UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Mr. DeCamp asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 713 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

(AS AMENDED BY THE COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS - AM 1232)

1. Strike the original sections and insert the following new sections:

Sec. 1. For the purposes of sections 1 to 5:

(1) Contract claim shall mean Miscellaneous Claim Number 312-Department of Banking and Finance of the State of Nebraska, receiver for Commonwealth Savings Company, insolvent, also described as the claim asserted against the Department of Banking by the receiver and certain others; and

(2) Tort claim shall mean Claim Number 4-302 Department of Banking and Finance of the State of Nebraska, receiver for Commonwealth Savings Company, insolvent, also described as the claim asserted against the state by the receiver in the Lancaster County District Court.

Sec. 2. After carefully considering the facts, information and advice provided to it in connection with the insolvency of Commonwealth Savings Company, the Legislature determines that the tort claim does not have a valid legal basis and is not meritorious, but that notwithstanding such determination, it may be in the best interests of the state to effect a complete, final and binding resolution of the matter. Toward that end, the Legislature finds that the tort claim should be allowed and paid in the amount of $8,500,000 as full settlement of any and all claims, demands or causes of action against the State of Nebraska or the Department of Banking and Finance or against its past, present and successor officers, officials, agents or employees, either in their official or individual capacities. The tort claim shall be paid in such manner, and subject to such conditions, as may be provided by the Legislature in LB 713A.

Sec. 3. After carefully considering the facts, information and advice provided to it in connection with the insolvency of Commonwealth Savings Company, the Legislature determines that the contract claim does not have a valid legal basis and is not meritorious, but that notwithstanding such determination, it may be in the best interests of the state to effect a complete, final and binding resolution of the matter. Toward that end, the Legislature finds that the contract claim should be allowed and paid in the amount of $12,000,000 as full settlement of any and all claims, demands or causes of action against the State of Nebraska or the Department of Banking and Finance, or against its past, present and successor officers, officials, agents or employees, either in their official or individual capacities. However, since the merits of the contract claim have not been subject to the same rigorous judicial scrutiny as the tort claim, payment of the contract claim shall be conditioned upon a finding by the Nebraska Supreme Court that, based upon consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, including the Legislature's adoption of LR 41, such payment or the manner and conditions of payment provided in LB 713A, (1) does not violate any provisions of Nebraska law or the Nebraska Constitution; (2) is justified by a conclusion that, under the theory of recovery espoused by the claimant to support the contract claim, the amount of the claim for settlement purposes bears a reasonable relationship to the probable judgment which would be obtained if the contract claim was to be litigated; and (3) is not precluded by any other settlement, compromise or release, including that relating to the tort claim, entered into by the State of Nebraska and the receiver of Commonwealth Savings Company, insolvent, or the parties which they represent. The contract claim shall be paid in such manner, and subject to such conditions, as may be provided by the Legislature in LB 713A.

Sec. 4. If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof.

Sec. 5. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, from and after its passage and approval, according to law.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 264.

Introduced by R. Johnson, 34th District.

WHEREAS, The U.S. Cargo Preference Act requires that the export of one half of federal government-generated agricultural exports and food aid be carried on U.S.-flag vessels; and

WHEREAS, U.S. vessels routinely charge between one hundred fifty and two hundred fifty per cent more to carry agricultural cargoes than do foreign-flag vessels; and

WHEREAS, the additional cost for shipping agricultural commodities on U.S.-flag vessels must currently be paid by the federal government out of funds allocated for food aid and the financing of U.S. agricultural exports; and

WHEREAS, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has suspended its highly successful blended export credit program because of a recent federal court decision which applied cargo preference to the blended export credit program; and

WHEREAS, the suspension of the blended export credit program will cost American farmers over five hundred million dollars in export sales this year; and

WHEREAS, the same federal judge also indicated the five billion dollar GSM-102 export loan guarantee program should also be subject to cargo preference; and

WHEREAS, the application of cargo preference to the GSM-102 export loan guarantee program would force the Department of Agriculture to also suspend the five billion dollars in agricultural exports sales financed under the GSM-102 program; and

WHEREAS, American agricultural exports have been reduced substantially from last year because of the overvalued U.S. dollar and foreign competition; and

WHEREAS, the continued operation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's GSM-102 and blended credit programs is essential to restoring profitability to American farmers.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the NEBRASKA Legislature hereby calls upon the President of the United States, the United States Senate, and the House of Representatives of the United States to immediately exempt agricultural commodities from the Cargo Preference Act.

(7)(a) Except for those cases arising under section 48-818, the commission shall be required to make findings of facts in all cases in which one of the parties to the dispute requests findings. The purpose of such posttrial conference shall be to allow the commission to hear from the parties on those portions of the recommended decision and order which is not based upon or which mischaracterizes evidence in the record and to allow the commission to correct any such errors after having heard the matter in a conference setting in which all parties are represented.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 78
May 10, 1985

Dear Senator Withem:

This is in response to your letter of May 7, 1985, concerning LB 727. You have asked several questions which concern the funding for implementation of the homestead exemption law passed in 1984, LB 809, and the possible effects of the failure of the Legislature to appropriate the $18 million required to fund this program.

Your first question is whether Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-3525 (Supp. 1984) obligates the State of Nebraska to fund the general homestead exemption and reimburse the counties for revenues lost pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-3506.01 (Supp. 1984). Section 77-3506.01 merely establishes the existence of the homestead exemption, which exempts from taxation the first $3,000 of actual value of each homestead. Section 77-3525 provides that "All revenue which shall be lost to taxing agencies as a result of the provisions of Chapter 77, article 35, shall be considered an express obligation of the state for the purpose of setting the sales and income tax rates under section 77-2715.01." Section 77-2715.01, in effect, is nothing more than a series of requirements which the Legislature must follow when setting the sales and income tax rates. The term "express obligation" as used in that section has a special meaning for purposes of this "formula approach" used to establish the sales and income tax rates. As we read §77-3525, it merely provides that the homestead exemption shall be considered as such an "express obligation" for purposes of setting these tax rates. Of course, if there is no appropriation for this amount it will have no impact on setting the sales and income tax rates. In other words, we do not read this section as obligating the state to pay this money to the counties, but merely as a requirement for the Legislature to follow in setting the sales and income tax rates.

Your second question is in essence whether or not county assessors must allow the homestead exemption pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-3516 (Supp. 1984) in the event that the appropriation contained in LB 727 to fund this program does not pass. The law setting forth the homestead exemption, §77-3506.01 is not repealed by LB 727 and thus the assessors would be required to grant the exemption.

Your third question is whether pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-3523 (Supp. 1984) each taxing district must take into account in its annual budget the amount to be reimbursed under the general homestead exemption, if LB 727 does not pass. This section of law provides simply that "Each taxing agency shall, in preparing its annual budget, take into account the amount to be received under this section." Of course, if LB 727 does not pass the taxing districts will not be receiving anything under this section and would of course note this fact in preparation of their budget.

Your next question concerns the distribution by the county treasurer to taxing agencies under Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-3523 (Supp. 1984). Specifically your question is whether or not the county treasurer must distribute any funds to these agencies if there are no state funds appropriated under LB 727. This section provides in part that:

The State Treasurer shall, between the fifth and twentieth day of each month, notify the Director of Administrative Services of the amount of funds available in the General Fund for payment purposes. The Director of Administrative Services shall, upon receipt of such notification, draw warrants against funds appropriated. Out of the amount so received the county treasurer shall distribute to each the taxing agencies within his or her county the amount so lost by such agency, . . . .

It seems clear, that the county treasurer will only distribute funds received from the state under this section, and if no appropriations are authorized by the Legislature for this purpose the county treasurer will make no distribution.

Your next question is whether the passage of LB 809 establishing the homestead exemption has created a legal right for citizens in Nebraska having filed applications to be granted a homestead exemption. As we have indicated this law has not been repealed, and citizens who have filed applications for homestead exemptions under its provisions have a right to be granted that homestead exemption.

Your final question is as follows, "If LB 727 does not pass and the applicants for the general homestead exemption do receive property tax relief at the expense of other property taxpayers, do the injured property taxpayers have an enforceable legal claim against the State of Nebraska?" The granting of any tax exemption implies that other taxpayers will be making up this additional tax burden. Nevertheless, there is no basis for such taxpayers having any legal claim against the State of Nebraska for any additional tax burden so imposed.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 79
May 13, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion regarding the constitutionality of a proposed amendment to LB 208. Generally, LB 208 in its present form would amend Neb.Rev.Stat. §66-414 (Reissue 1981) by altering the shrinkage allowance granted to dealers of motor vehicle fuels to provide a three percent allowance on the first 75,000 gallons of fuel received monthly, and a two percent allowance on all gallons in excess of 75,000 gallons. The question you have posed to us is whether an amendment to raise the shrinkage allowance to 90 percent would be constitutional.

It is our understanding the rationale behind the allowance contained in §66-414 is based on the fact that, on average, a certain portion of motor vehicle fuels received or imported are lost through shrinkage resulting from evaporation. The three percent allowance presently provided for in §66-414 has existed since 1929. Laws 1929, c. 166, §1, p. 573, C.S. 1929, §66-405.

It appears to us the primary constitutional problem associated with your amendment would be one of unreasonable classification. In your letter, you state various studies have concluded the maximum shrinkage allowance presently necessary would be approximately one percent. We do not have sufficient factual information to determine what would be an appropriate or reasonable percentage to allow based on actual shrinkage under present conditions. In any event, this determination of reasonableness is one which must, in the first instance, rest with the Legislature.

Based on the information you have given us, we believe an allowance of 90 percent would not bear any rational relationship to the amount of motor vehicle fuels lost due to shrinkage. It is therefore our opinion that your amendment to provide for a 90 percent shrinkage allowance would be held unconstitutional on the ground it established an unreasonable classification bearing no rational relationship to the object or purpose sought to be achieved.

Very truly yours,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 80
May 13, 1985

Dear Senator Wesely:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 10, 1985, in which you request an opinion as to the constitutionality of LB 320 and LB 490. You ask specifically whether either LB 320 or LB 490 contain language that would withstand a court test on the question of overbreadth or vagueness, and whether they adequately address the question of duty on the part of the accused if it is necessary to establish criminal liability.

Initially we note that the present statutes which describe the crimes of child abuse and abuse of an incompetent or disabled person (Neb.Rev.Stat. §§28-707 and 28-708 (Cum.Supp. 1984)) do not have any applicable definitional provisions. The definitions provided by Neb.Rev.Stat. §28-710 (Cum.Supp. 1984) are specifically applicable only to §§28-710 to 28-727. Furthermore, in a series of recent cases/*/ various aspects of §§28-707 and 28-708 have been struck down by district courts specifically due to inadequate definition of the terms and phrases employed to describe the crimes in question.

/*/ State v. Frey, District Court of Lancaster County, Docket 65, Page 218 (aff'd in part and rev'd in part), 218 Neb. 558, ___ N.W.2d ___ (1984); State v. Sinica, District Court of Lancaster County, Docket 66, Page 169; State v. Collins and State v. Becke, , District Court of Douglas County, Docket 115, Page 742.

In reviewing the recent cases concerning §§28-707 and 28-708 the specific areas of concern have been (1) the definition of "an incompetent or disabled person," (2) the legal duty of a responsible person to protect the minor child, incompetent or disabled person, (3) the definition of "a situation that endangers his or her life or health,"

(4) the definition of "cruelly confined or cruelly punished," and (5) the definition of "necessary" in the context of food, clothing, shelter or care. We review the present language of LB 320 from the standpoint of the concerns noted by the various district courts.

LB 320 would create the Adult Protective Services Act which among other items makes it a crime to abuse a "vulnerable adult" (Section 18) and repeals the present criminal statute, §28-708, concerning "incompetent or disabled" persons (Section 29). The district court in State v. Frey, supra, found several shortcomings in the present language of §28-708. On appeal the Nebraska Supreme Court upheld §28-708 against a challenge based upon overbreadth but reversed for further proceedings on the question of vagueness. The definitional sections of LB 320 which would be applicable to the crime of abusing a "vulnerable adult" are comprehensive while no definitional provisions are presently applicable to §28-708. In our opinion, the new crime of abusing a "vulnerable adult" which would be created by LB 320, in light of the extensive definitional provisions of the bill, is not constitutionally suspect for vagueness or overbreadth. We further believe the legal duty created and defined by LB 320 resolves a further potential defect in the present language of §28-708.

LB 490 would create definitional language applicable to the present provisions of §28-707 (abusing a minor child) and §28-708 (abusing an incompetent or disabled person) (Section 2). In addition it specifically requires the existence of a legal duty for a person "entrusted with the custody or care" of either a minor child (§28-707(1)) or an incompetent or dependent person (§28-708(1)). In so doing, it is our opinion that LB 490 remedies the problems found by the district courts to exist in the present language of §28-707 and §28-708 and as such is not constitutionally suspect for vagueness or overbreadth. A statute will not be deemed vague if it uses ordinary terms which find adequate interpretation in common usage and understanding. State v. Sprague, 213 Neb. 581, 330 N.W.2d 739 (1983). Again, although couched in somewhat different language than that contained in LB 320, the creation and definition of a legal duty by LB 490 appears to resolve a potential defect in the present language of §§28-707 and 28-708.

We note in closing that LB 320 repeals §28-708 and substitutes an entirely new crime while LB 490 merely amends and defines the present §28-708. Care should be taken to clarify the final intent of the Legislature regarding §28-708 should both LB 320 and LB 490 appear likely to become law, lest the definitional provisions of LB 490 be applicable in part to a statute repealed by LB 320.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 269.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

PURPOSE: Groundwater is one of Nebraska's most important resources. The Groundwater Quality Protection Strategy adopted by the Department of Environmental Control in February, 1985, recognized several components as potential sources for pollution of our valuable groundwater. The strategy recommends the development of comprehensive well construction and abandonment requirements and well driller certification requirements as the appropriate means of dealing with such potential pollution sources. The purpose of this resolution is to develop a comprehensive legislative and administrative program to address and satisfactorily implement the Groundwater Quality Protection Strategy recommendations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Public Works Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution. When conducting this study, the committee shall be directed to work with the Department of Environmental Control, the Department of Health, the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska, any other state agencies and departments interested in this issue, and the well drilling and pump installation industries in the state.

