Sec. 11. Temporary Appointments. (a) When a member is unable to serve, the chairperson of the committee, after a majority vote of the remaining members, shall request that such vacancy be filled by the Committee on Committees. Such committee shall appoint either the Speaker or a member from a standing committee having eight members to fill each vacancy.

(b) A temporary appointment may be made by the Chairperson of the Committee on Committees for only one day when requested by a chairperson of a standing committee which lacks a quorum. When a member is appointed from an eight-member committee, the consent of the member to be appointed shall first be obtained. The temporary appointee shall have the right to vote only on the bill or bills that actually have been heard by the appointee and provided that the vote is taken on such bills on the day the bill or bills are heard. When such appointment is made in case of an incapacitated member, such appointee shall cease to be a member of such committee upon the return of the incapacitated member for whom he or she was appointed.

Sec. 12. Consideration and Correlation of Bills and Resolutions. (a) Committees shall consider and report without unnecessary delay all bills and resolutions referred to them. Committees shall be authorized to combine and to correlate the provisions of different bills and resolutions referred to them and related to the same subject under the number of one of the correlated bills or resolutions, and when Sec. 15. Executive sessions shall be open to members of the news media who may report on action taken and on all discussions in executive session.

(b) All other meetings of a committee shall be public unless the committee, by a majority vote of all of its members, determines that a meeting should not be open to the public, including members of the news media, in a particular instance, due to rare and extraordinary circumstances. The meeting shall be reconvened in open session before any formal action may be taken.

Sec. 16. Report of Bill to Legislature. (a) In reporting a bill to the Legislature, whether with or without amendments, a committee shall by vote of a majority of its members, recommend that the bill be placed on General File or that the bill be indefinitely postponed. (b) A report on a bill or resolution must be made to the Legislature within eight calendar days after the committee has taken final action upon the particular measure.

(c) No bill shall be reported by the committee to be placed on General File unless the amendments, if any, are approved as to form and draftsmanship by the Bill Drafter.

Sec. 17. Indefinitely Postponed Bills. If the committee action on a bill be to postpone indefinitely, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed; except that such bill may be placed on General File or referred back to the committee by a three-fifths vote of the elected members upon motion made within three legislative days after the committee makes its report to the Legislature, or by a two-thirds vote of the elected members upon motion made more than three legislative days after such committee report. Not more than one bill shall be raised from committee on any one motion. A motion to raise cannot be amended to include any other bill or subject matter. A motion to raise must be disposed of by the Legislature within five legislative days after the motion is available for consideration or it shall be deemed defeated.

Sec. 18. Committee Statement. (a) The chairperson of each committee with the assistance of the legislative staff shall, when reporting a bill, submit with such bill a committee statement which shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) the one-line title and number of the bill;
(2) a roll call vote of final committee action taken on the bill;
(3) the date of the public hearing on the bill;
(4) a list of all individuals testifying for and against the bill and any organization they represent;
(5) a summary of the bill's purpose and a description of all major provisions for change in the bill as written and as amended by the committee;
(6) if committee amendments are to be introduced, a copy of the amendments and an explanation thereof.

(b) A copy of the proposed statement shall be distributed to each committee member within five days after final action on the bill has been taken by the committee. A minority or concurring statement bearing the signature or signatures of its proponents and setting forth objections to the bill, to proposed amendments, or to the majority statement may be filed by its author(s) with the Clerk of the Legislature at any time prior to the first hearing of the bill on General File.

(c) A copy of the committee statement and any minority statements submitted shall be distributed to each senator after filing with the Clerk of the Legislature. Copies of such statements shall be made available to the public.

Sec. 19. Request From Committee, Bills Held. (a) Except for the general appropriation bills necessary for the support of the state government for the biennium, the Legislature may, by vote of a majority of the elected members, request a status report from any committee at any time after said committee shall have been in possession of a bill or resolution for twenty legislative days.

(b) Any senator may move that a bill be placed on General File twenty calendar days or more after the committee hearing, if the committee has not taken final action on the bill, and by a vote of a majority of the elected members, said bill shall be placed on General File. If, at the expiration of eight calendar days from the date final action was taken, the chairperson has not reported the bill, any senator may file with the Speaker a motion that the chairperson be compelled to submit a report. After determining that final action on the bill has been taken at least eight calendar days prior to the date the motion was submitted, the Speaker shall accept the motion and compel the chairperson to file the committee's report on the matter.

(c) Any time any member attempts to take a bill from committee to be placed on General File, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed and shall not be subject to reconsideration if the motion fails to receive a majority vote of the members elected to the Legislature. The introducer of the bill must concur with any motion offered under this rule.

Sec. 20. Subpoena Procedure. It is within the inherent power of any legislative committee to gather information pursuant to its regular functions, and to conduct investigations of matters within its subject-matter jurisdiction.

A committee's power of subpoena should not be exercised unless the committee has determined that no other method of securing the desired information would be successful or practicable, and that the matter is of primary importance to the welfare of the State of Nebraska.

A committee of the Legislature conducting an investigation and gathering information, whether pursuant to legislative direction or pursuant to its regular functions of oversight and bill preparation, shall observe the following procedures in addition to regular committee procedures whenever subpoenas are issued:

(A) Issuance of Subpoenas.

(i) A committee may, by a majority vote of all of its members taken at a meeting properly called, issue a subpoena requiring a person to appear before the committee and be examined in reference to any matter within the scope of the inquiry or investigation being conducted by the committee, but only when the committee has received prior approval by a majority vote of the Executive Board to issue subpoenas in connection with the specific inquiry or investigation in question.

(ii) The committee may, in the same manner, issue a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum requiring any person to appear before the committee and bring with him or her any books, papers, or other documents pertinent thereto.

(iii) While the Legislature is in session, a committee deciding to issue subpoenas must promptly report each issuance to the Legislature. A record shall be made in the Journal reflecting the date the subpoena was issued, to whom it was issued, for what purpose it was issued, and the date on which testimony or production of documents is to take place. Under extraordinary circumstances, the identity of the person subpoenaed may be withheld from publication if necessary to protect the safety of an individual or the confidentiality of the matters to be heard.

(iv) A person subpoenaed to attend a hearing of a committee shall receive the same fees and allowances as a person subpoenaed to give testimony in an action pending in a court of record.

(B) Notice to Witnesses.

(i) Service of a subpoena requiring the attendance of a person at a hearing of a committee shall be made in the manner provided by law for the service of subpoenas in civil actions at least seven days prior to the date of the hearing unless a shorter period of time is authorized by a majority vote of all of the members of the committee in a particular instance when, in their opinion, the giving of seven days' notice is not practicable; but if a shorter period of time is authorized, the person subpoenaed shall be given reasonable notice of the hearing, consistent with the particular circumstances involved.

(ii) Any person who is served with a subpoena to attend a hearing of a committee shall also be served with a copy of the act defining the purpose of the committee, a copy of the rules under which the committee functions, a general statement informing him or her of the subject matter of the committee's investigation or inquiry, and a notice that he or she may be accompanied at the hearing by counsel of his or her own choosing.

(C) Conduct of the Hearing.

(i) No committee which has issued a subpoena directing a witness to appear at a hearing shall question the witness unless a quorum is present throughout the questioning.

(ii) The hearing shall be public unless the committee, by a majority vote of all of its members, determines that a hearing should not be open to the public in a particular instance, due to rare and extraordinary circumstances consistent with Legislative Rule 3,

Section 15(b) regarding closed meetings.

(iii) The chairperson of the committee shall preside at all hearings and shall conduct the examination of witnesses himself or herself or supervise the examination by other members of the committee. The committee may, by a majority vote of all its members, authorize the questioning of a witness by the committee's counsel or by special counsel.

(D) Right to Counsel and Submission of Questions.

(i) Every witness at the hearing may be accompanied by counsel of his or her own choosing, who may advise the witness of his or her rights, subject to reasonable limitations which the committee may prescribe to prevent obstruction of or interference with the orderly conduct of the hearing.

(ii) Any witness at the hearing, or a witness' counsel, may submit to the committee proposed questions to be asked of the witness or any other witness relevant to the matters upon which there has been any questioning or submission of evidence, and the committee shall ask such of the questions as it deems appropriate and relevant to the subject matter of the hearing.

(E) Testimony.

(i) The committee shall cause a verbatim record to be made of all proceedings in which testimony or other evidence is demanded or offered, which record shall include rulings of the chair, questions of the committee and its counsel, the testimony or responses of witnesses, sworn written statements submitted to the committee and read into the record, and such other matters as the committee or its chair may direct.

(ii) All testimony given or offered at the hearing shall be under oath or affirmation if the witness has been subpoenaed, and in other cases if a majority of the committee members present at the hearing so decide.

(iii) The presiding member at the hearing may direct a witness to answer any relevant question or furnish any relevant book, paper, or other document, the production of which has been required by subpoena duces tecum. Unless the direction is overruled by a majority vote of the committee members present, disobedience shall constitute a contempt.

(iv) A witness at the hearing or his or her counsel, with the consent of a majority of the committee's members present at the hearing, may file with the committee for incorporation into the record of the hearing sworn written statements relevant to the purpose, subject matter, and scope of the committee's investigation or inquiry.

(v) Testimony and other evidence given or offered at a hearing closed to the public shall not be made public unless authorized by a majority vote of all of the members of the committee, which authorization shall also specify the form and manner in which the testimony or other evidence may be released.

(vi) A witness at a closed hearing, upon request and at his or her own expense, shall be furnished a transcript of his or her testimony at the hearing.

(F) Interested Persons.

(i) Any person whose name is mentioned or who is otherwise identified during the hearing and who, in the opinion of the committee, may be adversely affected thereby, may, upon his or her request or upon the request of any member of the committee, appear personally before the committee and testify in his or her own behalf, or, with the committee's consent, may file a sworn written statement of facts or other documentary evidence for incorporation into the record thereof.

(ii) Upon the consent of a majority of its members, a committee may invite any other person to appear at a hearing or submit a sworn written statement of facts or other documentary evidence for incorporation into the record thereof. No invitation to appear, and no request to appear, appearance, or submission of evidence shall limit in any way the committee's power of subpoena.

(iii) Any person who appears before a committee pursuant to this section shall have all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of a witness provided to all other witnesses.

(G) Contempt.

A person shall be in contempt if he or she:

(i) Fails or refuses to appear in compliance with a subpoena or, having appeared, fails or refuses to testify under oath or affirmation;

(ii) Fails or refuses to answer any relevant question or fails or refuses to furnish any relevant book, paper, or other document subpoenaed by or on behalf of a committee; or

(iii) Commits any other act or offense against a committee which, if committed against the Legislature, would constitute a contempt.

The chairperson of a committee may apply to the Legislature or, during the interim, to the district court of any county to compel obedience by proceedings for contempt.

(H) Penalties.

(i) A person guilty of contempt under the provision of these rules shall be subject to punishment pursuant to RRS 50-105 and 50-106 during the session, or to RRS 50-407 when the Legislature is not in session.

(ii) If a committee fails in any material respect to comply with the requirements of these rules, any person subject to a subpoena or a subpoena duces tecum who is injured by such failure shall be relieved of any requirement to attend the hearing for which the subpoena was issued or, if present, to testify or produce evidence therein; and such failure shall be a complete defense in any proceeding against such person for contempt or other punishment.

(iii) Any member or employee of the Legislature, other than the witness concerned or his or her counsel who knowingly violates subsections of these rules concerning the publication of testimony taken at a closed hearing, shall be in contempt of the Legislature or, if a member of the Legislature, shall be subject to sanction or suspension according to the statutes governing the Legislature. The speaker on his or her own motion or on the application of any person claiming to have been injured or prejudiced by an unauthorized disclosure may institute proceedings for the determination of the issue and for the imposition of penalties provided herein. Nothing in this subsection shall limit any power which the Legislature may have to discipline a member or employee or to impose a penalty in the absence of action by a prosecuting officer or court.

(I) Limitation of Rules.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to limit or prohibit the acquisition of evidence or information by any committee by any lawful means not provided for herein.

RULE 5--BILLS--GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1. No bills or major amendments shall be introduced or considered unless the same has been approved as to form and draftsmanship by the Bill Drafter. In order to shorten the length of sections, the Bill Drafter shall, in the drafting of new sections, make each paragraph a separate section except when to do so would be contrary to sound bill drafting practice. The Bill Drafter shall make available a continuing compilation of sections to which amendments are proposed so as to reduce unnecessary duplication of bills. This section index of bills drafted shall be available to all senators, newly elected senators, and other persons entitled to have bills drafted. After January 1 of each year no bill shall be drafted by the Bill Drafter unless requested or authorized by a member of the Legislature.

Sec. 2. Content and Form of Bills. A bill shall be designated as Legislative Bill _____.

Style of bill. Const. Art. III, Sec. 13.

(c) An amendatory bill or constitutional provision shall be so prepared and printed as to show the new matter proposed, old matter to be retained, and old matter to be omitted from the statutes or constitution.

Sec. 3. Revisor Correctional Bills, Preprinting. (a) Preceding each legislative session, the Chairperson or any member of the Executive Board of the Legislative Council, or if the Executive Board so requests, the senator who, in the preceding session served as Chairperson of the Judiciary Committee, shall sign as introducer the Revisor of Statutes' correctional bills. The Clerk of the Legislature shall number these bills consecutively beginning with number 1 and shall show the committee reference to be General File. The Clerk of the Legislature shall have these bills printed before the convening of the next regular session.

(b) In addition to causing to be printed the revisor bills, the Clerk shall number and cause to be printed all bills delivered to him or her by the Executive Board, provided said Board has referred said bills to a standing committee. No bill so printed shall be withdrawn until after the Legislature convenes.

Sec. 4. Introducers Signing Bills. (a) Members shall introduce only such bills as they are willing to endorse and support personally. The last name and district shall be used, unless an initial or name is necessary to identify the introducer.

(b) A standing committee or special committee may introduce a bill for any purpose, including at the request of another senator, provided said bill receives the endorsement of a majority of the committee members whose names shall be on the bill.

(c) No bill shall be introduced after the tenth legislative day of any session, except:

1. "A" bills, appropriation bills, and bills introduced at the request of the Governor may be introduced at any time;

2. A standing committee or special committee may request that the Legislature consider introduction of a bill. A vote of three-fifths of the elected members of the Legislature shall be required for such bill to be introduced, and a copy of the statement of intent for such bill must be placed on each member's desk before introduction of the bill is voted upon;

3. A special committee as created by the Executive Board on December 10, 1983, regarding the Commonwealth investigation and matters related thereto, may introduce bills at any time during the course of the 1984 Legislative Session. Said bills to be introduced must receive endorsement of a majority of the committee members whose names shall appear on the bill in order to fall within the purview of this section.

(d) Individual members shall not be limited as to bill introduction. Each committee shall be limited to 8 bills each session. Bills introduced as a result of an interim study of the Legislative Council shall be included within the limitations prescribed by this section. Bills introduced under Rule 5, Section 3(a) and bills introduced at the request of the Governor will not be included in the limitation.

(e) The introducers of all bills must submit a statement of intent for each bill to the appropriate committee chairperson at least 24 hours prior to the bill's hearing. The statement of intent should discuss clearly and completely the purposes and effects of the bill.

Sec. 5. Scheduling of Bills, Priority Bills. (a) Each senator may designate one bill as a priority bill. Such priority bill need not be the designator's bill, but the principal introducer must concur with the designation as a priority bill and with the withdrawal of the designation once made.

(b) Each chairperson of those committees which are authorized to hold public hearings on bills may designate two of the committee's bills as priority bills.

(c) The Speaker may designate up to 25 additional priority bills.

(d) Priority bill designations may be made at any time prior to the annual designation deadline which shall be set each year by the Speaker. The designation deadline shall be prior to the 45th legislative day in the ninety day session and prior to the 30th legislative day in the sixty day session.

(e) A senator or committee may withdraw a priority designation at any time, but will not be allowed to designate another bill as a priority bill in its place. The Speaker may withdraw a priority designation made by the Speaker.

(f) All committees shall schedule priority bills for public hearing ahead of all unscheduled, nonpriority bills unless the person or committee making the priority designation shall otherwise agree.

(g) All bills not designated as priority bills shall be heard on General File in the order in which they are reported to the floor by the committees, unless the introducer of the bill and the Speaker agree to delay the hearing of a particular bill. This provision shall not be construed to prevent the Speaker from placing bills reported out of committee with two or less dissenting votes on a consent calendar. Any bill placed on consent calendar shall be removed at the written request of three or more senators.

(h) Priority bills shall generally be considered ahead of all other bills at each stage of debate, except that priority bills requiring the expenditure of appropriated funds shall be held on Final Reading until such time as the annual appropriations bills have been passed. A priority bill which fails to advance after two votes on General File, or after one vote on Select File, shall return to nonpriority status.

(i) No priority bill designated under this rule shall have priority over appropriations bills.

Sec. 6. Fiscal Analyst. (a) A copy of every bill introduced shall be transmitted by the Clerk to the Legislative Fiscal Analyst. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall review each bill and make an estimate of the anticipated change in state, county, or municipal expenditures or revenue under the provisions of the bill. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall prepare a statement to be known as a fiscal note to be attached to each bill prior to its public hearing by a committee, or its first consideration on General File if the bill is referred directly to General File. The fiscal note shall set forth the fiscal impact of the bill and the governmental subdivision affected by the fiscal impact as determined by the Legislative Fiscal Analyst. No bill which has a fiscal impact shall be heard by a committee or considered on General File unless the fiscal note is attached.

(b) In determining the fiscal impact of any bill, the Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall request the appropriate department or other entity of state government or subdivision thereof, or appropriate association which will be affected by the bill, to prepare the fiscal note within five calendar days.

(c) The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall review the fiscal note so prepared and shall also request a review of such fiscal note by the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services. The statement by the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services shall be attached to and become a part of the fiscal note. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall include in the fiscal note any exceptions to the conclusions of the department or other entity and of the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services.

(d) The fiscal note shall be delivered by the Legislative Fiscal Analyst to the Clerk within ten calendar days of receipt of a copy of the bill for analysis. The Clerk shall attach the fiscal note to the bill and to all copies prepared for members.

(e) When amendments to a bill are adopted by the Legislature and such amendments would change the fiscal impact of the bill, the appropriate changes shall be made in the fiscal note each time the bill is advanced to Enrollment and Review or upon the written request of a member of the Legislature.

If, after investigation, it is determined that no dollar estimate is possible, the note shall contain a statement to that effect, setting forth the reasons why no dollar estimate can be given.

(i) No comment or opinion shall be included in the fiscal note with regard to the merits of the measure for which the note is prepared, however, technical or mechanical defects may be noted.

(h) If, in the opinion of the Speaker, the bill is in such form that it should properly be referred back to committee for further action, he or she may by order direct the same; Provided, that a majority of the elected members may overrule the decision of the Speaker. Any rule to the contrary, notwithstanding any motion to amend a bill, shall require a majority vote of the elected members. (b) If such motion fails or is not offered, the Chairperson of the Appropriations Committee or his/her designee shall then introduce motions to override selected portions of the vetoed bill.

(A) Order of Business

Section 1. The Legislature shall in odd-numbered years, after the period allowed for the introduction of bills, recess for four (4) calendar days. During such recess committees shall prepare, for public distribution, a calendar of hearing dates. No committee hearings shall be held until after the recess provided for in this section. The Legislature shall remain in session until it shall adjourn sine die, but in no event shall it remain in session for longer than ninety (90) legislative days in odd-numbered years or sixty (60) legislative days in even-numbered years. This limitation may be suspended by a four-fifths vote of the elected senators. Each day the Legislature convenes shall be considered a legislative day.

o. Miscellaneous business

(c) Messages from the Governor may be received at any stage of the proceedings.

(d) When a bill shall have been made a special order for a definite time and an adjournment shall intervene for a time beyond the time fixed for such special order, then in that event the bill so made a special order shall be placed in its order on General File. The unfinished business in which the Legislature was engaged at the adjournment of the last preceding sitting shall have preference in the special order of the day.

(e) Upon call for the introduction of bills, any member or any standing committee to which bills are referred for consideration may introduce one or more bills.

Introduction of bills. Rule 6, Section 1.

(B) Voting Machine

Sec. 2. Voting, Electric Roll Call. (a) All votes shall be taken viva voca unless otherwise provided for herein. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "Those who are in favor of the question say 'aye'; those who are opposed to the question say 'nay.' "

(b) If a machine vote is called for or if the presiding officer is in doubt, he or she shall cause the result to be obtained by means of the electric roll call system, and in such event shall accept only machine tallied votes except that voice votes shall be accepted on a motion before the House while the House is under call. The presiding officer may vote by voice. Only the totals shall be printed in the Journal. Once having voted aye or nay, senators may call in a change to not voting prior to the locking of the voting board.

(c) Upon the final passage of a bill, or of a resolution if the same required the same consideration as a bill, the vote shall be by yeas and nays, and the electric roll call system shall be used. Voice votes shall be accepted on Final Reading.

(d) Whenever the "ayes" and "nays" are taken by machine vote, no member shall be permitted to vote after the decision is announced by the presiding officer or the Clerk. Votes not registered on the electric roll call system shall not be counted for or against a proposition. In announcing such vote, the Clerk shall announce the ayes, the nays, those present and not voting, those absent and not voting, and those excused and not voting, and on any action to advance or amend bills, these totals shall be set forth in the Journal. Voice votes shall be accepted on roll call or record votes.

(e) Only senators physically in the legislative chamber may vote.

(C) Motions

Sec. 3. Motion, in Writing, Withdrawal. (a) A motion shall be either stated by the presiding officer or read by the Clerk before a vote is taken. All motions shall be submitted in writing if requested by the presiding officer or any senator.

Once motions are stated they may be withdrawn or modified by the mover before a decision, amendment, or ordering of a vote has been made. A motion to reconsider may be withdrawn only with unanimous consent or a majority vote of the elected members.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be considered except one of the following, which motions shall take precedence in the order stated.

a. To adjourn
b. For the previous question
c. To postpone to a time certain
d. To recommit to a committee
e. To amend
f. To postpone indefinitely

Such motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged, except that motions to postpone indefinitely and amend do not yield to each other.

When any of the following motions shall be made, any action on such motion shall be delayed at least one legislative day and the motion shall be printed in the Legislative Journal:

a. Motion to postpone indefinitely on General File or Select File, unless the introducer(s) of the bill, or the committee chairperson in the case of committee bills, request(s) that the motion to postpone indefinitely be considered immediately without the one day delay.
b. Motion to advance bills from committee.
c. Motion to place bills on General File, notwithstanding the action of a standing committee.

(b) When a motion or other proposition is under consideration, a motion to amend and a motion to amend that amendment shall be in order.

(c) Amendments to the title shall be made by the Enrollment and Review Committee.

(d) No motion, proposition, or subject, different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment. Any amendment that is not germane is out of order. Germane amendments relate only to details of the specific subject of the bill and must be in a natural and logical sequence to the subject matter of the original proposal. A nongermane amendment includes one that relates to a substantially different subject or accomplishes substantially different purpose than that of the original bill to which it is proposed.

