number of previous Nebraska cases, the court went on to state "The Legislature may delegate this authority provided it states the purpose for doing so and sets up reasonable standards to guide the agency which is to administer it."

A fundamental problem with the present legislation is that it is not delegating the function to what could ever properly be termed a "subordinate agency" to the Legislature. It is delegating a clear legislative function to our highest judicial body. This it cannot do.

By way of guidance, if you decide to delegate to a subordinate body instead of a court, a secondary failing of the above legislation is that it does not set forth the purpose for the delegation and the standards are too vague.

The only standard in the above legislation to guide the Supreme Court is that it shall "reflect a proportionate share of the total district court caseload for each district judge district." The determination of "caseload" could be based upon a number of differing criteria which could lead to a different result as each factor is changed; for example, "caseload" could be based strictly on the number of cases filed in each district judge district without regard to the proportion of dismissals, cases actually going to trial, cases actually going to jury trial, proportion of divorce cases, proportion of criminal cases with guilty pleas, proportion of criminal cases going to trial, and a host of other factors.

Subsection (2) of Section 6 on page 9 and Section 10, subsection (1) on page 13 of the amendments suffer from the same weaknesses.

Section 10, subsection (1) does add the standard of "travel time" in addition to "caseload," but this is not enough to remedy the problem. Also, it adds "other factors necessary to assure efficiency, service, and the most effective use of existing judges," which gives the Supreme Court an unlimited discretion upon which to base its decision.

In summary, the sections reviewed clearly attempt to delegate legislative functions to the judiciary. This would violate the constitution, as discussed.

Additionally, should you decide to delegate to a subordinate agency instead of a court, the present act does not contain the purpose for the delegation nor reasonable standard to guide the body.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT

Rules

The Rules Committee met on Friday March 29, 1985, and in lieu of the Beutler proposed rule change, page 128 of the Journal, acted favorably on the attached proposed rule change.

VOTE: For: Senators Morehead, Beutler, Vickers. Against: Senators Chizek, L. Johnson. Present and not Voting: None. Absent: None.

Proposed Changes to the Rules of the Legislature
Rule 9
Code of Official Conduct

There is hereby established the following code of conduct, to be known as the "Code of Official Conduct":

1. A Member of the legislature shall conduct himself or herself at all times in a manner which shall reflect creditably on the legislature. This rule shall not be construed to apply to personal attire.

2. A Member of the legislature shall adhere to the spirit and the letter of the rules of the legislature and to the rules of duly constituted committees thereof.

3. A Member of the legislature shall receive no compensation nor shall he or she permit any compensation to accrue to his or her beneficial interest from any source, the receipt of which would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from his or her position in the legislature.

4. A Member of the legislature shall not accept gifts (other than personal hospitality of an organization when such hospitality is also extended to a substantial portion of the membership of such organization), from any person or organization (other than from a relative) having a direct interest in legislation before the legislature. Any person registered under the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act (or any successor statute), any principal of such registered person, and any person retained by such registered person, for the purpose of influencing legislation before the legislature shall be deemed to have a direct interest in legislation before the legislature.

The term "gift" means and includes the definitions set out in Section 49-1490(3) of the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act except that the term "gift" shall include breakfast, luncheon, dinner or other refreshments consisting of food and beverage provided for immediate consumption which exceeds a value of twenty-five dollars from a lobbyist in any one month period.

If a Member of the legislature, after exercising reasonable diligence to obtain the information necessary to comply with this rule, unknowingly accepts a gift, such Member shall, upon learning of the nature of the gift and its source, return the gift or, if it is not possible to return the gift, reimburse the donor for the value of the gift. The return or reimbursement of the gift to the donor shall not preclude the Rules Committee from acting on the matter as a violation of the Code of Conduct.

5. A Member of the legislature shall accept no honorarium for a speech, writing for publication, or other similar activity, from any person, organization, or corporation in excess of the usual and customary value for such services.

6. A Member of the legislature shall retain no one in his or her hire who does not perform legislative duties commensurate with the compensation he or she receives.

7. A Member of the legislature shall not discharge or refuse to hire any individual, or otherwise discriminate against any individual with respect to compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, because of such individual's race, color, religion, sex, age or national origin.

8. A Member of the legislature shall not hire or retain a relative for a paid position on his or her personal legislative staff in the legislature.

For purposes of paragraph 4 and 8 of this Code of Official Conduct the term "relative" means, with respect to any Member of the legislature, an individual who is related as father, mother, son, daughter, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, first cousin, nephew, niece, husband, wife, grandfather, grandmother, grandson, granddaughter, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepson, stepdaughter, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister or any person who is the grandfather or grandmother of the spouse of the member.

9. A Member of the legislature shall not knowingly solicit campaign contributions for his or her campaign from persons he or she has employed to work in the legislature.

10. A Member of the legislature or an individual who is a candidate for nomination for election to the legislature or any other office may not use the mail privilege afforded to the Members for constituent contact within sixty days immediately before the date of any primary or general election (whether regular, special, or runoff) in which the Member or individual is a candidate for any public office.

Nothing in this rule shall apply to any mailing under the legislative privilege which is (a) in direct response to inquiries or requests from persons to whom the matter is mailed, (b) addressed to colleagues in the legislature or to government officials (whether Federal, state, or local), (c) consists entirely of news releases to the communications media, or (d) consists of less than 30 pieces of mail.

11. ENFORCEMENT

Any violations of the Code of Official Conduct shall be under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Rules of the Legislature together with the Speaker of the Legislature and the Chairperson of the Executive Board. In the event that any of the committee members noted above are the subject of the investigation undertaken, then such member shall be ineligible to serve and a replacement shall be chosen based upon the Order of Designation as set forth in Rule 1, Section 6.

The committee shall have authority after notice and a public hearing to prescribe and publish such regulations as its members believe are necessary to implement the Code of Official Conduct. Such regulations shall be approved by the Executive Board of the Legislative Council.

12. This code shall be effective January 8, 1986.

"Section 1. Sections 1 to 16 of this act shall be known and may be cited as the Hospital Consumer Information Act.

Sec. 2. The purpose of the Hospital Consumer

Information Act is to promote the economic delivery of high quality and cost-effective health care services to the people of the State of Nebraska by consolidating hospital billing and outpatient surgical facility billing forms and providing better information to consumers as to the costs and charges for hospital and ambulatory surgical care in the state.

Sec. 3. As used in the Hospital Consumer Information Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions in sections 4 to 10 of this act shall be used.

Sec. 4. Ambulatory surgical facility shall mean a facility, not a part of a hospital, which provides surgical treatment to patients not requiring hospitalization and which is licensed as a health clinic as defined by section 71-2017.01, but shall not include the offices of private physicians or dentists whether for individual or group practice.

Sec. 6. Hospital uniform billing form shall mean the Health Care Financing Administration claim form number 1450 mandated for the Medicare program pursuant to sections 1814 (a)(2) and 1871 of the Social Security Act, as amended, developed by the National Uniform Billing Committee, and commonly referred to as the uniform billing claim form number 82.

Sec. 11. On or before January 1, 1987, all insurers and third-party administrators shall utilize and accept the hospital uniform billing form as the initial billing form on all claims filed for the payment of all inpatient and outpatient hospital charges and ambulatory surgical facility charges in Nebraska. After January 1, 1987, no insurer or third-party administrator shall require a Nebraska hospital or outpatient surgical facility to complete an initial billing form other than the hospital uniform billing form as a requirement of reimbursement for insured services provided by the hospital or ambulatory surgical facility. No insurer or third-party administrator shall contract with any person or employer, union, or other organization to provide insurance services, unless such person or organization accepts and utilizes or agrees to accept and utilize the hospital uniform billing form for claims for health care services or benefits provided to employees or members.

(2) All hospitals and ambulatory surgical facilities shall provide notice to the public that such hospital or facility will provide an estimate of charges for medical procedures or diagnostic conditions pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. Such public notice shall be provided either as a part of the advertising or promotional materials of the facility or by posting a notice in an obvious place within the public areas of the facility.

Such listing shall be provided to any person upon request. The information included in the listing shall show the date prepared and shall be regularly updated every six months.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 52
March 28, 1985

Dear Senator Vickers:

This is in response to your letter of March 22, 1985, concerning the committee amendments to LB 459. These amendments would return jurisdiction over noxious weeds to the Department of Agriculture and give the director of that department the authority to decide if a county is in compliance with the weed control laws of the state. The amendment further provides that:

> When it is determined by the director that a control authority has failed to carry out any of its duties and responsibilities as a control authority, the Attorney General shall notify the State Treasurer to withhold allocation of funds distributed under section 39-2402 until notified by the director that the control authority has properly enforced sections 2-952 to 2-965.

Your question is whether such a procedure is constitutional. We have no concerns about the mechanism for withholding funds for failure to enforce the laws. Such procedures are now available in other situations under state law.

We do, however, have some concerns as to the fundamental requirements of due process afforded by this amendment. The decision to withhold funds would here be made solely upon the determination of the director that the local weed control authority was not in compliance with the state law. There are no procedures for any notice or hearing as a result of such a determination as in similar existing statutory schemes. See, for example, Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-378 (Reissue 1981). From this standpoint, without such procedural due process safeguards, the amendment is constitutionally suspect.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 53
April 1, 1985

RE: LB 452

Dear Senator Harris:

You have requested our opinion regarding an amendment to LB 452, which would allow an out-of-state bank holding company to acquire a "problem bank" in Nebraska. Specifically, you have asked us whether allowing a bank holding company to come into the state for such a limited purpose would, in fact, allow entry of all out-of-state bank holding companies into the state for all purposes. It is our opinion that such limited entry for out-of-state bank holding companies, as proposed by the amendment to LB 452, would not allow entry of all out-of-state bank holding companies into the state for all purposes.

Section 3(d) of the Bank Holding Company Act (also known as the Douglas Amendment) authorizes the states to control acquisition of banks within their borders by out-of-state bank holding companies. Pursuant to that authority, most states have prohibited out-of-state bank holding companies from acquiring a bank within their respective states. Recently, some states have passed legislation authorizing out-of-state bank holdings companies to acquire an in-state bank, under limited circumstances. Opponents of the restrictions have argued that the Douglas Amendment acts as a "on-off switch". That is, if out-of-state bank holding companies are allowed into a state for a limited purpose, then the real effect is to allow all out-of-state bank holding companies to enter the state for any purpose. The argument is that the Douglas Amendment is an all or nothing proposition.

The position is based almost entirely on a textual analysis of the Douglas Amendment. The Douglas Amendment provides that an out-of-state bank holding company is prohibited from acquiring a bank located in another state "unless the acquisition of such shares or assets of a state bank by an out-of-state bank holding company is specifically authorized . . ." Bank of New York C. Inc. 70 Federal Reserve Bulletin 527 (1984) (emphasis supplied). The argument is made that the use of the indefinite article "an" demonstrates that Congress intended that a state statute authorizing acquisition by a single bank under any circumstance would remove the Douglas Amendment's prohibition on interstate acquisition by bank holding companies in that state.

This argument was considered by the Federal Reserve Board in a number of cases. The Board rejected the argument, stating: "Nothing in the history of the Douglas Amendment suggests that the states were to be permitted only to choose between not allowing out-of-state bank holding companies to enter, and allowing completely free entry." Bank of New England Corporation, 70 Federal Reserve Bulletin 374 (1984), Bank of New York Company,l Inc., 70 Federal Reserve Bulletin, 527 (1984), citing Iowa Independent Bankers Association v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, 511 F.2d 1288 (D.C. Cir.), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 875 (1975).

The issue was recently considered in the case of Northeast Bancorp, Inc. v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, 740 F.2d 203 (2d Cir. 1984). The court stated that it found nothing in the language or history of the Douglas Amendment to support the contention that the states must either permit all bank holding companies throughout the United States to acquire their banks or to permit none to do so. We would note that the Supreme Court has granted certiorari on this case. Therefore, it is impossible to state without reservation that the Second Circuit's position will be affirmed. However, the weight of authority indicates that it will be upheld. Therefore, the amendment to LB 452 which allows entry of out-of-state bank holding companies into Nebraska in order to acquire a "problem bank" would not inadvertently allow all out-of-state bank holding companies to enter the state at will.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 54
April 2, 1985

Dear Senator Wesely:

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of a proposed amendment to LB 325. Generally, the amendment would allow an employee who terminates from state employment, then later returns to state employment within five years of the termination, to count the previous years of employment for vesting purposes of employer retirement contributions.

Presently, under Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-1322 (Reissue 1981), a member of the State Employees Retirement System who terminates employment is considered a new employee upon their return to state employment. Pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-1321 (Supp. 1984), an employee who terminates employment, who has not been a member of the system for five years, forfeits his or her rights to receive any state retirement contributions to the system.

Under the proposed amendment to LB 325, an employee returning to work, who was not a member of the system for five years prior to terminating their original employment, would have no claim to state contributions made during the first period of employment. The amendment would, however, allow the returning employee to count the previous period of service to determine when the employee would become vested in the new state contributions.

The only potential constitutional issue we foresee is whether the proposed amendment to LB 325 would violate the provisions of Article III, Section 19, of the Nebraska Constitution. Article III, Section 19, provides, in part:

The Legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, or servant after the services have been rendered nor to any contractor after the contract has been entered into, except that retirement benefits of retired public officers and employees may be adjusted to reflect changes in the cost of living and wage levels that have occurred subsequent to the date of retirement, . . . .

As was noted, an employee returning to state employment would not be granted any entitlement to state retirement contributions previously forfeited upon leaving their original employment. The amendment would simply grant employees returning to state employment credit for their prior years of service for purposes of determining when they become vested in their new employer contributions. Under these circumstances, we do not believe the proposed amendment to LB 325 would provide a grant of "extra compensation" within the meaning of the prohibition contained in Article III, Section 19.

Based on the foregoing, it is our opinion that the proposed amendment to LB 325 does not violate the provisions of Article III, Section 19, of the Nebraska Constitution.

AM0938

(Amendments to Final Reading Copy)

1. Strike the original sections and all amendments thereto and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. (1) The Legislature hereby finds and declares that the issue of property tax relief, school reorganization, financing of educations, establishing standards for quality education, and the issue of just what the entire tax system of the state should be are so inextricable interwoven that only by comprehensively dealing with all of these matters as a single entity can the Legislature ever hope to begin to deal effectively with all of the problems inherent in each of these issues. The Legislature further finds that attempts in past years to deal individually with each of these issues or problems have resulted in a patchwork quilt of legislative enactments which have, in total, only exacerbated the problems inherent in each of the issues.

(2) The Legislature declares that it is the purpose of sections 1 to 8 of this act to provide for the establishment of a complete refinancing system for primary and secondary education in the State of Nebraska which will address effectively the property tax issue, the school reorganization issue, the entire tax system of the State of Nebraska, and such other issues as may be inherent and a part of such issues.

Sec. 2. There is hereby created the State School District which shall include all territory within the outer boundaries of the State of Nebraska. The purpose of the State School District shall be to insure uniform property taxation for school purposes and equitable distribution of funds to school districts. The existence of the State School District shall not effect the boundaries or existence of any local school district. Except as specifically authorized in sections 1 to 8 of this act, a local school district shall not levy a property tax for any purpose except to retire bonded indebtedness existing on the operative date of this section.

Sec. 3. Each county shall levy a tax of one dollar on each one hundred dollars upon the actual value of all the taxable property in the county. The revenue collected pursuant to such tax shall, within ten days after receipt by the county treasurer, be forwarded to the State Treasurer and placed in the State School District Property Tax Financing Fund, which is hereby created. On or before the fifth day of each month, the State Treasurer shall notify the Commissioner of Education of the amount of money in the fund available for distribution pursuant to sections 4 and 5 of this act. Any money in the fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to sections 72-1237 to 72-1269, and any interest received shall be placed in the fund.

Sec. 4. The State Department of Education shall, on a monthly basis, determine the amount of money to be received by each school district under sections 1 to 8 of this act. The State Department of Education shall notify the Director of Administrative Services on or before the twentieth day of each month of the amount due each school district. The Director of Administrative Services shall issue a warrant to each school district on or before the last day of each month.

Sec. 5. Money in the School District Property Tax Financing Fund shall be distributed to the various school districts based upon the number of students attending public schools in the school district. Each school district shall receive a percentage of the money in the fund equal to the percentage derived by dividing the number of student units in the school district by the number of student units in all school districts in the state. Each student in grades one through eight attending a public school in the school district shall equal one student unit. Each student in grades nine through twelve attending a public school in the school district shall equal one and one-third student units. The number of student units in a school district shall be determined by the State Department of Education based upon the fall school membership report filed pursuant to section 79-1333.02.

Sec. 6. There is hereby created the Educational Apportionment Fund. Such fund shall consist of money appropriated by the Legislature, federal funds, and all other grants, gifts, and funds made available for schools in this state which are not specifically designated for another purpose. The Legislature shall determine the average per student cost of educating children in this state. The State Department of Education shall distribute funds from the Educational Apportionment Fund to those school districts which receive less than the average per student cost from funds distributed pursuant to section 5 of this act. Each school district receiving funds from the Educational Apportionment Fund shall receive the difference between the amount received under section 5 of this act and the total average per pupil cost for all students attending public schools in the school district.

Any money in the Educational Apportionment Fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to sections 72-1237 to 72-1269.

Sec. 7. The school board or board of education for a school district may propose a special property tax levy to meet the financial needs of the district. Such levy shall not remain in effect for more than three years and shall be in the amount specified by the school board or board of education. A special property tax shall not be levied under this section until it has been approved at an election by sixty-five per cent of the registered voters in the school district.

Sec. 8. The Legislature finds that due to geography, demographics, and other special conditions the costs of education in certain areas of the state will be higher than those in other areas. There is hereby created the State Equalization Fund. Money appropriated to such fund by the Legislature shall be distributed to school districts with such special conditions as specified by the Legislature.

Any money in the State Equalization Fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to sections 72-1237 to 72-1269.

Sec. 9. On or before January 10, 1986, the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall prepare legislation to be placed before the Legislature which shall implement the provisions of sections 1 to 8 of this act. The Department of Revenue and the State Department of Education shall assist such committee in preparing the required legislation.

Sec. 10. Sections 1 to 8 and 11 of this act shall become operative on July 1, 1987, the remaining sections shall become operative on their effective date.

Sec. 11. That sections 79-432 to 79-438, 79-506.01 to 79-506.04, 79-542, 79-548.01, 79-904, 79-1007 to 79-1007.02, 79-1103.02, 79-1330 to 79-1332, 79-1334 to 79-1340, and 79-1342 to 79-1344.01, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and sections 79-4,102, 79-1052, 79-1332.01, 79-1333, and 79-1333.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984 are repealed.

Sec. 12. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, from and after its passage and approval, according to law.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 56

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested us to reconsider the conclusion reached in Attorney General Opinion No. 46, issued on March 27, 1985, in which we concluded that LB 616, which would allow a taxpayer entitled to a refund to designate a portion of the refund to be paid as a contribution to the United States Olympic Committee, would violate the prohibition against special legislation contained in Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution. This conclusion is consistent with a previous opinion issued by our office concerning this subject. Attorney General Opinion No. 209, March 2, 1982.

Following the issuance of our opinion, we were contacted by Ronald Rowan, General Counsel for the United States Olympic Committee. We have discussed this matter with Mr. Rowan, and are aware of the Olympic Committee's position on this issue. While we appreciate the Committee's interest concerning this matter, and welcome their comments, we nevertheless believe the conclusion reached in our earlier opinion is correct.

Based on the foregoing, we adhere to our opinion that LB 616 would be held unconstitutional as establishing unreasonable class legislation, in violation of Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

(1) Board shall mean the governing board of any educational service unit;

(2) Certificated employee shall mean all teachers, nurses, and other persons required to have a certificate from the State Department of Education who are employed by an educational service unit;

(3) Just cause shall mean incompetency, neglect of duty, unprofessional conduct, insubordination, immorality, physical or mental incapacity, or other conduct which interferes substantially with the continued performance of duties or a change in circumstances such as financial exigency or a diminution of demand for services by the school districts served by the educational service unit necessitating a reduction in the number of teachers or nurses to be employed by the board;

(4) Permanent certificated employee shall mean a certificated employee (a) who has served under a contract with the educational service unit for at least three successive years under any contract which was entered into to create initial employment on or after September 1, 1985 or (b) who was initially employed by the educational service unit prior to September 1, 1985; and

(5) Probationary certificated employee shall mean a certificated employee who has served under a contract with the educational service unit for less than three successive years under any contract which was entered into to create initial employment on or after September 1, 1985.

Sec. 2. The contract of a certificated employee shall be deemed renewed and remain in full force and effect unless amended, terminated, or not renewed in accordance with sections 1 to 5 of this act.

Sec. 3. (1) Any certificated employee whose contract of employment may be amended, terminated, or not renewed for the following school year shall be notified in writing on or before April 15 of each year of such possible action on the contract. If the certificated employee wishes a hearing, a written request shall be sent to the secretary of the board or the administrator of the educational service unit within seven calendar days after receipt of the written notice. If a hearing on such amendment, termination, or nonrenewal is not requested within the time provided in this section, the board shall make a final determination. With regard to all hearings under sections 1 to 5 of this act, the certificated employee shall be advised in writing at least five days prior to the hearing of the date, time, and place of the hearing. All such hearings shall be held within thirty days of the date of the request for the hearing, except when the parties or their representatives, by a mutual agreement confirmed in writing, extend the time for hearings or final determinations by the board under sections 1 to 5 of this act. Unless continued by written agreement between the parties or their representatives, final action by the board shall be taken on or before May 15 of each year.

(2) Prior to the hearing or action on the matter, if requested by the certificated employee, the notice of possible amendment, termination, or nonrenewal and the supporting reasons shall be considered a confidential employment matter as provided in sections 79-4,156 to 79-4,158 and 84-1410 and shall not be released to the public or news media.

Sec. 4. The board may on its own behalf, or shall upon the request of the certificated employee, his or her representative, or the educational service unit's administration: (1) Subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses residing within or without this state for the purpose of appearing and testifying at any hearing provided for in sections 1 to 5 of this act and for the purpose of taking the deposition of such witnesses in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of depositions in civil actions in the district courts; and (2) issue subpoenas for the production of any papers, books, accounts, and documents.

Sec. 5. (1) Upon request by the probationary certificated employee as provided in subsection (1) of section 3 of this act, notice shall be provided which shall contain written reasons for the proposed amendment or nonrenewal of the probationary certificated employee's contract and shall be sufficiently specific so as to provide such employee the opportunity to prepare a response and the reasons set forth in the notice shall be employment related.

(2) The board may elect to amend or not renew the contract of a probationary certificated employee for any reason it deems sufficient if such nonrenewal or amendment is employment related and such nonrenewal or amendment is not for constitutionally impermissible reasons. Such nonrenewal or amendment shall be in accordance with sections 1 to 5 of this act. Amendment

(4) The hearing, if requested, involving the question of the nonrenewal or amendment of a probationary certificated employee's contract shall not be a formal due process hearing, but shall be an informal hearing before the board at which the probationary certificated employee involved or his or her representative shall be afforded the opportunity to discuss and explain to the board his or her position with regard to continued employment, to present information, and to ask questions of those appearing on behalf of the administration of educational service unit. Such hearing shall be in closed session at the request of the probationary certificated employee involved or his or her representative and upon affirmative vote of the majority of the board members present and voting, but the formal action of the board for nonrenewal or amendment shall be in open session.

(5) The hearing for a probationary certificated employee may be held before committee of the board consisting of not less than three of the board's total members, and total membership of the committee shall be odd-numbered. Notice of such hearing shall be sent to all board members five days prior to such hearing. If a hearing is held before a committee, the majority opinion of the committee shall constitute a recommendation to the board with the final determination being made by a majority vote of the members of the board without additional hearing.

Sec. 6. (1) The board by a vote of the majority of its members may determine that a permanent certificated employee's contract shall be amended or terminated for any of the following reasons: (a) Just cause as defined in section 1 of this act; (b) reduction in force as set forth in sections 79-1254.05 to 79-1254.08; (c) a change of leave of absence policy; (d) failure of the permanent certificated employee upon written request of the board or the administrators of the educational service unit to accept employment for the next school year within the time designated in the request, except that the permanent certificated employee shall not be required to signify such acceptance prior to March 15 of each year; or (e) revocation, cancellation, suspension, or termination of the permanent certificated employee's certificate by the State Board of Education.

(2) If a hearing is requested by the permanent certificated employee, the formal due process hearing for the purpose of this section shall mean a hearing procedure adopted by the board which contains at least the following: (a) Notification to the permanent certificated employee in writing at least five days prior to the hearing of the grounds alleged for the termination or amendment of the permanent certificated employee's contract; (b) upon request of the permanent certificated employee, a list of the names of any witnesses who will be called to testify against the certificated employee and an opportunity to examine any documents that will be presented at the hearing shall be provided at least five days prior to the hearing; (c) the right to be represented; and (d) an opportunity to cross-examine all witnesses, examine all documents, and present evidence material to the issues.

Upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the board's members present and voting and upon specific request of the permanent certificated employee or the permanent certificated employee's representative, the hearing shall be conducted in a closed session, but the formal action of the board shall be taken in open session.

(4) A majority of the members of the board shall render its decision to amend or terminate a permanent certificated employee's contract based solely upon the evidence produced at the hearing, shall reduce its findings and determination to writing, and shall deliver a written copy of the findings and determination to the permanent certificated employee.".

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. (1) It is the intent of the Legislature to encourage cooperative and coordinated programs in higher education to the end that there will be adequate access and educational opportunity for residents at a reasonable cost to taxpayers. The Legislature finds that interstate agreements between institutions are a cost effective means to ensure quality programs and student access. The purpose of this act is to require the governing boards of all public postsecondary institutions to investigate opportunities for cooperative programs with contiguous states and other states in close proximity to Nebraska prior to initiating new programs independently.

(2) The requirement to investigate cooperative programs shall apply to all proposed graduate level and professional programs of instruction with special emphasis and application to high cost and small enrollment programs in medical education, including the cooperative program for veterinary medicine described in sections 4, 5, and 6 of this act.

(3) The requirement to investigate cooperative programs shall also be applicable to existing programs which are required to be reviewed in detail pursuant to subsection (2) of section 85-9,106.

Sec. 2. (1) There is hereby created a Special Legislative Oversight Committee for cooperative educational programs to be composed of the chairpersons of the Education and Appropriations Committees, the chairperson of the Executive Board of the Legislature, and the chairperson of the standing committee, as designated by the Chairperson of the Executive Board, with jurisdiction over the subject matter which is most related to the subject matter of any program in higher education to be reviewed by the special committee.

(2) The function of the Special Legislative Oversight Committee for cooperative educational programs shall be to (a) establish an ongoing working relationship with legislative leaders in contiguous states and states in close proximity to Nebraska for the purpose of reviewing and discussing potential and existing cooperative programs in the public postsecondary sector for cooperative education and (b) to approve all cooperative agreements negotiated by the governing boards of public postsecondary institutions which will require an appropriation of general fund dollars by the Legislature. Such approval shall be required prior to the final execution of any contract entered into by the governing boards pursuant to section 1 of this act.

(3) The Legislative Research Office shall be responsible for coordinating staff responsibilities for the support of such committee and may request such assistance as is necessary and appropriate from any agency of state government.

Sec. 3. Prior to the approval of cooperative agreements which will require state general fund appropriations, the Special Legislative Oversight Committee shall consider the needs, projections, and analysis required by section 85-9,109. No cooperative agreement for a new program shall be approved unless the program of instruction has been identified as filling an unmet need pursuant to the five-year projections required by section 85-9,109.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 57
April 4, 1985

Dear Senator Wesely:

This letter is in response to your earlier correspondence in which you requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of LB 578. Specifically, you asked whether LB 578 violates any state or federal constitutional provisions including the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution. We have reviewed the bill in question along with various relevant legal authorities. As is discussed below, we have concluded that LB 578 is of suspect constitutional validity.

LB 578 would require pharmacies operating outside the State of Nebraska which mail dispensed prescription drugs into the state to obtain a pharmacy license issued by the Nebraska Department of Health. Such pharmacies would also be required to dispense prescription drugs in Nebraska in compliance with Nebraska law governing the practice of pharmacy. The test of the bill, in its entirety, is as follows:

> Any pharmacy operating outside the State of Nebraska which ships, mails, or delivers in any manner a dispensed prescription drug into the State of Nebraska shall hold a pharmacy license issued by the Department of Health, and that part of such pharmacy operation which dispenses prescriptions to Nebraska residents shall comply with Nebraska law, rules, and regulations governing the practice of pharmacy. The Department of Health, upon recommendation of the Board of Examiners in Pharmacy, shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations, including provisions for enforcement, necessary to carry out this section.

The constitutionality of a state's attempt to license or otherwise regulate out-of-state pharmacies which mail prescription drugs into the state has been considered previously by various authorities with differing results. For example, the Attorneys General of Wisconsin and California have indicated that such regulation is constitutionally permissible under the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution. In contrast, the Attorney General of Ohio has indicated that such regulation is unconstitutional. Given these conflicting authorities, we must proceed with our own independent analysis of your question.

LB 578, by its express language, applies to pharmacies outside the State of Nebraska which ship or otherwise deliver dispensed prescription drugs into the state. Interstate commerce is commerce between the states as opposed to commerce wholly within a state. Ware & Leland v. Mobile County, 209 U.S. 405 (1908). Consequently, LB 578 involves an attempt by the State of Nebraska to regulate a form of interstate commerce. There is no question but that the state can subject wholly intrastate commerce to regulation under its police power. However, an attempt to regulate interstate commerce must be tested under the Commerce Clause of the United Sates Constitution.