2. That the Public Works Committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 270.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District; DeCamp, 40th District; R. Johnson, 34th District; Vickers, 38th District; Rupp, 22nd District.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study whether it would be desirable to submit to the electors an amendment to Article XIII, Section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution which would expand the state's authority with respect to agricultural loans. In particular, this study will research the agricultural credit programs and policies of other states, and to develop policy options and provide details of the enabling legislation and procedures necessary for the operation of a state agricultural lending program.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee, the Agriculture and Environment Committee, and the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee shall conduct a joint interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the Committees shall, upon conclusion of its study, make an official report of its findings, together with recommendations, to the Legislature.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 81
May 15, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

As a follow-up to the question you addressed to us concerning LB 208, which we responded to in Attorney General Opinion No. 79, dated May 13, 1985, you have asked us to consider whether LB 208, which would alter the shrinkage allowance granted to dealers of motor vehicle fuels to provide a three percent allowance on the first 75,000 gallons of fuel received monthly, and a two percent allowance on all gallons in excess of 75,000 gallons, would be unconstitutional. In our earlier opinion, we concluded your proposed amendment to LB 208, raising the shrinkage allowance to 90 percent, would appear to be unconstitutional on the ground it established an unreasonable classification bearing no rational relationship to the object or purpose sought to be achieved by the provision of a shrinkage allowance.

Presently, Neb.Rev.Stat. §66-414 (Reissue 1981) provides a three percent shrinkage allowance. As we indicated in our earlier opinion, this three percent allowance has existed since 1929. In your letter, you state you have found no evidence to indicate a three percent allowance bears any rational relationship to actual shrinkage loss under present conditions. You have also provided some information regarding your position that a one percent allowance would be sufficient.

In Bridgeford v. U-Haul Company, 195 Neb. 308, 238 N.W.2d 443 (1976), the Nebraska Supreme Court stated "{w}hether there was a reasonable basis for the enactment of the statute in question is primarily a matter of legislative determination, subject to limited judicial scrutiny." While we are aware of your view that a one percent shrinkage allowance would be reasonable, we do not have sufficient information to determine whether the three percent allowance under LB 208 would be clearly unreasonable. Furthermore, as we stated in our previous opinion, "this determination of reasonableness is one which must, in the first instance, rest with the Legislature."

The question of whether a one percent or three percent allowance is reasonable rests on a factual determination which we believe must initially be made by the Legislature. Based on the information provided, we simply are not in a position to conclude that the allowance proposed under LB 208 would be unconstitutional.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 82
May 17, 1985

Dear Senator Haberman:

This is in response to your letter of May 6, 1985, concerning LB 713. In that letter you note that the committee amendments to LB 713 provide that the State and the City of Lincoln will enter into a sale and leaseback agreement involving the Nebraska State Office Building.

Your question is simply whether or not the sale and leaseback of the Nebraska State Office Building is constitutional. We have examined this question and can find no basis for declaring that such a transaction would be unconstitutional. We would note, that the procedure generally complies with existing state law found in Neb.Rev.Stat. §72-1401 et seq. (Reissue 1981).

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Opinion No. 83
May 17, 1985

Dear Senator Haberman:

This is in response to your letter of May 6, 1985, concerning LB 713. In that letter you note that the committee amendments to

LB 713 provide that four (4) cents of the cigarette tax, established by Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2602 (Supp. 1984), will be deposited in the Lincoln State Office Building rental fund, created by LB 713, and the proceeds of this fund will in turn be appropriated for payment to the city for the lease of the State Office Building.

Your question is whether the above provision is constitutional. We have examined this provision and find no basis for declaring that such legislation is unconstitutional. We would note, that a similar provision presently exists in Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2602 (Reissue 1984).

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Opinion No. 84
May 17, 1985

Dear Senator Haberman:

This is in response to your letter of May 6, 1985, concerning LB 713. In that letter you note that the committee amendments to LB 713 provide in Section 11, subparagraph 5 that "The unexpended balance existing in the Lincoln State Office Building Rental Fund on June 15 of each year shall be transferred to the General Fund. . . ."

Your question is whether it is constitutional to have the balance of a fund that "is made up for a specific purpose and earmarked for a special purpose be put in the General Fund on an annual basis."

We have examined this provision and find no basis for declaring that such action is unconstitutional. We would note that Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2602 (Supp. 1984), presently provides that money in similar funds may be transferred to the general fund at the direction of the Legislature.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

ANNOUNCEMENT

To: All State Senators
From: Jerome Warner, Chairperson
Re: Appropriations Committee
Date: May 22, 1985

The Appropriations Committee will begin deliberation on a second round of budget reductions at 9 A.M. Thursday, May 23, in the Education Committee Hearing Room, (Rm. 1517).

The initial discussions will be to more firmly establish the criteria for evaluating specific programs and services for elimination, i.e.; what general "yardsticks" will be used in determining budget cut potentials.

The Appropriations Committee would appreciate Senator's viewpoints as to what constitutes a low priority state government service; not necessarily the specific program but criteria such as "A service duplicated by other public private agencies," or "A service exhibiting declines in client demand," are examples of criteria that may point out a low priority service.

Please submit your suggestions in writing to the Legislative Fiscal Office, Rm. 1007 during the morning of Thursday, May 23rd.

Thereafter, the Committee will meet and using the "Appropriations Committee Budget Recommendations" booklet, review Agency/Program budgets according to the established criteria.

Senators or Senator's staff are encouraged to attend and observe the Committee during these work sessions.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 85
May 23, 1985

Dear Senator Vickers:

This is in response to your letter of May 13, 1985, concerning your proposed amendments to LB 516.

Specifically, you ask the question whether Article V, Section 10, of the Nebraska Constitution requires that there be more than one judicial district. Article V, Section 10, provides as follows:

> The state shall be divided into district court judicial districts. Until otherwise provided by law, the boundaries of the judicial districts and the number of judges of the district courts shall remain as now fixed. The judges of the district courts shall be selected from the respective districts as provided in this Article V.

It seems apparent that the language of this provision contemplates more than one judicial district since the term is used in the plural. In addition, this section provides that the state shall be "divided" into judicial districts. One judicial district would not constitute a division of the state. That being the case, any legislation which would attempt to change the number of judicial districts in the state to only one district would be in contravention of this section.

In your letter you also ask other questions pertaining to the committee amendments. It is our understanding from discussions with your staff that those committee amendments were not adopted and because of that fact these questions are no longer pertinent and do not require a response from this office.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 86
May 22, 1985

Dear Senator Beutler:

This is in response to your inquiry of May 14, 1985, concerning Legislative Bill 516 and our previous opinion in regard thereto.

For our answer, you asked that we assume that the Lamb

Amendment to this bill has been stricken and that the Commission on judicial workloads is empowered as set out in Amendment No. 1408 to change the number of election districts, boundaries of the election districts, and the number of judges who will serve in each election district.

Nebraska Supreme Court cases discussed in Opinion No. 51 of 1985 have stated that it is elementary in an interpretation of Article II, Section 1 of the Constitution that the Legislature may not delegate legislative power to the courts nor impose upon them non-judicial duties.

Also, as pointed out in that opinion, the law is well established that the establishment of boundaries of political subdivisions is purely a legislative function.

While we discussed cases which have held that this legislative function may be delegated to a subordinate agency, providing the Legislature prescribes the manner and standards under which the power of the designated agency may be exercised, it is apparent with your amendments that this authority needs to be clarified.

One of the landmark cases in this area is a Nebraska case decided in 1929, Searle v. Yensen, 118 Neb. 835, 226 N.W. 464, 69 A.L.R. 257. As you will note above, this case is reported and discussed with cases from other states in 69 A.L.R.

As that case points out, the delegation of legislative power must be distinguished as to whether the governmental subdivision, commissions, etc. to which it is delegated is also of a type possessing legislative functions. Thus, the Legislature may not impose upon the judiciary or the executive the performance of acts or duties not properly belonging to those departments respectively. This does not mean that the Legislature may not impose upon other departments the performance of new and additional duties, but the duties so imposed upon either must be of the character and quality which such departments are authorized or may be required to perform.

Thus, it has been held uniformly in Nebraska that the Legislature may pass a law or delegate a function, to a court, which hinges upon the ascertainment of certain facts. The ascertainment of the facts is considered to be a judicial function, but if there is imposed upon the court a political or policy question to also be determined, that is considered a legislative function, and cannot be done. Later cases to the same effect are Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672; CRT Corp. v. Board of Equalization, 172 Neb. 540.

In Searle v. Yensen, discussed above, the court analyzed the statute in part as follows:

> Let us then inquire of the nature of some of the duties imposed upon the district court by the sections under attack. They are set forth in §4 and are as follows:

(1) To determine from the testimony adduced at the hearing whether or not the district should be incorporated;

(2) Whether the suggested boundaries are reasonable and proper for the public convenience and welfare;

(3) Change, alter and fix the boundary lines of such district with the end in view of promoting the interest thereof and its units; and

These questions are all political and legislative in their nature. The duty of courts is to declare the law as established by the Legislature, not to make it. That the Legislature may condition the operation of the law upon the existence of certain facts, and may submit to the courts the determination of those facts, is well established. Barnes v. Minor, 80 Neb. 189, 114 N.W. 146.

The present bill provides in §6, subsection (2) the criteria which the Commission must consider before determining the number of election districts, the boundaries of the election districts, and the number of judges who will serve in each election district. These guidelines are as follows:

(a) The caseload in each election district, taking into consideration the (i) number of cases filed, (ii) number of reopened cases, (iii) number of cases tried to the court, (iv) number of cases tried to a jury, (v) number of dissolution of marriage cases, (vi) number of criminal cases with guilty pleas, (vii) number of judges in the election district, and (viii) number of counties served in each election district;

(b) The population in each election district, in order to promote equal access to the courts by all Nebraska citizens;

(c) The geographic area of each election district, in order to promote accountability and equal access to the courts by the traveling public;

(d) The nature and extent of facilities and staff to assist the court in performing its duties at the various service locations; and

(e) Other factors necessary to assure efficiency, service, and the most effective use of existing judges.

While the above guidelines would be very helpful in determining what should be done, they do not set forth specific facts which must be ascertained before certain action may be taken, but, on the contrary, leave the action to be taken largely in the discretion of the Commission. This is, then, clearly the delegation of a legislative function.

The more difficult question as to this amendment, then, is whether the recipient of this delegation is a subordinate body to the Legislature, as discussed in previous Nebraska cases, see McDonald v. Rentfrow, 176 Neb. 796 and cases there cited, or whether the legislation would attempt to impose upon members of the judiciary duties not properly belonging to that department. The Nebraska cases which have authorized the delegation of legislative functions to a subordinate body of the Legislature have involved school boards, county boards and other governing boards of governmental subdivisions, all of which by nature have legislative functions. See also, Schutte v. Schmitt, 162 Neb. 162, and cases there cited. We have been unable to find any Nebraska case involving a parallel situation to that here in question where legislative duties are imposed upon a body created by the Legislature composed in part by members of the judiciary.

Extensive research as to the rest of the United States has revealed one similar case decided by the Supreme Court of Michigan. In Dearborn Township v. Dearborn Township Clerk, 334 Mich. 673, 55 N.W.2d 201, a statute provided that the township board in townships under 5,000 in population was to be composed of two justices of the peace of said township and three other persons, and in townships over 5,000 in population, the township board was to be composed of four justices of the peace and three other persons. Michigan contains a constitutional provision almost identical to the Nebraska Constitution, Article II, Section 1.

The Michigan Supreme Court, after determining that the township board must exercise legislative and administrative powers, stated as follows:

> On its face, therefore, section 70, supra, to the extent that it constitutes justices of the peace members of the township board is a violation of article 4, §2, which provides that no persons belonging to one department shall exercise the powers properly belonging to another.
> . . . From the time of the Federalist papers, the United States supreme court and other United States jurisdictions have reaffirmed that keeping the 3 great branches of government separate and distinct from each other is essential to the maintenance of a republican form of government. This principal has become axiomatic.

The Michigan court then went on to explain how it was reluctant to declare it unconstitutional, since it had a strong presumption of validity and especially since the statute had been on the books for over 100 years. However, the court concluded by stating: "As a minority on the township board, the justices would be exercising part of the legislative power on the board and thus are sitting unconstitutionally, but as a majority they might usurp all of the legislative power of the board . . . in accordance with the main current of Michigan authority, the instant statute, insofar as it provides that justices of the peace be made members of township boards, is unconstitutional."

The Michigan Constitution, as indicated above, contained the following words identical to the Nebraska Constitution: "no person or collection of persons being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others". The court stated that this was clear and unambiguous and left no room for argument.

In principle, we can see no difference from the situation in that case from that in your proposed amendment in that persons who are members of the judiciary would be called upon to exercise legislative functions, although, in neither case, would they be acting as judges of their courts at the time of doing so.

In light of the constitutional provision and the foregoing decision, we are of the opinion that we would have difficulty defending the constitutionality of members of the judiciary being called upon to exercise legislative functions as provided by Amendment 1408 to LB 516.

ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 87
May 24, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your letter of May 13, 1985, concerning LB 713. In that letter you ask whether the provisions of LB 713 which provide for the payment of 12 million dollars on the basis of the purported contract or miscellaneous claim are constitutional.

In our Opinion No. 26, dated February 20, 1985, to Senator William Barrett (a copy of which is attached), we concluded that payment of such a claim would be constitutionally suspect. This opinion dealt with the original version of LB 713, however, we do not find anything in the amended version of LB 713 which changes that opinion, particularly in view of the decision of the Nebraska Supreme Court in Weaver v. Koehn, 120 Neb. 114, 231 N.W. 703 (1930), as discussed therein. Because of the great factual similarity to the situation at hand, it appears to be dispositive of this issue. Opinion No. 26 also concluded that there was no legal basis or merit to the so-called contract claim. See also, Opinions No. 164, December 5, 1983; No. 243, December 24, 1984; No. 16, February 5, 1985; and No. 17, February 7, 1985.

We thus have no basis for any change in our previous opinions on this issue and continue to maintain that the payment of the so-called contract claim provided in LB 713 is constitutionally suspect.

Very truly yours,

LEGISLATIVE BILL 717. E & R amendments, AM5153, found in the Journal on page 1968 for the Sixty-Ninth Day were adopted.

Mr. V. Johnson offered the following amendment:
AM1515

1. Strike the original sections and all amendments thereto and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2716. (1) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income interest or dividends on obligations of the United States and its territories and possessions or of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includable in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States. The amount subtracted under ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection shall, except as provided in subsections (2) to (6) of this section, be reduced by any interest on indebtedness incurred to carry the obligations or securities described in this subsection and by any expenses incurred in the production of interest or dividend income described in this subsection to the extent that such expenses, including amortizable bond premiums, are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(2) For corporations subject to the tax under section 77-2734.02, with income from exempt securities, in lieu of the reduction for expenses contained in subsection (1) of this section, there shall be added to federal taxable income the investment interest expense incurred by the corporation to purchase and maintain exempt securities as determined under subsection (3) of this section.