(e) Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehends propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Legislature. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost, shall not preclude an amendment or a motion to strike out or insert.

(f) When motions are made for reference of the same subject to a select committee and to a standing committee, the question on reference to the standing committee shall be considered first.

Sec. 4. Shall the Debate Cease. The previous question shall be in this form, "Shall the debate now close?"

The previous question shall be made only in the normal course of speaking order and shall be in order when demanded by five or more members, and must be sustained by the vote of a majority of the elected members, and until decided shall, except as provided in this section of this rule, preclude further debate and all amendments and motions, except one motion to adjourn. The presiding officer may rule the previous question out of order if in the presiding officer's opinion a full and fair debate has not been afforded, due to the complexity of the subject matter. The ruling of the presiding officer shall be subject to overrule in accordance with Rule 1, Section 12 of these rules.

On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for a previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

When the previous question shall have been ordered on a proposition under debate, the mover, proponent, or introducer of such proposition shall be given the right to close the debate thereon.

Sec. 5. Call of the House. A call of the House may be made by any member in the manner following: "I move for a call of the House." The presiding officer shall direct that the board be cleared and the members shall then vote on placing themselves under call. If a majority of the senators present and voting, vote in favor of such a motion, then the Legislature shall be deemed to be under call. Each member present shall indicate his or her presence upon the electric roll call system and shall remain in his or her seat during the call. After the Clerk shall note the names of the absentees, proceedings under the call may be suspended at any time by a majority vote of the members then present, and when so suspended shall not again be ordered on the proposition pending, except by a majority vote of the members elected. If all absentees were to vote on one side of the question, and if their combined vote would be insufficient to change the result of the vote, the President shall declare the call raised.

Voice vote while House under call. Rule 7, Section 2b.

Sec. 6. Postpone to Time Certain. No motion to postpone to a time certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

Sec. 7. Reconsideration. (a) When a question has been decided, it shall be in order for any member voting with the prevailing side, or not voting, to move for a reconsideration thereof. A motion to reconsider must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on the next legislative day, except when it be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading. In such case, it must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on one of the next three legislative days. A motion to reconsider must be disposed of by the Legislature within five legislative days after making the same or it shall be deemed defeated. If the Legislature shall refuse to reconsider, or upon reconsideration shall affirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order unless by unanimous consent.

Motion to reconsider cannot be withdrawn without leave. Rule 7, Section 3.

(b) Every motion to reconsider shall take preference over all other questions, except a motion to adjourn.

(c) For its adoption, a motion to reconsider shall require the vote of a majority of the elected members, except:

i Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading, then a three-fifths vote shall be required for adoption.

ii Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading with the emergency clause attached, but which received the constitutional majority with the emergency clause stricken and the purpose of the motion is to again add the emergency clause, then a two-thirds vote of the elected members shall be required for adoption.

(d) For a bill on General File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance three times; for a bill on Select File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance two times; for a bill passed on Final Reading, no motion to reconsider shall be in order except by the introducer of the bill, for technical or clarifying amendments.

(e) Whenever a bill is returned from the Governor for further action pursuant to the Legislature's request for such return, motions for reconsideration necessarily incident to opening a bill for further action shall be admitted regardless of the time limitation otherwise imposed by this rule.

Sec. 8. Strike the Enacting Clause. A motion to strike the enacting clause, if adopted, is equivalent to rejection of the bill. It shall not have precedence over a motion to amend nor a motion to indefinitely postpone.

Sec. 9. Motion to Adjourn. A motion to adjourn shall be in order, except:

a. While a member is speaking.
b. When a motion to adjourn has just been defeated.
c. After the Final Reading of a bill and during roll call thereon.

A motion to adjourn to a time certain shall have precedence over a motion to adjourn. A motion to recess shall take precedence over either of such motions.

When a motion to adjourn has been made, the Speaker shall be privileged to speak to the motion prior to any vote on such motion, otherwise a motion to adjourn is not debatable.

A motion to adjourn shall be adopted if approved by a majority of members voting.

RULE 8--APPROPRIATIONS PROCESS

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this rule is to provide a procedure for the Legislature to develop appropriations for all state agencies, boards, and commissions. Such procedure shall consider the need to (1) continue the services and financial assistance provided by state agencies and programs, and (2) restrict the growth in state appropriations.

Sec. 2. Appropriations Committee Report. The Legislature's Appropriations Committee, by majority vote of its members, shall annually prepare a report summarizing the recommended total General Fund appropriation for each year of the following biennium. Such report shall include information based upon the committee's initial review of (1) state agency, board, and commission budget requests, (2) the Governor's budget, (3) the estimated revenue receipts for each year of the following biennium, (4) General Fund reserve requirements, (5) express obligations, and (6) economic conditions affecting the State of Nebraska.

Sec. 3. Report, When Required. The report required in Section 2 of this rule shall be printed in the Legislative Journal and presented to each member of the Legislature by the Chairperson of the Appropriations Committee between twenty and thirty legislative days after the Governor presents his or her budget during sessions in odd-numbered years and between fifteen and twenty legislative days after the Governor's budget presentation during session in even-numbered years.

Sec. 4. Resolution, General Fund Appropriation. Based upon the Appropriations Committee's report, the Legislature shall adopt a resolution which specifically recommends a maximum General Fund appropriation for each year of the following biennium. The Legislature shall consider such resolution no less than three legislative days after the Appropriations Committee report is distributed to members of the Legislature and the resolution is printed in the Legislative Journal. Any adoption of the resolution or amendment to the resolution which increases or decreases the maximum General Fund appropriation recommendation made under Section 2 of this rule shall require twenty-five votes for adoption.

Sec. 5. Bills, Held on Final Reading. The report of the Appropriations Committee shall include a recommended dollar amount of the General Fund biennium appropriation provided for in Section 4 of this rule which shall be allocated for the funding of "A" bills, bills that result in the net reduction of revenue to the General Fund, tax expenditure bills, and amendments to the appropriation bills as reported to General File by the Appropriations Committee. All "A" bills which, when considered with their companion bill, appropriate general funds resulting in a net loss; all bills resulting in the reduction of revenue to the General Fund; and all tax expenditure bills shall not be read on Final Reading until the appropriation bills are passed by the Legislature. Provided the Appropriations Committee shall place appropriation bills on General File no later than the 70th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 40th legislative day in a 60 day session. If this deadline is not met, the Legislature shall consider the appropriation bills as introduced by the Governor. The appropriation bills shall be passed no later than the 80th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 50th legislative day in a 60 day session. Such appropriation bills proposed by the Appropriations Committee plus the allocation for the funding of "A" bills, all bills resulting in the reduction of revenue to the General Fund, and all tax expenditure bills, shall not be in excess of the maximum General Fund appropriation adopted by resolution pursuant to Section 4 of this rule. The appropriation provided for in an "A" bill shall be for not less than two fiscal years.

Sec. 6. Bill, Setting Tax Rates. The Legislature's tax rate bill shall be passed no later than the 85th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 55th legislative day in a 60 day session.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 228
October 5, 1984

Dear Senator Haberman:

You have asked whether the recent decision in the case of Kearney Convention Center, Inc. v. Buffalo County Board of Equalization, 216 Neb. 292, ___ N.W.2d ___ (1984), negates or overrides the so-called Green Belt laws, Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-1344, et seq. (Reissue 1981).

It is important to understand that the decision in Kearney Convention Center case was based upon the particular evidence, or lack of evidence, in the record before the Supreme Court and thus is of limited precedential value. In essence, that decision merely applied the general constitutional requirement that "Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises,' to the evidence in the record.

The Green Belt laws, on the other hand, rely upon additional constitutional language in Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution which is a specific exception to the above principle. This exception provides as follows:

> The Legislature may enact laws to provide that the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use shall, for property tax purposes, be that value which such land has for agricultural or horticultural use without regard to any value which such land might have for other purposes or uses, and prescribe standards and methods for the determination of the value of real or other tangible property at uniform and proportionate values.

Thus, the Kearney case would have no impact on the present Green Belt laws.

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Dear Senator DeCamp:

We have received your letter of September 13, 1984, requesting us to review our conclusion in Opinion No. 226 that Legislative Resolution 1, introduced at this year's special session, was beyond the scope of the Governor's call. While we have reviewed and considered the memorandum addressing this issue which accompanied your letter, we nevertheless believe the conclusion reached in our earlier Opinion was correct.

In discussing the limitation upon the power of the Legislature to act at special sessions imposed by Article IV, Section 8 of the Nebraska Constitution, the Nebraska Supreme Court, in Arrow Club, Inc. v. Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, 177 Neb. 686, 131 N.W.2d 134 (1964), stated:

> It is well established that the Legislature while in special session can transact no business except that for which it was called together. Chicago, B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. Wolfe, 61 Neb. 502, 86 N.W. 441. The proclamation may state the purpose for which the Legislature is convened in broad, general terms or it may limit the consideration to a specified phase of a general subject. The Legislature is free to determine in what manner the purpose shall be accomplished, but it must confine itself to the matters submitted to it by the proclamation. (Emphasis added).

The Court in Arrow Club, supra, quoted at length from a decision construing a similar provision in the Pennsylvania Constitution, Commonwealth ex rel. Schnader v. Liveright, 308 Pa 35, 161 A. 697 (1932), including the following language:

> This constitutional provision contemplates that there shall first exist in the executive mind a definite conception of the public emergency which demands an extraordinary session. His mental attitude or intention is expressed in his proclamation, the purpose of which is to inform the members of the legislature of subjects for legislation, and to advise the public generally that objections may be presented if desired. It is not only a guide or chart with respect to which the Legislature may act, but also a check restricting its actions so that rights may not be affected without notice. The proclamation may contain many or few subjects according to the governor's conception of the public need. While the subjects may be stated broadly or in general terms, the special business, as related to the general subject on which legislation is desired, should be designated by imposing qualifying matter to reduce or restrict. 177 Neb. at 689, 131 N.W.2d at 137 (Emphasis added).

The Governor's call contained only two subjects which arguably included LR 1 within their scope. The first subject proposed submitting to the electorate an amendment to Article VIII, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution to authorize the Legislature to classify, for purposes of ad valorem taxation, land used solely for agricultural or horticultural purposes. The second subject proposed submitting to the electorate an amendment to Article VIII, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution to authorize the Legislature to exempt, in whole or in part, for purposes of ad valorem taxation, land used solely for agricultural or horticultural purposes. LR 1 proposed submitting to the electorate an amendment to repeal the uniformity provisions contained in Article VIII, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution.

The call clearly limited the constitutional amendments to be proposed to the specific question of the classification or exemption of agricultural or horticultural land for purposes of ad valorem taxation. In contrast, LR 1 proposed a much broader and more general amendment which clearly went beyond the specific subjects of the Governor's call. As the Supreme Court stated in Arrow Club, supra, the proclamation stating the purpose for which the Legislature is called "may limit the consideration to a specified phase of a general subject," and the Legislature "must confine itself to the matters submitted to it by the proclamation." 177 Neb. at 689, 131 N.W.2d at 137.

We recognize your concern that an unduly restrictive interpretation of the limitation imposed by Article IV, Section 8, may hinder the Legislature's ability to deal effectively and comprehensively with issues in future special sessions. The determination of whether a proposal will be within the call for a special session of necessity must rest on the facts as they exist in any particular situation. Such a determination can only be made on a case-by-case basis. In our opinion, the broad proposal contained in LR 1 simply went beyond the subjects of the Governor's call in this instance.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 229
October 12, 1984

Re: Nebraska Constitution,
Article XII, Section 8.

Dear Senator DeCamp:

In an effort to determine if any legislative action is needed, you have asked if, considering the provisions of Article XII, Section 8 of the Constitution of Nebraska, a family corporation, owner of a large feedlot, may contract with a nonfamily corporation to feed cattle owned by the latter.

In answer to your question, it is necessary to first examine the legal rights of each of the parties.

With regard to both corporations in your example, the first paragraph of Article XII, Section 8 provides: "(1) No corporation or syndicate shall acquire, or otherwise obtain an interest, whether legal, beneficial, or otherwise, in any title to real estate used for farming or ranching in this state, or engage in farming or ranching." (Emphasis added.)

After defining corporation, farming, and syndicate, Section 8 goes on to provide that the above restrictions shall not apply to "(A) A family farm or ranch corporation", which Section 8 defines as one "in which the majority of the voting stock is held by members of a family, or a trust created for the benefit of a member of that family, related to one another within the fourth degree of kindred."

With regard to the nonfamily farm corporation in your example, we again point out that the first sentence of Section 8 provides that corporations may not "engage in farming or ranching." Following this prohibition, farming or ranching is defined as including "(ii) the ownership . . . of animals for the production of livestock or livestock products."

We are not aware of any judicial determinations of language similar to that of Article XII, Section 8 of our Constitution. Therefore, considering the plain meaning of its provisions and the history of its adoption, it is our conclusion that as to the family farm corporation it is exempt from the provisions which would prevent all other corporations from farming, which would include the feeding of cattle whether its own or those of someone else.

As for the nonfamily farm corporation, for the same reasons it is our conclusion that Article XII, Section 8 prohibits it from farming or ranching, which includes the "ownership, keeping or feeding of animals for the production of livestock or livestock products."

In essence we are saying that in the situation you describe, the question is not the right of the two corporations to contract with each other but is instead the rights of each to engage in owning and feeding cattle. In the one instance the family farm corporation may engage in all aspects of farming, and in the other instance a nonfamily farm corporation may not engage in any aspect of farming or ranching, which includes the ownership of livestock.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 230
October 17, 1984

Dear Senator Peterson:

In considering possible new legislation to regulate physicians' assistants you have asked whether the supervising physician must be physically present in several situations when the physician's assistant renders medical services: (1) in a hospital, with the approval of the governing board of such hospital, where the physician to whom he is assigned is a member of the staff, (2) on calls outside the physician's primary practice site on the direct order of the physician or (3) in the physician's primary place of practice if the supervising physician is temporarily absent from such place.

Each of these locations is listed in Neb.Rev.Stat. §71-1,107.17 (1), (3) or (4) (Reissue 1981) as a place where a physician's assistant may perform the medical services for which he is certified "under the supervision of a licensed physician or group of physicians approved by the board." "Supervision" is defined in cases of emergency, to "require availability or physical presence of the licensed physician for consultation and direction of the actions of the physician's assistant." (Emphasis added.)

Thus the physical presence of the supervising physician is not required in any of the locations about which you inquire if such physician is easily available for consultation and direction of the actions of the physician's assistant. However, the supervising physician cannot be physically remote as we discussed in our letter to Dr. Gregg Wright, dated January 31, 1984. If an emergency occurs in such locations when the supervising physician is temporarily absent, even such easy availability for consultation and direction is not required.

Opinion No. 231

Dear Senator Sieck:

You have requested an opinion from our office regarding whether a project involving the construction of an egg production facility would fall within the definition of agriculture or agricultural enterprise under the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act. The specific project which you have described for us involves the construction of two egg laying buildings, collection, packaging and cooling buildings, and a building in which chicken manure will be subjected to composting. The facility will house approximately 180,000 laying hens. The hens will not be owned by the enterprise, but will be fed on a contract basis.

Initially, while your question does not raise the issue, we note that the provisions of Article XII, Section 8 of the Nebraska Constitution, which prohibits any corporation or syndicate from obtaining title to or acquiring any interest in real estate used for farming or ranching in this state, could apply to bar the entity described in your letter from acquiring interest in the land necessary to engage in this operation. We have inquired into the organizational status of the entity behind this project, however, and have determined that its certificate reveals it is organized as a general partnership, to which the provisions of Article XII, Section 8 of the Nebraska Constitution would not apply. We therefore express no opinion as to whether a project of this nature would fall within the prohibitions of this constitutional provision if it were organized as a corporation or syndicate as defined in Article XII, Section 8.

The Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act is contained in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§58-201 to 58-272 (Supp. 1983) (the Act.) The purpose of the Act, which was passed by the Legislature in 1983, was to establish a quasi-governmental body to encourage private investment and provide public funds to finance investments in three general areas: Housing, Agriculture, and Business or Industrial Activities. Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-203 (Supp. 1983). To accomplish this goal, three entities, the Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, the Nebraska Development Fund, and the Agricultural Development Corporation, were consolidated into a single body, the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority. Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-205 (Supp. 1983).

The definition of agriculture or agricultural enterprise is found in §58-208 of the Act, which provides:

Agriculture or agricultural enterprise shall mean and include the real and personal property constituting farms and ranches.

Section 58-219, which defines what types of projects fall within the Act's coverage, provides, in pertinent part:

> Project shall mean one or more of the following: . . .
> (2) Agriculture or agricultural enterprise; and
> (3) Any land, building, or other improvement, any real or personal property, or any equipment, and any undivided or other interest in any of the foregoing, whether or not in existence, suitable or used for or in connection with any of the following revenue-producing enterprises or two or more such enterprises engaged or to be engaged in:
> (a) In all areas of the state, manufacturing or industrial enterprises including assembling, fabricating, mixing, processing, warehousing, distributing, or transporting any products of agriculture, . . . .

The final sentence of subsection (3) of §58-219 further provides that:

> Nothing in subdivision (3) of this section shall be construed to include any rental or residential housing, residential energy conservation device, or agriculture or agricultural enterprise.

The clear intent of the language found in the last sentence of subsection (3) of §58-129 is to separate the classification of the three categories listed, including agriculture or agricultural enterprises, from the provisions relating to business or industrial projects. LB 626 (1983), Transcript of Floor Debates, May 18, 1983, pp. 5489-90 (statement of Senator Beutler). The question you have raised thus turns on whether the particular project you have described, which was approved under the industrial or commercial provision of the Act, in reality should have been classified as an agricultural enterprise.

"One of the fundamental principles of statutory construction is to attempt to ascertain the legislative intent and to give effect to that intent." Spence v. Terry, 215 Neb. 810, 340 N.W.2d 884 (1983). "The legislative intention is to be determined from the statute taken as a whole, and the courts may properly consider the history of its passage." State v. Parmer, 210 Neb. 92, 313 N.W.2d 237 (1981).

As was noted, the definition of agriculture or agricultural enterprise in §58-208 provides these terms "shall mean and include the real and personal property constituting farms and ranches." In construing the Act as a whole, it is evident the Legislature intended the provisions relating to financial assistance for agriculture or agricultural enterprises to apply only to the so-called "family farm." Section 58-203(1) (b) provides one of the purposes of the Act is to "{E}ncourage the investment of private capital to provide financing to farmers and other agricultural enterprises of usual and customary size. . . ." (Emphasis added). Furthermore, a review of the legislative history behind the original creation of the Agricultural Development Corporation reveals the intent of this legislation was to provide a means of obtaining financing to preserve the family farm. LB 384 (1981), Transcript of Agriculture Committee Hearings, February 27, 1981, p.2 (statement of Senator DeCamp).

Analyzing the particular project which you have described to us in your letter, it is apparent that this egg production facility cannot be characterized as resembling a family farm or farming or ranching operation of "usual and customary size." This project involves construction of an extensive facility which will include buildings for egg laying, collection, packaging, and cooling. In addition, a building in which chicken manure will be subjected to composting will be constructed. Given the extensive nature of this facility, and the various processes which it will undertake to perform, we believe it properly qualifies under §58-219(3) (a) as an industrial enterprise engaged in the assembling, processing, and warehousing of "any products of agriculture."

Based on the foregoing analysis, it is our opinion that this egg production facility may properly be included as a commercial or industrial project under the present provisions of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act. We wish to point out that our opinion is based upon the particular characteristics you have presented to us in describing this project, and is limited to a determination that this facility, as described, can be classified as a commercial or industrial project under the present definitions contained in the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act.

Opinion No. 235
November 13, 1984

Dear Senator Vard Johnson:

You have requested our opinion regarding certain changes you wish to make in the provisions of your proposed legislation to create a high-risk pregnancy support program to be administered by the Department of Health. Specifically, you have presented us two approaches which would alter both the definition of high-risk pregnancy and the procedures which could be employed to treat such a condition and funded under this bill. The question you have raised concerns whether either of these approaches would constitute an unlawful delegation of legislative authority to the Department of Health, or whether one or both would provide proper statutory guidance for the implementation of the high-risk pregnancy support program.

As a general rule, the Legislature cannot delegate legislative authority to an administrative body. State v. Sprague, 213 Neb. 581, 330 N.W.2d 739 (1983). The Legislature may, however, grant general powers to an administrative agency and delegate to the agency the power to enact rules and regulations concerning the details of the legislative purpose. Gillette Dairy, Inc. v. Nebraska Dairy Products Board, 192 Neb. 89, 219 N.W.2d 214 (1974). While the Legislature may authorize an administrative agency to make rules and regulations to carry out the expressed legislative purpose of an act, the act must contain sufficient standards to guide the agency in the exercise of such powers. State v. Cutright, 193 Neb. 303, 226 N.W.2d 771 (1975).

In State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979), the Nebraska Supreme Court, discussing the requirement that the Legislature provide sufficient standards to guide the exercise of powers granted to an administrative agency, stated:

> The question of how far the Legislature should go in filling in the details of the standards which an administrative agency is to apply raises large issues of policy in which the Legislature has a wide discretion, and the court should be reluctant to interfere with such discretion. Such standards in conferring discretionary power upon an administrative agency must be reasonably adequate, sufficient, and definite for the guidance of the agency and the exercise of the power conferred upon it and must also be sufficient to enable those affected to know their rights and obligations. 1 Am.Jur.2d, Administrative Law, §117, p. 923. The modern tendency is to be more liberal in permitting grants of discretion to an administrative agency in order to facilitate the administration of laws as the complexity of economic and governmental conditions increases. 1 Am.Jur.2d, Administrative Law, §118, p. 925.

In accordance with the modern trend to liberally permit grants of discretion to administrative agencies, courts have upheld extremely broad and general grants of authority as providing sufficient standards to guide agency action. See Diefenthal v. Civil Aeronautics Board, 681 F.2d 1039 (5th Cir. 1982), cert. denied 459 U.S. 1107 (1983); Upholstered Furniture Action Council v. California Bureau of Home Furnishings, 442 F.Supp. 565 (E.D.Cal. 1977); Department of Insurance v. Southeast Volusia Hospital District, 438 So.2d 815 (Fla. 1983).

As you noted in your letter, high-risk pregnancy is a complex medical condition with respect to both the determination the condition exists and the procedures necessary for treatment of this condition. Given the complexities and need for flexibility in establishing standards within which the Department may carry out the purposes of the act, we feel a legislative determination to utilize broad guidelines would be sufficient, and appropriate, under the circumstances.

Applying the principles, we believe your first proposed amendment, which would replace the specific definition of a high-risk pregnancy or condition with a general and broader definition, would provide sufficient guidance for the Department to implement the program. Furthermore, the first proposals change from the specific provisions concerning what payments associated with this condition would be covered under the act, to a broader provision providing for payment of fees or costs directly related to high-risk pregnancies, would also establish a sufficient standard for the Department to follow in administrating the program.