The Commerce Clause gives the United States Congress the authority to regulate commerce with foreign nations, among the states, and with the Indian tribes. This authority includes full plenary power to regulate interstate commerce. In Re Rules and Regulations Nos. 31 and 32, 193 Neb. 59, 225 N.W.2d 401 (1975). Accordingly, federal statutes passed by Congress pursuant to its powers concerning interstate commerce are capable of preempting any state legislation or regulation of the same subject. Id. Therefore, we must first inquire in the present instance as to whether any federal legislation has preempted the state regulation contemplated by LB 578.

In 1970, Congress passed the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act, 21 U.S.C. §§801 et seq. The various provisions of that Act comprehensively regulate the distribution and dispensing of controlled substances in interstate commerce throughout the United States. For example, provisions of the Act deal with registration requirements, labeling and packaging of drugs, prescription of controlled substances, and records and reporting requirements. A review of the substantive provisions of that Act would lead to the conclusion that Congress did intend to preempt regulation in this area of interstate commerce. However, §903 of the Act, 21 U.S.C. §903,

> No provision of this subchapter shall be construed as indicating an intent on the part of Congress to occupy the field in which that provision operates, including criminal penalties, to the exclusion of any state law on the subject matter which would otherwise be within the authority of the state, unless there is a positive conflict between that provision of this subchapter and that state law so that the two cannot consistently stand together.

This statutory language indicates that Congress did not intend to preempt state regulation of interstate commerce involving controlled substances so long as any state regulation does not directly conflict with the Act itself. Thus, LB 578 is not preempted so long as it does not directly conflict with the federal Act. See, Ranger Division, Ryder Truck Lines, Inc. v. Bayne, 214 Neb. 251, 333 N.W.2d 891 (1983). LB 578 would subject out-of-state pharmacies which mail prescription drugs into Nebraska to the various Nebraska statutes and regulations dealing with the licensing and operation of pharmacies. Our review of those statutes indicates that they largely parallel the provisions of the federal Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act. Consequently, we do not believe that the Nebraska statutes and the federal law are in direct conflict, and we do not believe that the federal legislation preempts the regulation contemplated by LB 578. We are aware of State v. Rasmussen, 213 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 1973) in which the Supreme Court of Iowa indicated that parallel Iowa legislation dealing with the registration of nonresident prescribing physicians would, in practical effect, negate the operation of the federal drug act. However, we do not find the Iowa case conclusive in the context of the question presently before us.

The purpose of the Commerce Clause in the United States Constitution is to create an area of trade among the states free from interference by the various states. A & P Tea Company v. Cottrell, 424 U.S. 366 (1976). Therefore, separate and apart from the preemption question, the Commerce Clause acts as a limitation upon the powers of the states even when Congress has not passed federal legislation in a particular area. Id. However, not every exercise of state power is invalid merely because it affects interstate commerce in some way. Id.; Ranger Division, Ryder Truck Lines v. Bayne, supra. The United States Supreme Court has established the following criteria for determining the validity of state statutes affecting interstate commerce:

> Where the statute regulates evenhandedly to effectuate a legitimate local public interest, and its effects on interstate commerce are only incidental, it will be upheld unless the burden imposed on such commerce is clearly excessive in relation to the > putative local benefits. If a legitimate local purpose is found, then the question becomes one of degree. The extent of the burden that will be tolerated will of course depend on the nature of the local interest involved, and on whether it could be promoted as well with a lesser impact on interstate activities. Pike v. Bruce Church, 397 U.S. 137, 142 (1970) (citations omitted) (emphasis added).

It therefore becomes necessary to analyze LB 578 under the criteria established in Pike v. Bruce Church.

At the outset, it is apparent that the regulation contemplated by LB 578 serves a legitimate and important local public interest. That regulation directly involves protection of the public health, and is therefore within the most traditional concept of the state's police power. Head v. Board of Examiners, 324 U.S. 424 (1963). The state clearly has a strong and legitimate local interest in regulating the manner in which drugs are dispensed to its citizens.

On its face, LB 578 also appears to regulate evenhandedly and in a fashion which does not discriminate against interstate commerce. LB 578 provides that out of state pharmacies dispensing controlled substances within the state must hold a pharmacy license issued by the Department of Health and must comply with Nebraska law governing the practice of pharmacy. Obviously, Nebraska pharmacies in the state operating wholly within intrastate commerce must comply with exactly the same provisions.

We have more difficulty with that portion of the Bruce Church criteria which states that the effects of the state regulation on interstate commerce must only be incidental. LB 578 would submit a pharmacy located in another state to Nebraska law concerning licensing and the practice of pharmacy. If that out-of-state pharmacy dispenses drugs through the mail to customers in a number of states, it would seem to us that having to meet the licensing requirement of each particular state would impose a substantial burden upon the pharmacy's ability to engage in interstate commerce. In such an instance, the pharmacy involved would be subject to multiple licensing procedures including duplicative registrations, records requirements, and labeling requirements.

Finally, and most importantly in terms of the present question, the Bruce Church criteria include an evaluation of the local interest involved and an evaluation of whether that interest could be promoted as well in some manner with a lesser impact on interstate commerce. Later cases have interpreted this criterion to encompass a consideration of the consequences to the state if its proposed regulatory action were disallowed, or a consideration of whether a substantial regulatory equivalent is available to the state. A & P Tea Company v. Cottrell, supra; Dixie Dairy Company v City of Chicago, 538 F.2d 1303 (7th Cir. 1976).

Our research in the present instance indicates that the federal Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 extensively regulates pharmacies which dispense controlled substances within the United States along with the various practices involved in dispensing those controlled substances. For example, federal regulations require persons dispensing controlled substances to register with the United States Department of Justice. 21 C.F.R. §1301.21. Federal regulations establish labeling and packaging requirements for controlled substances. 21 C.F.R. §1302.03. Federal regulations establish various requirements for the maintenance of records involving dispensation of drugs and inventories of controlled substances. 21 C.F.R. §1304.24. Federal regulations provide that prescriptions for controlled substances may only be filled by a professional pharmacist. 21 C.F.R. §1306.06. Our review of the various Nebraska statutes dealing with the practice of pharmacy which would apply to pharmacies located out of the State of Nebraska under the provisions of LB 578 indicates that those pharmacy provisions substantially duplicate the provisions of the federal act. Consequently, even though the state admittedly has an important public interest in regulating the dispensing of controlled substances, it seems to us that the existing federal statutes are substantially equivalent to the Nebraska statutes. In addition, the existing federal statutes protect the state's interests so that the consequences to the state are minimal if its attempt to regulate out-of-state pharmacies under the provisions of LB 578 is disallowed. Given the federal statutory framework, the state's regulatory interest under LB 578 is simply not great enough to justify the burden which that bill would place upon interstate commerce. Therefore, LB 578 is of suspect constitutional validity under the criteria established in Pike v. Bruce Church, supra.

We are aware of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association v. New Mexico Board of Pharmacy, 86 N.M. 471, 525 P.2d 931 (1974), where the Court of Appeals of New Mexico held that state pharmacy regulations requiring registration by out-of-state sellers and shippers of dangerous drugs were constitutional under the Commerce Clause. We would simply note that the burden on interstate commerce created by registration in that case was substantially less than the burden imposed by licensing under LB 578. We would also note, as discussed earlier, that the various authorities are in conflict on this issue.

One final matter remains. The United States Supreme Court has indicated that state attempts to regulate interstate commerce which may be considered as simple economic protectionism are virtually invalid per se. Philadelphia v. New Jersey, 417 U.S. 617 (1978). In the present instance, no such economic protectionism is apparent from the plain language of LB 578. However, if LB 578 could be considered as an attempt to protect pharmacies located within the State of Nebraska from competing pharmacies located out-of-state, then LB 578 would be a form of economic protectionism invalid under the United States Constitution.

In summary, we do not believe that LB 578 is preempted by the federal legislation controlling the flow of controlled substances within interstate commerce. However, while we feel that the state has legitimate and strong interest in regulating the process of dispensing drugs, we believe that the regulation envisioned by LB 578 is more than an incidental burden on interstate commerce, and that the state's interest in regulating the flow of controlled substances is adequately protected by the pertinent federal statutes. Consequently, it is our opinion that LB 578 is of suspect constitutional validity under the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 58
April 8, 1985

RE: LB 452

Dear Senator DeCamp:

As amended, LB 452 authorizes a regional out-of-state bank holding company to acquire a "problem" bank in the State of Nebraska. You have requested our opinion as to whether state law can prohibit either the acquired bank or the acquiring out-of-state bank holding company from exercising all rights of a Nebraska bank, such as further branching. It is our opinion that the Legislature may place such restrictions on the acquired bank or the acquiring out-of-state bank holding company.

For purposes of answering your question, we rely upon the amendments to LB 452 as found in the Legislative Journal of April 2, 1985, pgs. 1348-1350. As so amended, LB 452 allows regional out-of-state bank holding companies to acquire banks within the State of Nebraska after July 1, 1987, so long as the home state of the out-of-state bank holding company provides reciprocal treatment to Nebraska banks or bank holding companies. Regional out-of-state bank holding companies are allowed, under certain conditions, to acquire a "problem" bank in Nebraska prior to July 1, 1987. However, a "problem" bank acquired by a regional out-of-state bank holding company would not be allowed to expand its operations by merging or acquiring any other Nebraska bank. In effect, a Nebraska bank acquired by a regional out-of-state bank holding company would be treated differently than a Nebraska bank owned by a Nebraska bank holding company until July 1, 1987.

It is clear that LB 452 would place a restriction upon out-of-state bank holding companies from coming into the State of Nebraska and acquiring banks within the state. The Commerce Clause grants to Congress the power to regulate commerce among the several states. U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 8, paragraph 3. If Congress authorizes the states to regulate an aspect of interstate commerce, any action taken by a state within the perameters of that authority is invulnerable to challenge. Northeast Bancorp, Inc. v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, 740 F.2d 203 (2d Cir. 1984). Section 3(d) of the Bank Holding Company Act (also known as the Douglas Amendment) authorizes the states to control acquisition of banks within their borders by out-of-state bank holding companies. It has been held that Congress, through the Douglas Amendment, authorized the states to limit acquisitions of banks within their states to regional bank holding companies. Northeast Bancorp, Inc. v. FRB. Because the languages of the Douglas Amendment is very broad, we do not believe that the limitations upon out-of-state bank holding companies, imposed by LB 452, would exceed the authority granted to the state by Congress, to regulate acquisitions of Nebraska banks by out-of-state bank holding companies.

A more critical question is whether LB 452 violates the Equal Protection Clause, which provides: "No state shall . . .deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." U.S. Constitution, Amendment 14, Section 1. It could be contended that such a violation would exist because LB 452 limits a Nebraska bank's ability to expand its operations, based solely upon its ownership by either an out-of-state bank holding company or an in-state bank holding company or bank. There are situations in which the states may classify and treat foreign corporations differently from both individuals and domestic corporations. However, the classification must be rationally related to the achievement of a legitimate state purpose. Western and Southern Life Insurance Company v. State Board of Equalization, 451 U.S. 648 (1981). The question then becomes, is LB 452 rationally related to the achievement of a legitimate state purpose? We believe it is.

It could be argued that the provisions of LB 452, which allow a regional out-of-state bank holding company to acquire a "problem" bank, serve to increase the number of purchasers of troubled banks in Nebraska at a time of increased distress in the banking community. By prohibiting an acquired bank from expanding its operations until July 1, 1987, the legislation would prevent an out-of-state bank holding company from utilizing its takeover of a "problem" bank, from expanding its advantage over other regional out-of-state bank holding companies, which are prevented from entering the state until July 1, 1987. Therefore, the limitations included in LB 452 can be supported as rationally related to the legitimate state interests in regulating the entry of out-of-state bank holding companies into the State of Nebraska. We would caution that the case of Northeast Bancorp, Inc. v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, cited above, is presently before the United States Supreme Court for review. Therefore, the power of the states to regulate acquisitions by out-of-state bank holding companies is subject to change. However, until the United States Supreme Court determines otherwise, it is our opinion that LB 452 would withstand constitutional attack.

Very truly yours,

The school board of the Class I school district may propose an affiliation plan. Such plan shall be submitted for the approval of the school board or board of education of the school district or school districts with which the affiliation is proposed. If such boards approve the plan it shall be submitted to the voters of the Class I school district and, if approved by a majority of those voting, the plan shall be implemented as proposed. If the plan is not approved by the school district or school districts with which affiliation is proposed, the issue of affiliation shall be submitted to the county committee for the reorganization of school districts or to a special committee created pursuant to section 79-426.09, whichever is appropriate. Such rules and regulations shall provide for division of the budget based on the per pupil rates specified in section 79-1334;

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 60
April 10, 1985

Dear Senator Vickers:

You requested an Attorney General's opinion as to whether LB 457, the Hazardous Materials Disclosure Act, has been federally preempted. You also ask whether the preemption would apply only to the labor portions of the bill and whether the fire department's notice provision would stand.

It is our opinion that portions of the bill, at least those which address the communication of chemical hazards to employees in the manufacturing sector, are preempted. Because the definition of "employer" in section 2 of LB 457 is drafted broadly, it would probably be read to include manufacturers of hazardous chemicals as well as those who use such substances in a manufacturing process. Therefore, the entire bill could be said to be federally preempted.

The question of federal preemption of state law in the regulation of hazardous chemicals in the work place has been addressed in two jurisdictions. In both cases the analysis centered on existing federal standards and whether state regulation addressed the same concerns.

29 U.S.C. §667(a). Where state regulation deals with the same subjects as federal law, but is not inconsistent with the federal law, a state may submit its plan to the Secretary of Labor for approval if it desires to assume regulatory responsibility in the area. 29 U.S.C. §667(b).

In West Virginia Manufacturers' Association v. State of West Virginia, 714 F.2d 308 (4th Cir. 1983), a West Virginia state statute that required employers to disclose hazards of exposure to hazardous or toxic materials was challenged on state constitutionality and federal preemption grounds. The Court of Appeals found that the statute was constitutional and was not preempted by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHA Act). On the specific preemption question, the court determined that while standards relating to toxic and hazardous materials and their safe exposure levels had been drafted on the federal level, the federal law did not operate to preempt the West Virginia standards because the two laws were different in object and purpose. The court rejected contentions that the term "standard" and the intent of Congress to regulate the entire field, disclosure to employees as well as safe levels of exposure, must be interpreted broadly.

> We do not find this point persuasive. So sweeping a definition of the term "standard" would defeat most forms of State participation in achieving the national objective of safe work places. Moreover, we are reluctant to attribute proscriptive meaning to the Federal agency's decision not to require posting. Federal determinations not to regulate may stem from enumerable considerations unrelated to the health and safety issue. Such a negative implication should not be preclusive. We now hold that West Virginia properly may assert her interest in this fashion.

Id. at 314.

The second and most recent case dealing with the federal preemption of state hazardous substance disclosure laws is New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce v. Hughey, 600 F.Supp. 606 (D.N.J. 1985). In this case, plaintiff sought declaratory and injunctive relief, asserting primarily that the New Jersey Worker and Community Right to Know Act was federally preempted by the OSHA Act, 29 U.S.C. §§651 et seq. The district court held that absent a request for federal approval the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's hazard communication standard preempted the state law as to manufacturing employers and as to those employers, the state act was preempted in its entirety even as regards non-workplace regulatory objectives.

> Comparing the Right to Know Act and the {federal} standard, it is apparent that the Right to Know Act deals, to a very great extent with hazard communication in the workplace, the extent with hazard communication in the workplace, the identification of hazardous substances, labelling, and workplace training and educational programs, the precise issues covered by the standard. Unless one of the reasons defendants advance for not applying the preemption controls, it would appear that the Right to Know act is subject to the express preemptive effect of the federal statue and administrative standard.

Id. at 618.

The court conceded that the Right to Know act may not have been inconsistent with the federal standards and may well have been the type of legislation that furthered the OSHA's objectives and would therefore be permitted under the Act. "Congress, however" said the court, "has required that a determination in this regard must be made in the first instance by the Secretary of Labor and that until such a determination is made and OSHA's standard preempts the area of regulation."

Id. at 619.

While it is true that the two cases cited above are not products of the Eighth Circuit, there is a strong possibility that the federal courts in this jurisdiction would rule in a similar manner on the federal preemption question as applied to the Nebraska Hazardous Materials Disclosure Act as contained in LB 457. That same preemption would similarly apply to the notice provisions to local fire departments. It does not appear, however, that the regulatory scheme set out in LB 457 is necessarily inconsistent with federal regulation in the area. It would therefore seem that federal approval by the Secretary of Labor for state assumption of regulation in this area would be a recommended and viable option.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

To amend Rule 7, Section 7, by adding a new subsection:
Sec. 7. Reconsideration. (a) When a question has been decided, it shall be in order for any member voting with the prevailing side, or not voting, to move for a reconsideration thereof. A motion to reconsider must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on the next legislative day, except when it be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading. In such case, it must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on one of the next three legislative days. A motion to reconsider must be disposed of by the Legislature within five legislative days after making the same or it shall be deemed defeated. If the Legislature shall refuse to reconsider, or upon reconsideration shall affirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order unless by unanimous consent.

Motion to reconsider cannot be withdrawn without leave. Rule 7, Section 3.

(b) Every motion to reconsider shall take preference over all other questions, except a motion to adjourn.

(c) For its adoption, a motion to reconsider shall require the vote of a majority of the elected members, except:

i Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading, then a three-fifths vote shall be required for adoption.

ii Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading with the emergency clause attached, but which received the constitutional majority with the emergency clause stricken and the purpose of the motion is to again add the emergency clause, then a two-thirds vote of the elected members shall be required for adoption.

(d) For its adoption a motion to reconsider a bill indefinitely postponed on General File or on Select File shall require the vote of three-fifths of the elected members.
(e) For a bill on General File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance three times; for a bill on Select File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance two times; for a bill passed on Final Reading, no motion to reconsider shall be in order except by the introducer of the bill, for technical or clarifying amendments.

"Sec. 2. That section 2-953, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

2-953. As used in sections 2-952 to 2-965 and section 7 of this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Person shall mean any individual, partnership, firm, corporation, company, society, association, the state or any department, agency, or subdivision thereof, or any other entity;

(2) Control, controlled, or controlling, shall include being in charge of or being in possession, whether as owner, lessee, renter, tenant, under statutory authority, or otherwise;

(3) Noxious weeds shall mean and include any weed designated and listed in regulations promulgated by the Director of Agriculture as noxious;

(4) Control authority shall mean the county weed district board, which shall represent all rural area and cities, villages, and townships within the county boundaries. The county board of commissioners or supervisors may, following an election in which a majority of the votes cast are in favor of such action, function as and exercise the authority and carry out the duties of the county weed district board. To initiate such an election, the county board of commissioners or supervisors may, by resolution, require the county clerk of such county to have placed upon the ballot at the election next following such resolution, the question, Shall the weed control authority board be dissolved and its duties and authority be exercised by the county board?

Yes .... No ....

If a majority of the votes cast on this question are opposed to dissolution of the weed control authority board, the county shall remain subject to the direction and authority of the elected weed control authority board. If a majority of the votes cast on this question are in favor of the dissolution of the weed control authority board, the county board shall function as and exercise the authority and carry out the duties of the county weed district board. If, at any time following the dissolution of the county weed control authority board, county residents, representing at least ten per cent of the votes cast in the preceding general election in such county, submit a petition to the county clerk for reestablishment of the county weed control authority board as an independent elected body, the clerk shall place the following question on the next general election ballot: Shall the weed control authority board be reestablished and elected independent of other county officials?

Yes .... No ....

If a majority of the ballots favor reestablishment of the independent board, the county board shall appoint an initial weed control authority board and thereafter the weed control authority board members shall be elected in conformity with this section.

When the county board of commissioners or supervisors does not function as the weed district board, such board shall be composed of five members, three of whom shall be from rural areas and two of whom shall be from cities, villages, or townships. The county board shall appoint members of the authority to fill any vacancy occurring on the board. The two members from cities, villages, or townships shall thereafter be elected at the general election in 1966 and each four years thereafter, and the three members from rural areas shall be elected at the general election in 1968 and each four years thereafter. Persons seeking election to the authority shall be nominated and elected regardless of political affiliation. They shall file in the same manner as is provided by law for county superintendents and shall not be required to pay a filing fee. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Re: LB 638

Dear Senator R. Johnson:

You have asked about the constitutionality of LB 638 which would require the Director of Agriculture to establish prices for corn, grain, sorghum, wheat, soybeans, barley, dry beans, and milk.

From our research, we find that the mechanics for establishing prices under the provisions of LB 638 are for all practical purposes the same as those for the establishment of minimum prices provided in LB 551 of the 1983 Session of the Legislature.

In answer to a question concerning the constitutionality of the provisions of LB 551 (1983), we concluded that "to the extent that the Legislature has granted two federal agencies powers which are reserved to the Legislature itself, the bill would be constitutionally suspect." See, Attorney General's Opinion No. 40, March 9, 1983, Legislative Journal 1983, Page 870.

After examining our previous Opinion, we find no reason to arrive at a different conclusion with regard to the provisions of LB 638.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Nothing in this subdivision shall require payment of compensation after disability shall cease.

(2) For disability partial in character, except the particular cases mentioned in subdivision (3) of this section, the compensation shall be sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the difference between the wages received at the time of the injury and the earning power of the employee thereafter, but such compensation shall not be more than ~~two hundred dollars per week~~ the maximum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act. This compensation shall be paid during the period of such partial disability, but not beyond three hundred weeks. Should total disability be followed by partial disability, the period of three hundred weeks mentioned in this subdivision shall be reduced by the number of weeks during which compensation was paid for such total disability.

(3) For disability resulting from permanent injury of the following classes, the compensation shall be in addition to the amount paid for temporary disability; PROVIDED, the compensation for temporary disability shall cease as soon as the extent of the permanent disability is ascertainable, viz: For the loss of a thumb, sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of daily wages during sixty weeks. The loss of more than one phalange shall be considered as the loss of the entire finger or thumb; PROVIDED, that in no case shall the amount received for more than one finger exceed the amount provided in this schedule for the loss of a hand. For the loss of a great toe, sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of daily wages during thirty weeks. For the loss of one of the toes other than the great toe, sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of daily wages during ten weeks. In any case in which there shall be a loss or loss of use of more than one member or parts of more than one member set forth in this subdivision, but not amounting to total and permanent disability, compensation benefits shall be paid for the loss or loss of use of each such member or part thereof, with the periods of benefits to run consecutively. The total loss or permanent total loss of use of both hands, or both arms, or both feet, or both legs, or both eyes, or hearing in both ears, or of any two thereof, in one accident, shall constitute total and permanent disability and be compensated for according to the provisions of subdivision (1) of this section. In all other cases involving a loss or loss of use of both hands, both arms, both feet, both legs, both eyes, or hearing in both ears, or of any two thereof, total and permanent disability shall be determined in accordance with the facts. Compensation under this subdivision shall not be more than ~~two hundred dollars per week~~ the maximum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act, nor less than ~~forty-nine dollars per week~~ the minimum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act; PROVIDED, that if at the time of the injury the employee received wages of less than ~~forty-nine dollars per week~~ the minimum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act, then he or she shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation.

(4) For disability resulting from permanent disability, if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour, or by the output of the employee the weekly wages shall be taken to be computed upon the basis of a work week of a minimum of five days, if the wages are paid by the day, or upon the basis of a work week of a minimum of forty hours, if the wages are paid by the hour, or upon the basis of a work week of a minimum of five days or forty hours, whichever results in the higher weekly wage, if the wages are based on the output of the employee.

(5) The employee shall be entitled to compensation from his or her employer for temporary disability while undergoing rehabilitation.

Sec. 2. That section 48-122, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

48-122. (1) If death results from injuries and the deceased employee leaves one or more dependents dependent upon his or her earnings for support at the time of ~~the accident causing the~~ injury, the compensation, subject to the provisions of section 48-123, shall be not more than ~~two hundred dollars per week~~ the maximum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act nor less than ~~forty-nine dollars per week~~ the minimum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act; PROVIDED, that if at the time of injury the employee receives wages of less than ~~forty-nine dollars per week~~ the minimum weekly income benefit specified in section 3 of this act, then the compensation shall be the full amount of such wages per week, payable in the amount and to the persons enumerated in section 48-122.01 subject to the maximum limits specified in this section and section 48-122.03.

(3) Upon the death of an employee, resulting through personal injuries as herein defined, whether or not there be dependents entitled to compensation, the reasonable expenses of burial, not exceeding two thousand dollars, without deduction of any amount previously paid or to be paid for compensation or for medical expenses, shall be paid to his or her dependents, or if there be no dependents, then to his or her personal representative.

U9-401. Place of filing; erroneous filing; removal of collateral.

(1) The proper place to file in order to perfect a security interest is as follows:

(a) When the collateral is (i) equipment used in farming operations, (ii) farm products, including crops growing or to be grown, (iii) farm products which become inventory of a person engaged in farming, (iv) accounts or general intangibles arising from or relating to the sale of farm products by a farmer, or (v) consumer goods, then in the office of the county clerk in the county of the debtor's residence or if the debtor is not a resident of this state then in the office of the county clerk in the county where the goods are kept or grown.

(b) When the collateral is timber to be cut or is minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (section 9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, then in the office where a mortgage on the real estate would be filed or recorded.

(c) In all other cases, in the office of the Secretary of State.

(2) A filing which is made in good faith in an improper place or not in all of the places required by this section is nevertheless effective with regard to any collateral as to which the filing complied with the requirements of this article and is also effective with regard to collateral covered by the financing statement against any person who has knowledge of the contents of such financing statement.

(3) A filing which is made in the proper place in this state continues effective even though the debtor's residence or place of business or the location of the collateral or its use, whichever controlled the original filing, is thereafter changed. A debtor's residence is presumed to be the residence shown on the filing. The showing of an improper residence shall not affect the validity of the filing or the perfection of such filing.

(4) The rules stated in section 9-103 determine whether filing is necessary in this state.

(5) Notwithstanding the preceding subsections, and subject to subsection (3) of section 9-302, the proper place to file in order to perfect a security interest in collateral, including fixtures, of a transmitting utility is the office of the Secretary of State. This filing constitutes a fixture filing (section 9-313) as to the collateral described therein which is or is to become fixtures.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the residence of an organization is its place of business if it has one or its chief executive office if it has more than one place of business.

On presentation to the filing officer of such a financing statement the filing officer shall mark the same as provided in section 9-403(4). ~~The uniform fee for filing, indexing and furnishing filing data for a financing statement so~~

(2) A secured party may assign of record all or a part of his or her rights under a financing statement by the filing in the place where the original financing statement was filed of a separate written statement of assignment signed by the secured party of record and setting forth the name of the secured party of record and the debtor, the file number and the date of filing of the financing statement and the name and address of the assignee and containing a description of the collateral assigned. A copy of the assignment is sufficient as a separate statement if it complies with the preceding sentence. On presentation to the filing officer of such a separate statement, the filing officer shall mark such separate statement ~~with the date and hour of the filing~~ as provided in section 9-403(4). He or she shall note the assignment on the index of the financing statement, or in the case of a fixture filing, or a filing covering timber to be cut, or covering minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, he or she shall index the assignment under the name of the assignor as grantor and, to the extent that the law of this state provides for indexing the assignment of a mortgage under the name of the assignee, he or she shall index the assignment of the financing statement under the name of the assignee. ~~The uniform fee for filing, indexing and furnishing filing data about such a separate statement of assignment shall be three dollars, plus in each case an additional fee of three dollars for each name more than one against which the statement of assignment is required to be indexed.~~ Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, an assignment of record of a security interest in a fixture contained in a mortgage effective as a fixture filing (subsection (6) of section 9-402) may be made only by an assignment of the mortgage in the manner provided by the law of this state other than this act.

Purpose: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the nature, level, and structure of the sources of income received by Nebraskans who have retired. This study shall include a consideration of the data on wealth held by retirees in various forms including private savings. The study will include an evaluation of how pension benefits, social security income, and asset income work together to provide retirement income for the aged population of Nebraska. In addition, the population trends will be examined to assess the numbers of retirees who will likely be retired in 1990, 2000, and 2010.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee of the Legislature shall conduct an interim study and hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That such retirement committee will look at the data necessary to answer the following questions:

a. To what degree are retired Nebraskans protected against the economic uncertainties of life;

b. Are there ways of enhancing the dignity and independence of the aged given the burdens left to the Nebraska taxpayer who remains in the work force;

c. Are Nebraska retirees' levels of income sufficient given their current medical care costs, utility bills, and housing payments; and

d. What is the distribution of income sources of recent retirees.

3. That the committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings together with its recommendations to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

April 15, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your letter of April 9, 1985, in which you request our opinion as to the constitutionality of your proposed amendments to LB 72.

We have reviewed your proposed amendments to LB 72. While they appear to modify the administrative aspects of the sports wagering bill, they do not address the underlying constitutional question of whether or not wagering on sporting events violates Article III, Section 24 of the Nebraska Constitution. This issue was dealt with in detail in our opinion No. 25, dated February 20, 1985. That opinion concluded that the initial version of LB 72 was constitutionally suspect under Article III, Section 24 of the Nebraska Constitution. We continue to stand by that opinion, and the same rationale applies to your proposed amendments to LB 72. Even though those amendments modify the mechanical aspects of the bill, they do not correct the underlying fundamental constitutional problem with wagering on sporting events.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 61
April 15, 1985

Dear Senator Hefner:

This is in response to your letter of April 9, 1985. In that letter you request our opinion on the constitutionality of the amended version of LB 715 which retains a sales and use tax exemption for newspapers, but deletes the current exemption for magazines or journals which are published at longer intervals. Your question is essentially whether or not this classification creates equal protection problems, or in the alternative is a violation of the First Amendment right of freedom of the press.