(3)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this subsection, the ~~The~~ investment interest expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall be determined by ~~(a)~~ (i) dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets and multiplying such ratio by the corporation's total interest expense and ~~(b)~~ (ii) subtracting any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291.

(b) For the taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1985, the investment expense provided in subsection (2) of this section for financial institutions, as defined in section 77-2734.02, shall be determined by (i) dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets and (ii) subtracting any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291. For the taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1985, through taxable years beginning in 1990, the investment expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed ninety per cent of the amount of income received from exempt securities. For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1991, the investment expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed seventy-five per cent of the amount of the income received from exempt securities.

(4) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) Exempt securities shall mean the obligations that earn income exempt from taxation under subsection (1) of this section or under 26 U.S.C. section 103;

(b) Average investment in exempt securities shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in exempt securities at the beginning and the end of the taxable year;

(c) Average total assets shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in total assets at the beginning and end of the taxable year; ~~and~~

(d) Total interest expense shall mean the total interest expense allowed as a deduction in computing federal taxable income plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291;~~.~~

(e) Total expenses shall mean the amount subtracted from gross income in order to determine taxable income from federal income tax purposes plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291, but not including net operating loss deductions, deductions for dividends paid, or special deductions for dividends received;

(f) Corporation shall mean the entity which owns the obligations; and

(g) Corporate taxpayer shall mean the unitary group, or a corporation that is not a member of a unitary group, that is required to file a return under section 77-2734.02.

(5) Whenever it is necessary to properly reflect the ratio of investment in exempt securities to total assets, the Tax Commissioner may permit or require the computation of the average provided for in subsection (3) of this section using amounts from interim balance sheets.

(6) The corporation may use, in lieu of the tax basis for the computation in subsection (3) of this section, the amounts from a balance sheet included with the federal return or as required to be reported to federal or state regulatory agencies if (a) such amounts are not materially different from tax basis, (b) the amounts are prepared consistently from year to year, and

(c) absent a change in circumstances, the amounts are consistently used by the corporation from year to year. The Tax Commissioner may require a corporation to use the alternative amounts in order to maintain consistency or may require the corporation to show that the amounts used do not materially differ from the tax basis.

(7) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income dividends received or deemed to be received from corporations which are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.

Sec. 2. That section 77-2734.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2734.02. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year on the taxable income of every corporate taxpayer that is doing business in this state at a rate equal to twenty-five per cent of the rate imposed on individuals under section 77-2715 on the first fifty thousand dollars of taxable income and at the rate of thirty-five per cent of such rate on all taxable income in excess of fifty thousand dollars.

(a) For corporate taxpayers with a fiscal year that does not coincide with the calendar year, the individual rate used for subsection (1) of this section shall be the rate in effect on the first day, or the day deemed to be the first day, of the taxable year.

(b) For fiscal years beginning before January 1, 1968, the rate initially set shall apply for the period from January 1, 1968, to the end of that fiscal year.

(2) For a corporate taxpayer that is subject to tax in another state, its taxable income shall be the portion of the taxpayer's federal taxable income, as adjusted, that is determined to be connected with the taxpayer's operations in this state pursuant to sections 77-2734.05 to 77-2734.15.

(3) Each corporate taxpayer shall file only one income tax return for each taxable year.

(4) The Nebraska income tax imposed upon corporate taxpayers which are financial institutions with income from exempt securities for the taxable year beginning in 1985 shall not, for the taxable year beginning in 1985, exceed the greater of (a) the Nebraska income tax imposed upon such corporate taxpayer for the taxable year beginning in 1984 as shown on line

18 18 of Form 1120 N Nebraska Corporation Income Tax Return
19 or (b) an amount equal to seventy-five cents times each
20 one thousand dollars, or multiple thereof, of average
21 deposits held by such institution for the calendar year
22 1985.
23 As used in this section and section 77-2716:
24 (i) Financial institution shall mean any bank, 25 building and loan association, industrial loan and 26 investment company, savings and loan association,
1 savings bank, or trust company chartered to do business
2 in the state;
3 (ii) Deposit shall mean the amount of money
4 placed in the custody of a financial institution in 5 Nebraska for safety or convenience that may be withdrawn
6 at the will of the depositor or under the rules or 7 regulations agreed upon by the financial institution and 8 the depositor. Deposits shall include amounts for which 9 a certificate may be issued and which are payable on 10 demand, on certain notice, or at a fixed future date or 11 time; and
12 (iii) Average deposits shall mean the total of 13 the deposits in Nebraska held by a financial institution
14 on the last day of the preceding year and the last day
15 of each calendar quarter divided by five. Whenever the 16 amount of deposits at the end of a quarter is reported
17 to a state or federal regulatory agency, the reported

Section 1. (1) In lieu of the tax imposed under section 77-2734.02, a franchise tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1985 on every financial institution, or every financial group, at the rate of five percent of the financial taxable income of such financial institution or financial group.

(2) For a financial group that is subject to tax in another state, its financial taxable income shall be the portion of its income that is determined to be connected with its operations in this state under section 4 of this act.

(3) The amount of the tax imposed under this section shall not exceed forty cents per thousand dollars of average deposits of the financial group.

(4) Each financial group shall file only one franchise tax return for each taxable year.

Section 2. As used in this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) All terms shall have the same meaning as provided in the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967;

(2) Average deposits shall mean the total of the deposits in Nebraska held by a financial institution on the last day of the preceding year and the last day of each calendar quarter divided by five. Whenever the amount of deposits at the end of a quarter is reported to a state or federal regulatory agency, the reported amount shall be used to determine average deposits.

(3) Deposits shall mean the amount of money placed in the custody of a financial institution in Nebraska for safety or convenience that may be withdrawn at the will of the depositor or under the rules or regulations agreed upon by the financial institution and the depositor. Deposits shall include amounts for which a certificate may be issued and which are payable on demand, on certain notice, or at a fixed future date or time;

(4) Financial group shall mean the unitary group of corporations that contains a financial institution that is chartered to do business in this state and includes a financial institution that is not a member of any unitary group.

(b) The financial net income shall be reduced by any Nebraska net operating loss carry forward of the financial group;

(c) The financial net income of the financial group shall be adjusted to eliminate intercompany transactions;

Section 3. (1) There shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by section 1 of this act for the holding of exempt securities as defined in section 77-2716. The credit is nonrefundable and shall only be used in the year for which it is allowed. It shall be applied before any other credits.

The amount of the credit shall be determined based on the percentage of average assets that is invested in exempt securities. If more than one member of a financial group holds exempt securities, the computation shall use the total investments and total assets for those members of the financial group holding such securities. Average assets and average investment shall be determined by adding the amounts at the beginning and the end of the taxable year and dividing by two.

(2) The amount of the credit shall be equal to one half of one percent times the financial taxable income if the average investment in such securities does not exceed twelve percent.

(2) The Tax Commissioner shall prescribe the necessary forms and the supporting documentation to be filed for the reporting and payment of the taxes.

(3) The Tax Commissioner shall promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this act.

Section 8. A credit, action, or claim for refund or franchise taxes voluntarily paid shall not be allowed to the extent that the credit, action, or claim for refund is based upon an alleged mistake of law regarding the validity or legality under the laws or constitution of the United States or under the constitution of the state of Nebraska of the tax imposed by this act. This section prevails over any other statutes authorizing franchise tax refunds or claims.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 285.

Introduced by Vickers, 38th District; Harris, 27th District.

To request that the President, the U.S. Office of Management and Budget, the U.S. Senate, and the House of Representatives reject the currently proposed extreme cuts for the nonpower programs of the Tennessee Valley Authority for fiscal year 1986.

WHEREAS, the U.S. Office of Management and Budget has recommended to President Reagan and the U.S. Senate has concurred that less than $40 million be appropriated for the nonpower programs of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) in fiscal year 1986, which is a decrease of seventy percent (70%) from TVA's fiscal year 1985 nonpower funding level of $129.5 million; and

WHEREAS, such proposed funding reductions would effectively destroy TVA's highly successful fertilizer and agricultural development program, which has aided in the development of the technologies currently responsible for three-fourth's (3/4) of the fertilizer used today by farmers of the Nation; and

WHEREAS, TVA's National Fertilizer Development Center (NFDC) is recognized as the world's leading fertilizer research facility, holding about 250 patents and granting over 660 nonexclusive licenses to 390 companies in 39 states for use of processes and equipment to assist the fertilizer industry in adopting research in a practical way; and

WHEREAS, the TVA cooperative projects at the University of Nebraska are designed to enhance efficiency of fertilizer use on Nebraska farms; and

WHEREAS, the continuation of the economic, community, agricultural and natural resources development efforts of the Tennessee Valley Authority would play an essential role in the continued well-being of Nebraska and the remainder of the Nation.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE 89th LEGISLATURE, FIRST SESSION, OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA: That we request President Reagan, the U.S. Office of Management and Budget, the U.S. Senate, and the House of Representatives to fund the nonpower programs of the Tennessee Valley Authority for fiscal year 1986 at the level that has been proposed by the House of Representatives which is a 10% reduction of the $129.5 million requested for fiscal year 1985.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be forwarded to each member of the NEBRASKA CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 88
May 29, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion on two questions regarding the constitutionality of the amended version of LB 717. Generally, LB 717, as amended, would modify the income tax base of corporations with income from exempt securities by adding back to taxable income a portion of a corporation's total deductible expenses. The amount of the add back is determined by dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets, and multiplying this ratio by the corporation's total expenses. The amendment limits the add back to an amount not to exceed 90 percent of the corporation's income received from exempt securities until 1991, at which time the limitation will be reduced to an amount not exceeding 75 percent of the corporation's income from exempt securities. In addition, a further limitation is provided on the amount of tax imposed upon corporate taxpayers which are financial institutions. For the taxable year beginning in 1985 only, the tax imposed upon financial institutions would be limited to the greater of either the amount of tax imposed on the institution in 1984, or an amount equal to 75 cents times each $1,000.00 of average deposits held by the institution during 1985.

You have requested us to consider whether LB 717, as amended, would operate as an unconstitutional impairment of contractual obligations with respect to the tax-exempt status of interest income received from investment in municipal or other political subdivision bonds. In addition, you have asked us to determine whether the expense add back formula would unconstitutionally discriminate against municipal bond issues.

As was noted, the amendment proposes to modify the income tax base of corporations with income from exempt securities by adding back to taxable income a portion of a corporation's total deductible expenses. Presently, under Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2716(2) (Supp. 1984), the amount of expense added back to taxable income is based solely on the interest expense incurred by the corporation in purchasing and maintaining exempt securities. Pursuant to subsection (3) of §77-2716, the amount of the add back is determined by dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets, and multiplying this ratio by the corporation's total interest expense. The amendment to LB 717 would alter this formula by using as a multiplier the corporation's total expenses, rather than utilizing only interest expense.

With respect to your first question, we believe the add back formula contained in the amendment would not operate to unconstitutionally impair contractual obligations regarding the tax-exempt status of interest income received from investment in municipal or other political subdivision bonds. The amendment does not subject interest earned on such obligations to taxation as income.

The add back formula provided in the amendment is identical to that presently employed under §77-2716(3), except the multiplier utilized is a corporation's total expenses, rather than interest expense alone. The amendment thus employs an approximation using a formula approach based on total expenses to apportion the amount of the add back. In essence, the formula recognized that, to the extent corporations are allowed to earn exempt income, there is no requirement that a deduction for expenses not incurred to generate taxable income be provided as well.

The United States Supreme Court has consistently recognized the distinction between a permissible exclusion from deductions of expenses relating to exempt income, and an impermissible tax on exempt income or property. In Denman v. Slayton, 282 U.S. 514 (1931), the Court upheld provisions of the Revenue Act of 1921 which permitted the deduction of interest generally, except interest paid on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry tax-exempt securities. In rejecting the taxpayer's contention that both an exemption for interest received on tax-free obligations and a deduction for interest expense incurred was required, the Court in Denman stated: "While guaranteed exemption must be strictly observed, this obligation is not inconsistent with reasonable classification designed to subject all to the payment of their just share of a burden fairly imposed." Id. at 519.

Subsequently, in Helvering v. Independent Life Ins. Co., 292 U.S. 371 (1934), the Court upheld provisions of the Revenue Act of 1921 and 1924 permitting the deduction of depreciation and expenses of buildings owned by life insurance companies only if the companies included in their gross income the otherwise exempt rental value of the space occupied. The Court held the provisions constituted a "valid apportionment of expenses." Id. at 381.

In United States v. Atlas Life Ins. Co., 381 U.S. 233 (1965), the Court, upholding the pro rata deduction provision of the Life Insurance Company Income Tax Act of 1959, reaffirmed its adherence to the principle announced in Denman and Independent Life of "charging exempt income with a fair share of the burden properly allocable to it." 318 U.S. at 251. Recently, in First National Bank of Atlanta v. Bartow County Board of Tax Assessors, 470 U.S. ___, 106 S.Ct. ___, 84 L.Ed.2d 535 (1985), the Court held valid the exclusion from net worth, in the computation of a state property tax on bank shares, of only that percentage of federal obligations attributable to assets rather than to liabilities. Discussing the tax exemption granted for government obligations, the Court in Bartow County stated:

> In sum, ever since Gehner, each time this Court has addressed the scope of the tax exemption for government obligations, it has > concluded that the exemption need not be a total exclusion, but, instead, may be limited by charging tax-exempt obligations and interest their fair share of related expenses or burdens.

Id. at ___, 106 S.Ct. ___, 84 L.Ed.2d at 543.

We conclude that LB 717, as amended, does not unconstitutionally impair contractual obligations relating to municipal bond issues. The bill does not tax interest earned on such obligations as income. Rather, the add back formula establishes a method to apportion a permissible exclusion or disallowance of expense deductions pertaining to the generation of nontaxable income.

Your second question concerns whether the expense add back formula would unconstitutionally discriminate against municipal bond issues. Specifically, your question addresses the propriety of utilizing total expenses as a multiplier in the formula to apportion the amount added back to taxable income, rather than using interest expense alone as a multiplier.

Formulas employed by states to apportion the income of interstate businesses for corporate income tax purposes have consistently been upheld against constitutional attack. In Moorman Manufacturing Company v. Bair, 437 U.S. 267 (1978), the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of Iowa's statutory single-factor sales formula for apportioning an interstate business income for Iowa income tax purposes. The Court in Moorman, noting "the States have wide latitude in the selection of apportionment formulas," stated:

> {A} formula-produced assessment will only be disturbed when the taxpayer has proved by "clear and cogent evidence" that the income attributed to the State is in fact "out of all appropriate proportion to the business transacted . . . in that State," . . . or has "led to a grossly distorted result," . . . .