Your second proposed amendment would add a provision allowing the Department to include within the definition of high-risk pregnancy conditions not specifically enumerated in subsection (2) of Section 3 of the bill. While the listing of certain specific conditions in the manner proposed arguably provides sufficient legislative guidance for agency action, we believe the addition of a general definition, coupled with such specific conditions, would provide a standard which would eliminate our concern regarding the potentially improper delegation of legislative authority presented by this portion of your second proposed amendment. If you choose to adopt this alternative, we suggest that subsections (a) through (g) of Section 2 be retained, and the introductory language in Section 2 be amended in the following manner:

> (2) For purposes of this section, a high-risk pregnancy or condition shall mean a condition related to pregnancy which places the life or health of the pregnant woman or unborn child in danger to a degree beyond that which normally occurs due to pregnancy, including, but not limited to: . . . .

We believe the addition of language in your second proposal to include, in addition to the payments specifically covered, other necessary services and procedures relating to high-risk pregnancies, would provide sufficient guidance for the Department to determine what procedures and services associated with treatment of this condition could be paid for under the act.

Based on the foregoing analysis, it is our opinion that either your first proposed amendment to the bill establishing the high-risk pregnancy support program, or your second proposal, modified as we have suggested, would provide adequate standards to guide the Department of Health in the administration of the program, and therefore would not constitute an unlawful delegation of legislative authority to the Department.

Opinion No. 236

Dear Senator Withem:

You have requested an opinion from our office on three questions regarding proposed legislation which would affect the retirement system for deputy sheriffs employed by counties in the State of Nebraska. In your letter, you indicate that your concern is whether you may accomplish the proposed changes in the deputy sheriffs retirement system under the present provisions of the County Employees Retirement Act, Neb.Rev.Stat. §§23-2301 to 23-2331 (Reissue 1983), or whether it will be necessary to enact enabling legislation to allow separate provisions to be made for deputy sheriffs.

Your initial question concerns whether, under the general provisions of the County Employees Retirement Act, it is possible for a group of employees now covered under the act to negotiate a separate agreement with the county board for additional retirement benefits.

It is fundamental that the number, nature, and duration of the powers conferred upon a county rests in the absolute discretion of the state. City of Grand Island v. Hall County, 196 Neb. 282, 242 N.W.2d 858 (1976). Counties and county boards can exercise only such powers as are expressly granted to them by the Legislature, and such grants of powers must be strictly construed. State ex rel. Agricultural Extension Service of Gage County v. Miller, 182 Neb. 285, 154 N.W.2d 469 (1967); Board of County Commissioners of

Section 23-2329 of the County Employees Retirement Act provides: "The provisions of sections 23-2301 to 23-2331 shall become effective for each county upon their adoption by the county board." The definition of employees covered under the act is contained in §23-2301(1) which provides:

> Employees shall mean all persons or officers who are employed by a county of the State of Nebraska devoting twenty or more hours per week to such employment, all elected officers of a county, and such other persons or officers as are classified from time to time as permanent employees by the county board of the county by whom they are employed, except that the term shall not include judges, persons making contributions to the School Retirement System of the State of Nebraska, or nonelected employees and nonelected officials of any county having a population in excess of one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants; . . . . (Emphasis added).

Section 23-2306 further provides:

> The membership of the retirement system shall be composed of all employees who have been employees for a period of twelve continuous months and who have attained the age of twenty-five, except that elected officials shall be eligible for membership on taking office. (Emphasis added).

Based on the above statutory provisions, we believe it is clear the County Employees Retirement Act only grants to county boards the power to join a retirement system applicable to all county employees as defined in the act, unless specifically excepted from the act's provisions. There is no statutory authority for a county or county board to negotiate or establish a separate agreement for any particular group of employees who are within the definition contained in the act. It is therefore our opinion that a county board would not have the authority to negotiate a separate agreement to provide deputy sheriffs with retirement benefits in addition to those provided other employees covered by the act.

Your second question concerns whether a different percentage contribution ratio could be established to provide deputy sheriffs with greater retirement benefits than are provided for other county employees.

The amount of an employee's contribution to their retirement account, and the percentage of the county's contribution to such account, is established by §§23-2307 and 23-2308 of the County Employees Retirement Act. Section 23-2307 provides, "Each employee who is a member of the retirement system shall pay to the county a sum equal to three and two-tenths per cent of his or her salary for each pay period." Section 23-2308 further provides, "The county clerk shall pay to the carrier an amount equal to two hundred fifty per cent of the amounts deducted from the salaries of employees, in accordance with the provisions of section 23-2307."

Sections 23-2307 and 23-2308 establish the contribution ratio for all employees within the act's definition. Again, we believe it is clear that a county or county board would have no authority to establish a different percentage contribution ratio for a particular group of employees who are covered under the provisions of the act.

Your final question concerns whether the provisions of the County Employees Retirement Act would allow for the establishment of a separate retirement system for a group of employees, such as deputy sheriffs, based on certain requirements unique to their employment, including mandatory early retirement and hazardous duty.

As we indicated in our response to your first question, the County Employees Retirement Act applies to all employees as defined in the act, unless a specific exception is provided. The act contains no exception for employees based on certain requirements which are unique to their employment. Therefore, we believe a county or county board would not have the authority to establish a separate retirement system for deputy sheriffs based on certain requirements unique to their employment.

Opinion No. 238

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your letter of November 26, 1984, concerning the passage of legislation to implement Amendment 4 to the Constitution of the State of Nebraska. Amendment 4 permits the Legislature to make a separate classification of agricultural land, which in turn was intended to allow agricultural land to be valued in a different fashion than other property.

Your question concerns the potential failure of the legislature to implement such legislation prior to April 1, 1985. Under the current statutory scheme for property taxation in Nebraska, the actual valuation and assessment process must be completed no later than April 1. Under Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-1315 (Supp. 1984) The county assessor shall complete his revision of the assessment rolls and file them with the county clerk as of this date. In addition the statute also requires that notice be sent to all property owners whose values have been increased for that year, prior to April 1. Any legislation which would change the values of agricultural land for the 1985 tax year would thus have to be effective prior to April 1, 1985, and as a practical matter, if the new method of valuation is to be implemented so as to actually be placed on the tax rolls by April 1, the assessor must have some time in which to perform this function prior to April 1. Likewise, if the Legislature also requires certain actions to be taken by the Department of Revenue for the implementation of this legislation, then time must be allowed for this function as well. In this regard, your interpretation of the present law is correct.

Your specific question is what values would the assessors be required to use for agricultural land should the Legislature fail to pass such legislation implementing Amendment 4 prior to April 1, 1985. The answer to this question will be based upon the presumption that the Legislature in turn does not enact legislation changing the current schedule of dates for property taxation in the State of Nebraska.

All property in the state is presently required to be valued at actual value or as interpreted by the Supreme Court, market value. Kearney Convention Center v. Board of Equalization, 216 Neb. 292, 344 N.W.2d 629 (1984), and the assessors would thus be required to value agricultural land accordingly. Presently Neb.Rev.Stat §77-1330 (Supp. 1984) requires the assessors to use the various guides prepared by the Tax Commissioner in the performance of their duties. Assuming that the Tax Commissioner has prepared and actually issued such a guide concerning agricultural land values for 1985, as has been done in the past and as you have indicated in your letter has been done for 1985, then the assessors would be required to use these guides in valuing agricultural land.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 241
December 12, 1984

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion as to whether the provisions of Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-1401 (Reissue 1983) (Laws 1977, LB 384) prevent an institution included within that statute from voluntarily delivering to a legislative committee the financial records of one or more of its customers. In our opinion §8-1401 leaves the decision as to whether to provide a customer's financial records to any third party solely within the discretion of that institution.

Section 8-1401 states, in pertinent part:

> No {person, business or institution} . . . shall be required to disclose any information, financial or otherwise, that it deems confidential, concerning its affairs or the affairs of any person or corporation with which it is doing business to any person, party, agency, or organization unless there shall first be presented to such person, corporation or association a court order of a court of competent jurisdiction setting forth the exact nature and limits of such required disclosure and a showing that all persons or organizations to be affected by such order have had reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard upon the merits of such order.

Although there appears to have been some confusion among the senators on this question during floor debate, the clear language of the statute leaves to the discretion of the institution in question both the determination of whether any particular item of information requested by a third party is to be deemed "confidential," and the determination of whether information, even if deemed "confidential," will be delivered to a requesting third party. Perhaps the most concise statement of the purpose and focus of LB 384 came from Senator DeCamp.

> This just says if {the person responsible for the institution in question} does for some reason or other say, no, I am afraid I am going to get sued if I turn this over, {the person responsible for the institution in question} can refuse until somebody lays on his desk some order saying, yes, you have got to turn it over.

In our opinion, §8-1401 places no restrictions upon a third party's ability to obtain a citizen's financial records from a designated institution unless that institution chooses not to deliver such records to the third party. Thus, if one of these institutions has no objections to transferring the requested records to a legislative committee, §8-1401 would not require the committee to obtain a court order permitting acquisition of that information. The propriety of that disclosure, insofar as the relationship between the customer and the institution is concerned, is not addressed by §8-1401. If, on the other hand, the institution chooses to deem the requested records "confidential" and not deliver them, any third party desiring those records (including a legislative committee) would be required to abide by the notice and procedural requirements of §8-1401 and seek a court order directing the delivery of the records in question.

Opinion No. 242

Dear Senator Sieck:

You have requested our opinion regarding two questions relating to the powers of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority.

Initially, you ask whether the Authority is statutorily permitted to issue bonds to enable a corporation to obtain a lower interest rate where no new facilities will be constructed and no new employees will be hired as a result of the bond issue. Specifically, you state the purpose of such an issuance would be to substitute bonds authorized by the Authority for existing industrial development bonds which have already been utilized by the entity.

The statutory provisions pertaining to the issuance of industrial development bonds by counties or municipalities are contained in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§18-1614 to 18-1623 (Reissue 1983). Section 18-1616 provides industrial development bonds issued by counties and municipalities constitute limited obligations, and allows the governing body of a county or municipality to sell bonds at public or private sales at such time they deem to be most advantageous.

The powers granted the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority are enumerated in Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-239 (Reissue 1984). Subsection (18) of §58-239 provides the Authority has the power:

> To issue bonds for the purpose of paying the cost of financing any project or projects, and to secure the payment of such bonds as provided in the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act; . . . . (Emphasis added).

The definition of "project" relating to the industrial or commercial arm of the Authority is found in §58-219, which provides, in pertinent part:

Project shall mean one or more of the following: . . .

(3) Any land, building, or other improvement, any real or personal property, or any equipment, and any undivided or other interest in any of the foregoing, whether or not in existence, suitable or used for or in connection with any of the following revenue-producing enterprises or two or more such enterprises engaged or to be engaged in:

(a) In all areas of the state, manufacturing or industrial enterprises including assembling, fabricating, mixing, processing, warehousing, distributing, or transporting any products of agriculture, forestry, mining, industry, or manufacturing; pollution control facilities; facilities incident to the development of industrial sites including land costs and the costs of site improvements thereon, such as drainage, water, storm, and sanitary sewers, grading, streets, and other facilities and structures incidental to the use of such sites for manufacturing or industrial enterprises;

(b) In all areas of the state, commercial or service enterprises if (i) such facilities constitute new construction or rehabilitation including hotels or motels, sports and recreation facilities available for use by members of the general public either as participants or spectators, and convention or trade show facilities and (ii) such facilities do not or will not derive a significant portion of their gross receipts from retail sales or utilize a significant portion of their total area for retail sales;

(c) In blighted areas of the state, commercial, service, and business enterprises if such facilities constitute new construction, acquisition, or rehabilitation, including, but not limited to, those enterprises specified in subdivision (3) (b) of this section, office buildings, and retail businesses; and

(d) In all areas of the state, any land, building, or other improvement and all real or personal property, including furniture and equipment, and any undivided or other interest in any such property, whether or not in existence, suitable or used for or in connection with any hospital, nursing home, and any facilities related and subordinate thereto; and

(4) Any land, building, or other improvement, any real or personal property, or any equipment, and any undivided or other interest in any of the foregoing, whether or not in existence, used by any business as an office building, but only if (a) the principal long-term occupant or occupants thereof initially employ at least fifty people, (b) the office building will be used by the principal long-term occupant or occupants as a national, regional, or divisional office, (c) the principal long-term occupant or occupants are engaged in a multistate operation, and (d) the authority makes the findings specified in subdivision (1) of section 58-251. . . . (Emphasis added).

We believe the language of §58-239(18), providing the Authority with the power "to issue bonds for the purpose of paying the cost of financing any project," clearly indicates a legislative intent to limit the Authority's power to issue bonds to use only for the financing of projects within the Act's coverage. Subsections (3) and (4) of §58-219 specifically define what projects come within the scope of the Act's provisions for the financing of industrial or commercial enterprises and activities. Section 58-219 restricts the definition of such projects to "any land, building, or other improvement, any real or personal property, or any equipment, and any undivided or other interest" in any industrial or business activity authorized to be financed under the Act. This language indicates the Authority's power to finance projects is limited to the construction or acquisition by an entity of real or personal property. We believe the issuance of refinancing bonds would not constitute a project within the intent and purposes of the Act. It is therefore our opinion that the definitions in §58-219 would not cover the issuance of Authority bonds to replace existing industrial development bonds issued under §§18-1614 to 18-1623.

Your second question concerns whether the Board of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority is required to approve a bond issue if independent bond counsel states the bond issue meets legal requirements, or whether the Board can deny the issuance of bonds if it finds such issuance would not be in the general public interest or would not be within the general public purposes of the legislation creating the Authority.

Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-234 (Reissue 1984) empowers the Authority to employ various personnel, including legal counsel. The powers of the Authority are further enumerated in §58-239, which provides, in pertinent part:

> The authority is hereby granted all powers necessary or appropriate to carry out and effectuate its public and corporate purposes, including but not limited to, the following: . . .
> (7) To employ architects, engineers, attorneys, inspectors, accountants, building contractors, financial experts, and such other advisors, consultants, and agents as may be necessary in its judgment, and to fix their compensation; . . .
> (9) To borrow money and issue bonds as provided by the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act; . . . .

The provisions relating to the sale of bonds by the Authority are contained in Neb.Rev.Stat. §§58-252 to 58-262 (Reissue 1984). Clearly, no statutory provision exists which requires the Board to approve a bond issue merely because the bond counsel hired by the Authority renders its opinion that an issue meets all legal requirements. Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-251 (Reissue 1984) requires the Authority to make certain specific findings relating to the public purposes to be served prior to financing a development project under the Act. Section 58-251 provides:

> Prior to providing financing for a development project as defined by subdivision (3) of section 58-219, the authority shall make specific findings relating to the public purposes to be effectuated thereby, including but not limited to (1) with respect to a project as defined in subdivision (3) (a), (3) (b), or (3) (c) of section 58-219, the project's effect on the economic base, the tax base, tax revenue, and employment opportunities, and (2) with respect to a project as defined in subdivision (3) (d) of section 58-219, the project's effect on the provision, including the continued provision, of health care and related services.

Based on the foregoing, it is our opinion that the Board of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority is not required to approve a bond issue which its independent bond counsel has stated meets all legal requirements. The Board has discretion to deny the issuance of development bonds if it finds their issuance would not be in the general public interest or would not effectuate the public purposes outlined in §58-251.

Opinion No. 243
December 24, 1984

SUBJECT: Proposed legislative bill relating to tort claims against the State of Nebraska (REQ01SS/DG-11-08)
REQUESTED BY: Senator John DeCamp
OPINION BY: Edwin C. Perry, Special Assistant Attorney General QUESTION: Would the proposed legislative bill(ROUGH DRAFT, REQ01SS/DG-11-08) be constitutional?
CONCLUSION: The proposed bill, in our opinion, is constitutionally suspect as special legislation.

The proposed bill in Section 2 creates a separate and limited class of tort claims allowable against the State of Nebraska. It applies in very limited circumstances and only to claims:

(a) Arising from the Department of Banking and Finance's supervision, regulation or control;

(b) Involving only financial institutions specified in Section 8-102;

(c) Involving only financial institutions existing under Section 8-102 which have been declared insolvent under Sections 8-194 and 8-195;

(d) Only where the aggregate sum of the claim being made is at least $10,000,000; and

(e) If a separate legislative bill is signed by at least ten (10) members of the Legislature.

In addition to dramatically altering the procedural aspects of tort claims within this limited class, the law changes the substantive rules applicable to such claims. In particular as to this limited group of claims, the exemptions under the State Tort Claims Act which are set forth in Section 81-8,219, R.R.S. Nebraska, would not be applicable. Thus, the State's existing immunity from liability for discretionary acts, misrepresentation and deceit would not be available as to claims in this classification. A substantive change of this nature on a retroactive basis may or may not be valid.

The letter requesting the opinion refers to the Commonwealth matter. This proposed Act does not refer to Section 8-416, R.R.S. Nebraska, which specifically authorizes the Department of Banking to take over industrial loan and investment companies. The sections referred to in the proposed bill deal with declarations of insolvency of commercial banks. It is suggested that the bill should be redrafted to include Section 8-416, R.R.S. Nebraska, and alleviate any possible ambiguity in this regard.

The bill is further ambiguous as to the rights of depositors who either have filed claims or legal actions against the State or who may wish to do so. It is recommended that this aspect of the bill be reviewed and clarified.

In any event, Article III, section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution specifically prohibits the passage of special legislation or the granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity or franchise whatsoever. It further provides that where a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted.

This proposed legislative bill attempts the very specific classification of tort feasors and victims entitled to relief. It applies only to limited actions by the Department of Banking and Finance and would not include acts or omissions of any other agencies or units of state government. In addition, it would not include any other claims of victims against other agencies or units of state government. It further classifies by limiting its application only to situations in which the regulated financial institution had been declared insolvent under certain laws, and further attempts to split the designated class into a further class by making it applicable only to situations involving an aggregate claim of at least $10,000,000.

Our opinion after review of this constitutional provision as it has been construed by the Nebraska Supreme Court is that this proposed bill is constitutionally suspect as impermissible special legislation. See, United Community Services V. The Omaha Nat. Bank, 162 Neb. 786, 77 N.W.2d 576 (1956); Cox v. State, 134 Neb. 751, 279 N.W. 482 (1938); Brody v. State, 142 Neb. 714, 7 N.W.2d 632 (1943); and Campbell v. City of Lincoln, 195 Neb. 703, 240 N.W.2d 339 (1976).

In Weaver v. Koehn, 120 Neb. 115, 231 N.W. 703 (1930), the Supreme Court of Nebraska was confronted with a legislative appropriation of some $260,000 to repay depositors in failed banks (or such of their money as was deposited by them therein while the banks were closed and were being operated by the Guarantee Fund Commission). The Court held that the appropriation was constitutionally invalid. This decision may also adversely affect the constitutionality of this proposed legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

Opinion No. 1
January 2, 1985

Dear Senator Abboud:

We have received your letter of December 27, 1984, in which you request us to reconsider our earlier Opinion Number 242, issues on December 19, 1984. In that opinion, we concluded, in part, that the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority was not statutorily permitted to substitute bonds authorized by the Authority for existing industrial development bonds issued by counties or municipalities.

In requesting us to review our opinion in this regard, you have provided us with a specific factual setting in which you ask whether the Authority may accomplish a refinancing of this nature. The question posed in your letter focuses on the potential refinancing, through the issuance of Authority bonds, of several grain elevators located in various areas of the state. The funds for constructing these grain elevators were originally obtained from financing provided by the issuance of industrial development bonds by counties and municipalities.

In our earlier opinion, we focused on the power granted to the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority under Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-239 (18) (Reissue 1984), which provides the Authority with the power "{T}o issue bonds for the purposes of paying the cost of financing any project or projects," and the definitions of "project" contained in §58-219. Based on the language in subsection (18) of §58-239, providing the authority with the power to issue bonds to finance projects as defined in §58-219, we concluded the Authority had no power to issue bonds to refinance existing industrial development bonds issued by counties or municipalities under Neb.Rev.Stat. §§18-1614 to 18-1623 (Reissue 1983), as such refinancing would not involve the construction or acquisition by an entity of real or personal property constituting a "project."

Upon reconsideration, we have analyzed various arguments which have been advanced to support the conclusion that the Authority has the power to issue bonds to effect a refinancing under these circumstances. While we recognize such arguments represent a reasonable interpretation of the powers granted to the Authority, we cannot affirmatively conclude the Authority is statutorily empowered to issue bonds to refinance or refund existing industrial development bonds issued by counties or municipalities.

The general powers granted the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority are enumerated in Neb.Rev.Stat. §58-239 (Reissue 1984). Subsection (9) of §58-239 provides the Authority has the power "{T}o borrow money and issue bonds as provided by the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act." Section 58-253, which grants the Authority the power to make issuances to renew or refund bonds, provides, in pertinent part:

> The authority shall have the power to issue from time to time bonds to renew or to pay bonds, including the interest on such bonds, and whenever it deems refunding expedient, to refund any bonds by the issuance of new bonds, whether the bonds to be refunded have or have not matured, and to issue bonds partly to refund outstanding bonds and partly for any other of its corporate purposes.

The definition of "bonds" is contained in §58-210, which provides "{B}onds shall mean any bonds, notes, debentures, interim certificates, bond anticipation notes, or other evidences of financial indebtedness."

The Legislature, by virtue of §58-253, clearly provided the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority with the power to issue bonds for refunding or refinancing purposes. Furthermore, the definition of bonds in §58-210 is not specifically limited to bonds issued by the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority.

Arguably, based on the above statutory provisions, the Authority could have the power to issue bonds to refinance existing industrial development bonds originally issued by counties or municipalities, which provided funds for the construction of certain grain elevators in the state, provided the Authority determined such an issuance would effectuate a proper public purpose under the Act. Specifically, with respect to the proposed issuance of development bonds under the industrial or commercial arm of the Act, this would require the Authority to make the specific findings relating to the public purposes to be served by such issuance outlined in §58-251, which provides:

> Prior to providing financing for a development project as defined by subdivision (3) of section 58-219, the authority shall make specific findings relating to the public purposes to be effectuated thereby, including but not limited to (1) with respect to a project as defined in subdivision (3) (a), (3) (b), or (3) (c) of section 58-219, the project's effect on the economic base, the tax base, tax revenue, and employment opportunities, . . . .

A further argument in support of the position that the Authority may properly engage in such refinancings is based on §58-239(22), which grants the Authority the power

> To enter into financing agreements with others with respect to one or more projects to provide financing for such projects upon such terms and conditions as the authority may deem advisable to effectuate the public purposes of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act, which projects shall be located within the state.

While the term "financing" is not specifically defined in the Act, the phrase "financing agreement" is defined in §58-211, in part, as follows:

> Financing agreement shall mean any contractual obligation between the authority and another entity with respect to the financing, which shall include without limitation refinancing, of a project or projects, and shall include, without limitation, a lease agreement, loan agreement, sale contract, take or pay contract, or user agreement. . . . The financing agreement shall also contain provisions with respect to the acquisition, construction, rehabilitation, improvement, or refinancing of a project to effectuate the public purposes of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act. . . . (Emphasis added).