As to the question of classification, the Nebraska Supreme Court has held that:

> The Legislature may make a reasonable classification of persons, corporation, and property for purposes of legislation concerning them, but the classification must rest upon real differences of situations and circumstances surrounding the members of the class relative to the subject of the legislation which render appropriate its enactment. . . . While it is competent for the Legislature to classify for purposes of legislation, the classification, to be valid, must rest on some reason of public policy, some substantial difference of situation or circumstance, that would naturally suggest that justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects to be classified.

Prendergast v. Nelson, 199 Neb. 97 at 112, 256 N.W.2d 657 (1977).

The reasons for the difference in treatment here are not readily apparent, however, this is not to say that such reasons may not exist. From this standpoint alone, we cannot say that such a classification is unconstitutional as a matter of law, but only that without substantial justification for this difference in treatment, the potential for an improper classification most certainly exists.

The problem in this case, however, is further complicated by the fact that we are dealing with taxation of the press which receives some special considerations by virtue of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution. As we indicated in our Opinion No. 42, dated March 25, 1985, general sales taxes levied against the press and other types of businesses where the legitimate purpose of the tax is to raise revenue are not unconstitutional, since neither the intent nor the effect of the law is to act as a prior restraint upon publication.

The present form of LB 715, however, singles out a particular element of the press for differential treatment. In the case of Minneapolis Star v. Minnesota Commissioner of Revenue, 460 U.S. 575 (1983), the Court stated that "we think that recognizing a power in the State not only to single out the press but also to tailor the tax so that it singles out a few members of the press presents such a potential for abuse that no interest suggested by Minnesota can justify the scheme." Id. at 592. "A tax that singles out the press, or that targets individual publications within the press, places a heavy burden on the state to justify its action." Id. at 592, 593. The singling out of a certain element of the press for differential treatment, here magazines and journals on one hand as opposed to newspapers on the other, thus creates some very serious potential constitutional problems. This is particularly true where there are no obvious reasons for that difference in treatment. From this standpoint then, we must conclude that this aspect of LB 715 is constitutionally suspect.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

PRESIDENT SIGNED

While the Legislature was in session and capable of transacting business, the President signed the following resolution: LR 85.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 88.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District; Lynch, 13th District; Marsh, 29th District; V. Johnson, 8th District; DeCamp, 40th District; Conway, 17th District; Sieck, 24th District; Beutler, 28th District; Vickers, 38th District.

WHEREAS, the horror of a nuclear holocaust is universally acknowledged; and

WHEREAS, advancements in atomic and nuclear science have created a world-wide military situation that would ultimately result in the total annihilation of countries or continents; and

WHEREAS, current plans of the United States and the Soviet Union together call for the production of at least 20,000 additional nuclear warheads and a new generation of delivery systems during the next decade; and

WHEREAS, the federal government is planning to spend more than 1.5 trillion dollars on the military in the next five years and at least 200 billion of that will go for nuclear weapons and nuclear weapons research resulting in an unbalanced budget and high interest rates, which adversely affect Nebraska's agricultural economy; and

WHEREAS, the nuclear arms race has diverted this nation's attention and resources away from assisting our farmers in this time of crisis; and

WHEREAS, it is the common goal of all Americans to lessen and eventually eliminate the military nuclear threat between nations through diplomatic negotiations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS

OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby goes on record in support of the arms control talks presently underway in Geneva and urges, as a first step toward mutual reductions in nuclear weapons, the negotiation of a bilateral freeze between the United States and Soviet Union on the testing, production, and further deployment of all nuclear weapons in a manner that can be monitored and verified by both countries.

2. That the Nebraska Secretary of State transmit certified copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State of the United States, the Secretary of Defense of the United States, all members of Congress, and the Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 89.

Introduced by Hoagland, 6th District; Withem, 14th District.

PURPOSE: The Omaha mayoral and city county primary elections held on Tuesday April 2, 1985, produced the lowest voter turnout in the past thirty years. Because of the extremely low turnout, the purpose of this resolution is to study whether the timing of these elections promotes a low voter turnout and whether tax dollars can be saved by changing the election date. At least two alternatives to the present election schedule shall be investigated. The first alternative is to schedule the mayoral and city council elections with the biennial statewide primary and general election and the second alternative is to eliminate staggered city council terms and schedule all city council races to coincide with the mayor's race. Any other proposed alternatives may also be included in the study.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Government, Military and Veterans' Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Government, Military and Veterans' Affairs Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 90.

Introduced by Carsten, 2nd District; Marsh, 29th District.

WHEREAS, 1985 is the centennial anniversary of the designation of Arbor Day as a legal state holiday; and

WHEREAS, Arbor Day was set aside as a specific day to plant trees, appreciate their contribution to our environment, and recognize the need for continued emphasis on conservation practices; and

WHEREAS, Arbor Day was originated in Nebraska by J. Sterling Morton and the celebration of Arbor Day has expanded to include all of the other states and numerous countries worldwide; and

WHEREAS, the observation of Arbor Day is one of the standards a community must meet to become a Tree City, USA; and

WHEREAS, the State Forester and the National Arbor Day Foundation have recognized thirteen Nebraska communities as Tree City USA's; and

WHEREAS, Arbor Day is on Monday, April 22, and celebrations and events are scheduled for April 19th and 22nd at Nebraska City.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the members of the Legislature recognize the contribution of Arbor Day to our environment for the past one hundred years and acknowledge the continuing need for the citizens of this state to implement sound conservation practices.

3. That the Legislature further urges the citizens of this State to commemorate Arbor Day on April 22, 1985, by planting trees.

Laid over.

(d) Total ~~interest expense shall mean the~~ ~~total interest expense allowed as a deduction in computing federal taxable income plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291.~~ expense shall mean the amount subtracted from total income in order to determine taxable income for federal income tax purposes, plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291, but not including net operating loss deductions, or special deductions for dividends received.

(5) Whenever it is necessary to properly reflect the ratio of investment in exempt securities to total assets, the Tax Commissioner may permit or require the computation of the average provided for in subsection (3) of this section using amounts from interim balance sheets.

(6) The corporation may use, in lieu of the tax basis for the computation in subsection (3) of this section, the amounts from a balance sheet included with the federal return or as required to be reported to federal or state regulatory agencies if (a) such amounts are not materially different from tax basis, (b) the amounts are prepared consistently from year to year, and (c) absent a change in circumstances, the amounts are consistently used by the corporation from year to year. The Tax Commissioner may require a corporation to use the alternative amounts in order to maintain consistency or may require the corporation to show that the amounts used do not materially differ from the tax basis.

(7) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income dividends received or deemed to be received from corporations which are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.

Sec. 2. That section 77-2734.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2734.02. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year on the taxable income of every corporate taxpayer that is doing business in this state at a rate equal to twenty-five per cent of the rate imposed on individuals under section 77-2715 on the first fifty thousand dollars of taxable income and at the rate of thirty-five per cent of such rate on all taxable income in excess of fifty thousand dollars.

(a) For corporate taxpayers with a fiscal year that does not coincide with the calendar year, the individual rate used for subsection (1) of this section shall be the rate in effect on the first day, or the day deemed to be the first day, of the taxable year.

(b) For fiscal years beginning before January 1, 1968, the rate initially set shall apply for the period from January 1, 1968, to the end of that fiscal year.

(2) For a corporate taxpayer that is subject to tax in another state, its taxable income shall be the portion of the taxpayer's federal taxable income, as adjusted, that is determined to be connected with the taxpayer's operations in this state pursuant to sections 77-2734.05 to 77-2734.15.

(3) Each corporate taxpayer shall file only one income tax return for each taxable year.

(4) The Nebraska income tax imposed upon corporate taxpayers which are financial institutions with income from exempt securities for the taxable year beginning in 1985 shall not, for the taxable year beginning in 1985, exceed the greater of (a) the Nebraska income tax imposed upon such corporate taxpayer for the taxable year beginning in 1984, as shown on line 18 of Form 112ON Nebraska Corporation Income Tax Return or (b) an amount equal to a sum determined by multiplying the rate of sixty-five cents time each one thousand dollars, or multiple thereof, of average deposits held by such institution for the calendar year 1985. The limitation on taxes provided in this subsection shall apply only to tax returns and amendments filed for a taxable year beginning in 1985, and such limitation shall expire thereafter. As used in this subsection, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) Financial institution shall mean any bank, building and loan association, cooperative credit association, industrial loan and investment company, savings and loan association, or trust company;

(b) Deposits shall mean the amount of money placed in the custody of a financial institution in Nebraska for safety or convenience that may be withdrawn at the will of the depositor or under the rules or regulations agreed upon by the financial institution and the depositor. Deposits shall include amounts for which a certificate may be issued and which are payable on demand, on certain notice, or at a fixed future date or time; and

(c) Average deposits shall mean the total of the deposits in Nebraska held by a financial institution on the last day of the preceding year and the last day of each calendar quarter divided by five. Whenever the amount of deposits at the end of a quarter is reported to a state or federal regulatory agency, the reported amount shall be used to determine average deposits.

Sec. 3. That original sections 77-2716 and 77-2734.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, are repealed.".

Opinion No. 62

Re: Initiative 300

Dear Senator DeCamp:

Based upon the premise that Initiative 300 (Now Article XII, Section 8, of the Nebraska Constitution) is "in fact, by its very nature and all facts surrounding it, in fact a statutory enactment by the people," you have asked if its provisions can be changed by legislative enactment.

In the case presently before the District Court of Lancaster County (Omaha National Bank v. Robert M. Spire, Attorney General), in which the constitutionality of Initiative 300 is being challenged, one of the contentions of the plaintiff is that Initiative 300 is statutory and not a proper subject for inclusion as a provision in the Nebraska Constitution. The argument in support of this contention is based primarily upon a 1910 Missouri decision in State, ex rel. Halliburton v. Roach, 130 S.W. 689.

Halliburton presented the question of whether an initiative petition proposing an amendment, to the Missouri Constitution, designating the new division of the state's senatorial districts, was valid. In concluding that it was not, the court held that the proposed amendment was a purely legislative enactment and therefore could not be submitted as a constitutional amendment. The latter are by their nature a part of the permanent and fundamental law of the state, whereas the initiative measure purported to redistrict senatorial districts for a period of time ending in 1920, at which point the power to revise and adjust the districts on the basis of the new census would be restored to the Legislature, or the people under the initiative amendment. The court declared the so-called constitutional amendment "nothing more . . . than a temporary legislative act" and stated:

> {I}t was never contemplated under our present constitutional scheme to incorporate as a part of the permanent and fundamental law of the state a provision which must of necessity demand frequent alterations and changes.

130 S.W. at 694.

Perhaps the reason Halliburton has never been overruled is that it is so easily distinguishable on its facts. In addition to the fact that the proposed amendment was in effect for only a short period of time, its subject matter--fixing senatorial districts--was directly dependent on the constantly changing population, and the Missouri Constitution already contained a general provision applicable to redistricting that prescribed permanent rules and principles for carrying out redistricting plans. Most of the recent cases that cite Halliburton do distinguish it and hold just the opposite from what the court in that case held, and the position the plaintiff now takes.

In contrast to the dearth of authority supporting the proposition that constitutional amendments should not be legislative in character, there are many cases holding that legislation may be inserted in the Constitution by pursuing the proper methods.

In the following cases the courts addressed essentially the same arguments: (1) that the amendment in question is an attempt to initiate legislation under the guise of an amendment to the Constitution or (2) it is invalid because it consists of matter which is not constitutional or fundamental in character but purely statutory and therefore not within the scope of an initiative power reserved to the people. The courts make passing reference to the distinction between legislative acts and constitutional provisions but end up reaffirming the undoubted power to amend state constitutions that is inherent in the people.

The rationale--that matters properly belonging to statutory law cannot properly be inserted in the state or federal constitutions--has been advanced and rejected as long ago as 1920 in the National Prohibition Cases, 253 U.S. 350, 64 L.Ed. 946 (1920). In those cases, opponents attacked the Eighteenth Amendment as legislative in character, as unrelated to the form and structure of government, and as violative of the Constitution which vests all legislative power in Congress. The United States Supreme Court was not persuaded and held that the fact that an amendment is in effect legislation controlling the conduct of private individuals, in that it ordains a final permanent law prohibiting certain acts, does not render it invalid.

The Missouri Supreme Court faced the same issue three more times after Halliburton: in State v. Thompson, 323 Mo. 742, 19 S.W.2d 642 (1929); in Marsh v. Bartlett, 343 Mo. 526, 121 S.W.2d 737 (1938); and recently in Buchman v. Kirkpatrick, 615 S.W.2d 6 (Mo. banc 1981).

In Thompson, the court was presented with an amendment involving a lengthy and complex system providing for the raising of state highway bonds. The court noted, however, that it had only one general subject--the authorization of an additional bond issue for the construction of state highways--but its opponents emphasized the "legislative detail" of its coverage and argued that it was therefore invalid. The court rejected the argument, holding that being legislative in character does not invalidate an amendment and that the question of how far a constitutional amendment can descend into the particulars of government is one of policy only.

In Marsh, the court again faced the challenge to an amendment to the state's Constitution on the ground that it was legislative in character. The amendment created a Conservation Commission to regulate fish, game, and other wildlife resources. Citing the section of the Missouri Constitution that reserves power in the people to enact amendments to the constitution independently of the Legislature (cf. Neb.Const. Art. III, Sec. 2), the court held that the passage of the amendment was a valid exercise of that power and not the exercise of a legislative function at all. In fact, since the Legislature does not have the power to propose an amendment by the initiative process, the people by submitting and adopting the amendment were exercising an organic funtion. The court, in effect, ignored the contention that the amendment was legislative in character and simply held that the people can do this because the Constitution gives them the power to do so. The fact that up until the passage of the amendment, the Legislature, by statutory enactment, had been regulating fish and game does not effect the validity of the exercise of sovereignty reserved to the people.

And finally, in Buchman, the Missouri Supreme Court faced a constitutional challenge to an amendment designed to limit taxes and governmental expenditures within the state. The court neatly recognized the responsibility that all the court's dealing with the issue must assume:

> Ours is the task of weighing and balancing two contradictory and competing concepts--the need for a stable, permanent organic law versus the inherent right of the people to alter or change the organic law--and to make the final determination as to whether or not this constitutional amendment has been validly adopted by the people.

615 S.W.2d at 11. After addressing the issue of compliance with certain procedural safeguards, the court again rejected the argument that the amendment was invalid because it is in effect a legislative act.

Further evidence that the courts no longer adhere to the assertion in Halliburton that "the line of demarcation between a constitutional amendment and a purely legislative act is well defined," 130 S.W. at 694, is the case of City of Jackson v. Nims, 316 Mich. 694, 26 N.W.2d 569 (1947). The opponents of the amendment in question--providing for return of one cent of the state sales tax to be divided among cities, villages, townships, and schools--were trying to get it set aside on the ground that it should have been initiated as legislation. The court rejected their claim and held that "the line of demarcation between legislation and constitutional provision is too indefinite to require that an arbitrary decision must be made in advance of submitting a proposal to the voters." 26 N.W.2d at 575.

Some courts go even further than the Nims court did. In re Initiative Petition Number 259, State Question 376, 316 P.2d 139 (Okla. 1957) is perhaps the strongest case for the supporters of the amendment. The court was faced with the task of determining the sufficiency of an initiative petition proposing a constitutional amendment to provide county option in the sale and distribution of 3.2 beer. The evidence showed that the subject of the proposed amendment had been left in the legislative field since 1933 and that the language of the proposed amendment was copied, with few minor changes, from a bill dealing with the same topic that was not adopted by the Legislature. Nevertheless, the court held that the amendment's statutory language and form was not fatal to its submission as a constitutional amendment.

Borrowing the rationale advanced in Marsh--that the power to amend the Constitution is specifically reserved by the people--the court stated that it was their duty to preserve that power and that absent any constitutional provision that prohibits proposed amendments because they have the appearance, form or substance of a statute, they must not interfere.

Three rules seem to have developed out of the case law discussed above:

1) if the amendment is obviously temporary and in need of frequent changes or if it does not effect the form and structure of government, then it is probably legislative in character and not proper constitutional material. Halliburton, Cheeks.

2) if the amendment is enduring and policy-forming in its subject matter, then it is proper constitutional material. Marsh, Buchman.

3) even if the amendment is legislative in character, it is still valid absent a constitutional provision stating otherwise. National Prohibition Cases, In re Initiative Petition No. 259, Thompson.

Article XII, Section 8, is obviously not temporary like the amendment in Halliburton. Evidence of its being legislative in character is its similarity in language, substance and form to other state's corporate farm statutes. It is prohibitory in nature, fairly detailed, provides for a method of enforcement, and establishes penalties and exceptions.

On the other hand, it is not temporary and it does establish a policy against large-scale corporate farming in favor of the preservation of the family farm. The fact that it is similar to corporate farming statutes is irrelevant according to the Oklahoma Court in In re Initiative Petition No. 259. And finally, the expression of the popular voice of the people by adoption of constitutional amendments enables the people to establish laws that the Legislature may be inhibited to enact or that they feel are necessary in the face of changes in society, such as the rise of the corporate farm.

Whatever question there is as to whether or not Initiative 300 can be classified as "legislative in character," that question is most likely irrelevant in light of the substantial authority standing for the proposition that even if it is, it is not invalid as a constitutional amendment.

Having concluded that Initiative 300 is constitutional and not statutory, it is our opinion that its provisions may not be modified by statutory means, but may only be modified in the manner provided for the amendment of provisions of the Constitution.

Opinion No. 63
April 17, 1985

Dear Senator Lamb:

You have asked if section 12 of LB 662 of the Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session (1985), which is on final reading, is constitutional. That section states as follows:

Sec. 12. Nothwithstanding any other provision of sections 1 to 6 of this act or Chapter 79, after the operative date of this section, whenever the question of closing an elementary school attendance site is raised following a reorganization governed by section 79-402, the Reorganization of School Districts Act, or sections 79-426.23 to 79-426.26 in which a school district has attached itself as a whole to a Class II, III, IV or V school district or has become part of a Class VI school district, such elementary school attendance site shall not be closed unless a majority of the qualified electors who, on the date of the election provided for in this section, reside within the boundaries of such school district, as it existed prior to reorganization, vote pursuant to section 13 of this act to close such site. Approval of a proposition to close an elementary school attendance site shall require a majority of all qualified electors voting at a special election called for such purpose.

If such school district divides and the various portions join more than one school district pursuant to this act, such elementary school attendance site shall not be closed unless a majority of the voters who, on the date of the election provided for in this section, reside in the portion of such school district, as the boundaries of such district existed prior to the reorganization, which contains such elementary school attendance site vote to close such site.

For purposes of this section, elementary school attendance site shall mean an elementary school site in a school district which has been required to merge with or become a part of another school district pursuant to section 1 of this act or section 79-701.

In connection with section 12 of LB 662, which is quoted above, you specifically ask if the Legislature can constitutionally establish a procedure which grants to one portion of a school district a privilege not enjoyed by the school district as a whole. The same is hereinafter discussed.

Section 12 is not particularly precise but it would appear that pursuant thereto that whenever a question is raised which pertains to the closing of an elementary school attendance site following certain types of school district reorganizations, the elementary school attendance site could not be closed unless a majority of the qualified electors who reside within the boundaries of such school district, as it existed prior to reorganization and who operated the elementary school, vote to close it. Thus, the electors who reside within the boundaries of particular school districts, as the same existed prior to reorganization, would be granted the right to determine if an elementary school attendance site therein will be maintained at the expense of a newly reorganized school district as a whole and notwithstanding that some (perhaps even a majority) of the electors of the newly reorganized school district would not be permitted to vote on that question. We have previously offered our opinion that it could be argued that such procedure is not in conformity with the legal concept of one elector one vote. We adhere thereto. Accordingly, we are of the opinion that the constitutionality of section 12 of LB 662 would be very difficult to defend.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 64
April 17, 1985

Dear Senator Scofield:

You have asked if LB 662 of the Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session (1985), which is on final reading, contains more than one subject.

The title to LB 662 is quite long and no useful purpose would be gained by quoting the same verbatim herein. We note, however, that it recites that it is "an act relating to schools," the statues to be amended, and analyzes much of the details of the bill.

Section 14 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska provides in part that "{n}o bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title." The purpose of this constitutional provision (limiting a legislative bill to the object expressed in the title) is to challenge the attention of those affected by the provisions of the proposed legislation and to prevent surreptitious legislation. Omaha Parking Authority v. City of Omaha, 163 Neb. 97, 77 N.W.2d 862 (1956). As a matter of law, it is not essential that the title to a legislative bill specify each and every clause in the proposed legislation. If the subject-matter is within the scope of the title, the constitutional requirement is met. As stated by the Nebraska Supreme Court:

> If an act has but one general object, no matter how broad that object may be, and contains no matter not germane thereto, and the title fairly expresses the subject of the bill, it does not violate Article III, Section 14, of the Constitution.

Anderson v. Tieman, 182 Neb. 393, 408, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967).

Applying the above quoted rule to LB 662, it appears to us that LB 662 contains but one subject and the title fairly expresses the subject of the bill. We are therefore of the opinion that LB 662 does not violate Section 14 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska.

Opinion No. 65

Dear Senator Landis:

This is in response to your letters of March 26, 1985, and April 10, 1985, concerning the effect of the passage of either LB 664 or LB 358 upon the Open Meetings Law as it has been interpreted and applied by the Nebraska Supreme Court in the case of Grein v. Board of Education, 216 Neb. 158, 343 N.W.2d 718 (1984).

The underlying motivation for these legislative bills apparently stems from varying interpretations of the Supreme Court decision in Grein which dealt with Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-1410 (Supp. 1984), and the criteria under which a public body may hold a closed session. Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-1410(1) provides as follows:

> Any public body may hold a closed session by the affirmative vote of a majority of its voting members if a closed session is clearly necessary for the protection of the public interest or for the prevention of needless injury to the reputation of an individual and if such individual has not requested a public meeting. Closed session may be held for, but shall not be limited to, such reasons as:
> (a) Strategy sessions with respect to collective bargaining, real estate purchases, or litigation;
>
> (b) Discussion regarding deployment of security personnel or devices;
>
> (c) Investigative proceedings regarding allegations of criminal misconduct; or
>
> (d) Evaluation of the job performance of a person when necessary to prevent needless injury to the reputation of a person and if such person has not requested a public meeting.
> Nothing in this section shall permit a closed meeting for discussion of the appointment or election of a new member to any public body.

The statute sets forth two standards which a public body may rely upon in order to hold a closed session, these being the protection of the public interest, or the prevention of needless injury to the reputation of an individual. The statute then goes on to list four examples of situations which would fall under these two standards, but further provides specifically that the situations allowing closed sessions are not limited to these enumerated examples.

As we read the court's decision in Grein, supra, the court does nothing more than apply these existing provisions of the statute. The court first found that "{t}he board was not entitled to adjourn to a closed session based upon 'protection of the public interest' contemplated by §84-1410, in view of the circumstances presented in this case." Id. at 166. The court next found that "{p}revention of needless injury to an individual's reputation as a basis for a closed session was not established under the circumstances, and this exemption from an open session was not available to the board." Id. at 166-167. The court then rejected the board's attempted defense of good faith motivation.

> The board suggests a good faith motivation for a closed session is a cure for noncompliance with the Public Meetings Laws. The Public Meetings Laws contain no such rehabilitative or curative provisions. If we were to permit the board's action to stand on the basis of good intention, such a rule would become an invitation, perhaps a license, for a public body to circumvent the Public Meetings Laws' limited exemptions by an additional criterion of good faith or good intention in adjournment to a closed session. We hold that in civil actions good faith or good intention on the part of the public body is irrelevant to the question of compliance with the provisions of the Public Meetings Laws authorizing a closed session. {Citations omitted.} The only question of fidelity involved is adherence to the requirements of the Public Meetings Laws.

Id. at 167.

The court clearly applied the existing two standards set forth in the act, and in turn refused to adopt an additional standard not set forth in the act itself. We simply do not read this decision, as some have apparently suggested, to mean that the court limited the reasons for a closed session to the four examples contained in §84-1410(1). The court did not even find it necessary to concern itself with the examples listed in the statute, but applied only the two broad criteria for a closed session found in the statute. In summation, the decision of the court in Grein, supra, neither expands nor limits the requirements for a closed session as outlined in §84-1410(1), but rather merely applies the statute as it is written.

The effects of the proposed legislative bills upon the current open meetings law would then be as follows. LB 358 would add an additional standard for a closed session, that being the "good faith discretion of the public body," which in essence was the defense used by the board in Grein, and rejected by the court as not being within the provisions of the existing Public Meetings Laws. LB 664, on the other hand, would narrow the standards for a closed session to the four listed examples presently set forth in §84-1410, thus making the law more restrictive.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Dear Senator Hannibal:

This is in response to your letter of April 10, 1985, concerning an amendment to LB 496. This amendment provides as follows "Evidence that a person was not wearing a seat belt at the time he or she was injured shall not be admissible in regard to the issue of liability or proximate cause, but may be admissible as evidence concerning mitigation of damages, except that it shall not reduce recovery for damages by more than five per cent."

Your first question is whether under Nebraska law violation of a Rule of the Road constitutes evidence of negligence. Neb.Rev.Stat. §39-6,118 (Reissue 1984) provides specifically that "No evidence of the conviction of any person for any violation of any provision of sections 39-601 to 39-6,122 shall be admissible in any court in any civil action." This only means that the conviction itself is inadmissible. The facts setting forth the elements of the violation would nevertheless be admissible through other evidence.

Your second question is whether the above language creates an unconstitutional classification when compared with Neb.Rev.Stat. §25-1151 (Reissue 1979) which provides that evidence of a plaintiff's negligence may be considered in mitigation of damages, but does not limit the extent to which the damages may be reduced. The Nebraska Supreme Court has said that "While it is competent for the Legislature to classify for purposes of legislation, the classification, to be valid, must rest on some reason of public policy, some substantial difference of situation or circumstance, that would naturally suggest that justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects to be classified. Prendergast v. Nelson, 199 Neb. 97 at 112, 256 N.W.2d 657 (1977). There would appear to be some public policy purposes behind the proposed legislation limiting the mitigation of damages for failure to comply with the mandatory seat belt law, and thus we cannot say that this legislation establishes an unconstitutional classification as a matter of law.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 93.

Introduced by Pirsch, 10th District.

Whereas, the Legislature and the Governor have proclaimed the week of April 14th - 21st, 1985, as Victim Rights Week in Nebraska;

and

Whereas, victims of violent crime often face severe financial, physical, and psychological losses; and

Whereas, the State of Nebraska has been a leader in establishing rights for crime victims through legislative enactment; and

Whereas, the State of Nebraska has encouraged help for victims by establishing victim/witness assistance centers and reparation program; and

Whereas, the United States Congress has also recognized the need for assistance to victims of violent crime by establishing the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 which provides funds to states for victim assistance.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the members of the Eighty-Ninth Legislature of Nebraska, First Session:

1. That the members of the Legislature commend and praise our delegation in Congress for their far sighted concern and compassion for victims of crime.

2. That the Clerk of the Legislature send a copy of this resolution to Senator J. James Exon, Senator Edward Zorinsky, Representative Douglas Bereuter, Representative Hal Daub, and Representative Virginia Smith.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 94.

Introduced by Harris, 27th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of the study proposed by this resolution is to examine the issues related to providing early retirement incentives, pre-retirement planning, retraining, and early retirement options with reduced benefits for public employees and to consider the need for and consequences of early retirement incentives for the following groups:

(1) Employees of the University of Nebraska;

(2) Employees of the state colleges;

(3) Technical community college employees;

(4) Public school employees;

(5) Members of a county retirement system or plan; and

(6) State employees including those under separate retirement systems.

An additional goal of the study proposed by this resolution is to analyze the advantages and disadvantages of providing certain public employees an opportunity to retire before the normal retirement age at reduced benefit levels. The committee shall hear testimony concerning the advantages and disadvantages to both the employer and the employee of providing options for employees who have a sincere desire to make a career change, thus allowing public employers to maintain creative and enthusiastic individuals in the workplace.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and to hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That such retirement committee examine the appropriate funding mechanism for provision of the Early Retirement Incentive Program for each retirement system. The committee shall make a recommendation answering the following questions for each system:

(a) First year funding - should the additional funding come from a specific legislative appropriation for the first year; and

(b) Continued funding - should funding for each year after the first year be funded out of current year savings to the agency or educational institution resulting from retirement of employees fifty-five years of age or over?

3. That such retirement committee propose statutory guidelines to ensure that employees are not coerced into participating or not participating in the Early Retirement Incentive Program or terminated solely to prevent their becoming eligible for the program.

4. That such retirement committee evaluate all aspects of the Early Retirement Incentive Program including funding with regard to sound actuarial principles.

5. That such retirement committee consider the efficacy of reduction of the eligible age of fifty-five for early retirement at benefit levels which have been actuarially reduced with service requirements reduced to not more than ten years.

6. That such retirement committee examine all issues of equity and fairness of early retirement opportunities provided by the possible passage of LB 145, LB 706, and LB 311, and amendments to LB 311, LB 93, LB 402, LB 403, and LB 164.