Id. at 274 (citations omitted).

By analogy, this principle may be applied to assess the constitutional validity of apportionment accomplished by the expense add back formula. We cannot conclude the use of total expenses to apportion the amount of expenses added back to taxable income would, on its face, be inappropriate or lead "to a grossly distorted result." It is therefore our opinion that the use of total expenses in the add back formula would not be held unconstitutional on this ground.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 286.

Introduced by Chambers, 11th District.

WHEREAS, on March 1, 1985, UNL opened the Hewit Center for Student Athletes; and

WHEREAS, the Hewit Center was funded partly with private donations and partly with University money; and

WHEREAS, the Hewit Center is an integral part of the UNL intercollegiate athletic program; and

WHEREAS, the Hewit Center is a combination restaurant-library for student athletes, open and available to male athletes in all sports; and

WHEREAS, the Hewit Center will be used as a recruiting tool, being open to prospective recruits and their parents; and

WHEREAS, the Hewit Center is equipped with top of the line kitchen facilities and a highly competent culinary staff capable of preparing delicacies to delight the palate to a far greater degree than the poor quality, greasy fare available to female athletes in the dormitory dining halls; and

WHEREAS, a bank of personal computers will be available to assist athletes with math skills and vocabulary; and

WHEREAS, UNL Athletic Department Academic Counselor Ursula Walsh described the Hewit Center as a "warm, pleasant, homey, quiet place where people would want to come and eat and study" (Omaha World-Herald, 4/8/85); and

WHEREAS, female athletes at UNL, being excluded from the definition of "people" and "student athlete", have been barred from use of the Hewit Center; and

WHEREAS, female athletes at UNL devote much time and effort to their respective sports and would benefit as much as male athletes from the "warm, homey" environment of the Hewit Center; and

WHEREAS, female athletes at UNL have brought national renown to the State of Nebraska and the University as a result of stellar achievements in softball, volleyball and track; and

WHEREAS, the only valid justification for an intercollegiate athletic program is its existence as a meaningful component of the University's overall educational program; and

WHEREAS, every University controlled program of whatever kind and variety should be inclusive rather than exclusive; and

WHEREAS, the granting and withholding of privileges and benefits based on gender alone are divisive, discriminatory practices which cannot be justified in a University setting; and

WHEREAS, barring female athletes from use of the Hewit Center consigns them to a status of inferiority within the UNL community; and

WHEREAS, athletic programs are a micorocosm of the total University structure within which they operate; and

WHEREAS, no program or its method of operation would be allowed to exist at the University if it fails to reflect the value orientation of the University Administration; and

WHEREAS, the gender-discriminatory policy of the UNL Hewit Center contravenes State and University policies against such discrimination; and

WHEREAS, the University Administration, despite wide-spread public discussion and criticism, has eschewed terminating the discriminatory operation of the UNL Hewit Center, creating, thereby, a negative moral reflection on UNL.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature expresses strong disapproval of the gender-discriminatory operation of the UNL Hewit Center.

2. That the Legislature calls on the University to terminate such gender-discriminatory policy immediately.

3. That in all areas and aspects of the UNL athletic program, no gender or other type of discrimination be practiced or tolerated.

That a certified copy of this Resolution be delivered to President Ronald Roskens; Chancellor Martin Massengale, Athletic Director Bob Devaney, Coach Tom Osborne, each Member of the Board of Regents.

Sec. 2. It is the intent of sections 1 to 6 of this act, and the public policy of this state, to recognize the importance of limited natural resources, to prevent waste, and to promote the most energy and resource saving use of the state's office wastepaper and the most efficient and economical method of recycling and disposing of office wastepaper products of the state.

Sec. 4. The Department of Administrative Services shall obtain pricing information and shall contract to sell the recyclable office wastepaper products for the best terms available in the market place. Such rate shall be equal to one percentage point above the bond equivalent yield, as published by the Secretary of the Treasury, of the average accepted auction price for the last auction of fifty-two-week United States Treasury bills. The State Court Administrator shall distribute notice of such rate and any changes to it to all Nebraska judges to be in effect two weeks after the date each new bond equivalent yield is published by the Secretary of the Treasury. In determining whether to award prejudgment interest, the judge shall take into consideration (a) whether any party or any party's counsel unreasonably or unnecessarily delayed the progression of the action to trial, (b) whether liability was certain or genuinely controverted, (c) whether any portion of the judgment was for special damages and was actually incurred prior to judgment, (d) whether the parties engaged in good faith settlement negotiations, and (e) such other circumstances as may affect the fairness of awarding such interest.

(2) The interest provided for in subsection (1) of this section shall not accrue on any payment made prior to judgment by or on behalf of the defendant.

(3) If a plaintiff has refused to accept an offer by the defendant to confess judgment pursuant to section 25-906 or 25-907 or sections 25-1309 to 25-1312 and if the judgment is for an amount equal to or less

(5) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to any action by or against the state or any of its political subdivisions.

(7) If a judgment or decree is founded upon a contract, either verbal or written, which by its terms provides a higher rate of interest than the rate specified in subsection (1) of this section, but not higher than the rate allowed by law, the rate of interest upon such judgment or decree shall be the rate provided by the contract upon which the judgment or decree is founded.

(8) The rate of interest provided in subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to any action arising under Nebraska law in which judgment interest rates are otherwise specifically provided.

Sec. 2. Prejudgment interest authorized under section 1 of this act shall be paid directly to the plaintiff. Payment shall be made by issuing a check directly for such interest in the plaintiff's name only. Such interest shall not be included in computing fees for attorneys.

45-103. Interest on all decrees and judgments for the payment of money shall be from the date of the rendition thereof at the rate provided by the State Court Administrator. Such rate shall be equal to one percentage point above the bond equivalent yield, as published by the Secretary of the Treasury of the average accepted auction price for the last auction of the fifty-two-week United States Treasury bills. The State Court Administrator shall distribute notice of such rate and any changes to it to all Nebraska judges to be in effect two weeks after the date each new bond equivalent yield is published by the Secretary of the Treasury. The rate of interest provided in this section shall not apply to any action arising under Nebraska law in which judgment interest rates are otherwise specifically provided. ~~specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature until the same shall be paid; PROVIDED, if~~

If such judgment or decree shall be founded upon any contract, either verbal or written, by the terms of which a greater rate of interest, not exceeding the amount allowed by law, than the rate specified pursuant to this section ~~in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature,~~ shall have been agreed upon, the rate of interest upon such judgment or decree shall be the same as provided for by the terms of the contract upon which the same was founded. Interest on a judgment appealed to the district court shall be determined in accordance with subsection (3) of section 24-541.06.

Sec. 4. This act shall be operative for all causes of action accruing on or after January 1, 1986.

Sec. 5. If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 89
May 28, 1985

RE: Neb.Rev.Stat. §44-392 (Reissue 1984)

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion regarding the constitutionality of Neb.Rev.Stat. §44-392. That section prohibits any bank, trust company, investment company, bank affiliate or corporation, partnership or association, which is owned or controlled by a bank located in a city in this state with a population of more than 200,000 people from selling, writing or soliciting any form of insurance. Your question goes to the propriety of prohibiting an organization from selling insurance because of the situs of its owner. You have specifically cited Article I, Section 3, Article I, Section 16, Article I, Section 25, and Article III, Section 18 of the Nebraska Constitution for special consideration. It is our opinion that §44-392 does not violate those cited constitutional provisions.

Article I, Section 3 provides that no one may be deprived of property without due process of law. As there is no deprivation of property through state action under the terms of §44-392, we do not feel that it is applicable to this situation.

Article I, Section 16 prohibits the making of any irrevocable grant of special privileges or immunities. As §44-392 does not purport to make any irrevocable grant of privilege, we do not find that it is violated.

Article I, Section 25 provides: "There shall be no discrimination between citizens of the United States in respect to the acquisition, ownership, possession, enjoyment or dissent of property." First, this privilege and immunities clause bars discrimination against citizens of other states. If anything, §44-392 operates to discriminate in favor of citizens of other states. Secondly, Article I, Section 25 does not preclude disparate treatment when there are valid independent reasons for the disparate treatment. Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967). The Legislature may have very well thought that the danger of domination of the insurance industry by banks located in larger cities within the state was greater than that of domination by banks located in larger communities outside of the state.

Article III, Section 18 prohibits the granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges. This prohibition can also be discussed in conjunction with the classification of banks in cities of more than 200,000 population. The fact that the basis of the prohibition of §44-392 is based on the population of the city in which the bank is located is not in itself an improper classification. The Legislature has the power to classify according to the population of a county or municipality. Midwest Popcorn Company v. Johnson, 152 Neb. 867, 43 N.W.2d 174 (1950). This legislation was first adopted in 1933. In 1959, the statute was amended to increase the level of population from 100,000 to 200,000. It appears that this was done at the request of a bank in Lincoln after Lincoln had attained a population of 100,000. It is not possible to determine the actual purpose of the legislation in 1933, as no legislative history is available for that year. However, it is conceivable that the Legislature did not want a concentration of power in the insurance business dominated by the larger banks from Omaha. It could be argued that that is a rational basis for the classification.

Because of recent legislation, it is now possible for a bank in Omaha to own a bank in a smaller community. Previously, this was not possible. Because of this new legislation, §44-392 may have unexpected and possibly undesirable effects. However, to remedy those effects would be the duty of the Legislature. For the above-stated reasons, we do not believe that §44-392 is unconstitutional.

Very truly yours,

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 292.

Introduced by Haberman, 44th District.

WHEREAS, the horror of a nuclear holocaust is universally acknowledged; and

WHEREAS, advancements in atomic and nuclear science have created a world-wide military situation that would ultimately result in the total annihilation of countries or continents; and

WHEREAS, current plans of the United States and the Soviet Union together call for the production of at least 20,000 additional nuclear warheads and a new generation of delivery systems during the next decade; and

WHEREAS, the federal government is planning to spend more than 1.5 trillion dollars on the military in the next five years and at least 200 billion of that will go for nuclear weapons and nuclear weapons research resulting in an unbalanced budget and high interest rates, which adversely affect Nebraska's agricultural economy and competes for the limited resources available for essential public services and economic growth in all sectors of the state and national economy; and

WHEREAS, the nuclear arms race has diverted this nation's attention and resources away from assisting our farmers in this time of crisis and will continue to adversely affect the distribution of resources away from providing essential goods and services to all the state's citizens; and

WHEREAS, it is the common goal of all Americans to lessen and eventually eliminate the military nuclear threat between nations through diplomatic negotiations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby goes on record in support of the arms control talks presently underway in Geneva and urges, as a first step toward mutual reductions in nuclear weapons, the negotiation of a bilateral freeze between the United States and Soviet Union on the testing, production, and further deployment of all nuclear weapons and that such bilateral freeze agreement should provide for equality in the numbers of strike forces, a balanced reduction of forces, and verification by onsite inspection.

2. That the Nebraska Secretary of State transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State of the United States, the Secretary of Defense of the United States, all members of congress, and the Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

Laid over.

AM1488

1. Strike the original section and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 77-3509.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.01. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509, who transfers the ownership of such homestead and becomes the owner of another homestead within the county prior to September 15 during the year for which the exemption was granted, may file an application with the county assessor, on or before September 15 of such year, for a transfer of the exemption to the new homestead. The county assessor shall examine each application and determine whether or not the new homestead, except for the January 1 occupancy requirement, is a homestead as defined in section 77-3502. If the application is approved by the county assessor, he or she shall make a deduction upon the assessment rolls using the same criteria as previously applied to the original homestead. The county assessor may allow the application for transfer to also be considered an application for a homestead exemption for the subsequent year.

Sec. 2. That section 77-3509.02, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3509.02. In counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, if the owner of any homestead granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~

77-3507 to 77-3509 transfers the ownership of such homestead on or before September 15 of any year pursuant to section 77-3509.01 and makes the application for transfer of the homestead exemption and such application is approved, the exemption shall be disallowed for such year as applied to the original homestead if the exemption was granted based on the status of such owner.

Sec. 3. That section 77-3510, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3510. On or before January 1 of each year, the Tax Commissioner shall prescribe suitable blank forms to be used by all claimants for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption. Such forms shall contain provisions for the showing of all information which the Tax Commissioner may deem necessary to (1) enable the proper county officials to determine whether each claim for exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508~~,~~ and 77-3509 should be allowed, (2) enable the Tax Commissioner to determine whether each claim for exemption under section 77-3507 should be allowed, and (3) enable the county assessor to determine whether each claim for transfer of homestead exemption pursuant to section 77-3509.01 should be allowed. It shall be the duty of the county assessor of each county in this state to furnish such forms, upon request, to each person desiring to make application for homestead exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption on property located within that county. The forms so prescribed shall be used uniformly throughout the state and no application for exemption or for transfer of homestead exemption shall be allowed unless the applicant uses the regularly prescribed form in making an application.

Sec. 4. That section 77-3512, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3512. It shall be the duty of each owner who applies for the homestead exemption provided in sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 to file an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the homestead is located after January 1 and on or before April 1, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for that year.

Sec. 5. That section 77-3513, Revised

Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3513. (1) If an owner is granted a homestead exemption as provided in section ~~77-3506.01 or~~ 77-3509 or subdivision (2), (3), (4), or (5) of section 77-3508, the homestead exemption as to such property shall remain in full force and effect for each succeeding year without reapplication if the same owner is in all respects entitled to the same exemption granted under the provisions of sections 77-3501 to 77-3529. Once a qualified claimant has filed an application for homestead exemption and the exemption has been granted for that year, no reapplication need be filed for succeeding years, in which case the county assessor and Tax Commissioner shall determine whether the claimant shall qualify for the homestead exemption in such succeeding years as otherwise provided in sections 77-3501 to 77-3529 as though a claim were made.

(2) It shall be the duty of each claimant who wants the homestead exemption provided in subdivision (1) of section 77-3508 to file an application therefor with the county assessor on or before April 1 of each year, and failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the exemption for such year.