The use of the word financing in the first sentence of §58-211, together with the following phrase which provides the word "shall include without limitation refinancing," recognizes the power of the Authority to engage in refinancings. The last sentence of §58-211 further provides the financing agreement shall contain provisions which include, among other things, the "refinancing of a project to effectuate the public purposes of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act."

Under these statutory provisions, the Authority arguably has the power to issue bonds and enter into a financing agreement with respect to the refinancing of industrial development bonds which were originally issued to finance a facility, such as the grain elevators discussed in your question, which would have qualified as a "project" under the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority Act, provided the Authority determined a proper public purpose would be served by the refinancing in question.

While we recognize the above interpretations do not represent an unreasonable construction of the statutory provisions outlining the powers of the Authority, we note that the refinancing or refunding of industrial development bonds issued by counties or municipalities is specifically provided for under Neb.Rev.Stat. §18-1619 (Reissue 1983), which provides, in part:

> Any bonds issued under the provisions of sections 18-1614 to 18-1623 and at any time outstanding may at any time and from time to time be refunded by a municipality or county by the issuance of its refunding bonds in such amount as the governing body may deem necessary but not exceeding an amount sufficient to refund the principal of the bonds to be so refunded, together with any unpaid interest thereon and any premiums and commission necessary to be paid in connection therewith.

Under §18-1619, the Legislature has provided a clear means by which an entity can seek a refinancing or refunding of industrial development bonds issued by a county or municipality. In contrast, the statutory powers granted the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority do not clearly and unambiguously provide the Authority with the power to issue bonds to refinance industrial development bonds issued under §§18-1614 to 18-1623.

It is axiomatic that the Authority, being a creature of statute, is authorized to exercise only such powers as provided by the Legislature. Based on the absence of any clear statutory authority granting the Authority the power to issue bonds to refinance or refund industrial development bonds issued by counties or municipalities, coupled with the specific and clear authority to accomplish this result under §18-1619, we cannot conclude the Authority has the power to effect a refinancing of this nature. Although we feel the arguments advanced to support the position that the Authority has such powers are not unreasonable, we do not believe that the Authority may issue bonds to refinance industrial development bonds initially issued by counties or municipalities to finance the construction of grain elevator facilities in the state. To the extent that you feel the Authority should be vested with such power, we would recommend that you propose legislation which would clearly grant the Authority the power to engage in refinancings of this nature.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 2

Dear Senator Vickers:

This is in response to your letter concerning Neb.Rev.Stat. §17-307 (Reissue 1983) and Neb.Rev.Stat. §17-311 (1984 Supp.), and the need for possible legislative clarification as to the statutes. Your question is whether the requirements of §17-311 are mandatory in spite of the language therein that would appear to create an exception under §17-307.

Section 17-311 provides in its pertinent part that:

(1) Except as provided in §17-307, whenever any village increases in population until it has a population of more than eight hundred inhabitants but less than five thousand inhabitants, as ascertained and officially promulgated by the census, enumeration, and return taken by the United States, by the State of Nebraska, or by the authority of the village board of such village, the village board shall certify such fact to the Secretary of State who, upon the filing of such a certificate, shall by proclamation so declare and shall declare such village to have become a city of the second class. Thereafter such city shall be governed by the laws of this state applicable to cities of the second class.

Section 17-307 provides in part that:

(1) Whenever any village shall attain a population exceeding eight hundred inhabitants and one-fourth of the legal voters, but not less than one hundred registered legal voters, therein shall petition the board of trustees of such village, the board of trustees shall cause to be published for at least thirty days a notice stating that the question of retaining a village form of government will be submitted at the next regularly scheduled election or at a special election announced in such notice. Thereupon there shall be submitted by the board of trustees at such election the question of retaining a village form of government. Such election shall be conducted in the manner provided for cities of the second class. The form of the ballot at such election shall be For retention of village government, and Against retention of village government. If the majority of the votes cast are for retention of village government, then such village shall remain a village and be governed under the provisions of the law relating to villages, unless it shall, at some future election, adopt a city government in the manner provided herein for the adoption of a village government.

Section 17-307 was not specifically repealed in the legislation enacting §17-311, and §17-311 makes a specific reference to §17-307. Thus in order to give meaning to both statutes, it would appear that a proper interpretation of §17-311 is that it is mandatory any time the specific requirements contained therein are met, unless the citizens of that village have petitioned the board of trustees for an election at which the question of retention of the village form of government will be decided pursuant to §17-307. You may, nevertheless, wish to sponsor a clarifying amendment in order to avoid any future disputes and disagreements.

Sincerely,
PATRICK T. O'BRIEN

1. A Member of the legislature shall conduct himself or herself at all times in a manner which shall reflect creditably on the legislature.
2. A Member of the legislature shall adhere to the spirit and the letter of the Rules of the legislature and to the rules of duly constituted committees thereof.
3. A Member of the legislature shall receive no compensation nor shall he or she permit any compensation to accrue to his or her beneficial interest from any source, the receipt of which would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from his or her position in the legislature.
4. A Member of the legislature shall not accept gifts (other than personal hospitality of an individual at his or her home and other than personal hospitality of a non-profit organization when such hospitality is also extended to the general membership of such organization), from any person or organization (other than from a relative) having a direct interest in legislation before the legislature. Any person registered under the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act (or any successor statute), any principal of such registered person, and any person retained by registered person, for the purpose of influencing legislation before the legislature shall be deemed to have a direct interest in legislation before the legislature.

The term "gift" means and includes the definitions set out in the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act. (or any successor statute)

If a Member of the legislature, after exercising reasonable diligence to obtain the information necessary to comply with this rule, unknowingly accepts a gift as defined by the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act, such Member shall, upon learning of the nature of the gift and its source, return the gift or, if it is not possible to return the gift, reimburse the donor for the value of the gift.

5. A Member of the legislature shall accept no honorarium for a speech, writing for publication, or other similar activity, from any person, organization, or corporation in excess of the usual and customary value for such services.

6. A Member of the legislature shall retain no one in his or her hire who does not perform duties commensurate with the compensation he or she receives.

7. A Member of the legislature shall not discharge or refuse to hire any individual, or otherwise discriminate against any individual with respect to compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, because of such individual's race, color, religion, sex, age or national origin.

8. A Member of the legislature shall hire no relative for a paid position in the legislature.

For purposes of paragraph 4 and 8 of this Code of Official Conduct the term "relative" means, with respect to any Member of the legislature, an individual who is related as father, mother, son, daughter, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, first cousin, nephew, niece, husband, wife, grandfather, grandmother, grandson, granddaughter, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepson, stepdaughter, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister or any person who is the grandfather or grandmother of the spouse of the member.

9. A Member of the legislature shall not knowingly solicit campaign contributions from persons he or she has employed to work in the legislature.

10. A Member of the legislature, if he or she becomes a registered lobbyist under the Nebraska Accountability and Disclosure Act, or any successor statute, or is employed or retained by such registered lobbyist for the purpose of influencing legislation, shall not lobby Members of the legislature, officers, or employees of the legislature for a period of one year after leaving legislative office.

11. A Member of the legislature or an individual who is a candidate for nomination for election to the legislature or any other office may not use the mail privilege afforded to the Members for constituent contact within sixty days immediately before the date of any primary or general election (whether regular, special, or runoff) in which the Member of individual is a candidate for any public office.

Nothing in this rule shall apply to any mailing under the legislative privilege which is (a) in direct response to inquiries or requests from persons to whom the matter is mailed; (b) addressed to colleagues in the legislature or to government officials (whether Federal, state, or local), (c) consists entirely of news releases to the communications media, or (d) consists of less than 30 pieces of mail.

12. ENFORCEMENT

Any violations of the Code of Official Conduct shall be under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Rules of the Legislature, which committee shall have authority after notice and a public hearing to prescribe and publish such regulations as its members believe are necessary to implement the Code of Official Conduct.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 6.

Introduced by Peterson, 21st District; Hefner, 19th District; Sieck, 24th District; Vickers, 38th District; Smith, 33rd District; Baack, 47th District; Scofield, 49th District; Lamb, 43rd District; DeCamp, 40th District; Nelson, 35th District; Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, the State of Nebraska, as well as other Midwestern states, is experiencing and has experienced an unprecedented number of bank and Production Credit Association failures; and

WHEREAS, these failed institutions have been placed under the receivership of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; and

WHEREAS, the failure of these financial institutions has restricted the credit available to otherwise credit worthy farm producers who were members or customers of these failed institutions; and

WHEREAS, the crisis created by these failed institutions and the lack of adequate production credit has created a crisis which demands an immediate solution; and

WHEREAS, any failure to address the production credit problems of credit worthy farm operators will result in another cycle of farm failures; and

WHEREAS, only the President and the Farmers Home Administrator have the existing authority to immediately intercede to break this cycle of farm and financial failures.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That, by Executive Order, the Farmers Home Administration be authorized to:

A. Declare an emergency in order to reallocate and pool unobligated or unused funds within FmHA as authorized at the discretion of the Administrator.

B. Release a portion of the Reserve on Operation Loans, which reserve is estimated to total approximately $96 million, and exercise the Administrator's discretionary powers to reallocate these funds to any state or FmHA office by reallocating these funds to those areas impacted by the failure of financial institutions.

C. Release a portion of the Farm Ownership reserve funds, which reserve is estimated to total approximately $26 million, and reallocate these funds to those areas impacted by the failure of financial lending institutions.

D. Extend the highest loan processing priority to farm borrowers of failed agricultural lending institutions who apply for operating loans from FmHA.

E. Reallocate unobligated, unused, and reserve FmHA funds to give priority to the crisis situation faced by credit worthy farm producers who are otherwise unable to secure credit after being served by a failed financial lending institution.

F. Extend loan guarantee programs to include and give priority to those financial institutions which extend operating credit to farm operators previously served by a failed financial lending institution.

G. Cooperate, to the fullest extent possible, with solvent lending institutions in the approval of guarantee loan programs.

H. Urge Congress to renew the FmHA Economic Emergency Loan Authority and to target emergency loans to financially distressed areas previously served by failed financial lending institutions.

I. Suspend, for one year, FmHA sponsored farm ownership loan collections upon a showing that such collections would reduce the availability of operating capitol for farm operators who had secured such loans from a failed financial lending institution.

2. That, by Executive Order, the Federal Depository Insurance Corporation, as receiver, and the Farmers Home Authority be ordered to cooperate in identifying those farm producers who can survive in their community if they can find a new lender, and to secure operating capitol for these producers prior to the production season.

3. That this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States.

4. That copies of this resolution be directed to the Secretary of Agriculture, the Farmers Home Administrator, the Chairman and the Director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and to the Nebraska's congressional delegation.

Laid over.

DEDICATION OF THE GEORGE W. NORRIS WEST LEGISLATIVE CHAMBER

A visitor from another state is likely to ask, "Why name your Legislative Chamber for George W. Norris?" The reason for naming this chamber after Norris is compelling and should not be forgotten. To put it simply, without Norris this state would not have a nonpartisan one-house Legislature.

In the early history of our country the trend was away from the notion of a one-house Legislature. Most of the colonial assemblies had originated as one-house bodies, although they gradually shifted over to the two-house system. The continental congresses had been unicameral. However, by the time state constitutions were being adopted only Pennsylvania, Georgia and Vermont adopted one-house Legislatures. They later changed to two-houses, although Vermont did not change until 1836. The organization of our national Congress into two houses, the Senate and the House, undoubtedly had a strong influence on those who drafted state constitutions.

Early in this century there was a great deal of criticism of the use of conference committees between the two houses. When Norris campaigned in Nebraska in 1934 in support of a nonpartisan one-house constitutional amendment, he said that the argument that a two-house Legislature provides checks and balances does not work out in practice. Rather, he said it has developed that "through the conference committee, the politicians have the checks and the special interests the balances."

It is interesting that in Nebraska, conservative in so many ways, there had been several efforts to change our Legislature to the one-house system before Senator Norris took up the cause. In 1915 a joint committee of the Legislature declared that "one body can more directly represent the public will of a democratic people than two or more," and recommended submitting a single-chamber amendment to the people. Instead, the Legislature voted to hold a constitutional convention. At the 1919-20 constitutional convention the proposal for a single-chamber Legislature was beaten by only one vote, the president of the convention breaking a tie. In 1923 an initiative petition was circulated to amend the constitution to have a one-house Legislature, but not enough signatures were obtained. Legislative efforts failed in 1925 and again in 1933.

In 1934, at the urging of a small group in Lincoln, Senator Norris agreed to put his immense prestige behind an initiative petition for a one-house Legislature. At that time his prestige was indeed immense. He had been in Congress 32 years, 10 in the House and 22 in the U. S. Senate. His achievements in the National Capitol had been impressive, astonishing in fact. While still in the House he had brought about a change in the rules that broke the autocratic control of Speaker Joe Cannon. Almost alone he had voted against this nation's involvement in World War I and had survived the disapproval of most of Nebraska's newspapers. His leadership had brought about the adoption of the twentieth amendment to the U. S. Constitution which eliminated "lame duck" sessions of Congress. Norris' dogged persistence had achieved the Tennessee Valley Authority. He had lead the effort for enactment of the Rural Electrification Act thus allowing rural America to have electricity.

Four years earlier his prestige had been enhanced by his victory in the 1930 elections. He then faced determined opposition not only from the Democratic Party but also from influential members of his own Republican Party. In the 1930 primary election there occurred the infamous trick of getting a grocery clerk in Broken Bow named George W. Norris also to file for the Senate. An action filed in the Supreme Court kept "Grocer Norris" off the ballot. His chief opponent in the primary, State Treasurer Stebbins, was supported by the republican leadership, even by former Governor Sam McKelvie. Norris however obtained the renomination with about sixty per cent of the votes. In the final election in 1930 he faced former U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who was added to the Nebraska Hall of Fame last month. Hitchcock received substantial support from many Republican leaders. Norris proved his political strength by overwhelming Hitchcock with not much less than sixty per cent of the votes. Thus, being at the peak of his popularity, it seemed in 1934 that Norris might be able to carry an initiative petition to success even though it had failed several times earlier.

The form of the amendment included the non-partisan feature. Some members of the group that had enlisted Norris' support argued that the non-partisan feature might cause the defeat of the amendment. Norris insisted upon it. One wonders whether he foresaw that he would be running for reelection as an independent two years later.

The non-partisan feature of the amendment brought opposition from the leaders of both political parties. Further, some farm groups opposed the amendment on the ground that the proposed membership, limited to not more than 50 members, was too small to give agriculture adequate representation. Most of the newspapers including the Omaha World-Herald opposed the amendment. The only daily newspapers supporting the amendment were the Lincoln Star and the Hastings Tribune. The editor of the Lincoln Star, James Lawrence, was a close friend and ally of Senator Norris.

When the initiative petition was ready for circulation Senator Norris gave it his full support. He visited every section of the state. 57,000 signatures were required. Before the deadline more than 75,000 persons had signed the petition.

Once the amendment was on the ballot the opposition to it was intensified. Both political parties saw the amendment as a direct threat to their influence and an assault on the traditional two-party system of government in this country. It was argued that no other state had a non-partisan one-house Legislature. It was argued that the proposal was a dangerous experiment and a rejection of the tried and true American legislative formula used by our National Congress.

It is a demonstration of the stature of George W. Norris in Nebraska in 1934 that the constitutional amendment carried by a vote of 286,086 to 193,152, a majority of almost sixty per cent.

The amendment assigned to the 1935 Legislature the task of setting the number of members, which was agreed to be 43, and then dividing the state into 43 districts. The first unicameral Legislature was elected in 1936 and commenced its first session on January 5, 1937. Senator Norris was here in this Chamber on that day to address the opening session.

What manner of man was Senator Norris, whose entire career was fraught with controversy? Both his father and his older brother died when he was three years old. His mother did not remarry. By dint of hard work he managed to obtain a law degree from a northern Indiana Normal School at the age of 22. He went west in 1884 to the territory that later became the State of Washington, but could not make a living. He came back to Beatrice, Nebraska, early in 1885 and tried without success to start a law practice. Then in September of 1885 he moved to Beaver City in Furnas County and was able to establish a law practice. Five years later, in 1890, he ran for County Attorney in Furnas County and lost. That was the same year when my great-grandfather, John H. Powers, was the Populist Party candidate for Governor in Nebraska and also lost - actually won according to historian Addison Sheldon, who said my great-grandfather was counted out by manipulation of the ballot boxes by the railroads. In later years Norris and my great-grandfather Powers were political friends.

After giving him three daughters, his first wife died in the eleventh year of their marriage. During that marriage he had again run for County Attorney of Furnas County and had been elected in 1892. He was elected District Judge in 1895. In 1902 he was elected to Congress. During his second year in Congress he married a teacher in the McCook public school system who raised his three daughters and who was a tremendous help to him throughout his life.

He was small in stature. He dressed plainly, usually wearing a baggy black suit and a string bow tie. His talk was quiet. He avoided the social life in Washington, D. C., spending most of his evenings at home reading.

From the beginning of his career he might be said to have been non-traditional. His service as District Judge was during the drought of the 1890's. Once when a farmer appeared in court explaining that he could not meet his mortgage payment because he "didn't get enough rain in July and August to grow weeds," Judge Norris is said to have replied from the bench, "I don't think we should hold you responsible for dry weather. It wouldn't be fair. We'll extend the payment." The banker who held the mortgage was unhappy, but it is reported that "the people loved the little Judge."

Although he was a Republican all of his life he refused to conform to the party mold. Before the end of his first term in the House of Representatives he had cast votes against the Republican Party leadership and was in disfavor. Even today there are Republicans who will scold me when they hear that I have made these remarks in praise of Mr. Norris. In 1928 he had openly supported Al Smith, a Catholic and a Democrat, in the days when being a Catholic was not recommended for Nebraska politicians. In that election Herbert Hoover carried Nebraska by a large margin. After Norris was reelected on the Republican ticket in 1930 he nevertheless in 1932 openly supported Franklin D. Roosevelt, and supported Roosevelt again in 1936 and 1940.

Norris' reelection in 1936 is a curious chapter of Nebraska's political history. The rift between Senator Norris and the state and national Republican Party had become so wide that he did not try to bridge it. Instead in 1936 Norris ran for reelection as an independent. Robert G. Simmons, former Congressman and later Supreme Court Chief Justice, was the Republican nominee. Terry Carpenter had won the senatorial nomination in the Democratic primary. However, Norris had the strong support of President Roosevelt, who was able to get the Democratic State Convention to endorse the independent candidacy of Senator Norris. In that year President Roosevelt himself came into Nebraska to urge the reelection of Norris. Norris was reelected. Carpenter ran a poor third.

Six years later, in 1942, Norris again sought reelection as an independent. The Republican nominee was Kenneth S. Wherry, a former Legislator and a former chairman of the State Republican Party. Wherry was elected. By then the political climate in Nebraska had changed. Support from President Roosevelt and the New Deal was no longer enough. The State Democratic Party was not willing to give its official blessing to Norris as it had done in 1936, although the Lincoln Star strongly supported him. The Democratic nominee was a popular Omaha radio commentator, Foster May, who retained the official Democratic Party Support. The progressive Republican support which had aided Norris' reelections on earlier occasions had lost its strength. Further, in 1942 Senator Norris was 81 years of age, although he was still vigorous and looked much younger than he appears in the copy of a snapshot at the end of this paper.

Most of the national press berated Nebraskans for refusing to reelect Senator Norris. President Roosevelt expressed deep disappointment. Years later one of his fellow Senators, Lister Hill, reflected the sentiment of many people throughout the nation when he said of Norris, "His commitment to his fellow men was total, with no reservation. George Norris wanted a better life for all people. That was his single goal. Throughout his life he worked to achieve it."

The snapshot on the last page shows Senator Norris at the front of this Chamber on March 10, 1943, when I, as Speaker of the Legislature, invited him to address the members. It was his last appearance in this Legislative Chamber. He died the following year from a cerebral hemorrhage. Some thought that rejection by his beloved Nebraska voters at the 1942 election had broken his heart.

Speaking as one who has done some chores in elective politics, the most meaningful tribute to Norris was one paid by a veteran member of the Senate Press Gallery. He said something like this: 'If I were ever elected to the Senate I would be grateful that the alphabet would cause my name to come after the name of Norris. For if I entered the chamber when a roll call was in progress, and my name was next, I would simply ask how Norris voted. If I voted as he did, then I could be sure that I had served my country well.' "

The Nebraska Legislature today reflects credit on its members and on the State of Nebraska by naming this Legislative Chamber for a great statesman, George W. Norris.

2. A Member of the legislature shall adhere to the spirit and the letter of the Rules of the legislature and to the rules of duly constituted committees thereof.

3. A Member of the legislature shall receive no compensation nor shall he or she permit any compensation to accrue to his or her beneficial interest from any source, the receipt of which would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from his or her position in the legislature.

4. A Member of the legislature shall not accept gifts (other than personal hospitality of an individual at his or her home and other than personal hospitality of a non-profit organization when such hospitality is also extended to a substantial portion of the membership of such organization), from any person or organization (other than from a relative) having a direct interest in legislation before the legislature. The term "gift" means and includes the definitions set out in the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act. (or any successor statute)

If a Member of the legislature, after exercising reasonable diligence to obtain the information necessary to comply with this rule, unknowingly accepts a gift as defined by the Nebraska Political

11. A Member of the legislature or an individual who is a candidate for nomination for election to the legislature or any other office may not use the mail privilege afforded to the Members for constituent contact within sixty days immediately before the date of any primary or general election (whether regular, special, or runoff) in which the Member of individual is a candidate for any public office.

Nothing in this rule shall apply to any mailing under the legislative

12. ENFORCEMENT

Any violations of the Code of Official Conduct shall be under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Rules of the Legislature, which committee shall have authority after notice and a public hearing to prescribe and publish such regulations as its members believe are necessary to implement the Code of Official Conduct. LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 12CA.

Introduced by V. Johnson, 8th District; DeCamp, 40th District; Beutler, 28th District; Hoagland, 6th District.