7. That such retirement committee investigate early retirement proposals and retraining programs used in other states.

8. That such retirement committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

WHEREAS, Nebraska has a productive combination of over twenty-three million rangeland acres supporting the second largest number of cattle and calves of any state in the nation and over twenty million cropland acres producing among other crops the nation's third largest grain sorghum and fourth largest corn crop; and

WHEREAS, over fifty-two per cent or ten million of Nebraska's cropland acres is classified as prime farmland, attesting to the inherent bounty of the state; and

WHEREAS, by the diligent management of Nebraska's ranchers and the unique and bountiful resource base the Sandhills provides, nearly sixty-five per cent of Nebraska's rangeland is in excellent or good condition; and

WHEREAS, the Dust Bowl era created the need for the soil and water conservation movement, and that movement, fueled by individuals with keen stewardship ideals, government agencies, and private organizations, has in fifty years time gotten sixty-two per cent of Nebraska treated with conservation practices; and

WHEREAS, the implementation of conservation practices is yet needed on some seven million acres of Nebraska's most erodible cropland; and

WHEREAS, the pressures of intensified row crop agriculture during the last decade have left the soil conservation movement hard pressed to keep pace with the never ending conservation needs of the state and have contributed to cropland erosion averaging six and one half tons per acre or one hundred thirty-two million tons of Nebraska soil eroded annually; and

WHEREAS, it is now imperative for us who survive by the bounty of these resources, to renew our pledge for wise land use for the benefit of our children and beyond.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 97.

Introduced by Chambers, 11th District.

WHEREAS, the President of the United States is scheduled to attend an economic summit in West Germany in May; and

WHEREAS, during his visit, the President plans to visit Bitburg military cemetery and place a wreath to pay respect to those buried there; and

WHEREAS, more than 30 members of Hitler's SS are buried there; and

WHEREAS, the SS, rather than soldiers in the ordinary sense of the term, were an elite corps who operated Nazi concentration camps including death camps; and

WHEREAS, the Nazi regime's "Final Solution to the Jewish problem" consisted of driving out/exterminating all Jews in Europe; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the "Final Solution" plan, the SS presided over the murder of more than six million Jews, employing the most cruel and inhuman methods of starvation, forced labor, torture, experimentation, shooting, gassing, burning and burying alive; and

WHEREAS, the genocidal atrocity spanned many months and spawned unspeakable human suffering; and

WHEREAS, hundreds of thousands of soldiers and civilians of various races, nationalities and religions died fighting against the Nazi horror; and

WHEREAS, the United States played an active role in the prosecution of Nazi war criminals at the Nuremburg Trials; and

WHEREAS, the Holocaust should forever remain an active ingredient in the collective memory of humanity; and

WHEREAS, the Nazi slaughter of Jews, Gypsies and Eastern Europeans was facilitated by a "business as usual" attitude on the part of much of the world; and

WHEREAS, the President's proposed visit and wreath-placing at Bitburg military cemetery evinces a continuation of the "business as usual" attitude; and

WHEREAS, the President's proposed visit and wreath-placing at Bitburg is an affront to all people; and

WHEREAS, the attempt by the President to justify his visit to Bitburg by equating those who slaughtered people, to those who were slaughtered, reveals an inexcusable insensitivity, moral confusion, lack of historical perspective and an unwillingness to correct a gross error of judgment; and

WHEREAS, the belated addition to his itinerary, of a visit to a Nazi concentration camp neither justifies his visit to Bitburg nor erases the inappropriateness of such visit; and

WHEREAS, the ill-advised act of the President may be misperceived by the rest of the world as representing the will of the American people and may appear to be a pardoning of all unpunished war crimes.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature joins with other groups and individuals in imploring the President to show "a decent respect to the opinion of mankind" and cancel his proposed visit to Bitburg military cemetery.

3. That a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, U. S. Secretary of State George Schultz and each Member of the Nebraska Congressional Delegation.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 99.

Introduced by Haberman, 44th District; Sieck, 24th District; Chronister, 18th District; Hefner, 19th District; Vickers, 38th District; R. Johnson, 34th District; Chizek, 31st District; Eret, 32nd District; Smith, 33rd District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to determine if a need exists to update the statutes of the State of Nebraska, sections 2-2701 to 2-2713, the Nebraska Tractor Engine Testing Law.

The reasons for this study are based on the changing technology of the tractor industry and the need for the statutes to cope with these changes. This study shall include, but not be limited to, the following questions:

(1) Is a mandatory tractor testing program necessary or can the program be conducted on a voluntary basis;

(2) Is the State of Nebraska restraining trade by requiring mandatory permits and testing; and

(3) If the tractor testing and permit program is to continue in a mandatory program, what changes are needed in the present statutes? The following must be considered:

(a) Permits:

(i) Should temporary permits be issued on tractors ready for sale in the State of Nebraska that have not been tested;

(ii) Can a permanent permit be issued without the tractor being tested by the University of Nebraska Tractor Testing facility;

(iii) To what extent can a tractor be modified or changed from the original specifications before the modifications preclude the issuance of a supplementary permit; and

(iv) What requirements will be placed on special order tractors? Will the future lead to every tractor being purchased needing a separate permit and test;

(b) Penalties: Should penalties under the tractor test law preclude the forfeiture of testing fees paid in advance and the nonissuance of temporary sales permits in the future;

(c) Modifications: Should a tractor manufacturer, distributor, or dealer be able to modify either the tractor or the sales literature of a tractor which fails to meet pretest specifications for the purpose of gaining a permit;

(d) Parts and service outlets: Should a tractor manufacturer, distributor, or dealer be required to maintain parts and service outlets in the State of Nebraska as a condition to doing business in the state;

(e) Fee collections: Should fees for tractor testing collected be deposited into a separate tractor testing fund and the interest gained from these funds be used for the purpose of maintaining the tractor testing facility;

(f) Out-of-State purchases: Should all persons be restrained from bringing into the State of Nebraska new or used tractors for sale or use without a permit;

(g) Reciprocal agreements: Should the University of Nebraska tractor testing facility be able to develop criteria and to enter into reciprocal agreements with other tractor testing facilities; and

(h) Department funding: Should funding, either from permit fees or general fund revenues, be appropriated to the state Department of Agriculture for the administration of the Nebraska Tractor Testing program?

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 100.

Introduced by Lynch, 13th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine and evaluate the process and methods of reappraisal of property in Nebraska. The study shall examine the possible inequities resulting from the reappraisal process within individual counties, the possible inequities among counties due to differences in reappraisal, and the adequacy of the frequency of such reappraisals.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 104.

Introduced by Marsh, 29th District.

PURPOSE:

Since fiscal year 1978-79, funds provided by the federal government to the Nebraska Forest Service have decreased by more than fifty per cent. Indications are that all financial assistance from the federal government to state forestry agencies will cease. To meet the shortfall in federal funds, thirteen full-time positions in the Nebraska Forest Service have been eliminated since 1978. The agency is of a size at the present time that additional reductions in staff will seriously threaten the continued existence of the agency and the programs it offers. For these reasons, the Nebraska Forest Service expects to make sizable budget requests in the next year. In order that the Legislature can have the information necessary to make an informed assesment of the funding needs of the service, it is proposed that a study be undertaken of the Nebraska Forest Service, its role and mission, funding alternatives, and the impact on Nebraska citizens and other private and public activities if its programs are eliminated.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 105.

Introduced by Carsten, 2nd District; Lamb, 43rd District.

PURPOSE:

Alzheimer's disease is the fourth leading cause of death among adult Americans. Nebraskans are not immune from this grim fact. Every community in this state has citizens who have or know someone who has Alzheimer's disease. Odds are that more than one half of the patients in Nebraska nursing homes have the disease. With the average age of Nebraskans rising and medical breakthroughs blocking the effects of more common ailments, Alzheimer's disease is on a rising curve and may well be our most significant health problem very soon.

There are a number of problems associated with Alzheimer's disease that lend themselves to public participation. The nature of the disease is such that it affects family members quite severely since the burden of patient care is concentrated in the home. Health insurance does not now cover Alzheimer's disease since insurance companies classify it as mental illness when, in truth, it comes about because of physical deterioration of the brain. Certain legal issues arise between balancing the rights of the victim with what is best for the family. These problems are only a beginning. The effects of Alzheimer's disease on the citizens of Nebraska are not just beginning, they are here. The purpose of this resolution is to study the problems associated with Alzheimer's disease and to propose any possible solutions to these many problems.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 106.

Introduced by Goodrich, 20th District.

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature has declared that the qualifications for candidacy for the office of Mayor and Council members of cities of the Metropolitan Class are matters of general statewide concern (§14-230, R.R.S. 1943, Reissue 1983); and,

WHEREAS, the Legislature by statute has attempted to insure fair and adequate representation of "all areas and all socio-economic segments of cities of the Metropolitan Class on the governing body of such cities" (§14-201.02 R.R.S. 1943, Reissue 1983); and,

WHEREAS, notwithstanding such efforts by the Nebraska Legislature, recent municipal elections held in the city of Omaha have been met with a certain degree of apparent voter apathy, as evidenced by the participation of only sixteen percent of registered voters in the primary election held in 1985; and

WHEREAS, it is the opinion of the Eighty-ninth Legislature for the State of Nebraska that it is in the best interests of the electorate and the residents of the state of Nebraska that this Legislature undertake a study of the matter of municipal elections in cities of the Metropolitan Class.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of this Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study concerning the matter of municipal elections in cities of the Metropolitan Class.

2. That it shall be the purpose of this resolution to create a legislative committee to study municipal elections in cities of the Metropolitan Class. The focus of the committee is intended to be broad and shall include an analysis of the cost of current election procedures and recommendations for increasing electorate participation. The committee shall further consider, among other matters, the timing and manner of election of all municipal officials, including a re-evaluation of the current means by which Council candidates are selected and ultimately elected.

3. That this committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the entire Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 107.

Introduced by Lundy, 36th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the State of Nebraska's current system of taxation of motor vehicles and the feasibility and desirability of alternative methods of taxation, including, but not limited to, the concept of applying a statewide average property tax rate to all motor vehicles in Nebraska. Such study shall also examine the overall effect of applying a uniform tax rate on motor vehicles on the various political subdivisions in the state, and any resulting increase or decrease in revenue to such subdivisions.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Revenue Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 108.

Introduced by Goodrich, 20th District.

PURPOSE: In recent years there has been a growing recognition of the need to broaden the base of the economy in this state. In order to broaden the economic base in Nebraska it is necessary to attract industry to and retain industry in Nebraska. Government, both legislative and executive, has a significant role to play in both the attraction and retention of industry. The study proposed by this resolution shall identify and examine those actions which may be taken by government in this state to attract and retain industry.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 109.

Introduced by Goodrich, 20th District.

WHEREAS, the recently enacted Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 1984 does not provide for practical on-the-job training, and since 1944 literally hundreds of thousands of Nebraska veterans have received some form of training under the "G.I. Bill"; and

WHEREAS, historically, practical on-the-job training is accepted as the most successful method of preparing quality job recipients, and some employers require a satisfactory period of on-the-job training; and

WHEREAS, many areas of skill and training are not available in educational institutions; and

WHEREAS, a high percentage of high school graduates do not desire or have aptitude for college; and

WHEREAS, the cost of apprenticeship training has historically cost the government less while the benefits accruing to American business and industry have been substantial; and

WHEREAS, there is a present need for apprenticeship and and on-the-job training programs as evidenced by the enactment of the Emergency Veterans Job Training Act of 1983; and

WHEREAS, the interests of all those not desiring institutional education would best be served by practical apprenticeship and on-the-job training programs.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature urges Congress to amend the Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 1984 to include apprenticeship and on-the-job training programs.

2. That copies of this resolution be presented to the Speaker of the House, the President of the Senate, and each member of Nebraska's Congressional delegation.

PURPOSE: Recently there appears to be an increase in the popularity and public activity of a number of extremist hate groups such as the Ku Klux Klan, Posse Comitatus, and neo-Nazi groups such as The Order. Over the years these groups have been convicted of a number of acts of racial, social, and religious terrorism such as murder, assault with deadly weapons, and arson. The proliferation of paramilitary training centers conducted by these groups has also been documented. These training centers instruct participants in guerilla warfare, use of automatic weapons, and the philosophy espoused by each such group. The purpose of this resolution is to examine possible statutory solutions to halt the expansion and growth of these groups and prohibit the establishment of any paramilitary training centers in Nebraska. The study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) Whether any documentation can be found regarding the number or percentage of Nebraskans who are involved in extremist groups and the names of such groups who are active in Nebraska;

(2) Necessary statutory changes to protect the public welfare of Nebraskans and prohibit the establishment of paramilitary training centers in the state;

(3) Whether outlawing the possession, use, and sale of automatic weapons would be an effective deterrent and curtail any violent activity generally associated with these extremist groups;

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 114.

Introduced by Chizek, 31st District.

PURPOSE: Family life has always been the backbone of our Nebraska Citizenry. Recently, serious economic hardships have hit Nebraska families. A group that has been hit most hard by these hardships is the elderly of Nebraska. The present economy in Nebraska, and in particular the state's Medicaid program, has impoverished and splintered many elderly couples by forcing them to spend their hard-earned assets for one spouse to become eligible for nursing home care while the other spouse is forced to live independently with a minimum of assets. Because of this situation, many elderly couples, after a lifetime of struggling, achieving, sharing, living, and loving together, are forced to divorce for financial necessity. The elderly of Nebraska who have worked tirelessly to provide us with a strong, stable family structure, to instill within us a positive moral fiber, and to provide generations to come with a strong Nebraska deserve our respect and, because of these difficult times, our help.

It is the purpose of this resolution to study Nebraska's Medicaid program and the relevant federal rules and regulations with respect to the division of property for eligibility for nursing home benefits and to find a solution to the problem facing our elderly today.

The continued transportation of high-level radioactive waste across Nebraska involves statewide issues of transportation, emergency response, energy planning, and public health and safety which call for a review properly from the Legislature. The purpose of this resolution is to study the current and future implications of those issues, including specifically but not limited to:

1. Review of existing state plans providing for the safe shipment of nuclear waste across Nebraska, the methods and volume of transportation as such effect public health and safety;

2. Identification of the need, extent and method of citizen involvement;

3. Review of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 with the goal of providing a greater voice for the state and the various states in the setting and making of policy, and procedures designed to effect that goal;

4. Questions of sources of funding, costs and liability involved in transportation of high-level radioactive waste, and sources of funding relative to costs and liability in the event of a transportation accident posing threats to public safety; and

5. Concatenate areas of shipment security, safety and prenotification, and shared information among the states.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

AM1077

1. Strike the original sections and insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. That section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2716. (1) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income interest or dividends on obligations of the United States and its territories and possessions or of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includable in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States. The amount subtracted under ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection shall, except as provided in subsections (2) to (6) of this section, be reduced by any interest on indebtedness incurred to carry the obligations or securities described in this subsection and by any expenses incurred in the production of interest or dividend income described in this subsection to the extent that such expenses, including amortizable bond premiums, are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(2) For corporations subject to the tax under section 77-2734.02, with income from exempt securities, in lieu of the reduction for expenses contained in subsection (1) of this section, there shall be added to federal taxable income the investment ~~interest~~ expense incurred by the corporation to purchase and maintain exempt securities as determined under subsection (3) of this section.

(3) The investment ~~interest~~ expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall be determined by (a) dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets and multiplying such ratio by the corporation's total ~~interest expense~~ expenses and (b) subtracting any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291.

For the taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1985, through taxable years beginning in 1990, the investment expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed ninety per cent of the amount of income received from exempt securities. For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1991, and thereafter, the investment expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed seventy-five per cent of the amount of income received from exempt securities.

(4) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) Exempt securities shall mean the obligations that earn income exempt from taxation under subsection (1) of this section or under 26 U.S.C. section 103;

(b) Average investment in exempt securities shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in exempt securities at the beginning and the end of the taxable year;

(c) Average total assets shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in total assets at the beginning and end of the taxable year; and

(d) Total ~~interest expense shall mean the total interest expense allowed as a deduction in computing federal taxable income plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291.~~ expense shall mean the amount subtracted from total income in order to determine taxable income for federal income tax purposes, plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291, but not including net operating loss deductions, or special deductions for dividends received.

(5) Whenever it is necessary to properly reflect the ratio of investment in exempt securities to total assets, the Tax Commissioner may permit or require the computation of the average provided for in subsection (3) of this section using amounts from interim balance sheets.

(6) The corporation may use, in lieu of the tax basis for the computation in subsection (3) of this section, the amounts from a balance sheet included with the federal return or as required to be reported to federal or state regulatory agencies if (a) such amounts are not materially different from tax basis, (b) the amounts are prepared consistently from year to year, and (c) absent a change in circumstances, the amounts are consistently used by the corporation from year to year. The Tax Commissioner may require a corporation to use the alternative amounts in order to maintain consistency or may require the corporation to show that the amounts used do not materially differ from the tax basis.

(7) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income dividends received or deemed to be received from corporations which are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.

Sec. 2. That section 77-2734.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2734.02. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year on the taxable income of every corporate taxpayer that is doing business in this state at a rate equal to twenty-five per cent of the rate imposed on individuals under section 77-2715 on the first fifty thousand dollars of taxable income and at the rate of thirty-five per cent of such rate on all taxable income in excess of fifty thousand dollars.

(a) For corporate taxpayers with a fiscal year that does not coincide with the calendar year, the individual rate used for subsection (1) of this section shall be the rate in effect on the first day, or the day deemed to be the first day, of the taxable year.

(b) For fiscal years beginning before January 1, 1968, the rate initially set shall apply for the period from January 1, 1968, to the end of that fiscal year.

(2) For a corporate taxpayer that is subject to tax in another state, its taxable income shall be the portion of the taxpayer's federal taxable income, as adjusted, that is determined to be connected with the taxpayer's operations in this state pursuant to sections 77-2734.05 to 77-2734.15.

(3) Each corporate taxpayer shall file only one income tax return for each taxable year.

(4) The Nebraska income tax imposed upon corporate taxpayers which are financial institutions with income from exempt securities for the taxable year beginning in 1985 shall not, for the taxable year beginning in 1985, exceed the greater of (a) the Nebraska income tax imposed upon such corporate taxpayer for the taxable year beginning in 1984, as shown on line 18 of Form 112ON Nebraska Corporation Income Tax Return or (b) an amount equal to a sum determined by multiplying the rate of seventy-five cents time each one thousand dollars, or multiple thereof, of average deposits held by such institution for the calendar year 1985. The limitation on taxes provided in this subsection shall apply only to tax returns and amendments filed for a taxable year beginning in 1985, and such limitation shall expire thereafter. As used in this subsection, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) Financial institution shall mean any bank, building and loan association, cooperative credit association, industrial loan and investment company, savings and loan association, or trust company;

(b) Deposits shall mean the amount of money placed in the custody of a financial institution in Nebraska for safety or convenience that may be withdrawn at the will of the depositor or under the rules or regulations agreed upon by the financial institution and the depositor. Deposits shall include amounts for which a certificate may be issued and which are payable on demand, on certain notice, or at a fixed future date or time; and

(c) Average deposits shall mean the total of the deposits in Nebraska held by a financial institution on the last day of the preceding year and the last day of each calendar quarter divided by five. Whenever the amount of deposits at the end of a quarter is reported to a state or federal regulatory agency, the reported amount shall be used to determine average deposits.

Sec. 3. That original sections 77-2716 and 77-2734.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, are repealed.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Dear Senator Haberman:

This is in response to your letter of April 10, 1985, concerning LB 271. Among other things, LB 271 establishes a seven-member Agricultural Land Valuation Advisory Board whose duties include reviewing the agricultural land valuation manual developed by the Department of Revenue and the data sources for such manual, and making recommendations to the Tax Commissioner for changes to this manual and the land values contained therein. Six of the members are appointed by the Governor for terms of office of four years. The seventh member and Chairperson of the Advisory Board is designated in the bill as the Chairperson of the Legislature's Revenue Committee. This seventh member is also a voting member. The board members receive necessary expenses while engaged in the duties of the Board as do other state employees. Your question is simply whether the designation of a state legislator as a member of the Board is a violation of Article II, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution regarding separation of powers.

We are not unmindful of the fact that this Board is advisory in nature only. Nevertheless, the intent and purpose of this bill is that the Board shall have a significant and influential impact on the administration of LB 271 as it pertains to the establishment of agricultural land values. This is clearly an administrative or executive function and not legislative in nature.

Article II, Section 1 of the Constitution provides that:

> The powers of the government of this state are divided into three distinct departments, the Legislative, Executive and Judicial, and no person or collection of persons being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

This doctrine of separation of powers has been strictly construed in the State of Nebraska. See for example, State ex rel. Meyer v. State Board of Equalization and Assessment, 185 Neb. 490, 176 N.W.2d 920 (1970).

Courts from other jurisdictions have examined situations in which the Legislature attempted to place its members on various boards or commissions which were essentially administrative or executive in nature. In the face of similar constitutional provisions, these courts have held that these attempts were violations of the doctrine of separation of powers. See, State ex rel. Wallace v. Bone, 286 S.E.2d 79, (Supreme Court of North Carolina 1982), Book v. State Office Building Commission, 238 Ind. 120, 149 N.E.2d 273 (1958), State ex rel. State Building Commission of West Virginia v. Bailey, 151 W.Va. 79, 150 S.E.2d 449 (1966), and Greer v. Georgia, 233 Ga. 667, 212 S.E.2d 836 (1979). Thus we believe, that the attempted placement of a member of the Legislature as chairperson of this administrative board is a violation of the doctrine of separation of powers as found in the Nebraska Constitution, Article II, Section I.

This attempted appointment to the Board of a member of the Legislature also raises two other constitutional issues. Article IV, Section 10 provides that:

> The Governor shall appoint with the approval of a majority of the Legislature, all persons whose offices are established by the Constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise by law or hearin provided for; and no such person shall be appointed or elected by the Legislature.

The designation by the Legislature here of one of its members as the Chairperson of the Board would be such a legislative appointment and would be a violation of Article IV, Section 10 of the Constitution. Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672 at 676, 217 N.W.2d 166 (1974).

In addition, Article III, Section 9 provides that:

> No person elected or appointed to the Legislature shall receive any civil appointment to a state office while holding membership in the Legislature or while the Legislature is in session, and all such appointments shall be void.

By virtue of this provision of LB 271, the Chairperson of the Legislature's Revenue Committee would be receiving an appointment to another state office while holding membership in the Legislature.

Thus, the cumulative effect of all of these constitutional provisions leaves us with no choice but to conclude that this particular provision of LB 271 which provides that the Chairperson of the Legislature's Revenue Committee shall serve as the chairperson and seventh member of the Agricultural Land Valuation Advisory Board is unconstitutional.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

1. Re-evaluating our personal property title system by defining "marital property" in Nebraska, regardless of which spouse earned or holds title to it.

2. Defining "individual property" owned before or during the marriage.

3. Studying the aspect of property control by either one or both spouses.

4. Studying the "opt out" provision of the act by a written marital property agreement.

5. Remedies for disputes arising during marriage as to ownership and control of property.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study.

2. That the Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 135.

Introduced by Chizek, 31st District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the feasibility of creating a Department of Public Safety. Currently twenty-four states have such a department. A Department of Public Safety would oversee the areas of law enforcement and health and occupational safety. The study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) The cost of creating such a department;

(2) The benefits a Department of Public Safety would produce;

(3) Potential powers and duties of the department;

(4) The operations of the various Departments of Public Safety of other states; and

(5) Any other considerations the committee deems necessary to fully investigate the purpose of this resolution.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 136.

Introduced by Smith, 33rd District.

PURPOSE: To conduct an interim study on the impact of a state-wide case management system for those persons at risk of or already prematurely or inappropriately placed in a nursing home or institutional setting.

WHEREAS, Nebraska has one of the highest percentages of elderly in the nation and since the older population is the fastest growing segment of our society and since the cost of care and types of care required by the older population is significantly greater and more complex, ways of coordinating and paying for this care need to be explored in depth.

WHEREAS, one of the biggest problems facing Nebraska is the rising costs of Medicaid to the state, it is strongly believed that a state-wide case management system would not only slow down the rising costs of Medicaid, but would lead to a much greater utilization of all existing resources.

WHEREAS, a number of states have successfully instituted mandatory state-wide case management programs for the "at-risk" elderly (those at risk of being placed in a nursing home or other institutional setting), and since Nebraska has several programs that are providing case management to the homebound "at-risk" elderly and have gathered considerable data on costs and service needs, and have kept a large number of persons in their own homes, it is:

THEREFORE, in the best interest of all Nebraskans for the Legislature to conduct an interim study on the impact of a state-wide case management system for the "at-risk" elderly on slowing cost increases and the better utilization of existing services and funding sources.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 137.

Introduced by Smith, 33rd District.

PURPOSE: To study issues regarding a system of integrated case management for Alzheimer's Disease and the coverage of Alzheimer's Disease as a physical ailment under health insurance policies.

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's Disease is the fourth leading cause of death among older Americans, and a majority of patients in Nebraska nursing homes may have Alzheimer's Disease;

WHEREAS, the burden of care for Alzheimer's patients falls most heavily on family members, because the home environment appears to be the best environment for treatment of Alzheimer's Disease;

WHEREAS, most health insurance policies do not cover Alzheimer's Disease;

WHEREAS, the course of the disease varies widely among individuals and requires different treatment routines for each patient;

WHEREAS, Home Health Care Services are limited in their participation in care for Alzheimer's patients;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study on the following issues:

A. The formation of a state-wide integrated case management system for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease, including assisting Home Health Care Services in meeting the need for their participation in home health care of Alzheimer's Disease.

B. Health Insurance coverage for Alzheimer's disease.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for legislation, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 138.

Introduced by Hartnett, 45th District.

Purpose: The purpose of this resolution is to authorize the Legislature to conduct a study of the problem of growing manpower requirements and declining rosters of Nebraska's volunteer fire departments. While no formal studies have been done, there is growing belief that it is becoming more and more difficult for volunteer fire departments to recruit and keep the manpower necessary to fulfill their mission. It is important for the legislature to study the problem to determine the impact of demographic trends (the aging of the 'baby boom' generation, and the urbanization of Nebraska's population) and other factors on manpower requirements and seek for incentives to keep people on the fire departments and aid in their recruitment so that local governments in this state can continue to take advantage of the major tax savings that these institutions provide.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 139.

Introduced by Telecommunications Committee: Goodrich, 20th District, Chairperson; Peterson, 21st District; Chronister, 18th District; Goll, 16th District; Higgins, 9th District; Lundy, 36th District; Pirsch, 10th District; Scofield, 49th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine and evaluate the progress of intrastate telephone telecommunications deregulation in Nebraska and its effect on the telephone and telecommunication service provided to the people of this state. This study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) The impact of both interstate and intrastate deregulation on the citizens of Nebraska;

(2) The potential need for further deregulation of intrastate telephone service in this State;

(3) The costs of telephone deregulation, and the most equitable way to apportion these costs among the citizens of Nebraska; and

(4) Potential regulation of new telecommunications technology as it becomes available.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA,

FIRST SESSION:

1. That Telecommunications Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Telecommunications Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 140.

Introduced by Vickers, 38th District; Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: To study all aspects of nursing education, including but not limited to the Associate Degree in Nursing, and the future need for providing nursing education and training in our state to meet the anticipated medical manpower needs of the citizenry for educated and trained nurses in the most effective and efficient manner possible. The study shall include, but not be limited to, the following issues:

(1) The present and future needs of the citizenry for trained and educated nurses in the various health care delivery systems located in the diverse geographical areas of the state, including the level or extent of the education, training, licensure, or specialization requirements of the nurses;

(2) The current requirements for licensure, certification and/or registration of the various types of nurses and the anticipated or proposed changes in these requirements;

(3) The present nursing school curriculums; how and by whom these curriculums are established and how and by whom should the curriculums be established in the future to meet the anticipated nursing needs of the state;

(4) The current clinical experience requirements for the various types or levels of nursing; how and by whom the clinical facilities are provided whereby the required clinical experience may be attained; and the future clinical experience requirements and reasonably anticipated clinical facilities and practice settings available to meet those requirements;

(5) The present nursing education delivery system, public, private, and proprietary, and the statutory changes to facilitate implementation of the findings of (1) through (4) above in the most effective and efficient manner possible.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF

NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Education Committee and the Public Health & Welfare Committee of the Legislature be designated to conduct a joint study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Chairman of the Education Committee and the Chairman of the Public Health & Welfare Committee jointly appoint a task force including a representative from each of the following groups, associations, or agencies to assist the joint committee to carry out the purposes of this resolution: University of Nebraska Medical Center, State Colleges, Technical Community Colleges, Private and Proprietary Institutions, State Board of Nursing, Nebraska Hospital Association, Nebraska Nursing Home Association, Department of Health - Health Systems Planning, Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Post Secondary Education, and Independent Colleges and Universities.

3. That a member of the Education Committee and a member of the Public Health and Welfare Committee act as Co-Chairpersons of the task force and that staff personnel from each committee provide staffing assistance for the task force.

4. That the task force submit a report of its findings and recommendations to the joint committee on or before November 1, 1985, and that the joint committee hold a public hearing on said report of the task force and thereafter make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 141.

Introduced by Hoagland, 6th District.

WHEREAS, traffic laws and rules of the road are contained in Chapters 39 and 60 of the Nebraska statutes; and

WHEREAS, many offenses denominated as misdemeanors in those chapters are of a less serious nature than offenses denominated as infractions in those chapters; and

WHEREAS, a rational relationship between the crime and its punishment is required and may not exist in Chapters 39 and 60.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 142.

Introduced by Hoagland, 6th District.