Sec. 6. That section 77-3514, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3514. The owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 shall notify the county assessor by March 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding year. For purposes of this section, change in the homestead exemption status shall include any change in the name of the owner, ownership, residence, marital status, veteran status, rating by the Veterans' Administration, or any other change that would affect the qualification for or type of exemption granted, except income checked by the Tax Commissioner under section 77-3517. In addition, in counties having a population greater than three hundred thousand, the owner of a homestead which has been granted an exemption under sections ~~77-3506.01~~ 77-3507 to 77-3509 may notify the county assessor by September 15 of each year of any change in the homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding portion of the calendar year as a result of a transfer of the homestead exemption pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02. If by his or her failure to give such notice any such property owner permits the allowance of the homestead exemption for any succeeding year, or in the year of application in the case of transfers pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02, after the homestead exemption status of such property has changed, an amount equal to the amount of the taxes lawfully due but not paid by reason of such unlawful and improper allowance of homestead exemption, together with penalty and interest on such total sum as provided by statute on delinquent ad valorem taxes, shall be due and shall upon entry of the amount thereof on the books of the county treasurer be a lien on such property while unpaid. Such lien may be enforced in the manner provided for liens for other delinquent taxes. Any person who has permitted the improper and unlawful allowance of such homestead exemption on his or her property shall as an additional penalty also forfeit his or her right to a homestead exemption on any other property in this state for the two succeeding years.

Sec. 7. That section 77-3516, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-3516. The county assessor shall examine each application for homestead exemption filed with him or her for an exemption pursuant to section ~~77-3506.01,~~ 77-3508~~,~~ or 77-3509 and shall determine whether or not such application should be approved or rejected and, if approved, determine the amount of the exemption. If the application is approved, the county assessor shall mark the same approved and show thereon the amount of exemption allowed and make the proper deduction upon the assessment rolls. In case he or she finds that the exemption should not be allowed by reason of not being in conformity to law, the county assessor shall mark the application rejected and state thereon the reason for such rejection. In any case when the county assessor disallows or reduces an application for exemption, he or she shall notify the applicant of such action by mailing written notice to the applicant at the address shown in the application, which notice shall be mailed not later than the fourth Monday in April of each year and shall be on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner. All applications for exemption, showing thereon the action of the county assessor, shall be delivered to the county board of equalization on or before the fourth Monday of April of each year.

Sec. 8. This act shall be operative for all taxable years commencing on or after January 1, 1985.

Sec. 9. That original sections 77-3509.01, 77-3509.02, 77-3510, 77-3512 to 77-3514, and 77-3516, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, and also sections 77-3506.01 and 77-3516.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, are repealed.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 90
May 31, 1985

Dear Senator Vard Johnson:

You have requested our opinion on three questions regarding the constitutionality of LB 717 as amended by Senator DeCamp. Generally, the amendment would impose a franchise tax on financial institutions or financial groups, in lieu of the tax imposed under Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2734.02 (Supp. 1984), at the rate of 5 per cent of the institution's financial net income. The amendment also provides a credit against the tax imposed based on the percentage of average assets invested in exempt securities. The credit for financial institutions with an average investment in exempt securities of 12 per cent or less is one-half of 1 per cent of financial taxable income. The credit for financial institutions with an average investment in exempt securities exceeding 12 per cent is 1 per cent of financial taxable income. In addition, the amendment imposes a limitation on the amount of the tax imposed of 40 cents per thousand dollars of average deposits.

1. Initially, you have asked us to consider whether LB 717, as amended, would operate as an unconstitutional impairment of contractual obligations, in violation of Article I, Section 10 of the United States Constitution. Specifically, you refer to language contained in certain Nebraska statutes which provide the income from certain bonds shall be exempt from taxation. Neb.Rev.Stat. §3-511 (Reissue 1983) (City Airport Authority Bonds); Neb.Rev.Stat. §18-2125 (Reissue 1983) (Community Development Bonds); Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-268 (Reissue 1984) (Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Bonds); Neb.Rev.Stat. §71-1543 (Supp. 1984) (Housing Authority Bonds); Neb.Rev.Stat. §79-2950 (Reissue 1981) (Educational Facilities Authority Bonds).

In Macallen Co. v. Massachusetts, 279 U.S. 620 (1929), the U.S. Supreme Court held a state excise tax imposed on corporations for the privilege of doing business measured by net income, which included interest on tax exempt obligations, operated to impose a tax on county and municipal bonds and, therefore, was void as impairing the obligation of the statutory contract of the state by which such bonds were exempted from state taxation. In concluding the excise tax violated the constitutional prohibition against the impairment of contractual obligations, the Court in Macallen distinguished the tax imposed form earlier decisions recognizing the validity of franchise taxes measured by net income, including income from tax-exempt obligations, by stating:

> The distinction pointed out in these cases is between an attempt to tax the property or income as such and to measure a legitimate tax upon the privileges involved in the use thereof. It is implicit in all that the thing taxed in form was in fact and reality the subject aimed at, and that any burden put upon the nontaxable subject by its use as a measure of value was fortuitous and incidental.

Id. at 628.

Subsequently, in Pacific Co. v. Johnson, 285 U.S. 480 (1932), the Court held a California franchise tax did not unconstitutionally impair the obligation of contract by adopting as a basis for the tax the entire net income of corporations, including income from tax-exempt municipal bonds. The Court in Pacific Co. stated:

> If, as appellant argues, the exemption from taxation of the bonds is contractual and extends to the income derived from them, the question still remains whether the immunity is broad enough to secure freedom from taxation of a corporate franchise, to the extent that it is measured by tax exempt income.
> * * *
> The rule that a tax upon a franchise, measured by net income, including that from tax immune property, is not an infringement of the immunity, was re-examined and affirmed in Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U. S. 107, 31 S. Ct. 342, 55 L. Ed. 389, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 1312, which was accepted as authority in Macallen Co. v. Massachusetts, 279 U. S. 620, 49 S. Ct. 432, 436, 73 L. Ed. 874 {65 A. L. R. 866}, and followed in Educational Films Corp. v. Ward, 282 U. S. 379, 51 S. Ct. 170, 75 L.Ed. 400 {71 A. L. R. 1226}.
> This distinction, so often and consistently reaffirmed, is but a recognition that the franchise, the privilege of doing business in corporate form, which is a legitimate subject of taxation, does not cease to be such because it is exercised in the acquisition and enjoyment of nontaxables. The distinction is one of substance, not of form, and has been so recently discussed in Educational Films Corp. v. Ward that it need not be elaborated here. It suffices to say that the tax immunity extended to property qua property does not embrace a special privilege, the corporate franchise, otherwise taxable, merely because the value of the corporate property or net income is included in an equable measure of the enjoyment of the privilege. The owner may enjoy his exempt property free of tax, but if he asks and receives from the state the benefit of a taxable privilege as the implement of that enjoyment, he must bear the burden of the tax which the state exacts as its price.

285 U.S. at 489, 490.

In upholding the validity of the California franchise tax, the Court in Pacific Co. distinguished the tax from what it characterized as the Discriminatory tax invalidated in Macallen Co., stating:

> . . . {T}he present act must be judged by its operation rather than by the motives which inspired it. As it operates to measure the tax on the corporate franchise by the entire net income of the corporation, without any discrimination between income which is exempt and that which is not, there is no infringement of any constitutional immunity.

285 U.S. at 496.

The Macallen Co. and Pacific Co. cases both recognized that a franchise tax measured by net income, including income from tax-exempt obligations, does not represent an unconstitutional impairment of the statutory immunity from taxation granted such obligations. In Macallen Co., however, the Court held the excise tax unconstitutional as an impairment of the obligation of contract because the tax, although in form denominated an excise tax, was in substance intended to impose a direct tax on county and municipal bonds exempted from taxation by statute.

It should be noted that the U.S. Supreme Court, in a more recent decision, indicated the distinction between a tax imposed "on the privilege of doing business," and a tax on net income, may no longer be considered significant. Complete Auto Transit, Inc. v. Brady, 430 U.S. 274 (1977). In Complete Auto, the Court held a state tax imposed on "the privilege of doing business" in the state did not violate the Commerce Clause merely because it applied to activities which were part of interstate commerce. In overruling previous decisions which held a tax on the "privilege" of engaging in an activity in a state may not be applied to activities which were part of interstate commerce, the Court stated:

> . . . {I}t is clear that Connecticut could have taxed the apportioned net income derived from the exclusively interstate commerce. It could not, however, tax the "privilege" of doing business as measured by the apportioned net income. The reason for attaching constitutional significance to a semantic difference is difficult to discern.

Id. at 285.

Applying these principles to the franchise tax imposed under the amendment to LB 717, it appears the inclusion of income from tax-exempt obligations in determining the tax could be construed as an unconstitutional impairment of contract, in light of the Nebraska statutes providing the income from specified bond issues shall be exempt from taxation. While the statutes provide the income from these bonds shall be exempt from taxation, the decision in Pacific Co.indicates this would not preclude the inclusion of the income from such obligations in the determination of a franchise tax based on net income, imposed on financial institutions or groups for the privilege of doing business in the state. Furthermore, the tax does not operate to discriminate between exempt and non-exempt income, a factor emphasized by the Court in Pacific Co..

Based on the U.S. Supreme Court decision in Macallen Co, however, it could be contended the tax imposed under LB 717, as amended, is intended to operate as a subterfuge to tax indirectly income from obligations which are, by statute, granted immunity from direct taxation. This is particularly true in light of the Court's decision in Complete Auto, indicating the distinction between a franchise tax based on net income, and an income tax, may no longer be considered significant. The key consideration may be that the tax, while in form denominated a franchise tax, may be considered to be a tax on income in violation of the immunity from taxation of certain bonds granted by statute. While we cannot affirmatively conclude that the franchise tax proposed under LB 717 would be held unconstitutional, we believe it may be constitutionally suspect on this basis.

2. Your second question concerns whether subsection (2) of section 2 of the amendment, which provides, in part, "{W}henever the amount of deposits at the end of a quarter is reported to a state or federal regulatory agency, the reported amount shall be used to determine average deposits," represents an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

It is well-established that the Legislature may lawfully enact a statute which adopts by reference an existing law or regulation of another jurisdiction, including the United States. State v. Workman, 186 Neb. 467, 183 N.W.2d 911 (1971); Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967) Lincoln Dairy Company v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 104 N.W.2d 227 (1960). Unless expressly authorized by the Constitution of Nebraska, however, the Legislature may not lawfully enact a statute in which it adopts either administrative rules of a federal agency to be promulgated in the future, or an act of the United States Congress to be passed in the future. Smithberger v. Banning, 129 Neb. 651, 262 N.W. 491 (1935).

Subsection (2) of section 2 of the amendment, containing the definition of average deposits, and subsection (6) of section 2, containing the definition of financial net income, both refer to figures "reported to a state or federal regulatory agency" by the financial institution. This language refers to what are commonly known as call reports, which are financial statements financial institutions are required to periodically provide to an appropriate regulatory agency or body.

Pursuant to 12 U.S.C. §1817(a)(3), all banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation are required to make quarterly reports of condition. Subsections (4) and (5) of §1817 establish requirements for reporting the deposit liabilities of insured banks, referring to the definition of deposit contained in 12 U.S.C. §1813(1). State banks are required to file reports of financial condition with the Department of Banking and Finance. Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-166 (Reissue 1983) provides such reports shall be made "according to the form which may be prescribed by the department." Section 8-167 provides "{E}ach report required by section 8-166 shall exhibit in detail and under appropriate headings the resources and liabilities of the bank at the close of business on any past day specified by the call for report. . . ."

With respect to your question concerning the potential unlawful delegation of legislative authority under the amendment, we believe that, at least with respect to the reference to reports made to federal regulatory agencies, this aspect of the bill would be unconstitutional on this basis. While it is appropriate for the Legislature to adopt by reference existing federal statutes or administrative rules promulgated by federal agencies, the amendment is not, by its terms, so limited. Congress could, in the future, alter the reporting requirements of 26 U.S.C. §1817(a), or amend the definition of deposits contained in 26 U.S.C. §1813. It is therefore our opinion that, to the extent the amendment relies upon definitions which may be subject to future statutory changes enacted by the United States Congress, the bill would contain an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

3. Your final question concerns whether the amendment's provision of a credit of one-half of 1 per cent for financial institutions having exempt securities equal to 12 per cent of total assets or less, and a 1 per cent credit for financial institutions having exempt securities in excess of 12 per cent of total assets, would constitute unlawful discrimination. You indicate that, while over 99 per cent of the banks operating in the state have exempt securities in excess of 12 per cent of their total assets, qualifying them for the 1 per cent credit, other financial institutions have exempt securities of less than 12 per cent of their total assets, thus qualifying them for the one-half per cent credit only.

In State ex rel. Douglas v. Marsh, 207 Neb. 598, 607, 609, 300 N.W.2d 181, ___ (1980), the Nebraska Supreme Court stated:

> While the question of classification is one primarily for the Legislature and in the exercise of this power the Legislature possesses a wide discretion, there must, nevertheless, be some rational basis for the classification.
> Classifications for the purpose of legislation must be real and not illusive; they cannot be based on distinctions without a substantial difference.
> (Empahsis in original).

Discussing the protection against discrimination afforded under the equal protection clause, the U.S. Supreme Court, in Dandridge v. Williams, 397 U.S. 471, ___ (1970), stated:

> In the area of economics and social welfare, a State does not violate the Equal Protection Clause merely because the classifications made by its laws are imperfect.
> * * *
> A statutory discrimination will not be set aside if any state of facts reasonably may be conceived to justify it.

The amendment to LB 717 does not specifically differentiate between banks and other financial institutions for purposes of determining qualification for the credit provided. Rather, according to your letter, the different treatment would occur due to the fact that, at the present time, nearly all banks would qualify for the 1 per cent credit, while other financial institutions would qualify for only the one-half per cent credit. The amendment does not, on its face, discriminate between banks and other financial institutions.

The crucial question presented is whether some rational basis can be conceived to validate the classification establishing the credit granted, which is based on the percentage of exempt securities held by an institution. Conceivably, a rational basis for the distinction can be asserted if the Legislature determined, as a matter of policy, the granting of a greater credit to institutions for carrying a higher percentage of exempt securities would encourage a greater level of investment in government obligations. In addition, it should be noted the classification established does not operate to create an impermissible closed class. Given the broad discretion granted the Legislature in matters of classification, we cannot conclude the amendment would be unconstitutional as creating an unreasonable or discriminatory classification.

Re: Nebraska Constitution, Article XII, Section 8
(Initiative 300)

Dear Senator Pappas:

This is in response to your inquiry concerning the provisions of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution, commonly referred to as Initiative 300.

You first ask if our previous Opinion that a non-family farm corporation may not engage in any aspect of farming or ranching is still correct. In response, we note that Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution which specifically provides that corporations (other than family farm corporations) may not engage in farming or ranching has not been amended or repealed since our previous Opinion, so there appears to be no basis for our arriving at a conclusion different from that previously expressed.