A Resolution to propose an amendment to Article III, section 17, and Article IV, section 5, and by adding a new section 5A thereto, and the repeal of Article XV, section 3, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1986 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 17, and Article IV, section 5, and by adding a new section 5A thereto, and the repeal of Article XV, section 3, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Article III, Sec. 17. The Legislature shall have the sole power of impeachment, but a majority of the members elected must concur therein. Impeachment proceedings may be initiated against any civil officer of the state for acts or omissions committed by such officer while he or she is in such state office or any other state office. Proceedings may be initiated in either a regular session or a special session of the Legislature. Upon the adoption of a resolution of impeachment, which resolution shall give reasonable notice of the acts or omissions alleged to constitute impeachable offenses but need not conform to any particular style, a notice of an impeachment of any officer, other than a Judge of the Supreme Court, shall be forthwith served upon the Chief Justice, by the Clerk of the Legislature, who shall thereupon call a session of the Supreme Court to meet at the Capitol in an expeditious fashion ~~within ten days~~ after such notice to try the impeachment. A notice of an impeachment of the Chief Justice or any Judge of the Supreme Court shall be served by the Clerk of the Legislature, upon the clerk ~~any Judge~~ of the judicial district within which the Capitol is located, and he or she thereupon shall ~~notify all the~~ choose, at random, seven Judges of the District Court in the State to meet ~~with him~~ within thirty days at the Capitol, to sit as a Court to try such impeachment, which Court shall organize by electing one of its number to preside. The case against the impeached civil officer shall be brought in the name of the Legislature and shall be managed by two senators, appointed by the Legislature, who may make technical or procedural amendments to the articles of impeachment as they deem necessary. The trial shall be conducted in the manner of a civil proceeding and the impeached civil officer shall not be allowed to invoke a privilege against self-incrimination, except as otherwise applicable in a general civil case. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Court of impeachment that clear and convincing evidence exists indicating that such person is guilty of one or more impeachable offenses, but judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, profit, or trust, in this State, but the party impeached, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to prosecution and punishment according to law. No officer shall exercise his or her official duties after he or she shall have been impeached and notified thereof, until he or she shall have been acquitted. No impeachment conviction shall be set aside by pardon.

Article IV, Sec. 5. All civil officers of this state shall be liable to impeachment for any impeachable offense committed ~~misdemeanor~~ in office. An impeachable offense shall be an offense which, because of its nature or consequence, is subversive of an essential principle of government or highly prejudicial to public interest. Such offense may consist of, but shall not be limited to, a violation of the Constitution, a violation of a law, a violation of an official oath, a violation of a duty, an abuse of discretionary powers, or the existence of a physical or mental condition that renders the officeholder incapable of performing his or her duties in a competent fashion. An impeachable offense shall not require monetary or other damage to the state. Impeachment or the trial thereof shall not be precluded by the resignation or the end of the term of office of a civil officer after the initiation of impeachment proceedings against such officer. Impeachment shall be precluded if such civil officer leaves office prior to the initiation of impeachment proceedings and is not holding any other state office.

Article IV, Sec. 5A. Any civil officer of this state shall have the duty to act as a fiduciary for the State of Nebraska and as a fiduciary shall observe the standards in dealing with the public interest that would be observed by a prudent person dealing with the interests of another. If such officer has special skills, he or she shall be under a duty to exercise such skills to the extent that such skills can be expected to assist him or her in the performance of his or her duties. The fiduciary duty imposed in this section shall not be construed to prohibit a civil officer from engaging in private dealings which do not place him or her in a position of conflict of interest between his or her duties as a civil officer of this state and his or her private dealings.

That Article XV, section 3, of the Constitution is repealed.".

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by Article XVI, section 1, of the Constitution of Nebraska. The proposition for the submission of the proposed amendment shall be placed upon the ballot in the following form:

"A constitutional amendment to provide changes in the impeachment procedure, to define an impeachable offense, to impose a fiduciary duty on civil officers of this state as prescribed, and to eliminate a cause for impeachment.

Against".

Sec. 3. That the proposed amendment, if adopted, shall be in force and take effect immediately upon the completion of the canvass of the votes, at which time it shall be the duty of the Governor to proclaim it as a part of the Constitution of Nebraska.

Referred to the Reference Committee.

GOVERNOR KERREY
MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE
JANUARY 15, 1985

It should not disturb us to discover that Nebraskans outside of this building often times do not connect the work we do here with the day-to-day events of their lives. Sometimes even the specific details of this budget -- and the debates which center on them -- seem irrelevant, but our citizens often have little direct contact with most of what we call government.

That we entrusted this government we have created with our freedom is undeniable. That our government's strength rests on the watchfulness of our citizens is irrefutable.

It should comfort us to know that outside of the discussions that rage over any issue you can name, beyond the battle lines where we make our political stands, life in Nebraska goes on. It is reassuring to observe that the most complicated government program begins simply with the expressed preference and action of people outside that government. Education programs begin with the thirst of individuals for knowledge; it exists when one Nebraskan pursues some hidden idea through reading or study. Economic development is the dream of one person made real by means of work, planning, and probably the willingness to sign a bank note. Our social services programs start when one Nebraskan helps another who is in trouble. Laws, law enforcement, regulation, the judiciary, and corrections are all born in the fervant desire of individuals to be free. We build roads because we want to travel and trade with the world. Our parks begin with our knowledge of the importance of nature's beauty. All government, therefore, begins with some simple act or impulse or belief of the people.

The progress of our state is a function of the work, the wit, the faith, the love, the knowledge, and creative spirit our people. These observations do not make our efforts here unimportant. Rather, it means that we must lead, we must act decisively, must consider what we can do through this government to give our people more opportunities. We must be willing to plan and to work. We must have the intelligence and good sense to decide, the courage to act. And we must be able to persevere through distraction and disappointment.

I tell you that I am filled with hope and confidence about the future of Nebraska, despite the trauma in agriculture, the anguish of Commonwealth, and the countless other problems which face us. This hope springs from my Faith and from the amazing panorama of Nebraskans who are working and creating in this state.

I am filled with hope about the future of this state when I observe the willingness of this body to serve and to work for our people. I watched with awe the grace of Senator Labedz not only in her decision to break the tie for speaker by voting for her opponent, but also her spirit in staying at her husband, Stanley's, side during a trying time. I watched the disappointment of Senator Carsten vanish quickly as his will and determination to make Nebraska a better place to live reasserted their dominance.

Late in 1984, members of the Associated Press selected the top news stories of that year. Most notable among the thousands of stories we read or heard about in 1984, according to the AP, were the impeachment, indictment, and perjury convictions of the Attorney General, the state closing of several banking institutions, the arrest and sentencing of John Joubert, the shooting of Cairo farmer Arthur Kirk, the debate over and passage of Amendment 4 on farm values, the compromise reached concerning Christian schools, flooding in eastern Nebraska, the national and state elections, the St. Paul tornado, and record-setting cold weather in the state.

These stories paint part of the picture of the year that was 1984. Three relate to well-known vagaries of Nebraska weather. Several more revolve around our troubled agricultural economy. Most involve a degree of personal or community hardship or tragedy.

But these stories are the bad news and, for all their import and impact, for all the attention they received and will receive, they do not tell us everything about 1984.

In 1984, Senator Warner watched with pride as the youth group of the Peace Lutheran Church in Waverly collected food, toys, and cash for distressed fellow Nebraskans in Verdigre. In Syracuse, Senator Carsten saw the National Farmers Organization mount a grain drive for Verdigre and Senator Landis witnessed Burlington Northern Railroad employees of the Havelock shop as they launched a collection drive.

In 1984, the Farm Families Crisis Council, supported by more than a dozen church bodies, began its Farm Crisis Hotline to offer support to financially distressed farm communities. Volunteers who care comprise the majority of the network, with lawyers, members of the clergy, bankers, farmers, professors, and extension agents providing their services.

In 1984, Senator Eret can tell you how the Crete Mills, its employees, and its parent company in Illinois, donated processed grain to help feed the starving in Ethiopia. The parent company donated 400,000 pounds of processed grain; Crete Mills employees and employee members of the American Federation of Grain Mills each presented $800 dollar checks to the program.

In 1984, retirees, business owners, housewives, and other volunteers, all constituents of Senator Sieck, worked around the clock to cut and can thousands of pounds of meat in Milford and Henderson as part of a Mennonite food relief program. Most of the canned beef will be sent to Third World countries; the broth which was canned will go to Indian reservations, the Lincoln City Mission, the Salvation Army, and other related organizations.

In 1984, Senator DeCamp saw young Brian Gill of Atkinson travel to Washington, D.C. to meet President Reagan and to receive a Presidential Award for Bravery. Brian was cited for risking his life to save the life of his sister when their family's home was ravaged by a fire.

In 1984, four Nebraskans were among forty men and women identified by Esquire magazine as individuals who are changing America. Ed Dadey and Jane Dadey who live near Senator Rod Johnson in Marquette were cited for their furniture and textile designs, respectively. Jo Ann Schmidman of Omaha, a constituent of Senator Tim Hall, was praised for her work as a theater producer, guiding the Omaha Magic Theater to its respected stature and treating in her productions socially relevant themes like child abuse. Arlen Gangwish of Shelton, in Senator Lundy's district, was named for his family farm innovation. His solution to the price fluctuations of the seasonal corn, soybean, and alfalfa crops raised on the family farm was a sheep business he designed and now co-manages. "For my parents, farming was a way of life," he told the magazine. "For my generation, it is a life-style. I choose to live this way."

In 1984, as in years past, individuals like Warren Patefield of Laurel and John Fleming of Hartington, both of whom are represented here by Senator Hefner, devoted much of their energy to the care of our natural resources. Warren Patefield has been engaged in soil saving efforts since 1946. His service as an NRD member continues to this day. John Fleming has 240 acres of farmland near Hartington. He has taken care of the soil and improved its productivity every year. He knows that conserving the soil takes a little longer, but pays off in the long-run. That's one reason John Fleming has been recognized as a "Master Conservationist."

In 1984, Speaker Nichol worked to help the City of Scottsbluff receive $300,000 dollars in Community Development Block Grants through the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. Scottsbluff, in turn, loaned the money to the Western Valley Packing Company for the purchase of meat packing equipment. The equipment purchase was part of Western's plan to lease, refurbish, and expand an idle meat packing facility. The plan boosted the area's economy and created 136 jobs, 68% of which are held by minority workers, signifying again the importance of public-private partnerships.

Senator Arlene Nelson knows how Jaime Kimbrough, a fourth-grader at Knickrehm Elementary School in Grand Island, continued in 1984 to excel in school and inspire her peers and teachers alike. Jaime is enrolled in the gifted program at her school, and is now reading at the 5th grade level. She likes her physical education class, and often participates in activities which surprise her teacher and other students. Jaime's teachers report that she is a persistent optimist, a high achiever, and a little girl full of hopes and dreams. Jaime also has spina bifida, which is typically a considerable disability.

In 1984, as Senator Baack knows, Connie Laposeotes, continued to operate a Bridgeport farm which exudes innovation. He now raises sugar beets, pinto beans, corn, alfalfa, wheat, and potatoes, demonstrating that Nebraska willingness to experiment and adapt. Recognizing the need for markets, Connie and four other area farmers successfully formed the Bridgeport Potato Storage Cooperative to attract potato processors.

Some of the Nebraskans I've mentioned are here today. I would like now to have them stand and be recognized.

For every Nebraskan or group of Nebraskans I have mentioned here, there are many more performing the same kinds of everyday heroics. They are investing in the lives of men and women and children they have never seen and will never see -- in Verdigre, in Ethiopia, and in the distant world of tomorrow. They are caring for each other at home, nurturing the values that have made us strong; maintaining their personal faith, their good humor, and their determined spirit. They are thinking beyond the possible and speculating about the here-to-fore impossible as they go to work each day. They are exploring their options and opportunities, making decisions, and realizing their dreams. That is the real state of this State in 1985. Whatever challenges we face, whatever difficulties we've come through, we are still a state of individuals who are willing to initiate, to risk, to work hard, to innovate, and to care. We still have the will to make good things happen.

BUDGET

Still, sometimes I forget these things. I have a tendency to concentrate my efforts as I work on any project. And as I do, the job becomes the only thing I can see.

Take as an example this budget I present to you today. My staff, my department heads, and I have been working hard since last June to put it together. Ominous questions awaited answers:

How much should we spend in 1985-1986?

How much government can we afford?

What shape should this government take? Not just this year, but the next, and the year after that.

How do we improve our educational system?

How do we develop more employment opportunities?

How do we help agriculture regain the profit it has lost?

How do we protect our natural resources?

How do we protect ourselves and our children?

How do we contain the rising cost of health care?

How many roads should be built and where do we build them?

How do we get the bureaucracies of government to work for the people, not against them?

What do we do with Commonwealth?

And most importantly, how do we provide the greatest amount of liberty and freedom to all of our people?

I struggled to reduce government operations so as to give us a slight increase over last year. I labored to get increased funds into teachers' salaries, economic development, soil and water conservation. I committed myself to a 5% salary increase for state employees, but asked my department heads to look for savings inside for half of the increase.

On December 6 I took my budget to the people. And as I did, I again could not help but notice how easy it is to forget that the intricacies of all my effort is less important than the collective efforts on the part of the people. I could not help but notice how peoples' eyes began to glaze over when Larry Bare started listing the numbers and percentages of this budget. And I could not help but observe that the mission of selling this government can be reduced to my ability to answer one question.

This question was asked in a variety of ways by nearly every citizen I have talked to this past month. The best example of it occurred in Valentine in the dining room of the Valentine Cafe, where I stood before a crowd of a hundred or so ranchers and business people and teachers and citizens including Senator Howard Lamb. For two hours I answered questions from people who cared about their state, who worried about their future. Many in the room had been hurt by the liquidation of the Valentine P.C.A. and the closing of the banks of Verdigre and Cody. The owner of the restaurant himself told me that this was the last meal he would serve; the FDIC was closing him out the next morning.

At the end of the meeting, as snow was building up outside, a man in the back of the room asked the question the answering of which is the key to maintaining the confidence of our people. He said: "Governor, can you tell me one thing about this budget that would make all of us give you a round of applause?" I was tempted to answer by saying: "How about 'Good-bye'?"

But I didn't. Instead I talked about the balance that exists between a government created by the people trying to provide freedom and opportunities for its people, and the people themselves working hard in their lives trying to take advantage of that freedom. I talked about the difficulty we have as people putting together a government that encourages diversity and freedom of expression for 1.6 million people with different skills, ages, wealth, and health.

We have old people and young people, rich people and poor people, doctors, lawyers, farmers, and ranchers living together on 76,000 square miles of rich and open land called Nebraska.

The people have listened to me talk about this budget and they have responded. They do want to increase the salaries of their teachers, they want to increase employment opportunities through economic development, and they want to preserve and protect their soil and water resources. But I believe they are also concerned, as I have heard most of you say as well, that an overall general fund budget of $883 million dollars is more than we can afford in 1985-86. Accordingly, I am introducing a budget that is $19 million dollars less than the one I proposed earlier, while still preserving the three primary areas of emphasis. That reduction is accomplished with the following actions:

1. The scheduled assumption of the Municipal Court system in Lincoln and Omaha, even though I understand the value of a unified court system should be postponed for one year. This will save over $4.7 million dollars.

2. The General Fund increase of $2 million dollars for Economic Development will be eliminated. This will leave the $3.3 million dollars from the Nebraska Future Fund, which will still be a significant increase for this important effort.

3. The $2 million dollar increase for the Water Management Fund will likewise be eliminated. During the upcoming year we will focus our efforts on the identification of the specific need and feasibility of projects and our expanded effort on soil and water conservation.

4. The $2.4 million dollars that I had set aside for "A" bills or additional spending proposals that the Legislature might identify will have to come from internal reallocations.

5. An estimated $4 million dollar balance in this year's Medicaid Program will be reappropriated saving that same amount from next year's Social Services budget without causing reductions in services.

6. $1.2 million dollars of the amount recommended to implement LB 994, the Education Improvement Bill of last session, has been removed. This reduction will not affect the implementation of the career ladder.

7. The construction of the Lied Center for Performing Arts Building must be postponed for one year, saving $1,350,000 dollars. In a recent discussion with Woody Varner, I discovered that most if not all of the $1,350,000 dollars recommended for Lied will not be needed until 1986. Woody has raised nearly $4 million dollars of private money to match the $10 million dollar gift from the Lied Foundation. Investing in the arts is an essential item and not a frill. My support for this project remains strong.

8. By closing the Youth Development Center at Geneva and transferring the present population to Kearney, we can save an additional $600,000 dollars.

9. The budget for the Legislative Council has been reduced by $133,307 dollars, which will still allow for an effective 4% increase.

10. Additional cash balances have been used to reduce general funds in the State Colleges by $428,941 dollars and the Tech Colleges by $153,643 dollars.

These actions taken together result in a revised budget of $864.6 million dollars, an increase over the current year of $41 million dollars, or 5%.

That increase is distributed as follows:

- State government operations will increase by $3.5 million dollars, or 1.7%.
- Higher education, a $9.3 million dollar increase, or 4.4%.
- A State aid increase of $24.1 million dollars, or 6.1%.

I have also heard the people say that they would prefer that our tax rates not go up. Accordingly, I am recommending that we fund this budget by keeping our sales tax rate at 3 1/2% and our income tax rate at 19%. We can do this if we will close a number of tax loopholes. These sales and use exemptions which I am recommending we end do not exist in at least three of the adjacent six states. In some instances, Nebraska is the only state where these exemptions are granted. Eliminating these exemptions is fair, it is reasonable, and it enables us to keep the overall rate down for the majority of our citizens.

Between now and the end of the session, there will be virtually continuous debate between those who say we should spend more and those who will argue for less. And I intend to be an active participant in those discussions. But we cannot allow ourselves to be consumed by that debate. We must not lose sight of what I believe to be our common goal -- a government dedicated to providing opportunities for individuals to pursue their future with a sense of hope that tomorrow can be better than today.

I want to turn now to my recommendations for the key areas of agriculture, education, and economic development before turning to a number of additional issues which are inextricably tied to the state of the State.

AGRICULTURE

First, agriculture.

We are currently in a time of crisis.

In a state which has relied upon agriculture as its mainstay since 1867, this past year has been one of the bleakest for significant numbers of Nebraska farmers and ranchers, and many individuals whose lives are closely linked to agriculture. Foreclosures, bankruptcies, and bank closings are higher than in any period since the 1930's.

National policies, international events, and weather disasters have contributed to these adverse conditions. These outside factors make it difficult for the state to initiate corrective measures -- other than band-aid measures -- to help.

Despite the crisis, however, it is critical that we invest in the basic assets of agriculture -- natural resources. And as I think about those resources, I cannot help but recall the contributions of the late Senator Martin Kahle.

We in Nebraska have been blessed with a rich base of natural resources. The future viability of agriculture in this state depends in large part on our willingness to conserve soil, water, and energy. That we act decisively today is imperative. Each year we lose 142 million tons of soil in Nebraska. That translates into lost productivity, increased agricultural production costs, and water pollution. We cannot tolerate soil erosion at such a rapid pace, nor can we tolerate the results.

Spurred by individuals like Senators Scofield, Beutler, Sieck, Schmit, and Hoagland, we have devoted much attention to our natural resources in the past. In 1983 we increased soil conservation funds by 40%, began a 5-year program with the University Extension to encourage conservation tillage, ecofallow, and improved irrigation management, and launched the "Trees for Energy Conservation and Growth Program" to increase tree planting for building protection. In 1984, my administration's water conservation and development plan was passed by this body. Work began on a statewide soil conservation strategy. The Department of Energy, under Kandra Hahn's direction, expanded its tree planting effort and started a community level program to change energy use and decrease dependence on imported energy.

To continue our work, I am recommending a $4.3 million dollar increase for soil and water conservation, which includes $3.3 million dollars from the Nebraska Future Fund -- a fund to be created by state assumption of the eight-cent reduction in the federal cigarette tax. This will make state conservation funds available to more farmers every year as they work to implement effective conservation practices.

Failure to act, however, could have serious, long-term implications for our future as an agricultural state. Soil is the basic production asset for the agriculture industry. We know that in any other industry, maintenance of production equipment is necessary to avoid the rapid deterioration which can cause business failure. We must make a similar commitment to our soil resource.

In addition, my budget for fiscal year 1985-86 addresses several recommendations of the Water Independence Congress. A number of the Congress' suggestions were implemented through LB 1106, passed last year under the able leadership of Senator Loran Schmit who has been involved in so many important water issues. My budget includes continued funding for planning and technical assistance through the Water Management Fund. Another area addressed by the Water Congress which is receiving increased attention is groundwater quality protection. The Department of Environmental Control has developed a groundwater protection strategy, and a number of those elements are being addressed by the 1985 Legislature, including underground chemical and petroleum storage and chemigation. Additional funding is provided in my budget for the Department of Environmental Control for groundwater quality protection.

Obviously, our efforts in agriculture have not been confined to natural resources.

-- Since January 1, 1983, with the dedicated assistance of Rob Raun and Chuck Schroeder, we have been successful in securing federal disaster assistance for 47 counties and 56 contiguous counties because of drought or flood conditions. It was the misfortune of some of these counties to suffer the ravages of both of these natural disasters, thus they have been declared eligible more than once.

-- We have initiated a program whereby our Nebraska Department of Agriculture was involved in a cooperative effort with the Farmers Home Administration. Staff members were hired by state government and assigned to the Farmers Home Administration for the specific purpose of assisting private lenders in the preparation of Farmers Home Administration Guaranteed Loan Applications. Private lenders supported this program with voluntary contributions, and state controlled funds were used to continue the project after contributed funds were exhausted. As a result of this effort, Farmers Home Administration Guaranteed Loan approvals in Nebraska increased nine-fold.

-- We have provided additional funds to farm financial management education programs so that their services are available to more individuals.

-- We now have a constitutional amendment which allows farm land to be assessed differently than other types of property for tax purposes.

-- We have funded the Ag Crisis Hotline to assist farm families in distress.

-- We have, through the Department of Labor under Ron Sorensen, created the "Farmers in Transition" program. We have received for this year about a half-million dollars under the Job Training Partnership Act. Funds are currently focused on individuals who are leaving farming and ranching.

-- We have persuaded the National Governors' Association to create a national Task Force on Agricultural Finance and Rural Development. As chairman of this Task Force, I have worked to draw national attention to the financial stress being felt by significant numbers of farmers and ranchers nationwide due to high interest rates. I have urged a reduction in the federal deficit to bring interest rates down. I have also called for federal programs to subsidize interest rates to farmers and ranchers during this period of stress -- much like the subsidies granted to New York City and the Chrysler Corporation during their periods of stress.

-- I will continue to advocate these and other policies which would aid our agricultural sector as Congress develops the 1985 Farm Bill. I encourage this Legislature and Nebraska farm groups to join me in sending a resolution to Congress outlining components which should be included in that bill.

The agriculture sector's slow recovery from this most recent recession and the less than favorable predictions for major farm commodity export markets have prompted some to recommend we give up our "romantic attachment to agriculture" and diversify our economic base. Many point to the telecommunications industry as a logical avenue for diversification.

My administration's successful push for legislation last session to create the Telecommunication Center demonstrates my commitment to diversification in that area.

However, my administration's successful push for the creation and continued financial support of the Food Processing Center also demonstrates my commitment to diversification -- diversification within agriculture. The Food Processing Center provides the research, technical assistance, and promotional assistance to encourage the processing of more agricultural products within our borders. We can also diversify by continuing our search for alternative uses of the commodities traditionally grown in Nebraska. And we can diversify by intensifying research efforts to determine which food and fibers not traditionally raised in Nebraska could be. Of course, an equally intensive effort to develop the markets for these products will also be needed.

Efforts to diversify the agricultural base make sense in a state where we count among our greatest resources our land base, our abundant water supply, and the tremendous productive capacity of our farm families. It makes more sense than "abandoning our attachment to agriculture." I challenge those who say we should give up this attachment to instead join us in our efforts to diversify food and fiber production in Nebraska.