WHEREAS, a bill to appoint rather than elect Clerks of the District Court was introduced in the 89th Legislature and referenced to the Judiciary Committee; and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held and the committee desires more information concerning this question; and

WHEREAS, it is imperative that the court system be designed to best serve the public and opinions differ concerning whether elected or appointed clerks would enhance this service.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 143.

Introduced by Chizek, 31st District; Schmit, 23rd District.

PURPOSE: The current agricultural crisis in Nebraska has, among its various effects, reemphasized the need for development of the state's inherent economic resources, including a review of the role of state government in such development via Article XIII, section 3, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska. The purpose of this resolution is to study any statutory or constitutional revisions necessary to provide a proper state role in strengthening such development, specifically, but not limited to, the areas of:

(1) Existing or proposed state-chartered corporations extending economic opportunities to all Nebraskans;

(2) Enhancing development of Nebraska's economy through the correlation of agricultural, industrial, and service and energy technology components;

(3) The feasibility of allowing nonprofit economic services through various state agencies; and

(4) Financing alternatives for any current economic service programs dependent upon federal funding.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 144.

Introduced by Pirsch, 10th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study mirrored or one-way glass, adhesive film, or other glaze or applications which are attached to windshields or side or rear windows of motor vehicles. The study should examine the most modern, state-of-the-art technological processes which are involved in manufacturing and producing such materials in an effort to determine which levels of light transmittancy are optimal for purposes of driver safety and performance.

The study should also examine the effects such products have on the safety of law enforcement officers as they approach stopped motor vehicles, and whether it is more difficult for those officers to spot crimes in progress because of those products.

Statutes and regulations, both at the state and federal levels, should be analyzed to determine how other states are addressing the above mentioned issues.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and to hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 145.

Introduced by Pirsch, 10th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the pervasive problem of missing and runaway children in our society. Particular attention should be focused on those adults who knowingly provide shelter and care for or hide children who have escaped from law enforcement custody or group or foster homes in which they have been placed. Should those adults have a duty to report such children to law enforcement agencies? Statutes in other states should be examined to determine how they, if at all, are attempting to resolve this problem.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and to hold any public hearing necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 146.

Introduced by Pirsch, 10th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the Board of Parole in Nebraska. The study should examine, but not be limited to the following issues:

1. The composition of the board,

2. Criteria for appointment to the board,

3. The desirability of an annual evaluation of the board members, including input from the community,

4. And the feasibility of directly notifying victims of sexual assault of the assailant's release.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and to hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 147.

Introduced by Pirsch, 10th District.

PURPOSE: In 1983 the Nebraska Legislature enacted into law a requirement that, in all cases where a court orders a presentence investigation, the investigation must include any written statements submitted to the county attorney or probation officer by a victim of the crime. If no written statements are submitted to the probation officer, the officer must certify to the court that he or she has attempted to contact the victim and if he or she contacted the victim, the officer offered to accept the written statements of the victim or to reduce the victim's oral statements to writing.

One of the purposes of this resolution shall be to determine if the above mentioned requirements are being complied with. Are victims being notified that they have the right to submit a victim impact statement to the court? Are probation officers attempting to contact all victims of a crime? Do probation offices maintain records of the percentages of victims successfully contacted and of victims who submit written statements? If so, such percentages and other statistics should be compiled and examined.

In 1981 the Legislature enacted the Victims' Bill of Rights (Section 81-1848), which entitles victims and witnesses of crime to certain right under the criminal justice system. Are local law enforcement agencies, county attorneys, and others in the criminal justice system assuring that those rights are being protected? Does the statute provide specific guidance to those in the criminal justice system so that each party knows their duties in assuring that the rights are being fully enforced?

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and to hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Therefore, recognizing the above facts, the Legislature hereby establishes that after fiscal year 1986-87, no more than fifty per cent of the total operational costs of the public school system shall be derived from taxes on real property and that the Legislature shall from time of passage of this legislative bill begin the process necessary to accomplish the above-stated goals.

Sec. 29. For purposes of providing the increased state revenue required due to sections 26 and 28 of this act, there shall be imposed, effective July 1, 1985, a sales and use tax of one per cent in addition to the tax imposed under Chapter 77, article 27. ## RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 148.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this interim study is to examine the effectiveness, the degree of uniformity in representation, and the proper utilization of resources, the state's public defender system in response to LB 514, the Public Defender Act.

The purpose of this interim study is to examine the degree of uniformity in representation, the allocation of resources, and the effectiveness of the state's public defender system. There are two public defender systems established by statute. Section 29-1804 provides for the establishment of public defenders on a county by county basis. Section 29-1805.01 to 29-1805.11 creates the office of judicial district public defender, which to date has not been used.

Legislative Bill 514, introduced in the Eighty-Ninth Legislature, First Session, seeks to reorganize the existing public defender system. The bill would create a state defender system as a centrally administered organization with staff.

Costs of the existing public defender system and providing appointed counsel for criminal defendants have been rapidly escalating, placing a constantly increasing financial burden on the counties. Appointment of counsel which may be inadequately trained in criminal defense may result in poor representation which could be grounds of appeal. Such appeals are costly and may fail to protect the defendant's rights. The responsibilities of the public defender in protecting the rights of indigent criminal defendants and the increasing costs and financial burdens imposed upon the counties mandate an efficient system of competent public defenders.

In order to accomplish its purpose the study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) Examination of Legislative Bill 514 and its potential implementation;

(2) Examination of the escalating costs to the counties of the existing public defender system;

(3) Examination of the effectiveness of the current county public defender system;

(4) Public defender systems in other jurisdictions; and

(5) Any other matters necessary for a comprehensive examination of these concerns.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 149.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

PURPOSE:

The State of Nebraska has ground water supplies which are abundant and generally of high quality in comparison to national water quality levels. It is recognized that surface water quality is improving as point sources of pollution are brought under treatment programs. However, because of the inherent characteristics of ground water supplies, the protection of this vital resource is difficult to monitor.

There is a need to examine the nature, extent, and sources of ground water pollution in Nebraska. The purpose of this study is to investigate recognized sources of groundwater pollution, examine current practices which may be potentially damaging to ground water supplies in the future, and to assess the advisability of legislation which would ensure that the quality of the state's water supplies is maintained. This study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) The nature, extent, and causes of major ground water pollution in Nebraska;

(2) Proposals specifically relating to the nature, extent, and regulation of nitrate contamination and other chemicals endangering Nebraska's water supplies;

(3) The pollution of water supplies and other environmental dangers relating to spills or leakage from petroleum or chemical storage tanks;

(4) The nature and extent of concerns related to "insectigation" and "chemigation" and whether such irrigation practices should be regulated, and if so, recommendations on how this should be accomplished;

(5) The nature of the health hazard to humans, livestock, other animals, and plants from ground water pollution of the types aforementioned;

(6) Methods of stabilizing or reversing such types of pollution including available alternatives and their economic impact; and

(7) Any other relevant matters necessary for a comprehensive examination of this concern.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 150.

Introduced by Sieck, 24th District; Wesely, 26th District; V. Johnson, 8th District; Hefner, 19th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study and assess the needs of the elderly and disabled for community-based, in-home, and institutional long-term care services. With five per cent of the elderly population residing in long-term care facilities and with the number of Nebraska citizens over the age of sixty-five projected to double in the next thirty-five years, it is important that health care costs be brought under control. This study should specifically focus on:

(1) The development of a state-wide continuum of care evaluation programs for the elderly to provide appropriate home health services or institutional health care services;

(2) The development of a reimbursement system in the Medicaid Program which will provide a cost-effective continuation of long care services from home care to institutional care;

(3) The development of a Certificate of Need process which focuses on the actual needs for all aspects of health care services for the elderly;

(4) The development of a system that provides incentives for the longevity of ownership of health care facilities; and

(5) The impact the previously enumerated changes would have on the costs and quality of home health care, hospital, and nursing home care. This study shall seek the impact of private sector health care providers.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

WHEREAS, despite this income, the incidence of older people facing financial hardship is growing along with the rising costs to the taxpayer to support the retired; and

WHEREAS, retirement policies trap increasing numbers of older Nebraskans who are able and willing to work.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 155.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 156.

Introduced by Haberman, 44th District; Scofield, 49th District;

Nichol, 48th District; Vickers, 38th District; Rogers, 41st District.

PURPOSE: To explore the advantages and disadvantages of creating district government services in Nebraska. The object of such districts would be to provide consistent and uniform services to the people of the state, while at the same time enlarging the contributing property tax base so that the drain on the state's finances caused by ninety-three counties providing duplicate services, regardless of population or geographical necessity, could be decreased. Government services that could benefit from cooperation include, but would not be limited to, creation of full time district attorneys offices, district jails that would meet the current jail standards, creation of "justice centers" which could serve as district courthouses and bases for professional law enforcement personnel to serve the district. Community health and social services could also be made available through such centers. In some instances existing facilities could be used to house the district services, in others, new facilities might be constructed.

The proposed districts could be drawn along both geographical and population lines so that both distance and service load could be balanced among the various districts. In some cases distances might dictate that some centers serve a smaller population than others, but the state could still avoid duplicating the same service ninty-three times.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 167.

Introduced by Withem, 14th District; Scofield, 49th District; Baack, 47th District.

PURPOSE: To conduct an in depth study of the impact of the New Federalism on Cities of the First and Second Class and Villages in the State of Nebraska. The deteriorating agricultural economy is a direct threat to the social and economic viability of municipalities in rural Nebraska. Reduced domestic spending and the mounting federal deficit have and will continue to erode funding for programs which benefit rural Nebraska. The impact of the New Federalism is producing a dramatic decline in rural communities. As elements of that impact, the study should focus on the following areas:

A) PLANNING

The study should examine the posture of State government toward planning since Nebraska law requires a comprehensive plan as a prerequisite to municipal regulation in the form of zoning. In addition, the study should examine methods for assisting Nebraska municipalities in planning efforts in the areas of enabling legislation for planning, funding and the distribution of Community Development Block Grants.

B) ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The study should examine "strategic planning" for economic development in Nebraska's municipalities to assist in the distribution of development funds and the promotion of the above-mentioned communities.

C) Any other necessary functions of local government affected by the decrease in federal funding.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Standing Committee on Urban Affairs shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 170.

Introduced by Landis, 46th District.

PURPOSE: The Nebraska economy is experiencing a crisis based, in part, on the level of dependency that the economy has on agriculture. A way to alleviate some of the state's dependency on agriculture is to diversify the economy with other industries. Currently, one of the fastest growing industries in the country is the military industry. The military arms industry has an uncertain economic future because of its dependency on federal policy. Given this uncertain future, there is a clear and present need for this state to assess the potential problems created by depending on the military arms industry for jobs, income, and taxes.

The study shall address the following topics: The current level of importance of the military arms industries on local and state economies within Nebraska; the impact of the military arms industry on local and state economies in terms of jobs supported, income generated, support maintained, and taxes generated; and the potential liabilities and benefits on increasing Nebraska's dependency on this industry.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Revenue issues shall include (a) the extent to which rates should be regulated by the Public Service Commission, and whether rates of return to companies should be legislatively prescribed; (b) whether the Legislature should mandate the allowance of intrastate long-distance competition, (c) whether the Legislature should prescribe minimum or maximum charges for local service, (d) the structure and level of access charges, and (e) the bypass issue, and to what extent user volume discounts should be allowed or prescribed.

WHEREAS, the use of alcohol in the production of gasohol or similar products is subsidized heavily by the state and federal governments; and

WHEREAS, there are a limited number of manufacturers of alcohol products for use of gasohol; and

WHEREAS, there apparently exists a practice by certain alcohol-producing companies doing business in Nebraska of pricing their product FOB from their plant at different prices strictly dependent upon the subsidy applicable in the state of the product's destination; and

WHEREAS, the aforementioned practice by some companies may be anticompetitive, and in violation of the Fair Trade Practices Act, as well as anti-trust laws.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature through its Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee conduct an inquiry into the marketing of alcohol in the State of Nebraska and the surrounding states to determine if improprieties or illegalities are in fact being committed by the producers thereof, which may result in higher costs to Nebraskans and adverse effects upon state government.

Introduced by Smith, 33rd District.

PURPOSE: To study alternatives in providing essential services for the elderly living in rural towns where commercial and retail businesses are no longer available and to assess what impact community-based services have on the economies of rural towns in Nebraska.

WHEREAS, towns of 1,000 people or fewer have lost much of their commercial and retail business as a significant percentage of rural residents are going to larger cities for these services, and

WHEREAS, the number of farms in Nebraska has dropped 50 percent in 40 years as fewer people are operating larger farms, and

WHEREAS, the faltering agricultural economy in Nebraska is forcing even more people to move from rural communities to areas with better job opportunities, and

WHEREAS, more than 40 percent of the residents of many Nebraska communities are 65 years of age and older, and

WHEREAS, many of the elderly receive programs and services designed to promote independence and prevent unnecessary institutionalization.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA:

1. That a committee of the Legislature be designed to conduct an interim study:

a. to research alternatives in providing essential services for the elderly living in rural towns where commercial and retail businesses are no longer available, and

b. to assess what impact community-based services have on the economies of rural towns in Nebraska.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 184.

Introduced by DeCamp, 40th District.

WHEREAS, existing federal law has for many years given each state the right to determine whether it will permit bank ownership to cross its borders; and

WHEREAS, the States' ability to preserve self determination in regard to interstate banking has been steadily eroding for several years, as is evident from the spread of "non-banks," and by such innovations as "near banks" operated by Sears, American Express, and Merrill Lynch, and Citicorp's Service Centers in Omaha; and

WHEREAS, through the inventive use of loopholes and existing law, interstate banking has become a fact of life in Nebraska and across the nation; and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature is presently considering the passage of legislation which would authorize interstate bank ownership within a specified 11-state region on a reciprocal basis; and

WHEREAS, other states have already adopted reciprocal regional interstate banking laws, and additional states are presently considering such legislation.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee conduct an inquiry into the following issues relating to interstate banking:

a) The extent to which interstate banking already exists in Nebraska;

b) The effects on the Nebraska financial industry if the Legislature adopts the concepts offered in LB 452, presently being considered by the Nebraska Legislature;

c) The effects on the Nebraska financial industry if the Legislature fails to adopt any measures relating to interstate banking; and

d) The options, other than those proposed in LB 452, which are available for Nebraska, and their possible effects on the State's financial industry.

2. That the Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 185.

Introduced by DeCamp, 40th District.

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that health care costs continue to rise at a rate faster than other items in the general economy; and

WHEREAS, mandating various types of insurance benefits is being proposed as a means for offsetting such costs; and

WHEREAS, in 1974, Congress enacted the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) which creates a federal preemption of state laws "related to" employee benefit plans; and

WHEREAS, many employers are self-insuring under the ERISA preemption to cut their benefit costs by avoiding mandated benefits and avoiding paying a premium tax; and

WHEREAS, more than 50% of the insured public is now covered by ERISA exemptions; and

WHEREAS, as the insured segment of the group health benefits market shrinks, the impact of mandated benefits laws may raise the cost of insurance to the regulated insured public and they threaten the integrity of state regulations; and

WHEREAS, the additional cost of mandated benefits are borne by those who can least afford it, including small employers, farmers and the individual policy-holders.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee examine the financial impact upon individual and group policyholders, small businesses and farmers due to legislation:

a) Requiring inclusion of coverage for specific benefits (i.e., alcoholism treatment, mental health, substance abuse);

b) Requiring payment to any licensed provider or to specific types of providers (otherwise known as nondiscrimination or freedom-of-choice laws); and

c) Requiring continuation or coversion of coverage.

2. Due to the magnitude of this study, and the large amount of costs involved in the necessary research, joint financing should be requested from the Legislature and the insurance industry to conduct this study; and

3. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the legislative council, prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 186.

Introduced by DeCamp, 40th District.

WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court has rendered a majority opinion that the Alabama Premium Tax Law, which applies a tax differential to domestic and foreign insurance companies, favoring the domestic companies, may be unconstitutional; and

WHEREAS, Nebraska law imposes a tax differential to domestic and foreign insurance companies, which favors domestic companies, and may similarly be unconstitutional; and

WHEREAS, every effort must be made to avoid an extraordinarily large claim for refunds which may severely affect state revenue; and

WHEREAS, the application of a uniform premium tax to both domestic and foreign insurance companies may work an undue hardship on some domestic insurance companies; and

WHEREAS, a change in the State's premium tax laws should be undertaken only after all parties have had an opportunity to fully inform the Legislature of the impact of such a tax on the insurance industry.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee conduct an inquiry into the financial impact of the United States Supreme Court decision pertaining to premium tax on Nebraska's insurance industry; and

2. That due to the magnitude of the study, and the large amount of costs involved in the necessary research, joint financing should be requested from the Legislature and the insurance industry to conduct this study; and

3. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the legislative council, prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 187.

Introduced by DeCamp, 40th District.

WHEREAS, in 1982, the people of Nebraska adopted Initiative 300, which amended the Nebraska Constitution by restricting the ownership of real estate by corporations for the purposes of farming or ranching; and

WHEREAS, after nearly three years, the effects of Initiative 300, whether beneficial or detrimental, have not yet been determined with any certainty; and

WHEREAS, several groups representing segments of the agricultural industry have recently announced that they favor reexamination of the merits and bases for Initiative 300; and

WHEREAS, Nebraska's agricultural industry is in turmoil, and that a contributing factor toward that result is the low value of agricultural real estate; and

WHEREAS, amendment of Initiative 300 may be necessary in order to (1) alleviate low farm land and ranch land values by allowing expanded corporate ownership of such real estate under certain circumstances and (2) encourage the economic development of the state by promoting corporate investment in the production and processing of agricultural products.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE

MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee conduct an inquiry into the economic affects of Initiative 300 on Nebraska, and determine whether the Legislature should consider a proposal to amend Initiative 300 and, if so, the form of such an amendment; and

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 188.

Introduced by Miscellaneous Subjects Committee: Hefner, 19th District, Chairperson; Conway, 17th District; Haberman, 44th District; Hartnett, 45th District; Higgins, 9th District; V. Johnson, 8th District; Pappas, 42nd District.

PURPOSE: The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission appointed a task force to review the Nebraska Liquor Control Act and to make any recommendations on totally redrafting the act. Some of the recommendations have been considered by the Legislature. It is the purpose of this resolution to review the recommendations of the task force and any recommendations of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission. In the review of these recommendations the committee should consider a redraft of the act based on its own recommendations.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 189.

Introduced by Miscellaneous Subjects Committee: Hefner, 19th District, Chairperson; Conway, 17th District; Haberman, 44th

District; Hartnett, 45th District; Higgins, 9th District; V. Johnson, 8th District; Pappas, 42nd District.

PURPOSE: The Nebraska Bingo and Lottery Control Act contains the regulations for bingo, pickle card lotteries, lotteries conducted by nonprofit organizations, raffles, and lotteries conducted by cities and counties. The regulations for each of these are contained within a single act. Confusion develops in the interpretation and enforcement of the act. The purpose of this resolution is to study the possibility of separating the regulation of bingo, pickle card lotteries, lotteries conducted by nonprofit organizations, raffles, and lotteries conducted by cities and counties into separate acts.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 190.

Introduced by Revenue Committee: V. Johnson, 8th District, Chairperson; Hartnett, 45th District; Hefner, 19th District; Landis, 46th District; Pirsch, 10th District; Rogers, 41st District; Sieck, 24th District; and Abboud, 12th District.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this resolution is to study the feasibility of offering an income tax credit to persons who invest in companies which invest capital in Nebraska businesses. This study should focus on the provisions of Legislative Bill 222, Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session, 1985, and should examine the implications of pursuing such a policy. Similar legislation in other states also should be examined, along with the effect that offering credits of this type has had in other states with respect to investment and revenue.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Revenue Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 191.

Introduced by Revenue Committee: V. Johnson, 8th District, Chairperson; Hartnett, 45th District; Hefner, 19th District; Landis, 46th District; Miller, 37th District; Pirsch, 10th District; Rogers, 41st District; Sieck, 24th District.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this resolution is to propose a study regarding the taxation of community antenna television service, commonly known as cable TV. The study should include an examination of the taxes which currently are paid by cable TV companies in Nebraska, methods which are used to tax these companies in other states, and the propriety of including cable TV companies under the statutory definition of public service entities, which are subject to a franchise tax.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Revenue Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 192.

Introduced by V. Johnson, 8th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to propose a study of the feasibility of merging the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped and the Nebraska School for the Deaf. The study should focus on the quality of education that could be provided under such a set-up, the cost-effectiveness of a merger of this type, the manner in which other states provide education for the deaf and visually impaired, and the manner in which such a merged school would operate and be administered.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 193.

Introduced by Rupp, 22nd District.

PURPOSE: Initiative 300, also known as the "Family Farm Amendment", was approved as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Nebraska on November 2, 1982. Initiative 300's restrictions on the ownership and use of farmland has caused uncertainty as to what types of farming and ranching operations will be permitted in the state and laws which affect the right to own, use, and dispose of property and the right to pursue a business or to engage in gainful employment raise numerous legal questions. In addition, Initiative 300's effect on the ownership and use of land may have a corresponding impact on related industries such as food processing. The purpose of this resolution is to study the intent and purpose of Initiative 300, the basis upon which it was approved, and the impact it has on the economy of the State of Nebraska and the welfare of its citizens.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 194.

Introduced by Rupp, 22nd District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to explore the diminishing revenue base available for fish and wildlife management, including revenue necessary for law enforcement in this area, and to determine methods of replacing revenues lost due to the increasing issuance of fee-exempt hunting and fishing permits.

This study is necessary because fish and wildlife management is supported in large part by hunting and fishing permit fees. Significant numbers of permits are furnished without charge to Nebraska residents who are sixty-five years of age or older and certain veterans. The demand for such fee-exempt permits will increase dramatically in future years due to an increasing life expectancy and the aging of the fee-exempt veteran population. The increasing fee-exempt permits will cause additional pressure on an already strained fish and wildlife management revenue base.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 195.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study shall be to study the feasibility and merits of introducing legislation to implement a "junior drivers license" program or to establish curfew hours for licensed drivers who are minors. Recent legislative actions such as strengthening the driving while intoxicated laws, raising the legal drinking age, and the seat belt legislation under consideration, indicate the public's and this body's concern for safety on our roads.

In order to accomplish its purpose the study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) Examination of the "junior license" concepts which other states have adopted;

(2) Examination of curfew legislation which other states have adopted;

(3) Examination of those studies completed which show that such legislation reduce traffic accidents and fatalities of primarily those in their teen years;

(4) Inquiries to those states which have enacted legislation of this type as to its effectiveness, and any other relevant matters; and

(5) Any other issues which may reduce traffic accidents and fatalities and which are necessary for a complete analysis of this issue.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 196.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

PURPOSE: Recognizing Nebraska's commitment to maintaining its generally high quality of water and the Department of Environmental Control's declaration that an emergency and remedial response fund is the most apparent deficiency in the state's water quality legislation, the purpose of this interim study shall be to document the need and determine what provisions shall be included in a Nebraska "Superfund" or a comprehensive environmental response and liability act. In order to accomplish this purpose the following specific matters shall be examined:

(1) The nature and extent of pollutants and hazardous chemical contaminations occurring in the state;

(2) Proposals specifically relating to the nature, extent, and regulation of pollutants and hazardous chemicals endangering Nebraska's water supplies;

(3) State "Superfunds" throughout the nation which have already been adopted and their effectiveness;

(4) Existing disposal methods of hazardous substances and pollutants including resource recovery, recycling, incineration, neutralization and reduction;

(5) Existing Nebraska statutes pertaining to hazardous substances and pollutants; and

(6) Any other relevant matters necessary for a comprehensive examination of the topic of establishing a state "Superfund".

NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 197.

Introduced by Withem, 14th District.

PURPOSE:

To study the financial health and stability of Sanitary and Improvement Districts in the later stages of development and to study its revenue generating abilities to cover expenses.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution to examine the eligibility of the disabled for the homestead exemption based on income. It shall consider the equity of existing homestead exemption laws and the application of income eligibility standards. The study shall also examine the possibility of expanding the homestead exemption based on income eligibility for veterans and their spouses.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Revenue Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine current tax policy respecting financial institutions in Nebraska. The study shall examine:

(1) Fair and equitable taxation of financial institutions in relation to different types of financial institutions and different types of taxpayers;

(2) The taxation of investments by financial institutions of securities exempt from taxation under 26 USC 103;

(3) Appropriate levels and method of taxation to promote solvency of financial institutions;

(4) Appropriate levels and method of taxation of financial institutions to promote the formation and attraction of capitol and promote incentives for financial institutions to make appropriate levels of credit available; and

(5) How tax policy affects financial portfolios of financial institutions.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 202.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the various avenues available to the State of Nebraska which would stimulate the development of our state's economy. The study should include an inventory of the various economic development programs and initiatives now underway in Nebraska by state and local government.

The study should also examine what economic development tools other states are now using to stimulate economic growth, and how they might be applicable to Nebraska.

The study should establish an economic development model for the State of Nebraska which could be used to evaluate various development initiatives in our state and, using the development model, should evaluate the various tax incentives, jobs training programs, financing mechanisms, research and development programs, and business assistance programs which are now underway, being developed, or proposed for implementation, to ascertain their impact on Nebraska's economy.

In undertaking this study, the Committee should work with the various state, local, and federal officials active in this area, and should actively solicit input and advice from persons in the private sector concerning the viability, attractiveness, and competitiveness of various economic development alternatives.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 203.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: One important part of promoting 'economic development' in the state is the promotion of technology development and transfer, through research centers, innovation centers, incubator centers, and technical assistance centers. These projects seek to assist businesses through basic research which expands the range of human knowledge, applied research aimed at converting that knowledge into usable products, technical assistance programs designed to get usable knowledge to the people who can use it, and programs which assist inventors and entrepreneurs in establishing viable businesses to produce and sell new products.

In Nebraska a number of initiatives have been launched in recent years by state and local governments and by private firms with these aims in mind, and a number of other initiatives have been proposed. There is a need to coordinate the various initiatives now underway, and to evaluate what further initiatives would be beneficial and cost-effective. This study should seek to:

1. Inventory current research and development initiatives now underway in state and local governments and private industry in Nebraska. The inventory should group programs by their function, and should include the funding, target audience, organizational structure, and goals of each program.

2. Assess what, if any, duplicative efforts are now underway, and what, if any, areas need further attention.

3. Encourage joint efforts, and consolidate duplicative efforts wherever possible, in an attempt to increase the effectiveness of current efforts while improving efficiency.

4. Identify what efforts should be left to the private sector to eliminate unnecessary competition between the public and private sector, and what efforts are needed by government to provide services where private industry is unwilling or unable to act.

5. Consider the need for an over-arching agency to coordinate these various initiatives and programs, and consider whether such an agency would provide more visibility, greater access, and more efficiency or would merely add an unnecessary layer of bureaucracy and stifle innovative work.

6. Consider what further efforts are needed in the research and development area to strengthen Nebraska's economy, and consider what agencies or organizations should have responsibility for such efforts.

7. Investigate what functions are now being carried out by which parties, and determine what functions are best suited to the role and mission of each party.

8. Consider what types of industries should be targeted for research and development efforts, and what possible impacts targeting various industries could have on Nebraska.

9. Recommend administrative actions which could lead to more effective economic development programs.

10. Recommend statutory changes which could lead to more effective economic development programs.

11. Identify the costs of various program alternatives and the potential benefits to the state, both in the long run and the short run.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall work with knowledgeable persons from state and local government and private industry, to assist the committee in carrying out the purposes of this resolution.

3. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 204.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: The state's agricultural economy and related industries is undergoing a profound transformation, which has and will continue to create problems of severe economic dislocation. The traditional values of our state reside in the preservation of our family farms, small towns, and neighborhoods.

Cooperatives have historically emerged as an important option for people who are suffering from the consequences of economic dislocation to gain better control over their circumstances, and cooperatives can open the way to direct cooperation between our farms and our rural and urban communities by encouraging the formation of food production and consumer cooperatives. Cooperatives have also proven to be an important option for urban neighborhoods suffering from blight by providing the opportunity for decent and affordable housing, and many other consumer needs. The major obstacle confronting emerging cooperatives is the initial capitalization needed to begin.

The purpose of this resolution is to study the formation of a Cooperative Advisory and Development Council, which would:

A. Provide training and technical assistance to cooperatives and co-op groups with respect to all phases of cooperative development and administration;

B. Provide financial assistance to cooperatives and co-op groups for feasibility studies and other technical services as may be necessary in order to insure the success of new and expanding cooperative enterprises;

C. Encourage the direct linkage between farm production cooperative enterprises and food consumer cooperatives for the purpose of minimizing the costs of packaging and distribution;

D. Conduct marketing research in order to identify specialized markets in which cooperative enterprises can best serve both producers and consumers;

E. Establish a network of technical and financial resources in order to expand and increase the development of housing cooperatives;

F. Administer a Nebraska Cooperative Loan Fund (NCLF); and

G. Conduct fund raising efforts in order to increase the revenues available through the NCLF.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 205.

Introduced by Withem, 14th District; Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: In 1980 the Legislature passed LB 954, which included the adoption of the Nebraska Building Energy Conservation Standard, and in 1983 updated that standard by the adoption of LB 124. The purpose of this resolution is to study changes in building technology since 1983 which may require legislative revision of sections 81-1609 through 81-1625, and, federal legislative or administrative policy which may have subsequently impacted said sections and particularly enforcement provisions.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 206.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: To study the organizational structure of the Nebraska State Historical Society. Although the Society receives the majority of its funding from the State, its organizational structure is somewhat unique. The Society is governed by its Board, which in turn is elected by the membership. Election procedures are determined by the Society's Constitution.