You next ask if it makes a difference if a non-family farm corporation was engaged in farming, ranching, or horticulture prior to the effective date of the amendment.

The first paragraph of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution provides:

> No corporation or syndicate shall acquire, or otherwise obtain an interest, whether legal, beneficial, or otherwise, in any title to real estate used for farming or ranching in this state, or engage in farming or ranching. (emphasis added).

It is quite clear form this provision that the amendment to the Constitution deals with two separate and distinct subjects, the corporate acquisition of ownership or other interest in land used for farming or ranching, and the act of engaging in farming or ranching.

With regard to the restrictions, possession of an interest in farm or ranch land, and farming or ranching, Initiative 300 goes on to provide in paragraph (D) that those restrictions shall not apply to: "(D) agricultural land, which as of the effective date of this act is being farmed or ranched . . . (etc.) . . . so long as such land or other interest in title shall be held in continuous ownership . . . "

This is a "grandfather clause", which permits the continuance of those specific prohibited acts which were in existance at the time the provision was adopted.

While there is no legislative history concerning the intent of the drafters of Initiative 300 with regard to the exceptions to the prohibitions contained in the amendment, it is our interpretation of paragraph (D) that it intends to authorize non-qualified corporations which possess an interest in farm or ranch land to continue to farm or ranch on these lands so long as they possess such interest after the adoption of Initiative 300, but that non-qualified corporations which do not possess an interest in farm or ranch land on the effective date of the adoption of Initiative 300 may not continue to farm or ranch after that date.

In answer to your last question, there is no provision in Initiative 300 which prohibits the financing of corporations engaged in farming or ranching, or the financing of the purchase of farm or ranch lands.

Very truly yours,

Re: LB 653

Dear Senator Schmit:

This is in response to your inquiry concerning amendments 1233 to LB 653, and more particularly the amendments in section 5, which would amend Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-150 dealing with the authority of state banks to acquire and convey real estate, and the constitutionality of such amendments considering the provisions of Article XII, Section 8, of our Constitution, more commonly known as Initiative 300.

Your first inquiry concerns that part of section 5 which would amend §8-150 to provide that banks may purchase, hold and convey real estate ". . . (2) such as shall be conveyed to it for debts due the bank; and (3) such as it shall purchase at sale under judgments, decrees, deeds of trust, or mortgages held by the bank or shall purchase to secure debts due to it . . . ."

The applicable portion of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution provides that the restrictions against corporations acquiring any interest in real estate used for farming or ranching shall not apply to: "(K) Agricultural lands . . . acquired by a corporation or syndicate by process of law in the collection of debts, or by any procedures for the enforcement of a lien, encumbrance, or claim thereon, whether created by mortgage or otherwise." (Emphasis added.)

In a case challenging the constitutionality of Initiative 300, the District Court of Lancaster County recently held that to the extent that Initiative 300 would prohibit national banks from acquiring real estate "conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings," or "purchased to secure debts to it," it would be unconstitutional. Omaha National Bank v. Spire, Lancaster County, 372-190.

Although the Omaha National Bank case did not involve the rights of state banks, in our opinion, paragraph (K) of Article XII, Section 8, of our Constitution is self-executing and authorize both state and national bank corporations to acquire farm or ranch land used as security for any debt owed to them, in satisfaction of the debt.

You have also asked if the amendment to Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-150 contained in the last sentence of section 5 of the proposed amendment to LB 653 is contrary to the provisions of Article XII, Section 8, of the Nebraska Constitution.

The last sentence of the amendment to section 5 of LB 653 provides that: "A bank may utilize property acquired by it under subdivisions (2) and (3) of this section in any manner authorized by the department {of banking}."

In this regard, paragraph (K) of Article XII, Section 8, provides in part that "{a}ny lands so acquired . . . (in the collection of debts or for enforcement of a lien, etc.) . . .shall not be used for farming or ranching prior to being disposed of, except under a lease to a family farm or ranch corporation or a non-syndicate and non-corporate farm or ranch."

To the extent that the Department of Banking would, under the authority of the proposed amendment to LB 653, authorize a bank to use farm or ranch land, acquired in satisfaction of a debt which it secured, contrary to the limitations provided in paragraph (K) of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution, it is our opinion that the authorization of the Department of Banking would not be enforceable.

In closing you have noted that there may be a conflict between that part of Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-150 which provides that real estate acquired by banks in satisfaction of debts, etc. "shall be sold at private or public sale within five years unless authority shall have been given in writing by the department {of banking} to hold it for a longer period." (Emphasis added.)

In this regard, paragraph (K) of Article XII, Section 8, provides in part that agricultural lands acquired {by a bank corporation} in the collection of debts or for the enforcement of a lien, etc., "shall be disposed of within a period of five years." No provision is made for any extension beyond the five year period.

To the extent that Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-150 did authorize the Department of Banking to extend the time within which a bank must dispose of farm land beyond five years, that authority has been limited by Article XII, Section 8, to five years, without extension.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93
June 3, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested us to clarify our response regarding the second question addressed in Attorney General Opinion No. 88, issued on May 29, 1985, dealing with the constitutionality of the Revenue Committee amendment to LB 717. You have asked whether the expense add back formula contained in the amendment unconstitutionally discriminates against municipal bond issues in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution is applicable to state tax legislation, and operates to impose a restraint on the taxing power of the state. State ex rel. Douglas v. State Board of Equalization & Assessment, 205 Neb. 130, 286 N.W.2d 729 (1979). In Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 406, 155 N.W.2d 322, ___ (1967), the Nebraska Supreme Court stated the following regarding the limitation imposed on the state taxing power under the Equal Protection Clause:

> The power of a state to make reasonable and natural classifications for purposes of taxation is clear and unquestioned. "That a statute may discriminate in favor of a certain class does not render it arbitrary if the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction, or difference in state policy. * * * Similarly, it has long been settled that a classification, though discriminatory, is not arbitrary nor violative of the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment if any state of facts reasonably can be conceived that would sustain it." Allied Stores of Ohio, Inc. v. Bowers, 358 U.S. 522, 79 S.Ct. 437, 3 L.Ed 2d 480.

We do not believe the expense add back formula contained in the Revenue Committee amendment to LB 717 will unconstitutionally discriminate against municipal bond issues in violation of the Equal Protection Clause. The formula does not include municipal bonds alone in the calculation of the add back to taxable income. The amount of the add back is determined by dividing the corporation's average investment in all exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets, and multiplying this ratio by the corporation's total expenses. Furthermore, we believe a rational basis can be asserted for the add back formula. As was noted in our earlier opinion, the formula is designed to apportion a permissible exclusion or disallowance of expense deductions pertaining to the generation of nontaxable income.

While your letter refers only to the question of potential discrimination in violation of the Equal Protection Clause, we feel we should point out the distinction between the add back formula utilized in the Revenue Committee amendment to LB 717, and the discriminatory tax scheme invalidated by the U.S. Supreme Court in Memphis Bank & Trust Company v. Garner, 459 U.S. 392 (1983). In Memphis Bank, the Court held a Tennessee bank tax, under which the taxable net earnings of banks included interest earned on federal obligations, but excluded interest from obligations of the state and its political subdivisions, was discriminatory and therefore violated the immunity of federal obligations from state and local taxation provided under 31 U.S.C. §742.

The tax scheme held discriminatory in Memphis Bank differs from the add back formula provided under the Revenue Committee amendment to LB 717 in two key respects. First, the calculation employed in the add back formula does not discriminate between federal and state or local obligations. The ratio utilized is based on the total investment in all exempt securities, not solely investments in municipal bonds. This is the same ratio now employed under Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2716(3) (Supp. 1984). Secondly, as we have pointed out previously, the add back formula does not subject interest income earned on such tax-exempt obligations to taxation as income. The formula operates to disallow or exclude a portion of expense deductions not incurred to generate taxable income.

"Sec. 3. That section 77-2715.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2715.01. (1)(a) Commencing in 1984 the Legislature shall set the rate of the income tax imposed by section 77-2715 and the rate of the sales tax imposed by subsection (1) of section 77-2703.

(b) The Legislature shall set the rates of the sales tax and income tax so that the estimated funds available plus estimated receipts from the sales, use, income, and franchise taxes and the amount of funds in the Cash Reserve Fund will be not less than three per cent nor more than seven per cent in excess of the appropriations and express obligations for the next two succeeding calendar years. The purpose of this subdivision is to insure that there shall be maintained in the state treasury an adequate General Fund balance, considering cash flow, to meet the appropriations and express obligations of the state.

(c) The rates of the sales and income taxes shall be fixed so that the total sales and use taxes levied will as nearly as possible equal the total individual income tax levied for the calendar year for which the rates so fixed will be effective. The Legislature shall set the rates in such a manner that total sales and use tax revenue should not exceed total individual income tax revenue in any particular year.

(d) For purposes of this subsection, total sales and use taxes levied shall mean the total state sales and use tax liability of all taxpayers for the calendar year reduced by the additional one half of one per cent sales and use tax imposed by section 77-2715.04. Total income and franchise taxes levied shall mean the total state income and franchise tax liability of all taxpayers for the calendar year.

(e) The sales tax rate so fixed by the Legislature shall be an increment of one half of one per cent, and the income tax rate so fixed shall be an increment of one per cent.

(f) For purposes of this section, express obligation shall mean an obligation which has fiscal impact identifiable by a sum certain or by an established percentage or other determinative factor or factors.

(2) The Speaker of the Legislature and the chairpersons of the Legislature's Executive Board, Revenue Committee, and Appropriations Committee shall meet with the Tax Commissioner within ten days after the fifteenth of July and October of each year and shall determine whether the rates for sales tax and income tax should be changed. In making such determination they shall recalculate the requirements pursuant to the formula set forth in subsection (1) of this section, taking into consideration the appropriations and express obligations for any session, all miscellaneous claims, deficiency bills, and all emergency appropriations.

In the event it is determined by a majority vote that the rates must be changed as a result of a regular or special session or as a result of a change in the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and amendments thereto, other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, and the rules and regulations issued under such laws, they shall petition the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to make whatever rate changes may be necessary.".

2. On page 2, line 11, strike "and" and insert a comma; and in line 12 after the first comma insert "and 77-2715.01,".

3. Renumber the remaining section accordingly.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 94
May 31, 1985

Dear Senator Vickers:

You have requested an opinion from our office with regard to several questions raised by amendments to LB 496, the mandatory safety belt legislation. First, you have inquired whether the amendments to LB 496 contained in the second final reading copy of the bill have resolved the question of whether the legislation applies solely to vehicles sold in the State of Nebraska. We believe that although prior language of LB 496 made its provisions applicable solely to vehicles sold in the State of Nebraska, such language has been eliminated, making the provisions of LB 496 applicable to every motor vehicle, model year 1964 or later, which is operated in the state.

Second, you have inquired whether incorporating a Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard into the safety belt legislation, as such standard exists on the effective date of the legislative bill, is constitutionally suspect. At the time you submitted your opinion request to our office, LB 496 included the statement that "{a}ll safety belts so worn shall be properly adjusted and fastened and shall be of a type which meets the requirements of Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard 209 in existence on the effective date of this act." Since the time of your request, this provision of LB 496 has been amended to read:

> All safety belts so worn shall be properly adjusted and fastened and shall (1) be of a type which meets the requirements of 49 C.F.R. section 571.208 as such regulation currently exists or as the regulation existed when the safety belts were originally installed by the manufacturer or (2) if the safety belts have been replaced, be of a type which meets the requirements of 49 C.F.R. section 571.208 that applied to the originally installed safety belts or of a more recently issued version of such regulation.

As the third final reading copy of LB 496 does not adopt the federal regulations as they exist on the effective date of the legislation, it is our opinion that a response to your question is no longer needed.

Third, you have asked whether LB 496 represents an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority. A legislative enactment which adopts federal regulations which are in existence at the time of adoption does not represent an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to the federal government. See, 16 C.J.S., Constitutional Law, §138 and cases cited therein. The Legislature, however, may not adopt federal regulations which are not yet in existence at the time of adoption. It is not clear from a reading of LB 496 whether the bill refers to federal regulations which "currently exist" on the date of adoption of the legislation or which "currently exist" from day to day throughout the time the safety belt legislation is in existence.

If the intent is to adopt the federal regulations as they currently exist on the date of adoption, it appears that no unlawful delegation of legislative authority would be present. Where the regulations as they exist on a specific date are adopted, the authority and discretion to alter the definition of a conforming safety belt would not be delegated to the federal government. We note that if the federal regulations are incorporated as of a specific date, such incorporation in LB 496 is distinguishable from the situation involved in Lincoln Dairy Co. v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 104 N.W.2d 227 (1960). In Lincoln Dairy Co., supra, the Legislature granted to the Director of the Department of Agriculture the authority to promulgate rules and regulations which were in compliance with a specific milk ordinance, and provided that violation of such rules and regulations would be a criminal offense. The Supreme Court of Nebraska held in Lincoln Dairy Co., supra, that the Legislature had unconstitutionally delegated its authority to an administrative agency.

If LB 496 adopts the federal regulations as of a specific date, and does not empower any federal entity with discretion to alter the terms of that bill, it is not constitutionally suspect as an unlawful delegation of legislative authority. However, if the Legislature intends to adopt federal regulations as they will currently exist throughout the duration of the safety belt statutes, such provision would be constitutionally suspect, as the provision may be construed to be a delegation of power by the Legislature to the federal government.

Your fourth question is whether LB 496 contains sufficient clarity in defining the offense of failure to wear a safety belt. Section 4 of LB 496 provides:

Any person who violates section 1 of this act shall be guilty of a traffic infraction as defined in section 39-602 and shall be fined twenty-five dollars, but no court costs shall be assessed against him or her nor shall any points be assessed against the driving record of such person.

It is our opinion that Section 4 of LB 496 affords individuals sufficient notice of the conduct proscribed by the statute, and that such section, therefore, is not constitutionally suspect.

Your fifth question is whether the effect of LB 496 will be to require all motor vehicles, model year 1964 or later, to be equipped with safety belts which meet the requirements of the federal safety standard. Due to the language contained in the most current amendment of LB 496, it is our opinion that a response to this question is no longer needed.