Although federal policies constrain us and the situation is grim today, we must continue to look for opportunities. I know that Senator Rod Johnson, chair of the Agriculture Committee, will provide strong leadership as we do so. Agricultural experts are not describing the current crisis as one of short duration. Consequently, we must begin to ask ourselves how we can use our resources wisely to ensure the future viability of agricultural production.

EDUCATION

Second, education.

We have already accomplished much in elementary and secondary education. We have restored education as a top priority for the state and focused the state's attention on "excellence in education." We have created a Task Force on Excellence in Education and, through its process, studied the status of elementary and secondary education in the state. We have passed and signed the Comprehensive Education Improvement Bill, LB 994; and we have taken steps to resolve the Christian school issue through LB 928.

I want to recognize the contributions of the Education Committee and virtually all segments of the education community in developing and passing LB 994. I also want to recognize the Department of Education for including over 200 lay citizens and educators in the process of developing rules, regulations, and guidelines for the several new programs authorized by LB 994.

Now, I propose that we continue in the direction we established last year. I am recommending an appropriation of $13.9 million dollars for the implementation of programs authorized by LB 994. I must emphasize that these programs are necessary in order to begin to implement the various provisions of the bill which have already been authorized. They include:

-- Entry Year Assistance Program, designed to provide assistance and supervision of new teachers.

-- Extended teacher contracts, grants to local school districts and ESU's which provide lengthened contracts for teachers. The extended contracts are for the purposes of improving the education program of students in need of remedial teaching or individualization, and to provide enrichment curriculum.

-- Instructional technology, support for projects to assist local school districts in the orderly introduction of technology.

-- Curriculum dissemination, designed to encourage collaboration among teachers. It provides grants to teachers who have designed or adapted especially effective or innovative curricula, and to institutions which assist in the dissemination of such curricula.

-- Scientist-in-Residence, grants to schools to finance instruction of students and/or teachers by visiting scientists on a short-term basis.

-- And the Career Teacher Incentive Fund, which funds the certification/career ladder established in LB 994. This is an optional tool for local districts which is designed to:

1) Provide an incentive for current Nebraska teachers to convert their current certificates to the new, more rigorous standards established in LB 994.

2) It is intended to attract more of the most capable students into teaching by demonstrating a state commitment to establishing career ladders and to raising teachers' salaries and status.

3) It will provide an incentive for both current as well as new teachers to reach higher levels of performance and educational attainment.

4) It will assist local school districts in raising all teachers' salaries.

5) It is designed to initiate the process of raising Nebraska's teachers' salaries into the top 10% in the nation.

6) And it should improve the quality of instruction by both requiring as well as recognizing and rewarding teachers for the improvement of their teaching skills.

The importance of these proposals is illustrated by the case of Susan Petska, a student at Chadron State, who testified before the Education Committee at their interim study hearings last September. She is a bright, intelligent, poised young woman who was previously appointed as a student member of the State College Board of Trustees. While she is studying to go into business, she frequently is called upon to tutor others. When asked why she is not going into teaching, she says that her tutoring experience has been positive, and there are many things she would like about being a teacher. Then she asks, "Why should I work hard for four years preparing for a profession that only pays $11,000 dollars? And why should I enter a profession where there are no real opportunities for advancement?"

In order to attract young people like Susan into teaching we must forge a career path that offers challenge, opportunity, and reward.

If we fail to act, we can expect:

-- Nebraska teachers' salaries will fall still farther behind since many states are developing and funding career ladder programs aimed at raising teachers' salaries.

-- Fewer of the most academically capable students will choose to go into teaching.

-- Severe shortages will develop in many teaching specialities by 1990 because of certain demographic patterns:

-- In short, if we fail to act, we will be unable to assure either the number or quality of teachers needed in the future.

But if we act now as I am suggesting:

-- The teaching profession will be at once more demanding and more rewarding;

-- The exodus of the most highly qualified teachers will be slowed;

-- More highly qualified students will be attracted into the teaching profession;

-- Nebraska will have no (or at least fewer) painful teacher shortages;

-- Nebraska's schools will be more responsive to the needs of our students.

These proposals will benefit students, first and foremost, by invigorating the teaching profession. And as we benefit students, we will benefit the entire state, economically and socially.

These proposals also represent an investment in Nebraska's future. To neglect education this year, based on the premise that the economy is bad, would be analogous to the farmer who would not invest in seed corn because it was a bad year. It saves money in the short run, but is a disastrous decision in the long run.

In terms of higher education, the University would receive an increase of $6.5 million dollars, or 4% over the current year. While the State Colleges would receive a higher percentage increase, the same policies were applied to both.

In addition, I have proposed that $3.3 million dollars from the Nebraska Future Fund be used to fund the state scholarship program to allow more Nebraska students to afford higher education.

Postsecondary education is an area in with we are faced with serious challenges and powerful opportunities. The Citizens Commission for the Study of Higher Education, which I appointed last July, focused on those challenges and opportunities in their recent report, Toward the 21st Century. The Commission found that on one hand, Nebraskans value postsecondary education highly and depend upon it to provide them with opportunities as individuals. They are proud of their colleges and universities, and with good reason. On the other hand, we are faced with a long-term reduction in enrollments and a difficult economy, both of which present problems for funding our higher education institutions.

These are basic realities. The issue, however, is whether the people of Nebraska are up to the challenge they present. I believe we are, and I believe Nebraskans expect you, their Legislators, along with their Governor and the governing boards, administrators, faculty, and students who make up Nebraska's system of postsecondary education, to rise to the challenge with them.

The 30 recommendations that Jim Olson, Bill Strauss, Dave Buntain, Jack Thompson, and the other dedicated Nebraskans who made up the Commission have arrived at provide the foundation for a strategic plan for the future. If we are to maintain a high degree of individual access and quality, we must capitalize on existing assets, focus available resources more effectively, and provide better overall coordination as well as better linkages to other public and private economic development and quality of life enhancement efforts.

In order to meet the challenge, several specific legislative actions are required. Some are already in progress through the initiative of individual senators. I applaud them for their efforts. Other actions are still under discussion and may result in bills being introduced by committees or individual senators on behalf of the Governor.

The list includes the following legislative topics:

-- Funding the State Scholarship Program for the first time, from the Nebraska Future Fund that I have proposed.

-- Creating a faculty compensation challenge fund that combines increased state funding with major reallocations and new non-state funding at each institution.

-- Reversing the brain drain by recruiting non-Nebraskans of high ability and allowing them to enroll at resident tuition rates.

-- Providing for faculty renewal and redeployment through incentives for early retirement.

-- Creation of a Research and Development Corporation.

-- Development of a Center for Educational Technology.

-- Initiating constitutional changes for a single, appointed governing board for Nebraska's public four year institutions.

I will support this governing board recommendation, and I will return with more specifics regarding the other Commission recommendations. None of the changes are easy ones. However, students, educators, and taxpayers have a right to know that we are prepared to discuss, review, and act on the tough questions. We, ourselves, must be up to the challenge.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Third, Economic Development.

We have not as yet even scratched the surface of what can be done in economic development. I urge this body to give its attention to looking at the need to increase employment opportunities in this state and to our success in accomplishing this end.

It is obvious that food related industries which add value to the product we grow are of great benefit to us. The Agricultural Credit and Rural Development Citizens Committee made this recommendation and I agree. The Food Processing Center started two years ago will help. The first alcohol plant will open in Hastings in a few weeks. Senator Chronister helped to insure that we used the Job Partnership Training money to help re-open the Land O'Lakes plant in Schuyler. Utilization research at the University needs to be increased.

If you doubt the merit of such efforts, look at what any feedlot or packing house can do for a local community and the local producers. Visit the Kellogg plant in Omaha where 900 Nebraskans work every day processing 12,000 bushels of corn. Drop by Omaha Steaks International or Delicious Foods in Grand Island and you'll begin to feel the excitement of targeting these industries.

In addition, few would argue that we need to diversify our economic base. Last year, the Telecommunications Task Force recommended the creation of the Telecommunications and Information Center. This Center was created last year by this legislature to ask fundamental questions about how we regulate this industry, how we introduce the new technologies into our schools and to our children, and how we target and recruit new businesses into the state. Senator Labedz should be recognized for her leadership in securing passage of the legislation which created the Center.

In January, Rod Bates assumed control of the Center. Rod has an exceptional board of advisors who are knowledgeable of telecommunications. Already they have established a data base of existing Nebraska businesses to enable us to identify potential expansion opportunities. In November, Nebraska responded to the leadership of one of its own natives, Bill Norris, Chief Executive Officer of Control Data, to join six other states in the formation of the Midwest Technology Consortium. This consortium will help us target our research and use the research of other states as well as helping us make good economic decisions about the development and deployment of technology.

Again, if you doubt the potential of telecommunications industry for employment opportunities, look at the rapid growth of the reservation and credit card industries in our state. Look at the Nebraska Television Network and the lead they have taken in helping Nebraskans overcome their individual isolation. Visit Offut Air Force Base and talk to their communications specialists about the future of this industry. Listen to Senator Morehead and Senator Harris describe the recommendations of a group of leading Nebraska businesses that we establish a Research Center at UN-L in the area of fibre optics.

I know you will look at the large increase in Economic Development that I am recommending and wonder whether the investment is worth it. I urge you to consider the success of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority, which Senator DeCamp was instrumental in securing for us. We were all concerned two years ago when we combined the three tax exempt boards. But let's look at the results of this effort under Don Dworak's leadership:

1. We have increased tax exempt financing by 44%. This represents a $8.8 million dollar reduction in interest charges to the individuals and businesses. Last year I told you the story of Bob Allington and his success creating 280 jobs using tax exempt financing. Bob will tell you that without this tool he would have located his business in Denver. This year, many more success stories were continued and begun because of NIFA.

2. The Ag Finance Authority under NIFA had an unprecedented increase in activity. This fund truly acted as a beginning farmer program and provided affordable financing to many Nebraskans in 1983 and 1984.

3. The total new employment through NIFA since this legislature created it in 1983 has been 1,025 permanent and 2,750 temporary jobs. We have a very strong board, and exceptional new Executive Director in Dennis Vellek, and an excellent staff who will be working hard in 1985 to break the records they set in 1984.

Look at what we have accomplished by using the Community Development Block Grants for Economic Development. 1,600 new jobs were created or retained in 1984. Ask Senator Rupp about what the block grants did in Columbus, or Senator Lundy in Kearney, or Senator Nichol in Scottsbluff, or Senator Lowell Johnson in Fremont. In addition, we have finally begun to crack the Department of Housing and Urban Development to get favorable approval of UDAG funds.

In 1985, we will see the implementation of the Business Development Authority which you created last year. In the past two years, Nebraska has moved up from 35 to 21, according to Inc. magazine, in its attractiveness for small businesses. This is good news for all of us who want to see our state prosper and grow. With your assistance, we'll see even greater progress in 1985.

Clearly, we have a strong base to build on in 1985.

To that end, my budget for 1985-86 includes the recommendation that a $3.3 million dollar fund be created in the Department of Economic Development. This would be a flexible source of monies which would be used in cooperation with local resources and perhaps Federal Community Development Block Grant funds to assist with specific job creation opportunities. Funds could be used for job training, local improvements, research, or any number of other uses. The key to the success of this recommendation is that it would work on projects identified at the local level and would hopefully be the additional incentive often needed to move a project from conception to reality.

The Economic Development Opportunity Fund will provide for expanded opportunities in economic development. The teacher salary program will assist us in our pursuit of still higher levels of excellence in education. And it is my hope to establish a Nebraska Innovation Center to allow inventors with products to be completed to use University expertise and facilities to complete them, and to move the research ideas from the University into commercially viable products.

In addition, I share Senator Landis' interest in the enterprise zone concept.

The enterprise zone is a designated area marked by various types of economic distress. That area is targeted for regulatory relief, tax incentives, and new public investment. Through this approach, new private investment, economic activity, and job creation can occur, improving the quality of life and encouraging new economic growth. It is vital that this assistance be targeted to areas of greatest need.

Efforts of the past several years have given us much to build on in the area of economic development. We can write more success stories if we are willing to invest in them today.

And as we invest, we must remember that food production is one of the most critical components of our economy. Farmers and ranchers, of all types, communities, and businesses in Nebraska are suffering today from several consecutive years of no profits for our food producers.

Although federal policies set the prices we receive for our products and set the interest rates for our agricultural businesses, we are responding as a state calling for a change in those policies. Food consumers, farmers, and ranchers need a profit.

Farm and ranch organizations throughout our state are united. They are calling for short-term responses to our current financial crisis and long-term profitability for food producers. Twelve prominent Nebraska farm and ranch organizations recently met and asked President Reagan to take immediate action to resolve the financial crisis. They asked the Nebraska delegation in Washington to form a coalition in the House of Representatives and Senate to change federal policies so Nebraska food producers have an opportunity for profits.

Agriculture, education, and economic development are three areas in which I believe our immediate investment is essential. The efforts we exert and the substance we provide for each will do much to shape the face of our future.

However, there are obviously more issues affecting the state of this State as we begin 1985.

BANKING

First, the state of banking in Nebraska.

1984 was a bleak year in this area, as well. The Commonwealth problem lingers. The whirlpool it created trapped State Security Savings. Rural banks in David City, Verdigre, Kilgore, Cody, Uehling, and Dannebrog failed.

In 1985, we must take steps to rectify this situation. The Commonwealth Special Committee gives us a basis to do so. Morris Miller has generously provided his skills -- demonstrating again that Nebraskans are willing to serve their state if asked. He has secured the confidence of the creditors, he has secured my confidence, and he should have yours as he fashions a plan to remedy this terrible problem.

At the same time, a number of pieces of legislation are being proposed to insure that bank regulators have the tools to avert further catastrophe.

I urge your support for these important measures.

CORRECTIONS

Second, we continue to face the challenge of rehabilitating adult and juvenile offenders using resources we already possess. To meet this challenge, we must be flexible in the use of our resources and we must be willing to place offenders in the least restrictive environment, consistent with the threat they pose to society.

At the same time, we must regularly evaluate the merits of operating specific institutions which may have outlived their usefulness. Rather than serving the needs of our offender population and our society, such institutions may become a terrific drain on public dollars. For this reason, I am recommending that the Youth Development Center at Geneva be closed. The girls now housed at Geneva would be transferred to the Youth Development Center at Kearney, with no deterioration in the services provided them. I am recommending this action because Geneva has become an inefficient facility while Kearney is actually underutilized.

We can also maximize our resources in corrections by placing individual offenders in the least restrictive environments possible. With my approval the Department of Correctional Services, under Frank Gunter, and the Board of Parole are working together to determine which offenders are safe and worthy candidates for furlough, work release, educational release, and parole. Not only is the cost of maintaining offenders on such programs far less than the cost of confining them in institutions, but the offenders' likelihood of reentering society successfully is greater if reentry is guided and supervised.

With wise and creative management of existing resources, Nebraska's correctional system can continue to maintain exemplary standards of quality.

HEALTH CARE

Third, we Nebraskans continue to face the challenge of providing quality and affordable health care. As a nation, we spend over 10.5% of our GNP for health care. While a comparable figure is not available for Nebraska, we have experienced a constant upward trend in health care expenditures. Per capita expenses increased from $178 dollars a year in 1966 to $796 dollars in 1980.

As we consider the allocation of health care dollars, we must maintain our commitment to the health care needs of Nebraska's elderly, poor, handicapped, and others who depend on state aid.

However, as much as possible, we should reallocate monies to programs which encourage good health behavior and wellness. We must continue to seek alternatives to institutionalization for the aged and mentally disabled. We must continue to support efforts like the Governor's Health Promotion Council, which is acting to encourage more health conscious communities.

And we should applaud efforts which are being made by Helen Boosalis and her staff in the Department on Aging, Gina Dunning and her staff in Social Services, Dr. Gregg Wright and the Health Department, and Ron Jensen and the Department of Public Institutions to keep health care costs down.

1) Independence for the elderly and development of community services are being promoted.

2) Wellness is being stressed.

3) Prospective payment systems are being developed administratively.

4) Nursing home construction is being restricted so that private congregate living arrangements have a chance to be developed.

5) Efforts are being made to make consumers more aware of health care costs.

6) Community services for the handicapped and mentally ill are being created.

These are commendable efforts which deserve our support and appreciation.

I support Senator Wesely's efforts to contain escalating health care costs. Of special interest is the Uniform Billing and Data Collection Act. This Act, proposed by Senator Don Wesely, is an important and major step in containing the spiraling cost of health care in Nebraska.

Senator Wesely's proposal would require all insurers and participants in insurance arrangements in Nebraska and the Medicaid program to utilize and accept the Uniform Billing Form Number 82 on claims filed for the payment of hospital claims. A uniform cost reporting system will provide comparable health care utilization and cost data, from which the Department of Health would then develop a diagnostic cost index on individual hospital charges. Such information will enable the consumers to make cost effective choices about when to purchase health care services and promote price-based competition among health care providers.

I encourage your support for this Act.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Fourth, the final report of the Task Force on Violence Against Women and Children was made public in September. I want to take this opportunity to thank once again the Nebraskans who were involved in this task force.

We must recognize that a single child, abused or neglected, is one child too many.

We must recognize that one incident of sexual or other physical violence against a woman is one act too many.

The problem of violence against women and children is a burden borne by our friends, our neighbors; perhaps our own families. It is both a community issue and a governmental one. Our role in law enforcement and in government is to intervene in situations of violence. The community's role is to begin working toward the prevention of violence.

I have included in my budget $150,000 dollars for a Resource Center in the Department of Social Services to focus on violence against women and children, including sexual assault, domestic abuse, and child abuse and neglect.

In addition, I have advised the Department of Social Services to take a number of actions based on the Task Force recommendations.

Although these are positive steps, much, much more remains to be done. It is a challenge, and a critical one. As the Task Force report stated:

"If we believe that the problem is not our problem because our family, neighborhood or community is immune, we must remember that child victims of violence grow up to be violent adolescents and adults who live in the same world with our children and grandchildren.

POVERTY

Fifth, we face a tremendous challenge in the form of poverty in this state.

Poverty exists in Nebraska, here, in the midst of the "Good Life." And as long as it exists, the quality of all of our lives is diminished.

We are taking steps to deal with this immensely complex question of poverty.

For example, the Department of Social Services is starting a new program for recipients of Aid to Dependent Children, called Job Support. Unlike often costly or the sometimes punitive work programs, it is designed to assist individuals to enter employment. The focus is to not find employment situations for individuals but rather to enable the individual to find employment.

The job support program will be created by diverting existing department resources, and the private sector will be encouraged to help through donated time and facilities. If successful, it will lower public assistance caseloads and allow greater time to be spent in insuring timely and equitable benefits for those still in transition.

Granted, this is one effort in the context of an imposing, confounding problem, but it does suggest that we can, with creativity and determination, confront the issue squarely.

PROPERTY TAX

The need for property tax relief is a concern that I share with all of you. Obviously, I am also concerned about the sales and income tax rates; this budget reflects that concern.

The average property tax levy against assessed valuation is 2.26% in Nebraska. This is fourth highest in the nation. Action obviously is called for. However, as we debate what should be done, consider the following:

1. Of the approximately $41 million dollar increase in my recommended budget, $28.2 million goes to local government and property tax relief.

2. We will not relieve property taxes without doing two things which are always difficult: Increasing state spending and interfering with local control with some form of a lid.

3. There is a nationwide movement of our people to broaden the base of taxing transactions. Do not be fooled into thinking it is easier to simply raise the rates just because the Rotunda does not fill up with lobbyists when you do.

REVENUE

Finally, revenue.

I have raised the issue of taxes on several occasions to encourage public discussion. Specifically, I raised the issue in the context of closing sales tax loopholes to fund a 25% reduction in the property tax.

Perhaps a little history of the Nebraska sales tax is in order. The original Nebraska sales tax proposal was included in the McClelland Report. That report was the result of a 1962 study of Nebraska by a well-known tax expert and it recommended very few sales tax exemptions. The Legislature amended the proposal to exclude several specific items or services from sales taxation prior to the passage of the sales tax law in 1967. Since that time over 30 additional exemptions have been granted by the Legislature resulting in a loss of over $66,000,000 dollars of state revenues per year at present rates. Every year special interest groups lobby the Legislature claiming that they too should be exempted from our sales tax.

The granting of additional exemptions from the original sales tax without a consistent objective criteria to justify the exemption has severely eroded our sales tax base so that fewer people and businesses are contributing to their tax responsibilities.

My concern over this issue has led us to a study of sales tax loopholes in Nebraska. The study, when finally completed, identified 177 sales tax exemptions. I am proposing that we use an objective criteria to decide which of those exemptions to eliminate.

In addition to studying the Nebraska sales tax, we also studied the sales tax structure of six surrounding states. Using that information, I am proposing that with the exception of food, we eliminate any Nebraska sales tax exemption that three or more surrounding states do not grant. This results in eliminating 56 sales tax exemptions.

This approach will close loopholes, bring us in line with some of our sister states, and reverse some of the damaging erosion of our sales tax

It will add $44,600,000 dollars in revenue over a twelve month period but because of timing of implementation for fiscal year 1985-86, we will only receive eight months of that revenue for a total of $29,700,000 dollars.

While a few services are included on the list of exemptions proposed for elimination, a general sales tax on services is not proposed. However, I believe this issue deserves further study also.

CONCLUSION

In summary, I think it is critical for all Nebraskans to realize that our commitment as a state to agriculture, education, economic development, and a host of other areas should not be measured by the allocation of state monies alone.

Our commitment encompasses more than state dollar expenditures. It includes the kinds of efforts I cited in the beginning of this address: the work of volunteers, artists, innovators, risk-takers, and business people; the qualities of compassion, humor, and faith; the public-private partnerships and the entrepreneurial spirit; the courage of a little girl and the determination of a farmer.

Let me try to illustrate this dynamic with a story. In November 1983, I attended a banquet in the Rotunda of the Capitol just ouside this Chamber. The reason for the dinner fades from my memory. I remember that it was only a few weeks after Commonwealth had been closed. I ate, made my speech, and rose to leave.

As I was heading for the door, one of the dinner guests shook my hand. He said, "Governor, I used your name today. I hope you don't mind. My wife and I came to town earlier to visit a boy who is at the Lincoln Regional Center. I met the boy and want to adopt him. But you know, mother needed to meet him first. So my wife and I came early and went to the Center. But the people who worked there wouldn't let a couple of poor dirt farmers like us in. I didn't know what to do. So, I said: "Listen, I'm going to have dinner with the Governor tonight and I don't think he'd want you to keep us out." I hope you don't mind me doing this."

This man and his wife were so happy, so solid, so wonderful, that I knew somehow everything would be all right. I feel the same way watching my parents. Or Rob and Eileen Raun. Knowing that Gene Mahoney will be awake tomorrow before the sun comes up, knowing of his dedication to enhancing our lives through Game and Parks, makes me feel a whole lot better. I thrill at the intense feelings of Father Battiato. I am moved by the words of Ted Kooser and the smooth, easy work of Henry Spomer, a Lincoln cabinet maker. The images of our people breathe life into my own work: A Christmas picture of John Cavanaugh and the 7 red-headed kids, the tireless efforts of my brother-in-law Dean Rasmussen, the sacrifice of Bob Spire, the sweetness of the March of Dime's poster girl, Jody Andersen, the strength of Howard Phelps after Rosemary, his bride for 50 years and my friend for ten, died last September.