The purpose of this study is to generally examine the Society's organizational structure to determine if there are any changes which might be made to help the Society better serve the State of Nebraska.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 207.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: A valid patent provides a legal monopoly in exchange for public disclosure of an invention. However, if a court later decides that the patent was improperly issued, then the invention was disclosed to competitors with no corresponding benefit. Many states are now establishing Trade Secrets Acts to provide protection to businesses for patentable or unpatentable information.

The purpose of this resolution is to examine the need for a Trade Secrets Act in Nebraska, to examine the Uniform Trade Secrets Act proposed by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, and to determine the best form for a trade secrets act in our state in order to protect commercially valuable information.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 208.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: In 1984 the Legislature passed LB 767, which established an 18-month motor fuel testing program in the Department of Agriculture, in an effort to determine the need for a permanent motor fuel testing program in Nebraska. The program consists of spot-checks and inspection-on-complaints of gasoline and gasohol sold at service stations and by pipelines to determine compliance with ASTM standards and state gasohol statutes. The purpose of this resolution is to examine the evidence gathered during this testing program and the experience of the program, and determine whether or not a permanent fuel testing/enforcement program is needed in Nebraska. Specifically, the study should address:

1. Whether, based on the samples gathered and experience in other states, a motor fuel testing program is necessary to protect the consumer or whether market forces are adequate for this protection;

2. Whether a fuel inspection program should include annual inspections of all stations, inspection on a random basis, or only inspection upon complaint;

3. What petroleum products should be tested, a select few petroleum products or all petroleum products;

4. What enforcement provisions should be part of the program, and what penalties should apply to violators;

5. What specifications should be applied to blended and unblended petroleum products, and what type of testing should be used;

6. What is an adequate turn-around time for samples tested, and what is the best way to meet that turn-around time;

7. Should the testing and analysis be done on a contractual basis, or should the state acquire equipment and perform the tests and analyses, and how would the turn-around time on samples, the adequacy of evidence in court, and the cost of the program be affected by this decision;

8. For various options which are deemed to be adequate programs, what are the estimated startup and operating costs;

9. How do these costs measure up against the anticipated protection to the consumer; and

10. How should a testing program be funded.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 209.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

PURPOSE: Over the last few years State agencies have been significantly increasing their use of computers for data processing, word processing, and various other purposes. As a result, more state employees are spending a greater part of their time using video display terminals (VDTs). Recent studies have suggested that the use of VDTs over extended periods can have serious health risks to the employee.

The purpose of this study is to examine the evidence regarding the use of VDTs and their possible health risk to employees, and to determine whether policies or guidelines should be in effect for employees who use VDTs to protect their health. If guidelines are deemed appropriate, the committee should develop and recommend such guidelines as are necessary to protect the health of state employees.

The committee should also make the evidence gathered during the study available to employers and employees in private industry, to assist them in developing such guidelines and policies as are appropriate to their place of work.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 210.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District; DeCamp, 40th District.

PURPOSE: Much of Nebraska's 'energy policy', and the Nebraska Energy Office, was established during a time of crisis, when shortages of energy sources were occurring or thought to be imminent. The current situation, at lest for the near-term, appears to be one of a relatively stable energy supply to meet the needs of Nebraskans. Given the changing nature of the energy situation, a broad reassessment of the various components and programs which make up Nebraska's 'energy policy' appears warranted. The study should include:

A. An assessment of the current energy programs operated by the Nebraska Energy Office and other agencies, to assess the current duties, responsibilities, roles, and functions, to examine whether these are still valid under current conditions, and to examine whether existing programs meet the needs of Nebraskans;

B. To examine the basic energy needs of low-income Nebraskans and the various existing programs designed to help them meet those needs, and to examine what changes in existing programs, or new programs such as state-funded weatherization or utility winter shut-off policies, are justified to meet the special needs of these Nebraskans;

C. To examine the long-term prospects for energy supplies, including both availability and price, to investigate what (if any) current policies and programs are necessary to assure adequate supplies of energy at reasonable costs to Nebraskans in the future, and to examine what steps energy suppliers are now taking in terms of long-range planning to meet future needs;

D. To examine the balance of trade problems created as a result of the importation of 95% of our energy needs, the effects of this trade deficit on our state's economy, and the need to develop in-state sources of energy to offset energy imports;

E. To investigate what progress has been made in encouraging the growth of renewable energy in Nebraska, and what further efforts may be necessary to effect a smoother transition from short-term energy sources such as petroleum and natural gas to renewable and sustainable energy sources.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 214.

Introduced by Sieck, 24th District; Beyer, 3rd District; Abboud, 12th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study benefits that direct marketing of agricultural, vegetable, and horticultural crops offer to both the producers and consumers of this state and to examine the feasibility of producing alternative crops and various other crop diversification methods. Specifically the study shall focus on:

(1) The feasibility of various state agencies providing financial, technical, and administrative assistance to producers attempting to establish direct marketing programs;

(2) Possible changes that could be made in statutes or agency rules and regulations to encourage the development of direct marketing programs;

(3) The potential of producing various alternative crops in this state and what markets could be secured for these alternative crops;

(4) Different methods of crop diversification and how such diversification could be promoted by state agencies, the Cooperative Extension Service, the University of Nebraska, and private organizations; and

(5) Present activities by state agencies, the Cooperative Extension Service, the University of Nebraska, and private organizations in the previous mentioned areas and how such activities may be better coordinated.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee of the Legislature be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 215.

Introduced by Sieck, 24th District; Carsten, 2nd District; Marsh, 29th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the Nebraska Forest Service and the value that trees, woodlands, and shelterbelts contribute toward the overall betterment of this great state.

Due to the recent trend of clearing out shelterbelts to expand farming operations, a study should be undertaken by the Nebraska Legislature to determine the value trees, woodlands, and shelterbelts have in the way of conservation, wildlife, and aesthetic pleasure. This study should determine what state programs and possible tax incentives could be implemented to help preserve our trees.

The Nebraska Forest Service offers a variety of programs to the general public in Nebraska. Since 1978, funds from the federal government have decreased fifty per cent, and there are indications that all federal assistance to state forestry agencies will soon be terminated. The Nebraska Legislature shall conduct a study of the Nebraska Forest Service, its role and mission, funding alternatives, and the impact on Nebraska citizens and on other private and public activities if its programs are eliminated.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 216.

Introduced by Lundy, 36th District; Sieck, 24th District; Baack, 47th District; Miller, 37th District; Chizek, 31st District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the Nebraska Visitors' Development Act and in particular examine the Division of Travel and Tourism in the Department of Economic Development. The lodging tax provided for in the Nebraska Visitors' Development Act generates significant revenue to finance the Division of Travel and Tourism. This study should include a review of:

(1) The expenditures by the Division of Travel and Tourism designed to promote the tourism industry in Nebraska;

(2) The services and grants the division offers to local towns and villages for the purpose of tourism promotion;

(3) The overall effectiveness of the Division of Travel and Tourism in promoting the tourism industry in this state;

(4) The feasibility of moving the Division of Travel and Tourism to some other state agency other than the Department of Economic Development; and

(5) The possibility of creating a separate tourism board or commission within state government to take over the duties of the Division of Travel and Tourism.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 217.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the feasibility of reinstating a Motor Vehicle Inspection Program in Nebraska in one form or another. Since a number of years have now passed since the Motor Vehicle Inspection Program was repealed by this body, this study should review:

(1) The impact the absence of this program has had on the public safety of Nebraska motorists;

(2) Possible changes in statutes to allow law enforcement officers to better detect and monitor mechanical deficiencies in motor vehicles; and

(3) The feasibility of implementing a Motor Vehicle Inspection Program operated by the state with state employees performing the motor vehicle inspections.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the levels and affects of nitrates in both the groundwater and surface water of this state. This study shall include a review of:

(1) Present nitrate levels in municipal wells and the relationship between nitrate levels in those wells and neighboring irrigation wells;

(2) The permissible nitrate levels and levels at which there is danger to the general public;

(3) The relationship between groundwater nitrate levels, past and present;

(4) The relationship that large commercial feedlots have on nitrate levels in the groundwater in their immediate areas;

(5) The effect potential new farming techniques will have on decreasing or increasing nitrate levels now and in the future;

(6) Educational programs that are presently offered by various government agencies and the impact these programs are having; and

(7) What are the proper methods of lowering dangerous nitrate levels and what methods are most cost-efficient and achieve the best results.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Agriculture Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 219.

Introduced by Withem, 14th District; Hartnett, 45th District; Chizek, 31st District.

WHEREAS, the organization of public school education in the State of Nebraska is a topic of considerable discussion during the 1985 session; and

WHEREAS, while school organization is important, it is not the only educational question that needs to be discussed by this Legislature; and

WHEREAS, the role of the State in the funding of public education continues to be a question that needs addressing;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Standing Committee on Education be designated to study the State's role in the funding of education and SPECIFICALLY, the State's role in distributing its resources in such a manner as to provide the opportunity for all students to receive an equal education and, as much as possible, that each student has equal financial resources supporting his education.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 220.

Introduced by Public Works Committee: Schmit, 23rd District, Chairperson; Beyer, 3rd District; DeCamp, 40th District; Harris, 27th District; Lamb, 43rd District; Lynch, 13th District; Nelson, 35th District; Smith, 33rd District.

PURPOSE: This resolution is intended to review policies, procedures, and decision-making with respect to roads and highways within the state. It has been almost 20 years since the Nebraska highway system has undergone a comprehensive study. Issues to be studied shall include but not be limited to (1) review of the process which affords the Department of Roads a 290 million dollar budget with limited legislative oversight; (2) study of current bidding procedures and to review whether current statutory provisions have been effective in limiting bid-rigging and other violations; (3) review decision-making process with respect to the construction, repair and maintenance of roads and highways in Nebraska, and a review of the procedures which are followed when highway construction fails to meet the standards for which a particular highway was constructed; (4) a review of the Highway Commission and its rules and procedures; and (5) matters related to highway safety.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Works Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 221.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

PURPOSE: The intent of this resolution is to examine the feasibility of using our renewable water resources in a manner which would generate revenue for the State of Nebraska and income for the citizens of the state. In certain areas of the state, there is an excess of surface and ground water. There is not sufficient money in the state's treasury to develop these water resources. Even if the money to develop the water resources was found, it does not appear that the benefits to be derived from irrigating farm crops would outweigh the cost of development, because of the low prices for commodities. However, in many portions of the United States, water is becoming an increasingly precious and scarce commodity. The Legislature should examine the possibility of amending the state's water use policy to allow the sale and shipment of the state's surplus water to those areas which would be willing to purchase it.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Works Committee of the Legislature shall conduct an interim study and hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Public Works Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 222.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

PURPOSE: This resolution is intended to examine issues related to the generation of electrical power within Nebraska. Because a major portion of the power generated for use by Nebraskans emanates from coal, a non-renewable energy source, this study will focus on the feasibility of generating power from renewable energy sources. The study will focus on the benefits, detriments, and feasibility of generating power from cereal grains grown within Nebraska, from hydro-electric power, from the use of biomass, from nuclear power, and from such other means as may be practicable.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Works Committee of the Legislature shall conduct an interim study and hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Public Works Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 223.

Introduced by Vickers, 38th District.

PURPOSE: In the last several years, the educational service units have become key components of the state's kindergarten through twelfth grade educational system. Historically, the educational service units have been active in pooled purchasing and distribution of education materials and equipment as well as providing instructional services in special education, music, foreign language, and gifted education and support services in nursing and other areas. With the passage of Laws 1984, LB 994 and the placement of the educational service units administratively under the State Board of Education and the creation of a broadened role in helping schools meet approval and accreditation standards and evaluate teachers, the educational service units have become an even more critical factor in assuring that quality educational services are available on a statewide basis.

Nine counties remain outside the educational service unit support network. Legislative bill 414, Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session, 1985, proposed to fill the gaps in the service network by including all counties in an educational service unit. The purpose of the study shall be to examine current and potential educational service unit boundaries in order to establish rational and usable educational service units in all parts of the state.

The study shall consider the following factors related to educational service units boundaries:

1. The needs of the service population, including the characteristics and numbers of students and school districts to be served;

2. Property tax and financing bases sufficient to meet the service needs of each unit;

3. Geographic factors including distance, physical barriers, and road and highway conditions; and

4. Any other factors necessary to rationally address the goal of insuring viable and strong educational service units.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Education Committee of the Legislature shall conduct a study to carry out the purposes of this resolution; and

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 224.

Introduced by Vickers, 38th District; Pappas, 42nd District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to initiate a study of the current organization of Nebraska public higher education to determine whether or not a reorganization is feasible and will produce a better delivery system of quality collegiate education for all Nebraska citizens. Such a study should pay particular attention to:

(1) The historical development of higher education;

(2) The role, scope, and mission of each institution and the delivery of educational programs;

(3) The effectiveness and cost of systemwide offices;

(4) The geographical service areas of each institution and the programs which are being delivered to each service area;

(5) The feasibility of cooperative programs within and between current systems of higher education and proposed systems;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Education and Appropriations Committees of the Legislature, with the Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education as staff, shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Education and Appropriations Committees shall, upon the conclusion of this study, make a report of its findings, together with recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 225.

Introduced by Barrett, 39th District; DeCamp, 40th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the procedures by which miscellaneous claims against the State of Nebraska are considered for approval or denial by the State Claims Board and the Legislature. There are currently no statutory or other formal guidelines for determining what claims are appropriate for consideration and allowance. This present situation often results in unnecessary confusion among claimants and public officials. The interim study should include an examination of the pertinent statutory provisions; an historical analysis of the types of claims allowed and disallowed; an identification of other states' claim procedures, their common characteristics and practices; and such other relevant information as may be required. The study should further include recommendations for establishing rational procedures for processing miscellaneous claims against the State of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Business and Labor Committee and the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Business and Labor Committee and the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee shall upon the conclusion of their study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 226.

Introduced by Barrett, 39th District; Vickers, 38th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine Nebraska's Workmen's Compensation law with regard to the basic intent of workmen's compensation and in comparison with other states' laws, in order to determine whether the maximum weekly income benefit amount is adequate, and whether the maximum and minimum weekly income benefit amounts and also income benefits payable to current beneficiaries, should be automatically and periodically adjusted to reflect change in the state average weekly wage and the cost of living.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Business and Labor Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Business and Labor Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 227.

Introduced by Barrett, 39th District; Hall, 7th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine issues concerning the Nebraska Employment Security Law, including whether the maximum weekly benefit amount for unemployment insurance is fair and adequate and whether it should be automatically and periodically adjusted to reflect change in the state average weekly wage and the cost of living. The study may also include consideration of possible legislation as recommended by the Department of Labor on issues within its administrative jurisdiction.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Business and Labor Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Business and Labor Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 228.

Introduced by Barrett, 39th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the feasibility of establishing a statewide, rather than the present city by city, system for the examination and licensure of plumbers in Nebraska.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 229.

Introduced by Hartnett, 45th District.

Purpose: The purpose of this resolution is to authorize the Legislature to conduct a study of the residential real estate sale and the potential problems that might arise from a lack of knowledge with regard to the rights and responsibilities of all parties (buyers, sellers and agents for either). With the increasing popularity of sales by the homeowner and dual-agency sales (with buyer and seller represented by a single real estate agent) there is a need to determine:

1) What the requirements should be with regard to disclosure of legal obligations amongst the parties;

2) What specific legal obligations should be disclosed; and

3) The role of the Real Estate Commission.

The study should involve, but not be limited to, all of these issues and should have as its ultimate goal a determination of the best way to insure that all parties to residential real estate transactions are aware of their rights and responsibilities without placing undue burdens or hardships on any of them.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Banking, Commerce, and Insurance Committee of the Legislature be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 230.

Introduced by Labedz, 5th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the following two concepts for the financial support of elementary and secondary education in Nebraska: (1) Income tax credits for parents who incur educational expenses, including tuition, at any elementary or secondary school in Nebraska; and (2) educational vouchers to be used to pay for educational expenses, including tuition, at any elementary or secondary school in Nebraska.

The study shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) What educational choices will be made available to parents under both concepts which are not, practically speaking, currently available, particularly with regard to low-income families;

(b) The effect of competition between public and private education and the benefits and detriments of diversity in educational choices for parents;

(c) The estimated cost to the state to implement either concept as compared to the present cost and estimated future costs of public education in Nebraska;

(d) The effect on the cost of elementary and secondary public education in the event the choice of private elementary and secondary education would not be available to parents in Nebraska; and

(e) The extent to which either concept will cause further government regulation of private schools.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 231.

Introduced by Wesely, 26th District.

Therefore, the Charge to the Community Health Services Task Force is to:

1) Analyze current public health services provided throughout the state;

2) investigate various alternative systems for the provision of community/public health services throughout the state;

3) develop a plan for providing community health/public services statewide, including services to be provided, costs and source of funds and quality standards.

Specific Tasks to be accomplished include, but are not limited to:

1) Develop a "Working Definition" of Community Health Services/Public Health Services, to establish a framework within which the task force will operate.

2) Review the 1990 Model Standards for Community Health Services and make recommendations regarding their implementation in Nebraska.

3) Make recommendations regarding the revision of state statutes pertaining to local health services, boards of health, etc.

4) Study and define alternative delivery systems for Community/Public Health Services, in order to develop a model departmental policy on delivery mechanisms.

5) Work cooperatively with the Department's Health Promotion programs to promote the initiation of additional community health coalitions, as an integral part of the alternative delivery systems.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 232.

Introduced by Hoagland, 6th District.

1) Methods of improvement of current criminal law and procedures.

2) Effectiveness of current criminal sanctions.

3) Current problems in law enforcement and prosecution.

4) Any other matters necessary for a proper and complete analysis of these issues.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 233.

Introduced by Sieck, 24th District; Nelson, 35th District.

PURPOSE: The agricultural economy of the state is dependent on the conservation of our soil and water resources. It has been estimated that over 200 million tons of soil are eroded annually from land within the State of Nebraska. Almost 8.5 million acres of land in the state are eroding at an annual rate in excess of the tolerable soil loss limit of 5 tons per acre, per year. Over 3 million acres of irrigated corpland needs improved irrigation water management to reduce erosion and prolong the life and maintain the quality of our ground water supplies. The loss of topsoil and water supply and quality declines could seriously curtail efforts to sustain agricultural production in the future. The current estimate of the cost of implementing the conservation practices needed in the state is 738 million dollars. Due to concern over the loss of our valuable soil and water resources, the Governor's Office, the Natural Resources Commission, the Nebraska Association of Resources Districts, the Policy Research Office, the Department of Environmental Control, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, the Soil Conservation Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the Cooperative Extension Service are presently developing a State Soil and Water Conservation Strategy. The purpose of this study is to determine the appropriate level of state funding for the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Fund.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 234.

Introduced by Harris, 27th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the public education employee retirement system, specifically with reference to current proscriptions in the school retirement system that detrimentally impact members who leave the retirement system and wish to return at a later date. Sections 79-1514 and 79-1522, Nebraska Revised Statutes, and the impact those two sections have upon individuals who wish to return to the Nebraska education and educational retirement system, should be the focus of this study.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Retirement Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Retirement Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or to the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 235.

Introduced by Harris, 27th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the opportunities for the public power industry in Nebraska to stabilize electrical rates by various positive measures. These factors may include but not be limited to load factor improvement by increased off-peak sales, load management programs, management of peak-demand cooperation in power supply planning, and seasonal exchange of power.

In addition, measures to facilitate the implementation of these and other strategies should be studied to identify whether legislation is necessary for implementation.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Works Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study and hold any public hearings necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Public Works Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council prior to the commencement of the 1986 legislative session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 236.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Education Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Education Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or to the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 237.

Introduced by Conway, 17th District.

Study economic development opportunities in northeast Nebraska

Whereas Nebraska needs continued study of methods of stimulating this state's economic climate; and

Whereas each area of Nebraska has resources and opportunities available that are unique to that region; and

Whereas the portion of the Missouri River between Gavins Point Dam and Ponca State Park currently has markedly limited levels of use; and

Whereas increased attention to economic development may yield opportunities that will increase the level of well-being in northeast Nebraska and the state as a whole.

Now, therefore be it resolved by the members of the Eighty-Ninth Legislature of Nebraska, First Session:

That the Legislature study economic development opportunities in northeast Nebraska with particular emphasis on controlled recreational usage of the Missouri River.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 238.

Introduced by Chronister, 18th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to conduct a study of the Nebraska Ground Water Quality Protection Strategy. The topics for consideration shall include, but not be limited to:

(1) Alternatives for raising revenue for emergency and remedial response fund (State Superfund) for planning and clean-up of ground water contamination when no other monies are available for such purposes;

(2) Alternative funding mechanisms to support the development and administration of programs identified within the Nebraska Ground Water Quality Protection Strategy;

(3) Identify state and local institutional arrangements necessary to implement ground water quality protection plans and special ground water protection areas.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 239.

Introduced by Chronister, 18th District.

PURPOSE: To conduct a study of present practices and problems in the disposal of solid waste in Nebraska and to review the effectiveness of the laws governing them, with emphasis on the following issues:

(1) Determination of the usage of garbage haulers or central collection by people in cities and villages;

(2) Whether cities of the second class and villages have environmentally acceptable solid waste disposal areas;

(3) In what circumstances a change in present laws would benefit cities and villages;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That such committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 66

Dear Senator Harris:

This is in response to your letter of April 3, 1985, in which you discuss problems with the distribution of child support payments as they are sent to the receiving parent. Your questions concern the authority of a county to hold payments while waiting for checks to clear, the authority to collect interest, and the disposition of that interest.

The clerks of the district courts, as the representatives of the courts, receive all payments resulting from judgments and decrees, and disburse payments to the proper parties. The general record keeping duties of the clerks of the courts are set out in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§25-2204 to 25-2214 (Reissue 1979). Section 25-2214 provides as follows: "The clerk of each of the courts shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed upon him by other provisions of this code, by other statutes, and the common law."

Sections 42-358 and 42-358.01 to 42-358.07 set out the duties of the clerks of the district courts in the collection of child support. It should be noted that the Legislature was quite specific as to the duties of the clerks of the district courts in keeping records of delinquencies (§42-358.01) and in computing interest on delinquencies, and in keeping the court informed (§42-358.02(3)). There are no specific statutes setting out time constraints in the disbursement of child support once payment (a check) is received from the obligor.

Section 24-337.03(1) sets out the duties of the clerks of the district courts in matters of money and property it has received:

> Whenever any money or other property is received by the clerk of the district court, he or she shall carefully manage it and may, when the money cannot immediately be paid out to its rightful owner, deposit the money in interest-bearing accounts in insured banking or savings institutions. Any interest accrued from such deposit shall be paid over to the county treasurer to be credited to the county general fund.

It would therefore appear that the clerk would be required to use generally sound fiscal practices in the disbursement of child support. It would follow then, that the allowance of a reasonable time for checks to clear would be proper. Conversely, issuance of child support payments without awaiting clearance of the checks could, in the case of an insufficient fund or no fund check, result in personal liability or subject the clerk to the possibility of being charged with neglect of duty due to the fact that county funds would be expended for a debt that is not an obligation of the county.

In view of the above, it is our opinion that the procedure of payment is discretionary with the clerks consistent with sound fiscal practices, and that interest which accrues is credited to the general fund pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §24-337.03(1) (Reissue 1979).

ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 67
April 19, 1985

RE: LB 453

Dear Senators DeCamp and Pappas:

You have requested our opinion as to whether LB 453 is in violation of the Nebraska Constitution and the Constitution of the United States of America. Specifically, you have questioned whether LB 453 violates the supremacy clause of the United States Constitution or is special legislation in contravention of Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution. For purposes of this analysis, we are relying on the form of LB 453 which was first read on January 21, 1985.

The first step in the analysis is to determine whether or not LB 453 violates the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution. Article I, Section 8, paragraph 3 of the United States Constitution grants to Congress the power "to regulate commerce . . . among the several states." However, in the absence of conflicting federal legislation, the states retain authority to regulate matters of legitimate local concerns even though interstate commerce may, in some manner, be affected. Lewis v. B.T. Investment Managers, Inc., 447 U.S. 27 (1980). Generally, state regulation which does not overtly discriminate against interstate commerce for the benefit of local business may survive constitutional scrutiny if narrowly drawn.

> Where the statute regulates evenhandedly to effectuate a legitimate local public interest, and its effects on interstate commerce are only incidental, it will be upheld unless the burden imposed on such commerce is clearly excessive in relation to the putative local benefits . . . If a legitimate local purpose is found, then the question becomes one of degree. And the extent of the burden that will be tolerated will of course depend on the nature of the local interest involved, and on whether it could be promoted as well with a lesser impact on interstate activities.

Pike v. Bruce Church, Inc., 397 U.S. 137, 142 (1970).

It is our opinion that LB 453 would survive constitutional scrutiny under the Commerce Clause. First, LB 453 does not discriminate between in-state and out-of-state bank holding companies. Both are prohibited from acquiring a non-bank bank. (The term non-bank bank refers to banks which do not both accept demand deposits and make commercial loans.) Secondly, the State of Nebraska has a legitimate interest in control of financial institutions within its borders. "{B}oth as a matter of history and as a matter of present commercial reality, banking and related financial activities are of profound local concern." Lewis v. B.T. Investment, supra at 38. Even though interstate attributes of banking are subject to extensive federal control, local authorities are still afforded a significant latitude in regulating financial institutions. Finally, the burden on interstate commerce proposed by LB 453 is narrowly drawn. LB 453 would only prevent acquisitions of a non-bank bank by a bank holding company. The proposed legislation would not prevent the acquisition of a non-bank bank by other out-of-state investors or investment groups. As LB 453 meets the test of Pike v. Bruce Church, it would not be a violation of the Commerce Clause.

Article VI, paragraph 2 of the United States Constitution provides that "the laws of the United States . . . shall be the supreme law of the land." If federal preemption has occurred, it would exist pursuant to Section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act. Section 4 generally prohibits bank holding companies from acquiring an interest in non-banking enterprises. However, Section 4(c)(8) allows a company, with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, to acquire shares of any company whose activities are "so closely related to banking or managing or controlling banks as to be a proper incident thereto." The Federal Reserve Board has found that a non-bank bank is an authorized non-banking subsidiary under Section 4 and has found itself constrained by Section 4 and Regulation Y to approve the acquisition of a non-bank bank by an out-of-state bank holding company. Chase Manhatten Corporation, ___ Federal Reserve Bulletin ___ (February 1985).

Section 7 of the Bank Holding Company Act provides:

> The enactment by the Congress of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 shall not be construed as preventing any state from exercising such powers and jurisdiction which it now has or may hereafter have with respect to banks, bank holding companies, and subsidiaries thereof.

The question then becomes, if Section 4 allows a bank holding company to acquire a non-banking subsidiary, with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, may the states prevent the acquisition of a non-bank subsidiary under Section 7? It is our opinion that the state may prevent acquisitions of non-bank subsidiaries by a bank holding company.

It has been held that Section 7 "applies only to state legislation that operates within the boundaries marked by the Commerce Clause." Lewis v. B.T. Investments, supra at 49. Also, it is clear that Section 7 authorizes the states to prohibit entirely bank holding companies, or multi-bank holding companies. Commercial National Bank of Little Rock v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, 451 F.2d 86 (1971). The United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit found that the Federal Reserve Board could not allow a bank holding company to acquire a subsidiary which would offer insurance services when state law did not allow a bank holding company subsidiary to engage in insurance activities. Florida Association of Insurance Agents v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, 551 F.2d 334 (1979). The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has also indicated that it would not be able to authorize the acquisition of a non-bank subsidiary by a bank holding company when such an acquisition would be prohibited by state law. Chase Manhattan Corporation, supra. We would caution that this is murky territory through which no clear path can be found. However, it is our opinion that legal authority, as it now exists, indicates that it would not be a violation of the supremacy clause for the State of Nebraska to prohibit the acquisition of a non-bank bank by a bank holding company.

The final hurdle for LB 453 to overcome is that of the question of special legislation. Article III, Section 18, states in part:

> The Legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following cases, that is to say: . . . Granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity or franchise whatsoever; . . . In all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted.

The Nebraska Supreme Court, in construing Article II, Section 18, has set forth the following standard:

> The Legislature may make a reasonable classification of persons, corporations, and property for purposes of legislation concerning them, but the classification must rest upon real differences of situation and circumstances surrounding the members of the class, relative to the subject of legislation, which render appropriate its enactment.

The Court has also said:

> The rule established by the authorities is that, while it is competent for the Legislature to classify, the classification, to be valid, must rest on some reason of public policy, some substantial difference of situation or circumstances, that would naturally suggest the justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the object classified.

United Community Services v. Omaha National Bank, 162 Neb. 786, 77 N.W.2d 576 (1956).

LB 453 prevents a bank holding company from controlling a bank, unless the bank both accepts deposits that the depositor has a legal right to withdraw on demand and engages in the business of making commercial loans. This is an attempt to close the definitional loophole in the Bank Holding Company Act which would allow an out-of-state bank holding company to acquire what is called a non-bank bank. However, specifically excluded from the prohibition are industrial loan and investment companies, licensed under Chapter 8, Article 4 of the Nebraska Revised Statutes. The problem is that an industrial loan and investment company operates substantially in the same manner as a non-bank bank. While some attributes may be different, there does not appear to be any rational, legitimate basis to allow a bank holding company to acquire an industrial loan and investment company, but not a non-bank bank.