Sixth, you have inquired whether because the term "safety belts" is not defined in LB 496, but is defined in the documents incorporated by the Legislature in the bill, the bill is unconstitutionally vague. By incorporating the federal rules and regulations, the definition of "safety belt" contained therein would be adopted by the Legislature. LB 496 is not constitutionally suspect merely because it adopts the definition of "safety belt" contained in the federal regulations.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 95
June 3, 1985

Dear Senator Beutler:

This is in response to your letter of May 20, 1985, concerning LB 516. Your specific question relates to the Commission on Judicial Workloads created in section 1 of LB 516. For the purposes of your opinion we are assuming that the Lamb amendment to this bill has been stricken and that the Commission on Judicial Workloads is empowered, as set out in Amendment No. 1408, to change the number of election districts, the boundaries of the election districts, and the number of judges who will serve in each election district.

In Opinion No. 86, May 22, 1985, we found that the authority granted to this Commission constituted the delegation of a legislative function. We further found this section to be unconstitutional as a violation of the doctrine of separation of powers found in Article II, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution because it called on members of the judiciary as part of the Commission on Judicial Workloads to exercise legislative functions.

Your question is whether the inclusion of members of the Nebraska State Bar Association on this Commission is a proper delegation of authority under Article II, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution. The Nebraska Supreme Court has long maintained that the Legislature may not delegate legislative functions to private individuals. Elliott v. Wille, 112 Neb. 78, 200 N.W. 347 (1924), and Searle v. Yensen, 118 Neb. 835, 226 N.W. 464, 69 A.L.R. 257 (1929). On the other hand, the courts have indicated that the Legislature may delegate some of its power to other public bodies who exercise legislative functions. Searle v. Yensen, supra, and Nickel v. School Board of Axtell, 157 Neb. 813, 61 N.W.2d 566 (1953). This is particularly true where the legislative function consists of fixing the boundaries of districts for public purposes, in which case the courts have indicated that the Legislature may authorize the organization of districts for public purposes by other governmental bodies. Elliott v. Wille, supra, and Ruwe v. School District, 120 Neb. 668, 234 N.W. 789 (1931).

In the case of Nickel v. School Board of Axtell, supra, the court specifically found that the task of fixing the boundaries of a political subdivision of the state for a public purpose had not been delegated to private individuals but to a county committee, which was a public body created by the act specifically for that purpose. Id. at 819. This is similar to the function of the Commission on Judicial Workloads and as such would not constitute a delegation of legislative authority to private individuals but rather to a public body specifically created for that purpose. Therefore, we see no violation of Article II, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution by the inclusion of either members of the Nebraska State Bar Association, or private citizens as also provided by LB 516, on such a commission.

In addition, you also ask whether the manner of selecting the Bar Association members to sit on the Commission violates Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution. Article III, Section 18, is a prohibition against special or local legislation. This legislation affects the entire state and could not be construed as local or special legislation. LB 516 further provides that the three Bar Association members to be appointed to the Commission would come from each of the three congressional districts of the state. We see no violation of Article III, Section 18, in such a procedure.

Your final question concerns Article IV, Section 10, of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that:

> The Governor shall appoint with the approval of a majority of the Legislature, all persons whose offices are established by the Constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided by law or herein provided for; and no such person shall be appointed or elected by the Legislature.

LB 516 would provide that the three Bar Association members are to be appointed by the Executive Council of the Nebraska State Bar Association. This would be a clear violation of Article IV, Section 10, of the Nebraska Constitution, since such appointments must be made by the Governor.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

(Amendments to Final Reading Copy)

"Section 1. That section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2716. (1) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income interest or dividends on obligations of the United States and its territories and possessions or of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includable in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States. The amount subtracted under ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection shall, except as provided in subsections (2) to (6) of this section, be reduced by any interest on indebtedness incurred to carry the obligations or securities described in this subsection and by any expenses incurred in the production of interest or dividend income described in this subsection to the extent that such expenses, including amortizable bond premiums, are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(2) For corporations subject to the tax under section 77-2734.02 with income from exempt securities, in lieu of the reduction for expenses contained in subsection (1) of this section, there shall be added to federal taxable income the investment interest expense incurred by the corporation to purchase and maintain exempt securities as determined under subsection (3) of this section.

(3)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this subsection, the ~~The~~ investment interest expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall be determined by ~~(a)~~ (i) dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets and multiplying such ratio by the corporation's total interest expense and ~~(b)~~ (ii) subtracting any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291.

(b) For the taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1986, the investment interest expense provided in subsection (2) of this section for financial institutions shall be determined by (i) dividing the corporation's average investment in exempt securities by the corporation's average total assets and (ii) subtracting any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291. For the taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1986, through taxable years beginning in 1990, the investment interest expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed ninety per cent of the amount of income received from exempt securities. For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1991, the investment interest expense provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed seventy-five per cent of the amount of the income received from exempt securities.

(4) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) Exempt securities shall mean the obligations that earn income exempt from taxation under subsection (1) of this section or under 26 U.S.C. section 103;

(b) Average investment in exempt securities shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in exempt securities at the beginning and the end of the taxable year;

(c) Average total assets shall mean the average of the aggregate tax basis in total assets at the beginning and end of the taxable year; ~~and~~

(d) Total interest expense shall mean the total interest expense allowed as a deduction in computing federal taxable income plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291;~~.~~

(e) Total expenses shall mean the amount subtracted from gross income in order to determine taxable income for federal income tax purposes plus any interest disallowed under 26 U.S.C. sections 265 and 291, but not including net operating loss deductions, deductions for dividends paid, or special deductions for dividends received;

(f) Corporation shall mean the entity which owns the obligations;

(g) Corporate taxpayer shall mean the unitary group, or a corporation that is not a member of a unitary group, that is required to file a return under section 77-2734.02; and

(h) Financial institution shall mean any bank, building and loan association, industrial loan and investment company, savings and loan association, savings bank, or trust company chartered to do business in the state.

(5) Whenever it is necessary to properly reflect the ratio of investment in exempt securities to total assets, the Tax Commissioner may permit or require the computation of the average provided for in subsection (3) of this section using amounts from interim balance sheets.

(6) The corporation may use, in lieu of the tax basis for the computation in subsection (3) of this section, the amounts from a balance sheet included with the federal return or as required to be reported to federal or state regulatory agencies if (a) such amounts are not materially different from tax basis, (b) the amounts are prepared consistently from year to year, and (c) absent a change in circumstances, the amounts are consistently used by the corporation from year to year. The Tax Commissioner may require a corporation to use the alternative amounts in order to maintain consistency or may require the corporation to show that the amounts used do not materially differ from the tax basis.

(7) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income dividends received or deemed to be received from corporations which are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.

Sec. 2. That original section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, is repealed.".

2. On page 1, strike beginning with "state" in line 1 through "claims" in line 6 and insert "amend section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984; to provide an adjustment for certain investment interest expenses; to define terms; and to repeal the original section".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 96
June 3, 1985

Dear Senator Barrett:

This will acknowledge our receipt of your inquiry which pertains to LB 670 of the Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session (1985).

We note that this legislative bill pertains to public lettings. If it were to become operative law, section 1 of LB 670 would amend Neb.Rev.Stat. §73-101 (Reissue 1981) by specifically inserting educational service units into a list of public bodies upon which certain duties are imposed when advertising for bids pursuant to certain statutes of the State of Nebraska. Section 2 of LB 670, if it were to become operative law, would amend Neb.Rev.Stat. §79-2201.01 (Reissue 1981) by specifically providing that educational service units shall be bound by the bidding procedures and requirements prescribed in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§73-101 to 73-106 (Reissue 1981). In connection therewith, you have asked two questions, each of which is hereafter separately discussed.

1. Under current law, is an educational service unit a "governmental subdivision," as the term appears in Neb.Rev.Stat. §73-101 (Reissue 1981), thus rendering the new language in lines 6 and 7 on page 2 of LB 670 superfluous?

The term "governmental subdivision" is not specifically defined in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§73-101 to 73-106 (Reissue 1981). Moreover, we know of no case law which specifically holds that an educational service unit is a "governmental subdivision" as that term is used in the statutes cited. On the other hand, the Nebraska Supreme Court has held that the initial formation of educational service units and their geographical boundaries was a proper exercise of legislative power and within constitutional limits. See, Frye v. Haas, 182 Neb. 73, 82, 152 N.W.2d 121 (1967). Hence, it can hardly be doubted that educational service units are subdivisions of the government of the State of Nebraska. See also, Platte Valley Public Power & Irrigation District v. County of Lincoln, 144 Neb. 584, 14 N.W.2d 202 (1944). We are therefore of the opinion that under current law, an educational service unit is a "governmental subdivision," as that term appears in Neb.Rev.Stat. §73-101 (Reissue 1981), and therefore the new language in lines 6 and 7 on page 2 of LB 670 is superfluous.

2. If Educational Service Units are included within sections 73-101 to 73-106, either under current law or by section 1 of LB 670, does the new language inserted by section 2, on page 3 lines 16 to 18, into section 79-2201.01 impose any duties and requirements on educational service units not already provided under section 79-2201.01?

It appears to us that the answer to the above stated question is dependent upon whether an educational service unit, in a particular case, is advertising for bids pursuant to any statutes of the State of Nebraska. If the answer is "yes," then it is our opinion that the new language inserted by section 2 of LB 670, page 3, lines 16 to 18, does not impose any duties and requirements on educational service units not already provided under Neb.Rev.Stat. §79-2201.01 (Reissue 1981). On the other hand, if an educational service unit is not, in a particular case, advertising for bids pursuant to any statutes of the State of Nebraska, the new language in section 2 of LB 670, page 3, lines 16 to 18, would have no application.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 97
May 31, 1985

Dear Senator Schmit:

You have asked our opinion on the constitutionality of three proposals to fund the construction of plants to produce grain alcohol.

One proposal would provide a grant of funds appropriated from the general fund for the construction of such plants.

A second proposal would provide a refundable tax credit for the production of alcohol with any excess of a refund over a producer's tax liability to be paid by the Department of Revenue from the general fund.

The third proposal would be similar to the second except that the excess over the tax liability would not be refundable, but would carry over as a credit against tax liability in future years.

It seems quite clear that the purpose of the proposals set forth above is to promote the development of alcohol plants in the state.

In light of this we point out that in the adoption of Article XIII, Section 2, of the Nebraska Constitution, a mechanism has been created for the encouragement of industrial development. We doubt that there would be any question but that none of the three proposals suggested would meet the requirements or fall within the requirements of this provision of our Constitution.

Your question is directed to the constitutionality of the proposals considering the provision of Article XIII, Section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution, which provides in part: "The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . ."

In Oxnard Beet Sugar Company v. State, 73 Neb. 57, 102 N.W. 80 (1905), our Supreme Court held a statute offering a bounty for the manufacture of sugar and chicory unconstitutional for the reason that the Legislature cannot appropriate or pledge the public money for private purposes.

Later cases to the same effect are United Community Services v. Omaha National Bank, 162 Neb. 786, 77 N.W.2d 576 (1956), and State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223, 82 N.W.2d 269 (1957).

It should be noted that in the above cases our court held that money could not be paid out of the State Treasury to benefit a specific entity. Clearly, the first two proposals requiring payment of money from the State Treasury would be unconstitutional.

In regard to your particular question of the right of the Legislature to provide for the assistance of a particular entity by way of a carry-over tax credit, that is, being excused from the payment of a tax as distinguished from being the recipient of tax money already paid into the state General Fund, we have been unable to find any case in which our Supreme Court has addressed that particular issue.

Since we have no clear guidelines to follow, we are unable to say, with any degree of certainty, what our Supreme Court would hold with regard to the validity of a carry-over tax credit in aid of development of grain alcohol plants.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

Opinion No. 98
June 4, 1985

Dear Senator Barrett:

This is in response to your letter of June 3, 1985, concerning LB 157.

Your first concern with LB 157 deals with Section 1 (5) and (6) which, in essence, excludes third party insurance carriers and state or political subdivisions from the prejudgment interest provisions of LB 157. Your question is whether or not this is a rational classification. Of course, the courts have repeatedly indicated that a legislative classification will be upheld against constitutional attack if it bears some reasonable relationship to the legitimate purposes of the legislation. Pegasus of Omaha, Inc. v. State, 203 Neb. 755, 280 N.W.2d 64 (1979). Likewise, the Supreme Court has stated, "Whether there was a reasonable basis for the enactment of the statute in question is primarily a matter of legislative determination, subject to limited judicial scrutiny." Bridgeford v. U-Haul Company, 195 Neb. 308, 238 N.W.2d 443 (1976). The determination of what is a reasonable basis for classification is thus first a matter for determination of the Legislature.

We do not have sufficient facts before us concerning the basis for this classification nor the purpose of this legislation to make such a determination. At best, we can only say that the Legislature may make reasonable classification of persons, corporations and property for purposes of legislation concerning them, but that these classifications must rest upon real differences of situations and circumstances surrounding the members of that class relative to the subject of the legislation which renders its enactment appropriate. Prendergast v. Nelson, 199 Neb. 97, 256 N.W.2d 657 (1977).

Your second question concerning LB 157 is as follows. You first note that LB 157 would require interest to be awarded even on claims for lost future earnings and pain and suffering. You then indicate that these are injuries which have not occurred at the time of trial and then ask whether LB 157 violates Article VII, Section 5, and Article I, Section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution by providing punitive damages which are in excess of the damages necessary to compensate injured parties for their losses.

Article VII, Section 5, of the Constitution merely provides that all fines and penalties levied in the State of Nebraska are to be appropriated to the support of the schools. Article I, Section 3, of the Constitution is the provision providing that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. Reliance upon these provisions has led to a rule of law in this state which provides that punitive, vindictive, or exemplary damages are not allowed in civil cases. Abel v. Conover, 170 Neb. 926, 104 N.W.2d 684 (1960). Your concern then is that the prejudgment interest would constitute a penalty or punitive award rather than compensation since the future losses have not yet occurred and the interest could not be construed as an award of compensatory damages.

If this argument were to be valid at all, it would seem that it must first apply to the underlying award for the damages for future losses and pain and suffering. The allowance of interest is compensation for the withholding or use of money otherwise due. Bell v. Arndt, 24 Neb. 261 (1888). It is thus not part of the award for the damages themselves. See also, 22 Am.Jur.2d, Damages, 179. If a court determines that a claim for future losses and pain and suffering is proper, and should have been allowed, then it only follows that interest may be permitted on such an otherwise proper claim. The rational for granting interest in such circumstances is that the claim itself should have been paid when made, not that all of the damages have necessarily accrued. See, Hare, Jr., Prejudgment Interest in Personal Injury Litigation: A Policy of Fairness. 5 Am.Jur., Trial Ad. 81, Summer 1981. In summation then, we find no basis for concluding that such interest would constitute a penalty or punitive damages, and thus no basis for finding that such legislation is unconstitutional.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 302.