It should give all of us comfort and hope to know of these and hundreds of other Nebraskans who are working every day to enrich this state. It should remind us that the expenditures we in government make do not represent the sum of our commitment. It should persuade us of the need to invest as we are able in the areas which form the foundation of our future.

And whatever our differences, it should inspire us to keep foremost in mind our shared goal: opportunities for individuals to pursue their dreams with some real hope that they will be realized.

The Committee escorted Governor Kerrey from the Chamber.

The motion prevailed.

Speaker Nichol appointed Mesdames Nelson, Smith, Messrs. Miller, Chizek, and Baack to serve on said Committee.

The Committee escorted Chief Justice Norman Krivosha to the rostrum where he delivered the following message:

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY MESSAGE
Presented by Chief Justice Norman Krivosha

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, distinguished Senators, Fellow Nebraskans:

As I begin this, my fourth State of the Judiciary message to you, I wish, on behalf of myself and the other members of the Supreme Court, to extend to you, the members of the Legislature, our deep appreciation for this very kind invitation. I am particularly pleased by this opportunity to report to you on the State of the Judiciary because, unfortunately, this occasion presents one of the few opportunities we in the Judiciary have of sharing with you, the Legislature, the needs and aspirations of the third branch of government. I regret that we are so limited in opportunity to share ideas and I continue to hope that at some time in the future we all may be able to develop some type of vehicle which will permit representatives of the three branches of government to regularly meet, not for purposes of debating specific legislation but, rather, to provide us with an opportunity of sharing with each other our particular problems. Perhaps by sharing those problems, we can arrive at solutions. I remain convinced that such a procedure can and should be developed, and, if done, will not cause any branch of government to sacrifice any of its authority or responsibility. But I leave that for another day.

Because the time I have with you this morning is of necessity very limited, I wish not to bore you with a host of statistics which, standing alone, may be of little aid or assistance to you in your work. I would only again call your attention to the fact that the responsibility of the Supreme Court is more than to serve as the court of last resort, reviewing acts of lower courts and administrative agencies. By reason of a constitutional amendment approved by the people of the State of Nebraska in 1971, the duties of the Supreme Court is substantially greater. As you may recall, the Nebraska Constitution now provides in Article V, Section 1, that not only is the judicial power of the State vested in the Supreme Court, District Courts and County Courts, but that the general administrative authority over all of the courts in the State are vested in the Supreme Court and are to be exercised by the Chief Justice. By reason of that amendment we now have the responsibility for supervising nearly 600 State employees located in 94 offices throughout the State of Nebraska. I mention this only so that you may appreciate that the Supreme Court is required to assume responsibility for more than simply deciding cases presented to it on appeal, and does have a real interest in what you do to effect the administration of justice in Nebraska. In an effort to fulfill that obligation, the Court is fortunate to have its able Court Administrator, Joseph Steele, and his fine staff, who have consistently provided the Court with reliable and efficient support, thereby making the job of supervising this rather large and dispersed work force possible. One other statistic which may be of interest to you because of future problems you may be asked to solve is the continually increasing docket at the Supreme Court.

For the 12-month period ending September 1, 1984, 1,002 new cases have been docketed in the Supreme Court. During that same period of time, the Court disposed of 986 cases, an increase of 72 cases over the previous 12-month period. Of that number 499 cases were decided by full opinion, or an average of 71 opinions per judge. That number may not be significant to you, but it is a number significantly in excess of both the ideal number for an appellate court and the number of opinions written by many other courts around the nation, including states having intermediate courts of appeal. We are beginning to reach the place where, if we are to continue disposing of these cases as promptly as we have in the past, we will not be able to give each case the thoughtful consideration it may desire. Nevertheless, we continue to proceed as best we can to address the work presented to us. It may very well be that if the numbers continue to grow without any change, the creation of some form of intermediate court of appeals may be necessary. We are not yet convinced that we have exhausted all other avenues and, therefore, we are not yet prepared to ask you to consider such a move at this time. Nevertheless, we do not wish this to come as some great surprise in the future and, therefore, we call this fact to your attention so that you may be mindful of the fact that sometime in the future the creation of some form of intermediate court of appeals may be necessary. We are obviously reluctant to suggest such a creation at this time because of the fiscal impact it would have upon the State. Nevertheless, there is some point at which the Court will reach its limit, if in fact we have not already. At the moment, we shall continue to attack the problem with the tools at hand. We do, however, want you to be aware of the problem.

We continue to develop programs to assist in meeting this growing number of cases.

As you are further aware, we have earlier created a Prehearing Conference Office and now require all civil cases to be processed through the Prehearing Conference before the case may be argued to the Court. The program, at least on its face, would appear to be successful in assisting us. Nearly a third of all of the cases which are processed through the Prehearing Conference are disposed of without the necessity of the Court writing a full opinion. Additionally, the Supreme Court has adopted guidelines for courts regarding the time in which various law suits filed in the several courts throughout the State, including the Supreme Court itself, must be tried. Through the use of these guidelines we are hopeful that cases will be promptly attended to by lawyers or dismissed by judges. While this will not necessarily reduce the workload, it should discourage the filing of cases which are wholly frivolous; and further, should assist the public in getting swifter justice through the courts.

Several other programs which have been created or are in the process of being created may also be of interest to you. During this past year, a judicial poll, developed by the State Bar Association, was completed. The purpose of the poll is twofold. On the one hand, it is to give the people of the State an opportunity to know how the Bar feels about a particular judge. This is of some importance when the public is requested to cast a vote on whether a judge should be retained. There is, however, a second purpose and one which I am hopeful will be of equal importance. That purpose is to advise the judge of possible shortcomings so that the judge, interested in improving his or her judicial demeanor, may examine the results of the poll and, where the criticism is justified, may make adjustments. The results of the first poll appeared to be quite satisfactory. This poll will be conducted every two years, several months in advance of the retention election.

I cannot talk about judicial polls and retention without taking a moment to make reference to the current merit selection system which has been the method by which judges in Nebraska have been selected since 1962. It is without question a system which has provided the citizens of the State of Nebraska with extremely qualified judges, free of partisan commitments. There are those who periodically promote the notion that the merit selection system should be abolished and the State should once again return to the former practice of electing judges. By doing this they say judges will be subject to the will of the majority. In saying that, of course, they completely ignore what the function of a judge is. Unlike a governor or a member of the Legislature, a judge does not have a constituency. Judges are precluded by law from having constituents and are duty-bound to act fairly and impartially in accordance with the law and not in accordance with popular sentiment. The significance of that duty cannot be sufficiently emphasized.

Alexander Hamilton, writing in "The Federalist", noted:

> The complete independence of the courts of justice is peculiarly essential in a limited constitution. By a limited constitution, I understand one which contains certain specified exceptions to the legislative authority; such, for instance, as that it shall pass no bills of attainder, no ex post facto laws, and the like. Limitations of this kind can be preserved in practice no other way than through the medium of the courts of justice; whose duty it must be to declare all acts contrary to the manifest tenor of the constitution void. Without this, all the reservations or particular rights or privileges would amount to nothing.

Those who argue that judges should be elected and, therefore, subject to the will of the majority, fail to recognize that such a result would be destructive of our system of government and not possible of accomplishment. How does a judge determine the will of the majority? Shall he or she, before deciding a case, conduct a poll to determine what the majority believes about a matter, regardless of what the Constitution or the laws may have to say? Or, shall judges be required, in accordance with the oath that they take when assuming office, to simply decide the case based upon the facts and the law? How impartial can a judge be who has declared his position on a matter even before he has heard the evidence or the arguments of counsel? We must not lose sight of what the role of the judiciary is and why it is important that it remain independent in decision-making so that it may act fairly and impartially and fulfill the role given it by the Constitution.

Most often those who talk about repealing the merit selection system and returning to the election of judges generally do so when a particular cause they espouse is not supported by the courts because it is contrary to the Constitution or the laws. How they propose to elect single-issue judges is beyond my comprehension. Moreover, they rarely, if ever, discuss matters such as campaign funds. How does one run for office without soliciting campaign funds? And, how does one running for office of judge who solicits campaign funds do so without creating the appearance of impropriety? In the State of Texas, as an example, where judges are still popularly elected, one member of the Texas Supreme Court seeking reelection reported spending $554,000 seeking reelection. He was identified in the newspapers as being affiliated with a particular group. Judges who run for election oftentimes are identified as plaintiff's judges or defendant's judges, or union's judges, or management's judges. Is that what we wish for our State? I think not. I think it is also ironic that after the Graylord scandal in Chicago, the Illinois Bar has now recommended that Illinois should eliminate the election of judges and go to a merit selection system similar to the system already in place in Nebraska. In doing so, they suggest that they will eliminate corruption and bossism in the judiciary. Similar editorials are now appearing in the State of Texas. We have, during the past 25 years, developed a fine system for the selection of judges, free of corruption. I therefore suggest that those who would seek to undo our system by suggesting we return to the popular election, simply do not understand what the role of the judiciary is all about. We should make it clear that we have no interest in such a plan.

In another area which may be of interest to you, I would like to advise you that we are now in the process of creating a State Judicial College. The purpose of that college will be to assist us in providing further continuing legal education for all members of the Nebraska judiciary. By conducting local programs we are hopeful that we can provide more frequent programs at less cost. We are hopeful that the college will be operational sometime during 1985. I should make it clear that the college is a program and not a physical plant. It will operate out of the Court Administrator's office as a part of continuing judicial education.

Another program which has been instituted by the judiciary this year and one in which we take a great deal of pride, is the high school mock trial program. It started out as a very small program in but a few counties and has now grown in size. This program is now gaining national attention. Nebraska will in the next year host a multi-state competition, pitting our young people against high school students from a number of other states. Additionally, plans are in the work to make this a national program. By using civil cases, rather than criminal cases; by having young students, acting as lawyers, attempting to elicit from witnesses facts, and thereby recognizing the problems confronting judges and lawyers alike, young people participating in this program are beginning to understand the wonders of our American legal system and its limitations. If such a program is not now available in your county and there are those who are interested in promoting such a program, I urge you to have them contact either your local judges or the office of the Court Administrator.

Let me now turn to another area. There are people today who suggest that there is much too much litigation and action should be taken to prevent the ease with which people may get into court. While I do not encourage litigation, and would be pleased to see the numbers decrease, nevertheless, I ask you to keep in mind that litigation is the civilized way in which people resolve their disputes. If the choice given to us is litigation on the one hand, and violence on the other, then I, for one, must opt for increased litigation. I believe that ultimately we would be better off spending dollars to provide the means that allows all disputes to be reasonably, quietly, fairly, and impartially resolved in court than to permit individuals to turn to violence such as in the case of the New York subway vigilante. That, I believe, is one of the first responsibilities of a democratic form of government. John Foster Dulles observed: "Of all the tasks of government the most basic is to protect its citizens against violence." While the notion of using self-help may, in a particular situation, provide some emotional comfort, promoting such behavior can only result in further damage and injury. As the eminent jurist, Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., observed: "Violent disorder once set in motion may spawn tyranny, not freedom." Violent disorder can rarely, if ever, be controlled.

We are often asked to look to other countries where litigation is not as popular or as available as it is in America. What we also find are societies that frequently resort to violence in order to resolve disputes. Japan may not have as many lawyers per capita as America, but I suspect it may have far more riot police per capita than does America. In any event, it has more riots.

The Nebraska State Bar Association, initially under the direction of Attorney General-Designate Robert Spire, who was then its president, initiated a program whereby Nebraska lawyers offer to provide legal assistance at little or no cost to those who can not otherwise secure a lawyer. However, as federal funding for such programs are reduced, or worse, eliminated, the State will have to consider replacing those lost funds. We must keep the courtroom open to those who need to have their disputes quietly resolved. Let us not, in any event, lose heart or faith in a system which has served us well.

As I discuss the present, let me mention two bills among several which we hope will be presented to you during this session at the request of the Court. As you are undoubtedly aware, the various courts throughout the State of Nebraska receive moneys, some of which belong to the State of Nebraska, in the form of court costs. Currently, County Courts to which this money is paid has no authority to place these funds in interest-bearing accounts and, therefore, multiple thousands of dollars belonging to the State of Nebraska remains each day in bank accounts earning no interest. We will ask you to consider amending the statutes so as to grant to the County Courts the same authority which you earlier granted to the District Courts, thereby permitting the County Courts to place these funds on deposit in interest-bearing accounts. The interest, when earned, is to be deposited into the general fund of the State. We anticipate that this can produce perhaps as much as $200,000 a year additional funds for the State of Nebraska. I hope that you will look with favor upon this suggestion.

The second matter which I urge you to pay particularly close attention to is the bill which implements the requirements of H.R. 4325, the Federal Child Support Enforcement Act of 1984. This federal act imposes upon the State and the state judiciary a number of responsibilities regarding the collection of child support. The mere passage of the legislation, however, without adequate funding will not permit us to fulfill the duties imposed upon us by this act. If it is your desire that we accept the mandate of the federal legislation, then I hope that it is your desire that we be provided the means with which to carry out those functions.

Let me now turn for the remaining few minutes and address the future. In doing so, let me, however, begin by making it abundantly clear that nothing I say here this morning is intended to intrude into your area of responsibility. Just as I would not want your branch of government to intrude into the judicial branch of the government, neither would I propose to intrude into your area. But, what you do in fulfilling your area of responsibility impacts upon the judiciary. To that extent, therefore, I believe it is critical that we share with you what problems may be created by your actions.

I have for some time now become thoroughly convinced that attempting to manage government by crisis, at least insofar as the judiciary of Nebraska is concerned, is ill-advised. The number of choices available in a crisis is substantially reduced. For that reason, our staff has been asked to develop long-range plans for the Nebraska judicial system. Your body, obviously, plays a critical role in that plan. Attempting to develop such a plan is not very easy because of a number of factors.

To begin with, change never comes easy. But, as Thomas Jefferson noted: "Nothing then is unchangeable but the inherent and inalienable rights of man." Frequently, when we discuss making some change, we are admonished that "if the clock isn't broken, don't fix it." To those soothsayers I simply say, "A stitch in time saves nine." While none of that makes any sense, what is apparent to me is that finding comfort in slogans or refusing to accept needed change will not eliminate the problems nor ultimately prevent the happening of a crisis. I continue to believe that by attempting to develop long-range plans and anticipating the necessary changes, we shall avoid having to make decisions in a crisis. That must be a better way to try and administer a system as large as the Nebraska Judiciary. It should also assist you in knowing what laws need to be passed and further assist you in bringing the judicial system into the Twenty-first Century, now only 15 years away.

Attempting to maintain a system as we enter the Twenty-first Century which was developed under conditions which existed at the turn of the Twentieth Century simply fails to recognize what has developed in the interim. What impact the computer and closed circuit television, as an example, will have on how legal and judicial services are rendered is at present totally a mystery; though, to be sure, we are already beginning to see how such changes can improve the delivery of services and yet reduce the cost. This is particularly true in a state in which two-thirds of the judicial system is made up of circuit-riders who have no one permanent situs. Mass-communication systems, computers, and close-circuit television will undoubtedly play a critical and important role in what we do. The planning for such changes must occur now.

I am not prepared this morning to provide you with a laundry list of recommended changes. I am not able to do that simply because we have not yet finished designing the plan. That will involve a great deal of input from a large number of people. What we have however learned thusfar is that attempting to find solutions to problems we do not fully understand is not as easy as it may appear at first blush. To some extent, simply trying to determine what is the problem is more important than arriving at the solution.

Again, without in any manner attempting to intrude into your area of responsibility, I would simply urge you to move cautiously in these areas. Give us a chance to present to you for your consideration a complete plan so that you need not act by passing piecemeal legislation which may be counter productive.

If we were beginning a new society perhaps some of the solutions offered from time to time would indeed be appropriate. But we are not writing on a clean slate. We have more than 100 years of history and untolled numbers of laws. Oftentimes an amendment to a single act, thought to fine-tune a project, simply results in putting the whole thing out of focus because the amendment fails to take into account a number of other provisions of the law not amended and now completely in conflict. Solving a single problem may only create several others.

Let me use as one example the problems of furloughs for convicted, incarcerated felons. I recognize that the topic is sensitive at this time and I express no view to you as to whether such furloughs should be permitted. That is a matter which the executive and legislative branches of government must address. But, I would remind you that except for those relatively few who may be executed, all persons sent to the Penitentiary will, by reason of laws already passed by you, be returned to society one day. Can an individual spend 12 or 15 or 22 years confined to a society in prison, totally unlike that which exists on the outside, and then one day be released without any prior preparation? Will society indeed be safer when such an individual, unfamiliar with the ways in which the world now operates, returns? I am not sure of what the answer to that question is, but I am sure that the question needs to be addressed. Will you, indeed, be solving the problem or merely postponing its adverse effect? Is there a better way to address the problem and must other laws be considered? That is simply meant as an example.

Let me further suggest that perhaps the difficulty with regard to problems created by furloughs is merely the tip of the iceberg and simply reflects a manifestation of a much more severe problem. I speak of the problem of prisons generally. All of us are concerned about the level of crime and, desire to find ways to reduce the level. But it would appear that neither the threat of prison nor prison itself will accomplish that purpose. One need only look at how many people return to prison within a relatively short time after their release to recognize that the fear of imprisonment is not an effective deterant to one who has already done hard time. A former inmate recently expressed a view which I have long believed to be true. The greatest fear occurs before imprisonment. Once you have done time and learned you can survive, the fear is not nearly so great. Holding people in prison does not seem to address the real problems. The questions which must be addressed rather deal with matters such as education, employment skills, emotional stability, and the development of a sense of worth of those who are to be released. Can someone who cannot read or write--who cannot obtain gainful employment because of lack of skills--who has no sense of worth, survive in a computer-age society? And if they cannot, what must we do?

I suggest to you that now is the time for us to call a halt to merely enacting legislation and a time for bringing knowledgeable persons together so that we may attempt to understand the nature of the problems. I do not mean to imply that this is something which should be done in a month with the expectation that 7 specific recommendations will thereafter be made. Rather, I believe that this is a project which requires many months of study, but one which must begin now. And, once completed, will unquestionably require the commitment of additional State funds.

I am not unmindful of the financial problems faced by the State. I simply suggest to you, however, that the taxpayers of the State of Nebraska are already paying for crime through the damage and loss of life and property. It is simply a question of whether they prefer to pay for crime without benefit or pay for it in a manner which may hopefully provide some benefit. In any event, attempting to develop quick fixes and patchwork solutions to this problem will not be successful. Persons who enter the Penitentiary must be released with the ability, at a minimum, to read and write. Persons who enter the Penitentiary must be released with the ability, at a minimum, to engage in some type of needed, lawful employment. And, persons entering the Penitentiary must be released with some understanding of what prompts them to behave in an anti-social manner.

It seems ironic that we have arrived at a place where we can create a nearly bionic person, create life in a test tube, and travel at will through space. Yet, given the custody of individuals for 8 or 10 or 12 years, we are unable to do anything about correcting their lifestyles. There are many unanswered questions. One question, however, is not unanswered. The mere threat of punishment to an irrational criminal does not deter crime. That may not be very popular to say, but time and experience proves it to be true. To take positive action now is not to coddle the criminal but, rather, to seek to protect the public. I am hopeful that we may begin to examine the problems in a way that will at last provide some security and benefit to the community. We must act and not react.

Furthermore, in developing programs, it is not sufficient to put them on paper. They must in fact be in place and must be adequately staffed and properly funded if they are to accomplish the purposes which you contemplate when enacting such laws. Let me give you an example. Currently we have 102 adult probation officers. For the fiscal year ending September 30, 1984, those 102 probation officers handled 19,255 cases. Additionally, those same 102 probation officers prepared 12,078 presentence reports. How can anyone believe that a probation officer in Nebraska, burdened with that workload, can provide any meaningful supervision or guidance for persons on probation.

As I close, let me share one last thought with you. Events of recent years have caused us to demand that the rights of criminals be reduced. Unfortunately, however, our form of government does not permit us to have one law for the innocent and another for the guilty. All persons must be treated equally. When we reduce the rights of the criminal, we likewise reduce the rights of the noncriminal.

I suspect it has been some time since most of us read through the entire Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of the State of Nebraska. The restraints imposed upon government by our forefathers in drafting those documents were carefully considered and purposely intended. They had experienced the absence of those freedoms and wished no longer to gamble on the good faith of honest men, unrestrained by law.

By and large their concerns have proven valid and the restrictions and limitations developed by them necessary. Few places in the world know freedom and democracy as do we in the United States and, in particular, the State of Nebraska. An editorial appearing this week noted that 1984 was a rough year for freedom. A Freedom House report said that 42% of the world's population lives in countries where governments routinely suppress civil liberties and political rights. I would suggest, therefore, that we not be so anxious to give up our freedoms nor to trade off our constitutional rights. When we propose to limit the rights of citizens or expand the rights of government, perhaps we should ask how would that law be applied against me in the hands of an unreasonable government official? Or think about the treatment received by the Polish Solidarity leader Lech Walesa by a government without constitutional restraints. Unless we are confident that we remain well protected, we should be hesitant to expand the rights of government over our persons in contravention of the Constitution or to eliminate any of the rights afforded to us as citizens of this State, no matter how anxious we are to reduce crime.

As I close this message to you, I am reminded of the words of Thoreau when he said: "I know of no more encouraging fact than the unquestionable ability of man to elevate his life by a conscious endeavor."

We of the judiciary, greatly appreciate the spirit of cooperation which exists between our two branches of government. You have been understanding of our problems as we have presented them to you and have greatly assisted us by providing us with the tools necessary to perform our tasks. In that we are grateful. There is much yet to be done, but I am confident that through understanding and cooperation we can continually improve the society in which we live.

Dorothy Carl observed: "Anything we can conceive, we can achieve." By coming together and sharing ideas, I believe we can indeed achieve what we conceive should be done. The State of the Nebraska Judiciary is good. There are problems which require our attention; but, by and large, we are alive and healthy.

Thank you.

The Committee escorted the Chief Justice from the Chamber.

SPEAKER SIGNED

While the Legislature was in session and capable of transacting business, the Speaker signed the following resolutions: LR 14 and LR 17.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

LEGISLATIVE BILL 354. By Hartnett, 45th District.