We would also point out that §8-1509 prohibits a bank holding company from acquiring, holding, or operating a state chartered institution acquired under §§8-1506 to 8-1510 as a non-bank subsidiary under Section 4 of the Federal Bank Holding Company Act of 1956. This section would prohibit a bank holding company from acquiring an industrial loan and investment company. But for the different treatment of an industrial loan and investment company in LB 453, the proposed legislation could arguably be considered a tightening of state regulations against bank holding companies acquiring non-bank subsidiaries. However, with the exclusion of industrial loans and investment companies from its prohibitions, LB 453 may very well be in violation of Article III, Section 18 of the Nebraska Constitution as special legislation.

We understand that the Banking Committee has adopted amendments to LB 453. However, as they have not officially been attached to the bill by the full legislature, we shall not comment on those provisions at this time.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Johnson, 34th District; Vickers, 38th District; Beyer, 3rd District; Scofield, 49th District; Baack, 47th District;; Eret, 32nd District; Chronister, 18th District;

WHEREAS, Nebraska, ranking third in total commercial livestock slaughter, recognizes the importance of the cattle and hog industry upon the economy of this great state; and

WHEREAS, the American livestock producers have been adversely affected by the imports of both hogs and cattle from Canada over the last two years; and

WHEREAS, the swine industry has witnessed a dramatic increase in subsidized Canadian imports, including 447, 465 hogs in 1983 and 1,302,017 hogs in 1984, costing the American producer $4.67 per cwt or approximately 940 million dollar; and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska beef industry is facing a similar problem with Canadian imports of live cattle reaching 753,438 head in the United States in 1984 and with 16,872 Canadian cattle entering Nebraska during the first quarter of 1985; and

WHEREAS, the strong United States dollar makes the American market very attractive for Canadian beef, a factor which the American cattle producer has no control or influence on, but which punishes the American cattle producer as a result of inappropriate government policy.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the members of the Legislature recognize and support the United States Department of Commerce's preliminary ruling that the Canadian federal and provincial governments are subsidizing pork exports to the United States.

2. That the Legislature support the countervailing duties on Canadian hogs and pork products imposed by the United States Department of Commerce and request that these duties be extended indefinitely.

3. That the Legislature further urges the United States Department of Commerce to impose these same countervailing duties on imports of Canadian cattle and beef products.

4. That a penalty be imposed by the United States Department of Commerce upon any person that causes cattle or swine to be brought into the United States from Canada through any other point other than the port of entries, that the penalty on swine shall be $15 cwt and cattle shall be $20 cwt, and that the illegally imported cattle or swine shall be returned to Canadian authorities.

5. That a copy of this resolution be delivered to the Governor and to the members of the Nebraska congressional delegation.

Laid over.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 243.

Introduced by R. Johnson, 34th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study how the particulars of Nebraska's agricultural economy should best be reflected in federal farm legislation. The intent is to provide specific, regional information to guide federal congressional representatives as they fashion the 1985 Farm Bill.

The study should include, but not be limited to,

1. the effect on commodity prices of a program of mandatory production controls;

2. the formulation of mandatory production controls; whether bushels produced, rather than acres under production should be the limitation imposed, for example;

3. reactions of producers and producer groups to some kinds of mandatory production controls;

4. other enhancements to commodity prices.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture and Environment Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution;

2. That the Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations to the Legislature or the Legislative Council.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 244.

Introduced by Sieck, 24th District.

PURPOSE: In 1978 the Legislature directed the Natural Resources Commission to analyze Nebraska's water policy issues and provide policy alternatives and recommendations for those issues (LB 957 and LR 300). Since that time the Commission has completed fourteen separate reports on water policy issues and has provided alternatives and recommendations for each report. At the current time a fifteenth report is in draft form and work has begun on a final volume which summarizes all of the reports. Those reports deal with:

Water Quality
Instream Flow
Groundwater Reservoir Management
Selected Water Rights Issues
- Preferences in the Use of Water
- Drainage of Diffused Surface Water
- Water Right Adjudications
- Property Rights in Groundwater
- Riparian Rights
- Interstate Water Uses and Conflicts
- Transferability of Surface Water Rights

Municipal Water Needs
Supplemental Water Supplies
Water Use Efficiency
Water Energy Needs
Surface-Groundwater Integration (Draft)
Summary and Review (Underway)

The reports address all of the topics suggested by the Legislature and some added by the Natural Resources Commission. No further policy issue studies are scheduled at this time. Therefore, this is an appropriate time to review what action has been taken on the Commission's recommendations to the Governor and Legislature contained in those reports. It is also appropriate to consider in an orderly manner those Commission recommendations which remain unaddressed.

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall, upon the conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 245.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

RE: Study of Legislative Council Statutes

WHEREAS, Article 4 of Chapter 50 of the Nebraska Statutes contains the statutory provisions for the Legislative Council, and were originally enacted by the first session of the Unicameral

Legislature in 1937; and

WHEREAS, some of these sections contain essentially their original provisions, and the basic outline of the Legislative Council remains primarily the same as under the original 1937 legislation, many changes have been made over the years on a piecemeal basis which have created new divisions, altered the makeup, powers and role of the Executive Board, and otherwise enlarged the agency's statutory basis and framework; and

WHEREAS, a study of these statutory provisions pertaining to the Legislative Council, how they relate to other Articles of Chapter 50 involving the organization and functioning of the Legislature itself, with the view of a codification of all relevant provisions to provide a more clear and concise legal framework for the Legislative Council and its Divisions, would serve to remove any ambiguities and obsolete provisions; and

WHEREAS, a bill was introduced by the Executive Board in 1976, LB 799, "to reorganize and delineate the powers and responsibilities of the Legislative Council and the Executive Board," which bill was defeated on Final Reading primarily because of a late concern over executive-legislative relationships; and

WHEREAS, a similar project directed at a survey of the statutes pertaining to the Legislative Council, its organization, role, and responsibilities should be undertaken again after the passage of nearly a decade.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Executive Board of the Legislative Council undertake a comprehensive study of the current statutes relating to the Legislative Council, which study should consider the desirability of a codification of such statutes, including the repeal of possible obsolete provisions.

2. That this project be conducted between now and the first of December, 1985, so that the results thereof, together with specific recommendations, will be available for discussion at the general Legislative Council meeting to be held prior to the 1986 legislative session.

3. That staff support and assistance for this project will be drawn from the following divisions of the Legislative Council: Research, Revisor of Statutes, Fiscal Analyst, Clerk of the Legislature, as well as from other sources as may be necessary.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 246.

Introduced by Beutler, 28th District.

RE: Interim Study of Committee Structure and the Reference of Bills to the Appropriate Committees

WHEREAS, the role of the standing committees is significant and crucial to the legislative process in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, there has been no major study of the structure of the standing committee system since the first session of the Unicameral Legislature convened in 1937, including their jurisdiction and operations; and

WHEREAS, the changes in and additions to the problems confronting the Legislature during recent years have raised some questions in the reference of the resulting proposals to a rather static committee structure, including some concern over unequal committee workloads; and

WHEREAS, the Executive Board of the Legislative Council, now composed of ten members, has also served as the Reference Committee since 1971, and since 1973 has been assisted in performing this function by a staff member of the Research Division of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, changes made in committee nomenclature and thus inevitable alterations in Committee jurisdictions have largely been on a piecemeal basis; and

WHEREAS, a comprehensive study of the overall standing committee system, along with the procedure of referencing bills to these committees, appears to be overdue, one which would address these problems and concerns.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 71
April 24, 1985

Dear Senator Warner:

This is in response to your letter of April 18, 1985, concerning LB 271. As you point out, pursuant to Amendment 4 to the Nebraska Constitution, LB 271 would establish a different method for valuing agricultural land based on income generating capacity rather than market value. Your question is whether the Nebraska Constitution, including Amendment 4, nevertheless prohibits an individual's agricultural land from being valued at more than its fair market value.

Article VIII, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution provides in part that, "Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises, . . ." Amendment 4 was a specific exception to this provision and provided as follows: "The Legislature may provide that agricultural land and horticultural land used solely for agricultural or horticultural purposes shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation."

We cannot ignore the fact that the plain intent behind Amendment 4 was to allow agricultural land to be valued in a different manner than other property, in other words by some means other than market value. LB 271 implements Amendment 4 by doing just that, valuing agricultural land solely on the basis of its income producing capacity without regard to market value. Under LB 271 the market value of agricultural land is no longer a relevant factor and the fact that some agricultural land may receive a higher value under this method than its market value or selling price is simply no longer relevant. In short, there is nothing in the Constitution that would prohibit this result, rather to the contrary, Amendment 4 specifically permits such a result.

This is not to say, however, that the Legislature could not correct this potential problem by an amendment to LB 271. Amendment 4, of course, is only implemented by legislation, and it is this legislation which will determine the parameters for valuing agricultural land.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 72
April 24, 1985

Dear Senator Sieck:

This is in response to your letter of April 11, 1985. In that letter you ask whether the state could rebuild the All Faiths Chapel at the Nebraska Center for Women in York should it be destroyed, or in the alternative whether the state could appropriate funds to insure the same. As you point out state buildings are normally self-insured. This chapel is presently being constructed with private donations but will apparently become state property.

Your question is premised on the proposition that the First Amendment principle of separation of church and state prevented the construction of such a facility with state funds. We do not believe that this underlying proposition is necessarily correct. The First Amendment to the United States Constitution provides merely that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; . . . ." Of course this principle applies to the states as well.

The question is simply one of whether the construction of a non-denominational facility for the voluntary use of inmates at a state correctional facility with state funds constitutes the establishment of a religion. Federal case law would indicate that it does not. In Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972), Judge Rehnquist in his dissent noted as follows:

> Under the First Amendment, of course, Texas may neither "establish a religion" nor may it "impair the free exercise" thereof. Petitioner alleges that voluntary services are made available at prison facilities so that Protestants, Catholics, and Jews may attend church services of their choice. None of our prior holdings indicates that such a program on the part of prison officials amounts to the establishment of a religion.

Id. at 323-24. Likewise, in O'Hair v. Andrus, 613 F.2d 931 (D.C. Circ. 1979), the court found that some use of public property for religious services may occur without constituting an establishment of religion. In so doing the court noted that "the Naval Academy can properly provide a chapel for voluntary religious worship, notwithstanding the accessibility of Annapolis and its churches." Id at 937. See also Anderson v. Laird, 466 F.2d 283 (D.C. Circ. 1972), in which Judge Leventhal indicated that the rulings upon military chaplains justify any other aid involved in making Sunday chapel available on a voluntary basis.

The same logic that is true for military chapel facilities would apply equally to such facilities at state correctional institutions where individuals are also restricted in their ability to attend religious services outside these institutions. Merely, making a facility available, on a non-denominational basis, for the voluntary use of such individuals in the exercise of their religious beliefs would not appear to constitute the establishment of a religion as prohibited by the First Amendment. Consequently, if the state would not be prohibited from constructing such a facility, it would likewise not be prohibited from insuring such a facility or rebuilding it in the event that it was otherwise destroyed.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

(2) All hospitals and ambulatory surgical facilities shall provide notice to the public that such hospital or facility will provide an estimate of charges for medical procedures or diagnostic conditions pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. ## RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 249.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, the waters of the North Platte River arise in Colorado and gain in volume from tributary streams as the river flows through Wyoming and enters Nebraska near Henry; and

WHEREAS, the waters of the North Platte River have long been developed for irrigation, hydroelectric, and other beneficial uses by residents of Nebraska, Wyoming, and Colorado; and

WHEREAS, the waters of the North Platte River were allocated by equitable apportionment among the States of Nebraska, Wyoming, and Colorado by the United States Supreme Court in its decree of 1945 and amendment of 1953; and

WHEREAS, because the Supreme Court, in formulating its decree, recognized that in the future changing conditions may disturb the delicate balance of the river, it retained jurisdiction so that the parties to the decree could apply for amendment and further relief; and

WHEREAS, the State of Wyoming, using revenue collected from coal severance taxes, has announced its intention to construct a dam and reservoir for municipal, recreational, and fish and wildlife purposes on Deer Creek, a tributary to the North Platte River; and

WHEREAS, operation of the Deer Creek facility, if not in conformance with the provisions of the Supreme Court decree, will jeopardize the water supply of the North Platte and Platte Rivers; and

WHEREAS, Wyoming state officials have refused to comment or make commitments indicating an intent to manage and regulate the Deer Creek facility in such a manner as to not disturb the delicate balance of the river or otherwise jeopardize the water supply of the North Platte and Platte Rivers; and

WHEREAS, the Deer Creek facility potentially marks the second time, the Laramie River, Grayrocks project was first, that a project in Wyoming has proceeded independently to change the intent of the Supreme Court decree.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature requests the Governor and Attorney General to take necessary actions, either through negotiation or by application to the Supreme Court, for relief to assure that the operation of the Deer Creek facility will not disturb the delicate balance of the river or otherwise jeopardize the water supply of the North Platte and Platte Rivers.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District; DeCamp, 40th District; Lynch, 13th District; Smith, 33rd District; Lamb, 43rd District; Harris, 27th District; Beyer, 3rd District.

WHEREAS, for more than eighty years, federal law has provided that consumer-owned utilities have preference to receive electric power generated at federally owned dams with hydroelectric facilities; and

WHEREAS, such hydroelectric generating facilities are fully amortized with all debt, interest, and maintenance being paid for by the users of such federally generated electric power, with the principle of cost-based pricing being fully incorporated into this process; and

WHEREAS, there are numerous attacks on the preference principle, the most pressing being a proposal by David Stockman of the Office of Management and Budget which would attempt to raise one billion one hundred million dollars in revenues by arbitrarily increasing the cost of power from such federal dams that is sold to consumer-owned utilities in thirty-four states by:

(1) Charging current United States Treasury interest rates, on old debts financed at lower interest rates;

(2) Accelerating repayment of power and irrigation project costs; and

(3) Charging interest for the first time on irrigation project costs;

and

WHEREAS, the proposal of the Office of Management and Budget erodes the principle for cost-based pricing that is the basis for pricing all electricity in the United States, threatens the economic stability of several regions of the country including Nebraska, and burdens farmers with additional financial hardship; and

WHEREAS, while such proposal is the most serious pressing concern, other attempts may be made to further change the cost-based pricing principle, to eliminate the public preference which exists for consumer-owned systems using federal power generated from this nation's water resources, and may even include attempts to auction off this federal power to the highest bidder or to sell all federal dams and transmission facilities; and

WHEREAS, the advancement of these proposals would have a serious negative impact on the citizens of the State of Nebraska;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Legislature goes on record as being in support of the retention of preference power principles.

2. That the Nebraska Legislature goes on record in opposition to the Office of Management and Budget proposal which would raise interest rates on federally owned hydroelectric facilities, causing a first-year negative economic impact to Nebraska of approximately sixteen million dollars, which would have a significant negative impact on Nebraska's small towns and rural areas, which are already severely stressed.

3. That the Nebraska Legislature opposes any other attempts to dilute or eliminate preference power or to arbitrarily increase the costs of this federally generated hydroelectric power.

4. That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Nebraska congressional delegation, to President Reagan, to David Stockman at the Office of Management and Budget, to members of the House of Representatives and Senate budget and appropriations committees, and to the congressional delegations of all states located, as Nebraska is, within the Western Area Power Administration including Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Colorado, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Wyoming, California, and Utah.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 73
April 30, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in reply to your letter with an attachment offering the sale of tickets to what is called "The Michigan Instant Lottery". You ask if this violates any Nebraska laws. In a supplemental letter, you state that this is needed for a legislative purpose.

The material refers to a game in which you simply rub the latex coating away and you know "instantly" if you have won and the value of your prize. It also states various ticket prices, such as five tickets for $12. It refers to winners, such as under $50 and over $50, and as high as $1 million in a drawing.

We assume that all of the elements considered by the Supreme Court of Nebraska as necessary for a lottery, i.e., chance, prize and consideration, are present. As you know, under Article 11 of Chapter 28 of the Nebraska statutes and under our Constitution, gambling is prohibited, except as specifically authorized by the Constitution and by the Legislature in carrying out the constitutional provision. This advertisement does not appear to qualify for any of the exempt categories.

Neb.Rev.Stat. §28-1110 (Reissue 1979) provides as follows:

> It shall be no defense to a prosecution under any provision of this article relating to a lottery that the lottery itself is drawn or conducted outside this state and is not in violation of the laws of the jurisdiction in which it is drawn or conducted.

In addition to that, the Supreme Court of Nebraska has held in two recent cases that where the requisite elements of the completed crime are committed in different jurisdictions, any state in which an essential part of the crime is committed has jurisdiction of the offense. State v. Hilpert, 213 Neb. 564; State v. Manchester, 213 Neb. 670.

In our opinion, using the mail to send solicitation into Nebraska resulting in a person in Nebraska sending money for lottery tickets and the return of the lottery tickets to the person in Nebraska would constitute an essential part of the commission of the crime in the State of Nebraska.

The Uniform Extradition Act contains a provision that a person committing an act in one state intentionally resulting in a crime in another state may be extradited. This has been adopted by Nebraska and is contained in Neb.Rev.Stat. §29-734. A same or similar provision is contained in the laws of most other states. See also, State v. Holeb, 188 Neb. 319.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

39-6,181. (1) The Department of Roads or the Nebraska State Patrol, with respect to highways under its ~~their~~ jurisdiction including the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, and county authorities with respect to highways under their jurisdiction may in their discretion upon application and good cause being shown therefor~~,~~ issue a special permit in writing authorizing the applicant or his or her designee (a) to operate or move a vehicle, a combination of vehicles or objects of a size or weight of vehicle or load exceeding the maximum specified by law when such permit is necessary to further the national defense or the general welfare, (b) to permit movement of cost-saving equipment to be used in highway or other public construction or in agricultural land treatment, or is necessary because of an emergency, an unusual circumstance, or a very special situation, (c) to operate vehicles loaded up to ~~twenty-five~~ fifteen per cent greater than the maximum ~~gross~~ weight specified by law, or up to ten per cent greater than the maximum length specified by law, or both, when carrying grain or other seasonally harvested products from the field where they are harvested to storage, market, or stockpile in the field, or from ~~storage or~~ stockpile to market or factory when failure to move in abundant quantities would cause an economic loss to the person or persons whose product or products are being transported or when failure to move such product or products in as large quantities as possible would not be in the best interests of the national defense or general welfare, except that no permit shall authorize a weight greater than twenty thousand pounds on any single axle, or (d) to operate a vehicle or vehicles loaded at a weight ~~twenty-five~~ fifteen per cent greater than the maximum weight specified by law, when carrying garbage or refuse during and including the days of April ~~15~~ 1 to ~~July 1~~ September 30 of each year. No ~~; PROVIDED, no~~ permit shall be issued under subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subsection for a vehicle carrying a load unless such vehicle is loaded with an object which exceeds the size or weight limitations and which object cannot be dismantled or reduced in size or weight without great difficulty and which of necessity must be moved over the highways to reach its intended destination. No ~~; AND PROVIDED FURTHER, no~~ permit shall be required for the temporary movement on roads other than dustless-surfaced state highways and for necessary access to points on such highways during daylight hours of cost-saving equipment to be used in highway or other public construction or in agricultural land treatment where such temporary movement is necessary and for a reasonable distance.

(2) The application for any such permit shall specifically describe the vehicle and the load to be operated or moved and whenever possible the particular highways, roads, or streets for which permit to operate is requested, and whether such permit is requested for a single trip or for continuous operation.

(3) The department or county authority is authorized to issue or withhold such permit at its discretion; or, if such permit is issued, to limit the number of days during which the permit is valid, to limit the number of trips, ~~or~~ to establish seasonal or other time limitations within which the vehicles described may be operated on the highways indicated, or to issue a continuing permit for use only on highways other than the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways to ~~(a)~~ a manufacturer or its carrier covering all similar vehicles or products produced by such manufacturer, ~~or (b) the owner of vehicles described in subdivision (1)(c) of this section,~~ subject to reasonable conditions as to periodic renewal of such permit and as to operation or movement of such vehicles, or otherwise to limit or prescribe conditions of operation of such vehicle or vehicles, when necessary to assure against undue damage to the road foundations, surfaces, or structures or undue danger to the public safety, and may require such undertaking or other security as may be deemed necessary to compensate for any injury to any roadway or road structure.

Each such permit shall state the maximum weight permissible on a single axle or combination of axles and the total gross weight allowed. No person shall violate any of the terms or conditions of such special permit and in case of any violation, the permit shall be deemed automatically revoked and the penalty of the original limitations shall be applied unless the violation consists solely of exceeding the size or weight specified by the permit, in which case only the penalty of the original size or weight limitation exceeded shall be applied, or unless the total gross load is within the maximum authorized by the permit and no axle is more than ten per cent in excess of the maximum load for such axle or group of axles authorized by the permit and such load can be shifted to meet the weight limitations of wheel and axle loads authorized by such permit. Such shift may be made without penalty provided that such shift is made at the state or commercial scale designated in the permit. The vehicle may travel from its point of origin to such designated scale without penalty, and a scale ticket from such scale, showing the vehicle to be properly loaded and within the gross and axle weights authorized by the permit, shall be reasonable evidence of compliance with the terms of the permit.

(5) The department or county authority issuing a permit as provided in this section may promulgate rules and regulations with respect to the issuance of permits provided for in this section.

(6) The department or county authority issuing a permit may require a permit fee of not to exceed ten dollars, except ~~; PROVIDED,~~ that the fee for a continuing permit may not exceed twenty-five dollars for a ninety-day period, fifty dollars for a one hundred eighty-day period, or one hundred dollars for a one-year period. The fee for permits issued pursuant to subdivision (1)(c) of this section shall be twenty-five dollars and the permits shall be valid for thirty days. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Dear Senators:

On February 22, 1985, the Nebraska Unicameral passed Legislative Resolution 53, which requests this office to > initiate a lawsuit in the United States District Court on behalf of the State of Nebraska, seeking to enjoin the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation from enforcing its decision not to cover losses in accounts above $100,000 at the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank or, in the alternative, seeking to recover appropriate monetary damages from the FDIC for losses suffered by the State of Nebraska as a result of the FDIC's discriminatory policy.

LR 53 (1985). The FDIC allegedly discriminated against the Nebraska banks by covering the accounts at the two banks in question in a different manner than accounts at Continental Illinois National Bank and other institutions. Based upon our review of the relevant legal materials and an analysis of the facts behind the failure of the Nebraska banks and the FDIC action in the matter of Continental Illinois National Bank, we must respectfully decline to bring the requested action against the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

For the following reasons, it is our opinion that the State of Nebraska does not have a cause of action against the FDIC or, if a cause of action could be stated, the State of Nebraska would be unlikely to prevail.

The first distinction between the action taken by the FDIC in the matter of Continental Illinois National Bank and the Uehling State Bank and the State Bank of Dannebrog is the difference in the factual setting. The FDIC was appointed as receiver for the two Nebraska banks in question after they had been declared insolvent and had been taken over by the Nebraska Department of Banking and Finance. In the case of Continental Illinois, the FDIC acted to stem a run on the bank's deposit base and not to solve a problem of insufficient capital resources. Also, given the size of Continental Illinois and the large number of its correspondent banks, the FDIC acted in conjunction with the Federal Reserve Board to prevent a collapse of the bank to minimize the damage to the national banking

A reading of the statutory authority of the FDIC would indicate that it was authorized to take the action it did in the situation of Continental Illinois and was probably required to take the steps it did in the cases of the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank. Section 13(c) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act provides:

> The corporation is authorized, in its sole discretion, and upon such terms and conditions as the board of directors may prescribe, to make loans to, to make deposits in, to purchase the assets or securities of, the assume the liabilities of, or to make contributions to, any insured bank . . .

(Emphasis supplied.)

It is clear that this statute authorized the FDIC to take the action that it did and grants the FDIC broad discretion in determining which course of action to pursue. Under §13(c) (4) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, the FDIC must choose the course of action which results in the least cost to the corporation.

Because of the fraud at the Uehling State Bank, it was impossible for the FDIC to determine what course of action would result in the least cost to the corporation. Therefore, it chose to effectuate a deposit transfer. This involved taking bids from individuals and banks to be the payout agent for the FDIC. In the case of the State Bank of Dannebrog, there was a large number of claims against the bank and its bonding company. Because of the large number of contingent claims, the FDIC was unable to determine that a purchase and assumption of the bank's assets and liabilities would be cheaper than a payout and liquidation. An effort was made to effectuate a deposit transfer. However, no bids were received on the right to act as the FDIC's agent, and consequently, the FDIC paid all insured depositors directly.

Based upon the above analysis, we do not feel that it would be a proper use of the limited resources of the Attorney General's office to file a lawsuit against the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation based upon the request in Legislative Resolution 53. You may rest assured that we shall pursue all other avenues to obtain a recovery of the State's funds lost at the Uehling State Bank and the State Bank of Dannebrog. We remain

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 257.

Introduced by Haberman, 44th District.

RE: Study of the Sales Tax Exemptions for Manufacturing Equipment

Whereas the 1981 Legislature passed and the Governor signed into law LB 3 exempting from the sales tax "manufacturing and processing equipment for use directly in manufacturing or processing operations, initially installed in manufacturing facility of new construction;"

Whereas the Governor and the Revenue Department have been requested to produce a list of the firms who have used this exemption, and the amounts which have been lost due directly to these exemptions, and were unwilling or unable to produce such list as requested;

Whereas the Department of Revenue has determined as a result of audit examinations conducted of several businesses, that the applicability of the sales tax exemption has been liberally construed and even abused by private business industry;

Whereas the Department of Revenue has been provided a list of products and has been requested to identify which products qualify for the sales tax exemption, and was unable or unwilling to identify such products;

Whereas the Department of Revenue has been provided a list of new manufacturing industries announcing a Nebraska location for the years 1981-84, and the Department was unable or unwilling to identify which businesses would be eligible for the tax exemption;

Whereas the Department of Revenue was provided with a list of products to be produced by such businesses, and the Department was unable or unwilling to identify which products would qualify for the tax exemption;

Whereas the most recent estimate by the Governor and the Department of Revenue states that $27,551,000.00 has been lost through the sales tax exemption.

1. That the Revenue Committee of the Legislature investigate the utilization of the sales tax exemption for manufacturing equipment; and provide to the members of the Legislature a list of the firms which have received the exemption; and provide a list of products which did so qualify for the sales tax exemption.

Laid over.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 6, 1985

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and
Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

Engrossed Legislative Bill 709 was received in my office on April 30, 1985.

This bill was signed by me on May 6, 1985 and delivered to the Secretary of State.

LB 709 places in statute the continued operation of the Youth Development Center at Geneva. Regardless of one's position on whether we should continue this facility, this bill represents questionable practice by the Legislature. The use of the state's resources, both physical and financial, should be determined in the

At this point, the funds to continue the Center are contained in the recommendation of the Appropriations Committee. If the budget, as finally passed, remains at $847 million, it is my intention not to veto the funding.

I encourage you to approach the continued operation of the Youth Development Center through the proper vehicle ... LB 722.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 6, 1985

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am hereby returning LB 280A without my signature and with my objections.

LB 280A appropriates an additional $1.6 million in FY 86 for mental health aid and alcoholism/drug abuse aid; two existing programs within the Department of Public Institutions. I object to using this A-bill as a vehicle to supplement current funding for the two programs. If the Legislature wishes to increase funding of mental health and alcoholism/drug abuse aid programs, the more appropriate vehicle is the mainline appropriations bill, where the increase must compete with other priorities.

With the recent decline in revenues it is vital that we exercise fiscal restraint now or we will face even more difficult choices in the near future.

I urge you to sustain my veto.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 75

Dear Senator Morehead:

You have requested an Opinion from our office with regard to the constitutionality of language contained in the second final reading copy of LB 496. Specifically, you have expressed concern over the fact that the proposed rule of the road requiring operators of, and front seat passengers in, motor vehicles to wear safety belts, incorporates a definition of motor vehicle which would apply solely to vehicles sold in the State of Nebraska. Upon examining LB 496, it appears to us that such concern is well founded because in our opinion in its present form LB 496 is constitutionally suspect.

Section one of LB 496 provides in part as follows:

> As used in sections 1 and 3 to 6 of this act, motor vehicle shall mean a vehicle required by section 39-6,171 to be equipped with safety belts.

LB 496 limits the applicability of the safety belt law to motor vehicles sold in the State of Nebraska by incorporating the provisions of Neb.Rev.Stat. §39-6,171 which require that: year model or later, except ~~motor trucks~~ motorcycles, mopeds, and buses, ~~and taxicabs~~, sold in this state and operated on any highway, road, or street in this state shall be equipped with two front seat safety belts of a type which has been approved by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

LB 496 seeks to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the public on the public highways of this state by requiring that individuals who operate motor vehicles on such highways, and their front seat passengers, wear safety belts. Regulation of the use of public highways is within the police power of the Legislature. Prucha v. Department of Motor Vehicles, 172 Neb. 415, 110 N.W.2d 75 (1961). Additionally, "{i}t is competent for the Legislature to classify objects of legislation and if the classification is reasonable and not arbitrary, it is a legitimate exercise of legislative power." City of Scottsbluff v. Tiemann, 185 Neb. 256, 266, 175 N.W.2d 74, 81 (1970).

In State ex rel. Douglas v. Marsh, 207 Neb. 598, 300 N.W.2d 181 (1980), the Supreme Court of Nebraska stated that:

> {w}hile the question of classification is one primarily for the Legislature and in the exercise of this power the Legislature possesses a wide discretion, there must, nevertheless, be some rational basis for the classification.