Whereas, Nebraska farmers and Nebraska's total economy are suffering from the price depressing affects of large grain inventories, and

Whereas, maintaining the quality of such large grain inventories and the physical storage itself reflect a substantial cost to both farmers and the grain industry overall, and

Whereas, millions of people are suffering and dying on the African continent and in other food deficient areas of the world because America's abundance of grain is as yet unable to reach them, and

Whereas, the United States, the major donor to African pledges 2.8 million tons of grains, or more than a third of the total donated and,

Whereas, in Ethiopia 5 million people face starvation with less than half of the 1.7 million tons of food pledges have been fulfilled, and

Whereas, the farmers and citizens of Nebraska have always shown their deep concern for those starving people of the world, and

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the 89th Legislature of the State of Nebraska that:

1. Nebraska farmers are encouraged to donate up to 50 bushels of grain in an effort to reduce inventories and save human lives and in the process turn a liability into an asset.

2. That the handling, marketing, transportation, and merchandizing sectors of Nebraska's grain industry and the international grain merchants are encouraged by this legislative body to donate the resources in an effort to move large amounts of grain to the starving people of the world.

3. That the proposed U.S.D.A. export grain subsidy be first and foremost targeted at those African Nations that are in immediate need.

4. That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governor and members of the Nebraska Congressional delegations in Washington, D.C.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 99
June 4, 1985

Dear Senator Chizek:

You have requested our opinion regarding the constitutionality of certain language amending LB 653A, relating to the cigarette tax. In particular, you refer us to section 2 of the bill, which provides, in part, that the tax imposed on each package of cigarettes shall be

. . . an amount equal to the difference between thirty-four cents and the federal excise tax on cigarettes as provided by the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, P.L. 97-248, Title II, Subtitle F, Part III, Section 283(C), 96 Stat. 569, as amended, but in no case less than eighteen cents.

In addition, you further refer to certain language establishing the distribution of the revenue raised under the bill, providing ". . . an additional amount which shall be the equivalent of eight cents of such tax or the difference between the special privilege tax on cigarettes and eighteen cents, whichever is less," shall be placed in the Cash Reserve Fund, or into the General Fund, for the periods specified. You state the intent of the amendment is to "pick up" the eight cent tax imposed under federal law which is scheduled to expire, or any portion thereof which is allowed to expire.

The question you have addressed is whether the amendment's reference to federal tax law, and the potential enactment of legislation by the United States Congress affecting the amount of the tax, would represent an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

In 1935, the Nebraska Supreme Court held a statute appropriating funds to be expended under terms and conditions to be provided by an act of the United States Congress, to be passed in the future, was an unconstitutional attempt on the part of the Legislature to delegate legislative authority to the Congress. Smithberger v. Banning, 129 Neb. 651, 262 N.W. 491 (1935). Subsequently, in Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967), the Court stated the rule announced in the Smithberger case had not been overruled, and remained the law in this jurisdiction.

Based on the principle established in Smithberger, it would appear the amendment to LB 653A, to the extent it refers to provisions of federal law which may be affected by future congressional legislation, could be viewed as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

We would point out, however, that case law from several jurisdictions outside Nebraska supports the proposition that the prospective incorporation of federal tax law does not constitute an impermissible delegation of state legislative authority. Parker Affiliated Companies, Inc. v. Department of Revenue, 382 Mass. 256, 415 N.E.2d 825 (1981); see also, City National Bank v. State Tax Commission, 251 Iowa 603, 102 N.W.2d 381 (1960) (state constitutional provision forbidding reference to other law to determine tax held not violated by Legislature's definition of state net income as adjusted gross income on federal tax return); First Federal Savings & Loan Association v. Connelly, 142 Conn. 483, 115 A.2d 455 (1955) (corporate income tax statute may utilize federal definition of gross income); accord, Katzenberg v. Comptroller of the Treasury, 263 Md. 189, 282 A.2d 465 (1971).

Generally, these cases recognize that, while federal action in the form of congressional legislation may influence the amount of tax payable, the mere reference in state legislation to federal tax statutes, utilized in determining the tax payable, does not represent a delegation of the state taxing power to the federal government. Thus, under the amendment to LB 653A, while future action by Congress may affect the amount of cigarette tax paid, the reference to federal law would not, under this principle, amount to an unconstitutional delegation of the state's taxing power by the Legislature.

While we are not unmindful of the Nebraska Supreme Court's decision in Smithberger, we believe the "pick up" tax imposed under LB 653A, as amended, could successfully be defended against constitutional attack. We do not believe the reference to federal tax law in the amendment would unconstitutionally delegate the state's taxing power to Congress. While the amount of the tax payable may be influenced by future congressional action, this would not, in this instance, constitute a delegation of the state's taxing power in derogation of the Nebraska Constitution.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 100

Re: LB 60

Dear Senator Vickers:

This is an answer to your inquiry concerning the provisions of LB 60 which, in its present form, would permit corn and wheat checkoff fees to be used to influence legislation, but would prevent other checkoff boards from so using the fees which they received.

You have asked if there is any legal prohibition against permitting some checkoff fees to be used to influence legislation without making all checkoff fees available for such purposes.

In a number of instances the Legislature has created boards whose duties are to promote various agricultural markets, i.e. corn, wheat, soybeans, grain sorghum, and beef. In each of these instances the boards have been authorized to collect an excise tax on the sale of the particular commodity to, among other things, conduct programs for the development, utilization, and marketing of the various commodities. In the original legislation creating each of the checkoff boards, among the restrictions placed upon the expenditure of the funds collected was that such funds could not be expended to influence legislation.

From our examination of the provisions of the constitution, we find no prohibition against the use of checkoff funds to influence legislation on behalf of the various commodities, nor do we find any provision which would require that if one such board should be authorized by the Legislature to expend its funds for a specific purpose that all such boards be given the same authority. Each board was created separately, for a specific purpose, and we are not aware of any requirement that the fees or excise taxes collected on behalf of the various boards must be expended for exactly the same purposes in all instances.

You have also asked that since the checkoff fees are mandatory is there any reason why that portion of the fees which may be used for influencing legislation must be refunded to those persons who pay the fee and may be opposed to its use for that purpose.

In answer we point out that the fee paid is an excise tax on the sale of a commodity, and the Legislature, having the right to assess the tax, has the right to authorize its use for any lawful purpose. Since influencing legislation is not unlawful, the use of checkoff fees for that purpose may be authorized or not by the Legislature without requiring that a portion of the tax be refunded to a payer who may object to its use for that purpose.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE

PRESIDENT MCGINLEY PRESIDING

MOTION - Return LB 653 to Select File

Mr. Schmit moved to return LB 653 to Select File for the following specific amendment:
Strike the enacting clause.

Mr. Schmit asked unanimous consent to withdraw his pending motion to return. No objections. So ordered.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

June 5, 1985

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and
Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning LB 171 and LB 171A without my signature and with my objections.

These bills will cost the state $94,393 in FY 85/86 with the addition of a juvenile court judge in Douglas County. I recognize that effective July 1, 1985 Douglas County will no longer have the authority to use the services of an associate judge. Nevertheless, the additional burden on the state's scarce resources is unjustified at a time when many meritorious programs have to struggle for continued existence.

I urge you to sustain my veto during these difficult economic times.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning LB 717 and LB 717A without my signature and with my objections.

LB 717 revises the financial institutions tax. Because of constitutional questions and because it raises no additional revenue, I cannot sign the bill.

I urge you to sustain my veto of LB 717 and LB 717A.

Sincerely,

June 5, 1985

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and
Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I have signed LB 496 and have sent it to the Secretary of State. In affixing my signature I believe I also need to provide a lengthy explanation.

The operative questions in deciding to sign this bill into law were: Will it promote the greater use of seat belts and will the bill in a reasonable and constitutional way, save lives and prevent injuries? The evidence, strikingly and convincingly, supports affirmative responses to both questions.

I appreciate how deeply held is the belief that government is overstepping its bounds in passing this law. I have seriously evaluated and listened to arguments that this is another example of big government this time getting "around our waists instead of on our backs". In reaching the conclusion that the law will save lives and prevent injuries I had to first cross the threshold which separates government from the individual citizen.

Regarding the issue of government deciding what is good and acceptable behavior for drivers of automobiles, that threshold has long since been crossed. That driving is a privilege and not a right can clearly be seen in other driving laws and regulations.

Just as voluntary compliance and choice do not work to discourage the practice of speeding or the excessive use of alcohol, they have also not worked for seat belts. In Nebraska we have simply passed into law what has long been known and accepted as good public policy. Will the law promote a greater use of seat belts? The answer is yes. In New York, the first of thirteen states to pass a seat belt law, usage went from 15% to 65% almost immediately. In Nebraska, as in the entire Nation, most of us will obey the law just because it is law.

In Nebraska, after nearly two decades of individual and collective effort, we have managed to increase seat belt usage to 15%. We can expect a dramatic increase with the passage of this law.

Will the law save lives and prevent injuries? Again the answer is yes. When I signed the child restraint bill into law in 1983 many people said it was unenforceable and would not work. The results, however, prove the contrary.

From 1983 to 1984 when automobile accident injuries were increasing in all other age groups, they decreased 6.3% for the 0-4 age group affected by the child restraint law. Today when you check out of a hospital with your newborn child, the nurses will make sure you have a child restraint for your car. This and other actions by our people, as they complied with the new law, produced a decrease in injuries to these children.

To assess the potential impact of the seat belt law I look again to New York where there was a 27% decline in fatalities in the first month of the new law. In Nebraska our own statistics are also revealing.

In passenger vehicle accidents in 1984 there were 206 fatalities; only 7 were belted in. There were 15,732 injuries; only 2,342 of these were belted. In Nebraska, even after considering that only 15% of us wear seat belts, the relative risk of injury or death is five times greater if you are not belted in.

Stated differently, for every thousand automobile accidents in Nebraska where the driver is belted, two people will die. If the passengers are unbelted, eleven will die.

However, there still lingers, in the face of these arguments, the sense that government should not protect individuals from themselves. There is the final argument that asks why we don't intrude into other dangerous activities like smoking or drinking.

The answer is that with seat belts the problem is one for all of us. Not only is a non-belted person a greater potential danger to the rest of us, but the societal costs of non-belted accidents are enormous.

The total direct and non-direct costs of automobile accidents in 1984 was $170 million. The automobile accident is the leading cause of spinal cord injury and epilepsy in Nebraska. The cost is not just to the individual; the costs affect all of us.

This law then represents a reasonable balancing of individual liberty and community protection. It will, I believe, prove to be a very positive contribution to the quality of our lives.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I return LB 598 without my signature and with my objections.

LB 598 would prohibit open alcoholic beverage containers in vehicles. As written, however, it is vague and unenforceable.

I, therefore, urge you to sustain my veto.

"Rule 9 - SPECIAL SESSIONS

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this rule is to establish special procedures for the Legislature to utilize during a special session. This rule recognizes the necessity of the Legislature to address the business for which it is called together in an expeditious and fair fashion and provides that certain legislative procedures established for regular sessions shall not unduly burden the activities of the Legislature during a special session.

Sec. 2. Convening of the Legislature. Pursuant to the directive contained in the proclamation issued by the Governor, either upon the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Legislature according to the procedure established by section 50-125 or upon the call of the Governor under the authority of Article IV, section 8, of the Nebraska Constitution, the Legislature shall convene in special session. Sec. 5. Indefinitely Postponed Bills and Resolutions. If the committee action on a bill or resolution is to postpone indefinitely, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed, except that such bill or resolution may be placed on General File or referred back to the committee by a majority vote of the elected members. Not more than one bill or resolution shall be raised from committee on any one motion. A motion to raise shall not be amended to include any other bill, resolution, or subject matter. A motion to raise shall take precedence in order over all other motions, except a motion to adjourn.

Sec. 6. Bills and Resolutions Held by Committee. If the committee has not taken final action on a bill or resolution within two days after the committee hearing, any senator may move that the bill or resolution be placed on General File. If a majority of the elected members vote in favor of the motion, the bill shall be placed on General File.

Sec. 7. Pending proposals indefinitely postponed. At the conclusion of a special session, all bills and resolutions which have not been enacted shall stand indefinitely postponed and shall not carry over to the next legislative session.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 303.

Introduced by Pappas, 42nd District.

A Resolution Proposed for Adoption by the Nebraska Legislature Regarding Winnebago Retrocession

WHEREAS, pursuant to Public Law 280, the State of Nebraska was granted criminal and civil jurisdiction over the Winnebago Indian Reservation in 1953; and

WHEREAS, the assumption of state jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation has led to steadily increasing costs for civil and criminal law enforcement in Thurston County, such costs falling heavily upon the taxpayers of Nebraska and Thurston County since the federal government has wholly failed to provide federal financial assistance for P.L. 280 law enforcement; and

WHEREAS, due to the tax-exempt status of tribal trust land and individual Indian allotments on the Winnebago Reservation, Thurston County has not had a sufficient tax base to meet the ever-increasing costs of law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation; and

WHEREAS, since 1957 state assistance has been provided for law enforcement purposes in Thurston County, and the cost of this assistance has increased each biennium; and

WHEREAS, Public Law 90-284 adopted as an Act of Congress on April 11, 1968, contains a number of provisions dealing with civil rights and jurisdiction of Indians; and

WHEREAS, Section 403(a) of Public Law 90-284 provides that the United States is authorized to accept a retrocession of all or any measure of the jurisdiction acquired by a state pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953; and

WHEREAS, the Winnebago Tribe has petitioned the State of Nebraska to effectuate a partial retrocession of criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation to the United States and has demonstrated the capability to assume its portion of associated responsibilities; and

WHEREAS, the Bureau of Indian Affairs has confirmed that it will detail law enforcement personnel to the Winnebago Reservation immediately upon the effective date of retrocession, thereby assuring that a law enforcement "vacuum" will not result.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby retrocedes criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation acquired by the State of Nebraska pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953, except as provided in paragraph 2 of this resolution. Such retrocession shall be effective commencing 12:01 A.M., September 1, 1985.

2. That the Winnebago Tribe shall have jurisdiction to prosecute Indians committing offenses involving the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways and roadways within the exterior boundaries of the Winnebago Reservation, and the State of Nebraska shall have jurisdiction to prosecute non-Indians committing similar offenses.

3. That the State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall take all necessary action to effectuate this resolution, including cooperative agreements with the Winnebago Tribe, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and/or the Department of Interior deemed by the affected parties to be necessary to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of criminal law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation and in Thurston County.

Laid over.