207 Neb. at 607, 300 N.W.2d at 186. In Marsh, supra, the Supreme Court of Nebraska further stated that:

> {a} legislative classification, in order to be valid, must be based upon some reason of public policy, some substantial difference of situation or circumstances, that would naturally suggest the justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects to be classified. Classifications for the purpose of legislation must be real and not illusive; they cannot be based on distinctions without a substantial difference.

207 Neb. at 609, 300 N.W.2d at 187 (emphasis in original).

No real difference exists between motor vehicles sold in Nebraska and those sold elsewhere, for purposes of implementing mandatory safety belt legislation. If the true purpose of the safety belt law, LB 496, is to protect the health, safety, and welfare of members of the public as they travel on the highways of this state, the classification of motor vehicles sold in this state, as distinguished from motor vehicles sold elsewhere, for purposes of the mandatory safety belt legislation, is unreasonable, arbitrary, and unrelated to the public interest. Application of the safety belt law solely to vehicles sold in the State of Nebraska creates a classification which is not rationally related to the purpose of LB 496, and would, therefore, be constitutionally suspect.

Sincerely,

ROBERT M. SPIRE

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 258.

Introduced by Pappas, 42nd District; Hartnett, 45th District; Goodrich, 20th District; DeCamp, 40th District; Chambers, 11th District; V. Johnson, 8th District; Haberman, 44th District; Marsh, 29th District; Schmit, 23rd District; Scofield, 49th District; Beutler, 28th District; Higgins, 9th District; Lundy, 36th District.

A Resolution Proposed for Adoption by the Nebraska Legislature Regarding Winnebago Retrocession

WHEREAS, pursuant to Public Law 280, the State of Nebraska was granted criminal and civil jurisdiction over the Winnebago Indian Reservation in 1953; and

WHEREAS, the assumption of state jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation has led to steadily increasing costs for civil and criminal law enforcement in Thurston County, such costs falling heavily upon the taxpayers of Nebraska and Thurston County since the federal government has wholly failed to provide federal financial assistance for P.L. 280 law enforcement; and

WHEREAS, due to the tax-exempt status of tribal trust land and individual Indian allotments on the Winnebago Reservation, Thurston County has not had a sufficient tax base to meet the ever-increasing costs of law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation; and

WHEREAS, since 1957 state assistance has been provided for law enforcement purposes in Thurston County, and the cost of this assistance has increased each biennium; and

WHEREAS, Public Law 90-284 adopted as an Act of Congress on April 11, 1968, contains a number of provisions dealing with civil rights and jurisdiction of Indians; and

WHEREAS, Section 403(a) of Public Law 90-284 provides that the United States is authorized to accept a retrocession of all or any measure of the jurisdiction acquired by a state pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953; and

WHEREAS, the Winnebago Tribe has petitioned the State of Nebraska to effectuate a partial retrocession of criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation to the United States and has demonstrated the capability to assume its portion of associated responsibilities; and

WHEREAS, the Bureau of Indian Affairs has confirmed that it will detail law enforcement personnel to the Winnebago Reservation immediately upon the effective date of retrocession, thereby assuring that a law enforcement "vacuum" will not result.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby retrocedes criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation acquired by the State of Nebraska pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953, except as provided in paragraph 2 of this resolution. Such retrocession shall be effective commencing 12:01 A.M., July 1, 1985.

2. That the Winnebago Tribe shall have jurisdiction to prosecute Indians committing offenses involving the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways and roadways within the exterior boundaries of the Winnebago Reservation, and the State of Nebraska shall have jurisdiction to prosecute non-Indians committing similar offenses.

3. That the State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall take all necessary action to effectuate this resolution, including cooperative agreements with the Winnebago Tribe, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and/or the Department of Interior deemed by the affected parties to be necessary to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of criminal law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation and in Thurston County.

Laid over.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Mr. Hoagland asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 727 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM1259

1. Strike the original section and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 77-3509.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.01. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509, who transfers the ownership of such homestead and becomes the owner of another homestead within the county prior to September 15 during the year for which the exemption was granted, may file an application with the county assessor, on or before September 15 of such year, for a transfer of the exemption to the new homestead. The county assessor shall examine each application and determine whether or not the new homestead, except for the January 1 occupancy requirement, is a homestead as defined in section 77-3502. If the application is approved by the county assessor, he or she shall make a deduction upon the assessment rolls using the same criteria as previously applied to the original homestead. The county assessor may allow the application for transfer to also be considered an application for a homestead exemption for the subsequent year.

Sec. 2. That section 77-3509.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.02. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, if the owner of any homestead granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 transfers the ownership of such homestead on or before September 15 of any year pursuant to section 77-3509.01 and makes the application for transfer of the homestead exemption and such application is approved, the exemption shall be disallowed for such year as applied to the original homestead if the exemption was granted based on the status of such owner.

Sec. 3. That section 77-3510, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3510. On or before January 1 of each year, the Tax Commissioner shall prescribe suitable blank forms to be used by all claimants for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption. Such forms shall contain provisions for the showing of all information which the Tax Commissioner may deem necessary to (1) enable the proper county officials to determine whether each claim for exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508~~,~~ and 77-3509 should be allowed, (2) enable the Tax Commissioner to determine whether each claim for exemption under section 77-3507 should be allowed, and (3) enable the county assessor to determine whether each claim for transfer of homestead exemption pursuant to section 77-3509.01 should be allowed. It shall be the duty of the county assessor of each county in this state to furnish such forms, upon request, to each person desiring to make application for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption on property located within that county. The forms so prescribed shall be used uniformly throughout the state and no application for exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption shall be allowed unless the applicant uses the regularly prescribed form in making an application.

Sec. 4. That section 77-3512, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3512. It shall be the duty of each owner who applies for the homestead exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 to file an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the homestead is located after January 1 and on or before April 1, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for that year.

Sec. 5. That section 77-3513, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3513. (1) If an owner is granted a homestead exemption as provided in section ~~77-3506.01 or~~ 77-3509 or subdivision (2), (3), (4), or (5) of section 77-3508, the homestead exemption as to such property shall remain in full force and effect for each succeeding year without reapplication if the same owner is in all respects entitled to the same exemption granted under the provisions of sections 77-3501 to 77-3529. Once a qualified claimant has filed an application for homestead exemption and the exemption has been granted for that year, no reapplication need be filed for succeeding years, in which case the county assessor and Tax Commissioner shall determine whether the claimant shall qualify for the homestead exemption in such succeeding years as otherwise provided in sections 77-3501 to 77-3529 as though a claim were made.

(2) It shall be the duty of each claimant who wants the homestead exemption provided in subdivision (1) of section 77-3508 to file an application therefor with the county assessor on or before April 1 of each year, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for such year.

Sec. 6. That section 77-3514, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3514. The owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 shall notify the county assessor by March 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding year. For purposes of this section, change in the homestead exemption status shall include any change in the name of the owner, ownership, residence, marital status, veteran status, rating by the Veterans' Administration, or any other change that would affect the qualification for or type of exemption granted, except income checked by the Tax Commissioner under section 77-3517. In addition, in counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 may notify the county assessor by September 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding portion of the calendar year as a result of a transfer of the homestead exemption pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02. If by his or her failure to give such notice any such property owner permits the allowance of the homestead exemption for any succeeding year, or in the year of application in the case of transfers pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02, after the homestead exemption status of such property has changed, an amount equal to the amount of the taxes lawfully due but not paid by reason of such unlawful and improper allowance of homestead exemption, together with penalty and interest on such total sum as provided by statute on delinquent ad valorem taxes, shall be due and shall upon entry of the amount thereof on the books of the county treasurer be a lien on such property while unpaid. Such lien may be enforced in the manner provided for liens for other delinquent taxes. Any person who has permitted the improper and unlawful allowance of such homestead exemption on his or her property shall as an additional penalty also forfeit his or her right to a homestead exemption on any other property in this state for the two succeeding years.

Sec. 7. That section 77-3516, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3516. The county assessor shall examine each application for homestead exemption filed with him or her for an exemption pursuant to section ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508, or 77-3509 and shall determine whether or not such application should be approved or rejected and, if approved, determine the amount of the exemption. If the application is approved, the county assessor shall mark the same approved and show thereon the amount of exemption allowed and make the proper deduction upon the assessment rolls. In case he or she finds that the exemption should not be allowed by reason of not being in conformity to law, the county assessor shall mark the application rejected and state thereon the reason for such rejection. In any case when the county assessor disallows or reduces an application for exemption, he or she shall notify the applicant of such action by mailing written notice to the applicant at the address shown in the application, which notice shall be mailed not later than the fourth Monday in April of each year and shall be on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner. All applications for exemption, showing thereon the action of the county assessor, shall be delivered to the county board of equalization on or before the fourth Monday of April of each year.

Sec. 8. That original sections 77-3509.01, 77-3509.02, 77-3510, 77-3512 to 77-3514, and 77-3516, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, and also sections 77-3506.01 and 77-3516.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, are repealed.".

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 262.

Introduced by Hoagland, 6th District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the manner by which attorneys are utilized in the executive branch of state government. Neb. Rev. Stat. §84-202 (Reissue 1981) provides that "The Department of Justice shall have general control and supervision of all actions and legal proceedings in which the State of Nebraska may be a party or may be interested, and shall have charge and control of all the legal business of all departments and bureaus of the state, or of any office thereof, which requires the services of attorney or counsel in order to protect the interests of the state." Yet many state agencies and departments employ legal counsel independent of the Department of Justice who handle legal business on behalf of the state, including appearances in court. In order to accomplish its purpose this study may include but shall not be limited to the following topics:

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 7, 1985

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature

State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Senators:

I am returning LB 552 and LB 552A without my signature and with my objections.

LB 552 would establish a procedure to attempt to collect the sales and use tax on out-of-state mail order purchases of goods by Nebraska residents. Although the bill identifies a problem for Nebraska and other states in sales tax collection, I cannot support the bill.

LB 552 would be difficult to enforce. It is possible that the cost of administering the bill would be greater than the revenue it would generate. Along with this, there are constitutional questions about the bill.

However, I commend Senator Hefner for identifying and attempting to address the lack of proper tax payment on purchases made from out-of-state retailers. The impact of this loss of revenue is severe. U.S. News and World Report in a recent article estimated that the 50 states may be losing as much as 1.6 billion dollars in tax revenue this year from untaxed purchases through mail order sales. In Nebraska, the estimates of revenue lost range from a low of seven million to a high of 17 million dollars in sales tax.

I will remain in close contact with Senator Hefner and direct the Nebraska Department of Revenue to study with him and the Revenue Committee as they continue to seek an effective solution to this serious loss of revenue in Nebraska. At this time, I cannot support the provisions of LB 552. If after study this summer this optional method proves Nebraska's only recourse, I might support such an approach in the future.

I urge you to sustain my veto of these bills.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 76
May 6, 1985

Dear Senator Schmit:

We have reviewed LB 608 in response to your March 20, 1985 letter asking for an opinion whether the retroactive provisions of the bill are unconstitutional.

The provisions in question would increase workmen's compensation benefits for persons injured prior to the effective date of the act. The most serious question arises with respect to the constitutional provision prohibiting the enactment of laws impairing the obligation of contracts, Article I, Section 16, Nebraska Constitution. Generally, the Nebraska Supreme Court has held that statutes may not operate retrospectively where they would impair obligations of contracts or interfere with vested rights. Travelers Insurance Co. v. Ohler, 119 Neb. 121, 227 N.W. 449.

The Court has further held with respect to the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Act that the parties are entitled to a final determination of the character of the disability, the full amount to be recovered, and the times when this amount shall be paid, Dymak v. Haskins Brothers, 132 Neb. 308, 271 N.W. 860 (1937), and that in determining the effect of substantive provisions of the Act, it shall be construed as it was at the time of the injury. Solomon v. A.W. Forney, Inc., 136 Neb. 338, 286 NW. 254 (1939).

We find no Nebraska cases with the same factual basis. While the Delaware case of Price v. All American Engineering Co., 320 A.2d 336 (Del.Supr. 1974) approved retroactive cost of living adjustments for prior awards, we do not find such approval in other states. Price found no constitutional problems reasoning that the relationship between the parties was statutory and not contractual.

Other states have specifically rejected Price, including Maryland in Cooper v. Wicomico County, 398 A.2d 1237 (Md. 1979). The Maryland Court found that an increase in the amount payable to a worker under a prior disability award unconstitutionally disturbed contractual and other vested rights of the worker's employer and the employer's insurer. Similarly, in State ex rel. Briggs & Stratton v. Noll, 100 Wis.2d 650, 302 N.W.2d 489 (1981), the court held that retroactive increases in workmen's compensation benefits unconstitutionally affected obligations and vested rights of employers set by prior law.

We believe the general rule is that such retroactive increases are unconstitutional under the usual impairment of contract provisions and that the Nebraska Supreme Court would probably follow that rule. Having determined that the proposal would probably be held unconstitutional with respect to Article I, Section 16, of the Nebraska Constitution, it is unnecessary to reach the due process question.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Mr. Hefner asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 153 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM1172

1. Insert the following new section:

"Sec. 2. That section 60-407, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

60-407. (1) No license or permit to operate a motor vehicle shall be granted to any applicant until such applicant satisfies the examiner that he or she possesses, with or without the aid of glasses, sufficient powers of eyesight to enable him or her to operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this state with a reasonable degree of safety. If, from the examination given any applicant, it appears that the applicant's powers of eyesight are such that he or she cannot operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this state with a reasonable degree of safety, the examiner shall require the applicant to present a doctor's or optometrist's certificate to the effect that the applicant has sufficient powers of eyesight for such purpose before issuing a license to the applicant. If it is indicated by the examination by the examiner or by the doctor's or optometrist's certificate that the applicant must wear glasses to meet the minimum visual standards set by the department, then the applicant shall have the use of any license issued to him or her restricted to wearing glasses while operating a motor vehicle. If the application to operate a motor vehicle required by this act discloses that the applicant for such license suffers from any other physical defect or defects of a character which may affect the safety of operation by such applicant of a motor vehicle, the examiner shall require the applicant to show cause why such license should be granted and, through such personal examination and demonstration as may be prescribed by the director, to show the necessary ability to safely operate a motor vehicle on the public highways. If the examiner is satisfied, after the demonstration, that such applicant has the ability to safely operate a motor vehicle, an operator's license may be issued to the applicant subject, at the discretion of the director, to a limitation to operate only such motor vehicles at such time, for such purpose, and within such area as the license shall designate. The director may, at the request of a law enforcement officer or when he or she has reason to believe that a person may be physically or mentally incompetent to operate a motor vehicle or a person's driving record appears to the department to justify an examination, give notice to the holder of an operator's license to appear before an examiner for examination to operate a motor vehicle safely. A refusal to appear before an examiner for an examination shall be unlawful. If the license holder cannot qualify at the examination, his or her operator's license shall be immediately surrendered to the examiner and forwarded to the director who shall cancel his or her license and privilege to operate a motor vehicle. Refusal to appear before an examiner for examination after notice to do so or to surrender an operator's license on demand shall be unlawful and any person failing to surrender his or her operator's license as required by the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor. No operator's license referred to in this subsection shall, under any circumstances, be issued to any person who has not attained the age of sixteen years but, upon application therefor and proof of age in the manner provided in subsection (3) of this section, any such person may take the examination required by this subsection at any time within sixty days prior to his or her sixteenth birthday.

(2) A person who has not attained the age set forth in subsection (1) of this section but is over the age of fourteen years may be issued, by the county treasurer, a limited permit to drive a motor vehicle, moped, or motorcycle (a) to and from the school building where he or she attends school, by the nearest highway or street from his or her place of residence, if such child lives a distance of one and one half miles or more from such school and either resides outside a metropolitan, primary, or first-class city or attends a school which is outside a metropolitan, primary, or first-class city and (b) if such person is employed or lives on a farm, to and from the farm where he or she is employed or between sections of farmland where he or she lives or is employed, by the nearest highway or street. Such limited permit shall be used for the sole purpose of transporting such person to attend school or to work on the farm as prescribed in subdivision (b) of this subsection, except that the holder of the permit may drive under the personal supervision of his or her parents or guardian. A permit shall not be issued until such person has appeared before an examiner to demonstrate that he or she is capable of successfully operating a motor vehicle or motorcycle and has in his or her possession an examiner's certificate authorizing the county treasurer to issue a school permit. Any such person desiring such limited permit may first obtain a learner's permit from the county treasurer, which permit shall be valid for a period of two months. While holding the permit, the person may operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this state if he or she has seated next to him or her a person who is a licensed operator or, in the case of a motorcycle or moped, if he or she is within visual contact with and is under the supervision of a person who, in the case of a motorcycle, is a licensed motorcycle operator or, in the case of a moped, is a licensed motor vehicle operator. Such licensed motor vehicle or motorcycle operator shall either be a parent or guardian of the child or a person over the age of nineteen years who is authorized in writing by the child's parent or guardian to supervise the actions of the child in operating the vehicle. Prior to issuance of a learner's permit it shall be required that such person demonstrate that he or she has sufficient powers of eyesight to safely operate a motor vehicle or motorcycle.

(3) Each individual who is making an application for his or her first operator's license or a limited or learner's permit must furnish proof of age and name by a legal document, a learner's permit, a school permit, a birth certificate, a valid operator's license from another state, military papers, passport papers, immigration papers, alien registration papers, an affidavit, or written information signed by a parent or guardian of the applicant. The applicant may be required to furnish proof to the examiner that the parent or guardian signing any written information is in fact the parent or guardian of such applicant. All licenses, and limited permits issued pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, shall be subject to revocation under the terms of section 60-427 and any person who violates the terms of such license or limited permit shall be deemed guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

(4) Any person who has attained the age of fifteen years or more may obtain a learner's permit from the county treasurer which shall be valid for a period of twelve months and he or she may operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this state if he or she is accompanied at all times by a licensed operator who is at least nineteen years of age and who is actually occupying the seat beside the driver or, in the case of a motorcycle or moped, if he or she is within visual contact with and under the supervision of, in the case of a motorcycle, a licensed motorcycle operator or, in the case of a moped, a licensed motor vehicle operator. Any person who has attained the age of fourteen years may operate a motor vehicle over the highways of the state if he or she is accompanied or, in the case of a motorcycle or moped, supervised at all times by a licensed operator who shall be a high school driver training instructor certified by the Commissioner of Education.

(5) Any person who is thirteen years of age or older and resides upon a farm in this state or who is fourteen years of age or older and who is employed for compensation upon a farm in this state may obtain a special permit authorizing the operation of farm tractors and other motorized implements of farm husbandry upon the public highways and roads of this state, if the applicant for such a restricted permit furnishes to a license examiner satisfactory proof of age and satisfactorily demonstrates to the examiner that he or she has knowledge of the operation of such equipment and of the rules of the road and laws respecting the operation of motor vehicles upon the highways and public roads of this state. Any person under sixteen years of age but not less than thirteen years of age may obtain a temporary permit to operate such equipment for a six-month period after presentation to the Department of Motor Vehicles of a request for the temporary permit signed by the person's parent or guardian and payment of five dollars. After the expiration of the six-month period it shall be unlawful for any person under sixteen years of age to operate such equipment upon the public highways and roads of this state unless he or she has been issued a special permit under the provisions of this subsection. The fee for such special permit shall be five dollars and the special permit shall be subject to revocation for cause.

(6) The county treasurer shall collect a fee of three dollars from each successful applicant for a school or learner's permit.".

a. On page 2, line 7, strike "3" and insert "4"; and

b. On page 3, line 11, after "39-669.16," insert "60-407,".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 77
May 8, 1985

Dear Senators Rupp and Labedz:

This is in response to your letter of May 6, 1985, concerning Legislative Resolution 81. This resolution proposes that the Legislature approve a gift of land to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission and further provides that the land shall be used as a state park to be named after the current Game and Parks Commission Director Eugene T. Mahoney.

As you point out, Neb.Rev.Stat. §81-1108.36 (Reissue 1981) provides that:

> Except when sites or structures are named by statute, the administrator, after considering any recommendations of the State Building Advisory Commission, shall review the proposals of the various agencies and commissions for the naming of state-owned or leased sites or structures. Unless otherwise provided by statute, sites or structures shall not be named for citizens who are active elected officials or active employees of the State of Nebraska.

Mr. Mahoney is of course a state employee. Your question then is simply whether LR 81 could be considered a statute as that term is used in Neb.Rev.Stat. §81-1108.36.

We think not. A resolution is generally considered to be only an expression of opinion by the Legislature and does not rise to the status of a law. Black's Law Dictionary sets forth this distinction as follows:

> The term is usually employed to denote the adoption of a motion, the subject-matter of which would not properly constitute a statute; such as a mere expression of opinion; an alteration of the rules; a vote of thanks or of censure, etc. . . .
> The chief distinction between a "resolution" and a "law" is that the former is used whenever the legislative body passing it wishes merely to express an opinion as to some given matter or thing and is only to have a temporary effect on such particular thing, while by a "law" it is intended to permanently direct and control matters applying to persons or things in general.

There is a substantial body of case law from other jurisdictions which would support the distinction that a resolution is not a law but merely a form in which a legislative body expresses an opinion. See, Baker v. City of Milwaukee, 271 Or. 500, 533 P.2d 772 (1975), Village of Altamont v. Baltimore and O.S.W. Railway Company, 94 Ill. 47, 56 N.E. 340 (1900), and 73 Am.Jur.2d Statutes §3. In this regard, it must be understood that the term "statute" and "law" are synonymous in this respect. The ordinary meaning of the word "statute" is a "law" established by legislative authority. Foster v. Brown, 199 Ga. 444, 34 S.E.2d 530 (1945). Thus we must conclude that the only way in which the park could be named for the current Game and Parks Director would be through a proper statutory enactment and not by the passage of a legislative resolution.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Mr. Hoagland asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 727 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM1344

1. Strike the original section and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 77-3509.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.01. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509, who transfers the ownership of such homestead and becomes the owner of another homestead within the county prior to September 15 during the year for which the exemption was granted, may file an application with the county assessor, on or before September 15 of such year, for a transfer of the exemption to the new homestead. The county assessor shall examine each application and determine whether or not the new homestead, except for the January 1 occupancy requirement, is a homestead as defined in section 77-3502. If the application is approved by the county assessor, he or she shall make a deduction upon the assessment rolls using the same criteria as previously applied to the original homestead. The county assessor may allow the application for transfer to also be considered an application for a homestead exemption for the subsequent year.

Sec. 2. That section 77-3509.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.02. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, if the owner of any homestead granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 transfers the ownership of such homestead on or before September 15 of any year pursuant to section 77-3509.01 and makes the application for transfer of the homestead exemption and such application is approved, the exemption shall be disallowed for such year as applied to the original homestead if the exemption was granted based on the status of such owner.

Sec. 3. That section 77-3510, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3510. On or before January 1 of each year, the Tax Commissioner shall prescribe suitable blank forms to be used by all claimants for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption. Such forms shall contain provisions for the showing of all information which the Tax Commissioner may deem necessary to (1) enable the proper county officials to determine whether each claim for exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508~~,~~ and 77-3509 should be allowed, (2) enable the Tax Commissioner to determine whether each claim for exemption under section 77-3507 should be allowed, and (3) enable the county assessor to determine whether each claim for transfer of homestead exemption pursuant to section 77-3509.01 should be allowed. It shall be the duty of the county assessor of each county in this state to furnish such forms, upon request, to each person desiring to make application for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption on property located within that county. The forms so prescribed shall be used uniformly throughout the state and no application for exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption shall be allowed unless the applicant uses the regularly prescribed form in making an application.

Sec. 4. That section 77-3512, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3512. It shall be the duty of each owner who applies for the homestead exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 to file an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the homestead is located after January 1 and on or before April 1, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for that year.

Sec. 5. That section 77-3513, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3513. (1) If an owner is granted a homestead exemption as provided in section ~~77-3506.01 or~~ 77-3509 or subdivision (2), (3), (4), or (5) of section 77-3508, the homestead exemption as to such property shall remain in full force and effect for each succeeding year without reapplication if the same owner is in all respects entitled to the same exemption granted under the provisions of sections 77-3501 to 77-3529. Once a qualified claimant has filed an application for homestead exemption and the exemption has been granted for that year, no reapplication need be filed for succeeding years, in which case the county assessor and Tax Commissioner shall determine whether the claimant shall qualify for the homestead exemption in such succeeding years as otherwise provided in sections 77-3501 to 77-3529 as though a claim were made.

(2) It shall be the duty of each claimant who wants the homestead exemption provided in subdivision (1) of section 77-3508 to file an application therefor with the county assessor on or before April 1 of each year, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for such year.

Sec. 6. That section 77-3514, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3514. The owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 shall notify the county assessor by March 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding year. For purposes of this section, change in the homestead exemption status shall include any change in the name of the owner, ownership, residence, marital status, veteran status, rating by the Veterans' Administration, or any other change that would affect the qualification for or type of exemption granted, except income checked by the Tax Commissioner under section 77-3517. In addition, in counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 may notify the county assessor by September 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding portion of the calendar year as a result of a transfer of the homestead exemption pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02. If by his or her failure to give such notice any such property owner permits the allowance of the homestead exemption for any succeeding year, or in the year of application in the case of transfers pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02, after the homestead exemption status of such property has changed, an amount equal to the amount of the taxes lawfully due but not paid by reason of such unlawful and improper allowance of homestead exemption, together with penalty and interest on such total sum as provided by statute on delinquent ad valorem taxes, shall be due and shall upon entry of the amount thereof on the books of the county treasurer be a lien on such property while unpaid. Such lien may be enforced in the manner provided for liens for other delinquent taxes. Any person who has permitted the improper and unlawful allowance of such homestead exemption on his or her property shall as an additional penalty also forfeit his or her right to a homestead exemption on any other property in this state for the two succeeding years.

Sec. 7. That section 77-3516, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3516. The county assessor shall examine each application for homestead exemption filed with him or her for an exemption pursuant to section ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508~~,~~ or 77-3509 and shall determine whether or not such application should be approved or rejected and, if approved, determine the amount of the exemption. If the application is approved, the county assessor shall mark the same approved and show thereon the amount of exemption allowed and make the proper deduction upon the assessment rolls. In case he or she finds that the exemption should not be allowed by reason of not being in conformity to law, the county assessor shall mark the application rejected and state thereon the reason for such rejection. In any case when the county assessor disallows or reduces an application for exemption, he or she shall notify the applicant of such action by mailing written notice to the applicant at the address shown in the application, which notice shall be mailed not later than the fourth Monday in April of each year and shall be on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner. All applications for exemption, showing thereon the action of the county assessor, shall be delivered to the county board of equalization on or before the fourth Monday of April of each year.

Sec. 8. That section 77-3523, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3523. The county treasurer shall, on or before November 30 of each year, certify to the Tax Commissioner the total tax revenue that will be lost to all taxing agencies within his or her county from taxes

The Tax Commissioner shall, on or before January 1 next following such certification or within thirty days of any amendment to the certification, notify the Director of Administrative Services of the amount so certified. Each county certification shall be distributed in six as nearly as possible equal monthly payments between the fifth and twentieth day of each month beginning January 1977, and each January thereafter. The State Treasurer shall, between the fifth and twentieth day of each month, notify the Director of Administrative Services of the amount of funds available in the General Fund for payment purposes. The Director of Administrative Services shall, upon receipt of such notification, draw warrants against funds appropriated. Out of the amount so received the county treasurer shall distribute to each of the taxing agencies within his or her county the certified amount so lost by such agency, except (1) that one per cent of such amount shall be deposited in the county general fund and (2) that the full amount due a Class V school district shall be paid to the district and the county shall be compensated pursuant to section 14-554. Each taxing agency shall, in preparing its annual budget, take into account the amount to be received under this section.

Sec. 9. That section 77-3525, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3525. All revenue which shall be certified under section 77-3523 as lost to taxing agencies as a result of the provisions of Chapter 77, article 35, shall be considered an express obligation of the state for the purpose of setting the sales and income tax rates under section 77-2715.01.

Sec. 10. Sections 8, 9, and 12 of this act shall become operative on their effective date and the remaining sections shall be operative for all taxable years commencing on or after January 1, 1986.

PRESENTED TO THE GOVERNOR

Presented to the Governor on May 8, 1985, at 1:36 p.m., was the following bill: 233.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 263.

Introduced by Hartnett, 45th District; Lundy, 36th District.

Purpose: Principal arguments, both for and against changes in the various public employee retirement systems in Nebraska, center around benefit and cost differentials. Whether one works for the state, county, or city, the applicable system may offer different benefits for employees performing the same essential functions.

There are also different degrees of latitude offered governing bodies of governmental subdivisions as to additional or supplemental benefits that can be offered or negotiated. Some bodies that are "locked into" state systems have decided to make use of Deferred Compensation legislation (Sec. 48-1401) as a means of informally improving pension plans.

A study should be undertaken to determine the following:

1) The extent of pension plan cost and benefits differentials between governmental subdivisions for jobs of the same type,

2) The extent to which governmental subdivisions are using deferred compensation to supplement pension programs, and the wisdom of continuing to do so,

3) The impact of cost and benefit differentials between governmental subdivisions upon employment trends (costs of training, lost manpower, etc.), and

4) Potential solutions to ameliorate differentials; for example,

a) permitting greater flexibility to the individual subdivision to provide supplemental benefits, or

b) equalizing pension costs and benefits for workers performing jobs of the same type, regardless of which subdivision the worker is employed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Retirement Systems Committee of the Legislature be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall, upon conclusion of its study, make a report of its findings together with its recommendations to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.