A BILL FOR AN ACT relating to the State Board of Education; to amend section 79-1247.05, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984; to provide for reimbursement for expenses as prescribed; and to repeal the original section.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 25.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, the State of Nebraska's economic prosperity is closely linked with the vitality of the agriculture industry; and

WHEREAS, currently the agriculture industry is in the worst economic slump in recent years because of stresses created by a combination of scarce credit, high interest rates, falling land and equipment values, and low prices; and

WHEREAS, a single state government can do little to protect its farmers and ranchers from such conditions because the problems in agriculture exist nationwide; and

WHEREAS, agricultural policy for the nation is determined in Washington, D.C., by the administration, the Congress, and the Department of Agriculture; and

WHEREAS, the nation's farmers and ranchers have not shared in the benefits of the recovery that other sectors of the nation's economy have enjoyed; and

WHEREAS, the agricultural policymakers in the federal government have not developed effective solutions to the problems of scarce credit, high interest rates, falling values, and low prices to effect a recovery in the agriculture industry.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS

OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature's Committee on Committees select twenty members of the Legislature, who shall be accompanied by one business person and one agri-business person from each legislative district being represented by the selected delegation of Senators, and Governor Robert Kerrey, to go to Washington, D.C., to speak with federal officials to alert them to the severity of agriculture's problems.

2. That the Legislature immediately recess until after the selected delegation returns from Washington, D.C., and can report its findings to the other members of the Legislature.

3. That an invitation be issued to members of the legislatures of the states of Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin to join the delegation from Nebraska in Washington, D.C. to add their voices to ours, and to work together to find a solution to our common problems.

4. That this assembly of concerned state legislators demand that the federal government take action to relieve the economic stresses that burden this nation's farmers and ranchers.

5. That the cost of providing transportation, lodging, meals, and any other expense borne by members of the Nebraska delegation, including the members who are not Senators, shall be borne by the Legislative Council.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 8
January 25, 1985

Dear Senator Lamb:

You have requested our opinion regarding whether the provisions of LB 38 would withstand constitutional challenge. LB 38 generally provides that each owner of real property in the state shall be entitled to receive a ten per cent rebate for all property taxes paid. Section 3 of the bill provides the Nebraska Department of Revenue is to calculate the rebate due and remit this amount to the owner of the real property.

Article VIII, Section 4 of the Nebraska Constitution provides, in pertinent part:

> Except as to tax and assessment charges against real property remaining delinquent and unpaid for a period of fifteen years or longer, the Legislature shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town, or district whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or any corporation, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for state purposes, or due any municipal corporation, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatever; . . . .
> (Emphasis added).

In Steinacher v. Swanson, 131 Neb. 439, 268 N.W. 317 (1936), the Nebraska Supreme Court, construing the prohibition contained in Article VIII, Section 4, stated:

> It is quite apparent that the framers of the Constitution of 1875, the one first containing this provision, and the members of all subsequent constitutional conventions, have been imbued with the idea that all taxpayers are entitled to the same treatment by the government they support. For this reason they have expressly written into our Constitution that the legislature not only shall have no power to release or discharge any one from the payment of his share of taxes, but a commutation for taxes in any form whatever is prohibited. . . . Clearly, under this constitutional provision, the legislature cannot reduce the amount of the tax, extend the time of payment, or in any manner change the method of payment.

Id. at 446, 268 N.W. at 321.

In County of Lancaster v. Trimble, 33 Neb. 121, 49 N.W. 938 (1891), the court held a statute permitting counties to purchase tax sales certificates and foreclose them, provided that no action could be brought unless the amount due exceeded $200, violated the above-quoted constitutional provision. The court in Trimble stated:

> The legislature is without power to release any inhabitant or corporation from his or its proportionate share of taxes, nor can it confer such authority upon county commissioners. It has authorized them to purchase real estate at tax sale, but has provided for the foreclosure of tax certificates in their hands only when the amount due thereon exceeds a specified sum. . . . The legislature is powerless to confer such authority. It cannot do indirectly what the Constitution prohibits it from doing directly; that is clear. (Wood v. Helmer, 10 Neb. 65, 68.)

Id. at 447, 49 N.W. at 939.

The ten per cent rebate on the amount of real property taxes paid provided by LB 38 would, in effect, constitute a reduction in real property taxes paid to all owners of real property in the state. Arguably, the rebate provided under LB 38 could be viewed as a form of commutation of taxes by the Legislature in violation of Article VIII, Section 4. It could therefore be contended the procedure established under LB 38 would allow the Legislature to accomplish indirectly what it could not do directly, in view of the prohibition in Article VIII, Section 4.

On the other hand, the providing of tax relief through the payment of a rebate of this nature does not seem to clearly constitute a release, discharge, or commutation of taxes as contemplated under Article VIII, Section 4. While we express some reservation as to the Legislature's authority to provide tax relief to real property owners in this manner, we cannot conclude the rebate provided by LB 38 is clearly violative of this constitutional provision.

An additional constitutional question raised by LB 38 concerns Article XIII, Section 3, which provides, in pertinent part: "The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . . ."

The Nebraska Supreme Court has interpreted the prohibition in Article XIII, Section 3, to prevent the state, or any political subdivision thereof, from extending its credit to private enterprises. United Community Services v. Omaha National Bank, 162 Neb. 786, 77 N.W. 2d 576 (1956); State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223, 82 N.W.2d 269 (1957). In determining whether legislation providing for the expenditure of public funds is constitutionally impermissible under Article XIII, Section 3, the crucial inquiry is whether the act in question serves a public purpose.

Lenstrom v. Thone, 209 Neb. 783, 311 N.W.2d 884 (1981), involved the issue of the constitutionality of a statutory scheme establishing a scholarship award program providing financial assistance to eligible undergraduate state residents to receive educational services in public and private postsecondary educational institutions in the state. The court held the scholarship program was enacted to serve a public purpose, and thus did not violate the provisions of Article XIII, Section 3. Discussing the requirement that an expenditure of public funds constitute a public use or purpose, the court in Lenstrom stated:

> It is for the Legislature to decide in the first instance what is and what is not a public purpose, but its determination is not conclusive on the courts. However, to justify a court in declaring a statute invalid because its object is not a public purpose, the absence of public purpose must be so clear and palpable as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind. Chase v. County of Douglas, 195 Neb. 838, 241 N.W.2d 334 (1976).

Id. at 789-90, 311 N.W.2d at 888.

The defendants in Lenstrom contended the statutory scheme creating the scholarship award program violated Article XIII, Section 3, on the basis that the program constituted a "gift" of public funds. The court summarily rejected this argument, stating:

> If article XIII, § 3, were extended to include "gifts" for public purposes, then all state welfare programs and many others would be unconstitutional. We find no authority which supports the defendents' position with reference to article XIII, § 3.

Id. at 792, 311 N.W.2d at 889.

It has been recognized that the public interest is promoted, and a public purpose served, by the provision of tax relief. See, Felder v. City of Portsmouth, 114 N.H. 573, 324 A.2d 708 (1974). The public purpose to be served through the enactment of LB 38 would be the general public interest in relieving the tax burden which has been placed on real property owners in the state. As the court indicated in Lenstrom, the purpose of the prohibition in Article XIII, Section 3, is to prevent the state from extending its credit to private enterprises; it does not prohibit expenditures made in furtherance of a public purpose.

We would point out, however, that LB 38 does not contain any legislative declaration or findings regarding the public purposes to be served by the bill. While it is not required that a legislative act which provides for the expenditure of public funds contain an express declaration of public purpose, State ex rel. Douglas v. Thone, 204 Neb. 836, 286 N.W.2d 249 (1979), such a declaration, and legislative findings to that effect, would be desirable to clearly express the Legislature's intent. In any event, we cannot conclude the tax relief provided by LB 38 is invalid based on the "absence of a public purpose" which is "so clear and palpable as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind."

Aside from the question of the constitutional validity of LB 38, we also feel constrained to note that we can envision various administrative problems which could arise under its present provisions. Rather than attempting to outline such concerns in detail, we recommend that you seek the advice of the Department of Revenue, the agency which would bear the responsibility of administering the rebate program, regarding any administrative problems posed by the bill.

In summary, it is our opinion that, while we believe some questions may exist as to the constitutionality of the rebate system established under LB 38, we cannot affirmatively conclude that the bill would clearly violate any constitutional provision.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 9
January 24, 1985

RE: Article XII, Section 8, Nebraska Constitution

Dear Senator Wesely:

In an effort to determine whether or not there is any need to clarify the provisions of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution, you have asked if that part of Section 8 which prohibits the corporate ownership of farm or ranch land includes corporations which may be engaged in:

(a) the production of turkeys;
(b) the production of broilers;
(c) the production of chickens producing eggs for market purposes;
(d) the production of poultry for processing of poultry and poultry products;
(e) the production of poultry breeding stock and poultry for breeding purposes.

Section 8 of Article XII of our Constitution provides in part: "no corporation or syndicate shall acquire, or otherwise obtain an interest, whether legal, beneficial, or otherwise, in any title to real estate used for farming or ranching in this state, or engage in farming or ranching."

After defining corporations, Section 8 goes to set forth a number of instances which the above restrictions shall not apply to. One of those instances is as follows: "(F) Agricultural land operated by a corporation for the purpose of raising poultry."

With regard to the production of turkeys, broilers, poultry for processing of poultry, poultry breeding stock and poultry for breeding purposes, we find that in Bartels v. State, 91 Neb. 575, 136 N.W. 717 (1912), our Supreme Court stated that poultry, according to the definition in Webster's New International Dictionary is: "(2) domestic fowls reared for the table, or for their eggs or feathers, such as cocks and hens, capons, turkeys, ducks and geese." Other jurisdictions have accepted the same definition.

It would appear from this definition that the word poultry encompasses only a live domesticated fowl and does not include parts or products of the fowl, such as eggs, feathers, or the parts of a dressed bird. For example, in Purdue, Inc. v. State Department of Assessments and Taxation, 264 Md. 228, 286 A.2d 165, the Maryland court held that hatchery eggs are not poultry and do not become poultry until hatched, at which time the newborn chick becomes poultry. In Qwong Yuen Shing v. U.S., 177 F. 605, the court held that duck made in tin, some salted and dried, and some packed in oil, is not poultry; and in Smith Company v. U.S., 168 F. 462, the same court held that "cooked meat of poultry and game, in tins, and goose livers prepared as pate de foie gras, are not dutiable, either directly or by similitude as poultry."

With regard to your question concerning the production of eggs for market purposes, it would appear from the above cases that where the issue has arisen the courts are unanimous in holding that eggs are not poultry. This being so, it could probably be argued that the production of eggs is a farming activity and not exempt from the restrictive provisions of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution. However, there is one other matter that we find should be considered.

From our discussions with authorities on the raising of poultry and the production of eggs, it is our understanding that there are three essential periods of time to be considered during the life span of any domestic fowl which would produce eggs for commercial purposes. The first period is the pullet stage from the time the egg is hatched until the hen becomes a producer of eggs, (roosters, except those kept for breeding purposes, are usually destroyed soon after they are hatched); the second period is the period during which the hen would be producing eggs for whatever purposes; and the third period is the one during which the fowl would be sold to commercial concerns in preparation for human or other consumption. It is quite clear that during all three periods poultry is being raised even though during one of those periods the poultry is being raised primarily for the production of eggs.

With this in mind, it would appear that in order to determine whether a production facility is or is not subject to the restrictions of Article XII, Section 8, of the Constitution, it would first be necessary to determine whether the primary purpose of the facility is the production of eggs for market purposes, or for the production of poultry. If the primary purpose is the production of poultry, then the restrictions of the Constitution would not apply. If the primary purpose is the production of eggs, then the restrictions would apply.

Opinion No. 10

Dear Senator Haberman:

You have requested our opinion in regard to LB 367. You ask whether at the present time and under present statutes the county attorneys can ask for assistance from this office.

LB 367 proposes to establish a division of criminal prosecution within the office of the Attorney General. This division would have one or more assistant attorneys' general assigned to the division. The bill provides that the primary duty shall be to assist county attorneys upon request in the prosecution of homicides, conspiracy, and attempted homicides; felony theft of grain, felony violations of laws pertaining to banks and other financial institutions, and any conspiracy or attempt cases involving such theft or violations. Additionally, cases involving the prosecution of county officials and cases in which the county attorney has a conflict would be within the parameters of the bill.

Traditionally, the county attorney has been charged with enforcing the laws as the elected representative of the state within the various counties of the State of Nebraska. The county attorney's duties under statute and case law are relatively well developed. Generally, the trial level prosecutions within Nebraska have been handled by the county attorneys across the state. Appellate level criminal matters have been handled in the office of the Attorney General pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-205(9) (Reissue 1981). Under Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-204 (Reissue 1981) the Attorney General has concurrent powers in each of the several counties of the state as the county attorneys in their respective counties. From the statutes it is clear that the Attorney General's power in this regard is substantial. As a matter of historical precedent, however, the Attorney General's office has not exercised these powers except in rare and unusual cases.

From 1975 to 1983 this office did provide a limited amount of assistance to county attorneys, primarily in homicide cases. This assistance was provided under existing statutes. However, budget constraints and unavailability of trained personnel caused the office to cease providing this assistance. If the question is limited to statutory authority, the assistance can be provided. However, when the budgetary constraints are considered the service cannot, at the present time, be provided.

Even if the bill as proposed is enacted, this office will require an appropriation before we will be able to provide such assistance.

Very truly yours,

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 43.

Introduced by Marsh, 29th District.

WHEREAS, Debra Ann Badeer has served honorably and well as Mrs. Nebraska of 1984; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Badeer graduated from Hastings High School and attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Badeer is married to Daniel H. Badeer, is the mother of Armen Daniel and Leah Rachel, and is a homemaker, professional singer, and model; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Badeer is active in Indian Hills Community Church and is a sign language interpreter, speaker, and Bible Club teacher; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Badeer's past achievements include National Rifle Association Expert Rifle Marksman, Miss Southwest Nebraska 1975, Miss University Nebraska 1976, Miss Nebraska-U.S.A. 1977, and membership in the Scarlet and Cream Singers and Cornhusker Marching and Pep Bands.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That Debra Ann Badeer is hereby recognized and commended for her service to the State as Mrs. Nebraska of 1984.

2. That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Badeer.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 44.

WHEREAS, the federal tax system has become incredibly complicated; and

WHEREAS, the Congress has turned what should be a civic duty - paying taxes into a dreaded and "put off as long as possible" chore for all taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, forty per cent of all taxpayers now require tax preparers to fill out their federal tax returns, compared to only eighteen per cent thirty years ago; and

WHEREAS, the Internal Revenue Code is now over 2,000 pages, more than double what it was just twenty years ago; and

WHEREAS, whether people respect the tax system determines to a great extent whether they respect government; and

WHEREAS, the sheer complexity, rampant unfairness, and gross inefficiency of the federal tax system is forfeiting public confidence in and respect for the system; and

WHEREAS, section 280F of the Internal Revenue Code allows farmers and businesses to claim deductions for the use of motor vehicles; and

WHEREAS, the original regulations to implement section 280F are unduly and necessarily burdensome, causing farmers and business people to spend as much time keeping records as they do making a living.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the United States Congress and the Internal Revenue Service should promptly simplify or eliminate the onerous and burdensome regulations accompanying section 280F of the Internal Revenue Code.

2. That the reported modified rules to be issued soon, whereby farmers may keep track of personal use of a farm vehicle or treat eighty per cent of the use as business and twenty per cent as personal, would still be unacceptable because those using farm vehicles one hundred per cent for business would still have to comply with the onerous record keeping to qualify for expense deductions.

3. That the United States Congress should expeditiously work to vastly simplify the federal tax system.

4. That a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of Nebraska's congressional delegation and to the Internal Revenue Service.

Laid over.

Whereas, airline service in Nebraska is a necessary and valuable commodity; and

Whereas, smaller communities are having difficulty retaining airline services throughout Nebraska thereby leaving fringe markets in the state with little continuity; and

Whereas, the federal government currently is seriously considering removing subsidies to smaller communities; and

Whereas, larger communities are losing the advantages of a competitive market place because of the disengagement of airline service in their community; and

Whereas, it is in the best interest of the state of Nebraska to study the continuation of airline service throughout the state and that a task force shall be established by the Governor to evaluate the present and future needs of airline services in Nebraska; and

Whereas, the Governor's task force should include a representative from the Department of Aeronautics, the airline industry, the legislature, and interested public citizens; and

Whereas, the Governor's task force shall report back within the year to the Governor and to the legislature to present its report on the needs of the state in regard to airline services.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION,

That a task force shall be appointed by the Governor to research and present a report back to the legislature concerning airline services in Nebraska.

Laid over.

WHEREAS, the United States Department of Interior, on May 15, 1978, after abandoning plans to establish a Platte River Refuge, declared a fifty-mile reach of the Platte River in central Nebraska as critical habitat for the endangered whooping crane; and

WHEREAS, such designation by law declares that the designated area is necessary for the survivability of the whooping crane; and

WHEREAS, whooping cranes use the critical habitat area only very rarely and most sightings of whooping cranes in the past four decades have been on reservoirs, lakes, and farm ponds or lagoons in central Nebraska and northern Kansas.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the United States Department of Interior is urged to undertake detailed study to determine if the critical habitat area is indeed critical to the survivability of the endangered whooping crane and, if it is not, to remove the designation.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 11
January 30, 1985

Dear Senator Warner:

This is in response to your request for an opinion dated January 16, 1985. In that letter you ask "{H}ow many votes would be required to pass a bill appropriating funds to pay a miscellaneous claim on behalf of the Commonwealth depositors." You qualify this request with the assumptions that a separate bill for this claim will be introduced early in the session and that the emergency clause will not be adopted.

Your question revolves around the provisions of Article IV, Section 7, of the Nebraska Constitution which contains certain restrictions as to the number of votes required for appropriations in excess of the Governor's recommended budget. This section in its appropriate part reads as follows:

> At a time fixed by law, he shall present, by message, a complete itemized budget of the financial requirements of all departments, institutions and agencies of the state and a budget bill to be introduced by the Speaker of the Legislature at the request of the Governor. Said budget bill shall be prepared with such expert assistance and under such regulations as may be required by the Governor. No appropriations shall be made in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget including any amendment the Governor may make thereto unless by three-fifths vote of the Legislature, and such excess so approved shall be subject to veto by the Governor. (Emphasis added.)

Of course, if an appropriation bill does not come within the restrictions of this provision, it would require only 25 votes.

The issue then is whether such a bill would amount to an appropriation "in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget." The answer to this question would appear to have been fairly well resolved in the case of Mekota v. State Board of Equalization and Assessment, 146 Neb. 370, 19 N.W.2d 633 (1945).

In that case the issue involved an appropriation for a new state agency created by the Legislature during that session, which in turn was not in existence at the time of the Governor's proposed budget. The court held that this appropriation did not come within the restrictions of Article IV, Section 7, of the Constitution. In so doing, the court reasoned as follows:

> Of course the Governor could not have, at the time his budget recommendations were required, made a recommendation of appropriation for the Department of Industrial Development and it does not seem reasonable that it was intended that the provision should be applicable to that which could not be anticipated but which was within the legislative prerogative.

Id. at 378-379. The court went on to explain this constitutional provisions as follows:

> Again it will be noted that the provision contains these words: "No appropriations shall be made in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget . . . ." The plural, "appropriations," is used. This would imply a limitation upon increase of amounts named in the budget and required to be therein and not to matters which could not be contemplated or anticipated. It would also imply an intention that the limitation was to attach to named subjects of appropriation and not to appropriations generally.

Id. at 379.

Appropriations for miscellaneous claims are not part of the Governor's budget recommendations, as these are not part of the required on-going operations of state government, but rather are strictly within the legislative prerogative. Thus, such bills containing appropriations for miscellaneous claims would not be increases of appropriations for subjects listed in the Governor's budget and the restrictions of Article IV, Section 7, would not apply to such appropriations measures. Thus, such a bill would require only 25 votes for passage.

Finally, we must emphasize that this opinion is directed only towards the question of the number of votes required to pass an appropriation for a miscellaneous claim and it does not address any of the other legal or constitutional issues that may be involved in such a claim.

Sincerely,
A. EUGENE CRUMP
Deputy Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 15

February 5, 1985

Dear Senator R. Johnson:

You have asked whether or not a feed lot operator who custom or contract feeds livestock other than his or her own must hold a valid registration or license pursuant to §54-820.01(1), RRS, 1943, and pursuant to REQ 0088 which you attached to your letter.

In relation to the requirements of §54-820.01(1), it provides in part that "No person shall manufacture or distribute commercial feed in this state unless such person holds a valid registration for each manufacturing and storage facility in this state...." Commercial feeds are defined in §54-820(4) as "...all materials which are distributed for use in feeding animals other than man." Distribute is defined in §54-820(2) as "...to offer for sale, sell, barter, or otherwise supply commercial feeds."

In an effort to understand the situation presented by your letter, the Department of Agriculture, which is charged with administering this set of statutes, was contacted. The department indicated that they have contacted other states in the region which have a statutory scheme similar to the one set forth above, and that none of the states require the registration of feed lot operators in the situation you have presented. Moreover, the department indicated that they were not aware of any problems either in this state or in any other states as a result of lack of registration.

The statutory scheme of which §54-820.01 is a part, was originally enacted by LB 158 of the laws of 1951. Testimony before the Agricultural Committee on that bill indicated that it was directed at problems that the State of Nebraska was having because of it becoming a dumping ground for commercial feeds. The bill was an attempt to stop the sale of feeds that do not measure up to the specifications set forth on labels attached to the feeds and to place more responsibility on feed dealers and manufacturers. There was no testimony before the committee directed to the operation of feed lots. Additionally, this section was amended by LB 224 of the laws of 1953, LB 91 of the laws of 1977, and LB 617 of the laws of 1983, but no testimony regarding any of those bills could be located that indicated either a change of intent or that the statute should be applied to feed lots.

In addition to this apparent lack of legislative intent to have the statute apply to the situation you have presented, the situation itself appears less like a sale or supply of feed and more like an agistment. An agistment is a bailment of animals for the purpose of grazing or pasturing. The situation you have presented appears to be a bailment of animals for the purpose of feeding, which is more like an agistment than a sale or supply of commercial feeds. When the owner of livestock places them in the custody of a custom or contract feed lot operator, that owner is being predominately provided a service, and the transfer of the feed, which is fed to the livestock, is merely an incident to the contract between the owner and the operator.

A sale has been defined as "A transfer of the absolute or general property in a thing for a price in money, which the buyer pays or promises to pay for the thing bought and sold." State ex rel. Spillman v. Central Purchasing Company, 118 Neb. 383, 389 (1929). Additionally, the Uniform Commercial Code provides: "A 'sale' consists in the passing of title from the seller to the buyer for a price." U.C.C. §2-106(1). Also "bartering" or "otherwise supplying" feed, as specified in the statute, would also suggest that the statute would apply only in the situation in which title to the feed is conveyed from one party to another. On the other hand, the situation you have presented involves a custom or contract feed lot operator entering into a contract with the livestock owner which provides for the feed lot operator to provide work, labor, and material but not title to the feed. A feed lot operator would be engaging in a conveyance of title if there was an agreement for a certain type and quantity of commercial feed to be provided for an agreed upon sum and at a set time.

Because the type of situation you have presented is presumed to not encompass a sale, barter, or otherwise supplying feed as that has been defined herein, the registration provision of §54-820.01(1), RRS 1943, would not apply to a custom or contract feed lot operator who feeds livestock other than his or her own. Additionally, because of the similar language and no indication of a change in legislative intent in the proposed legislation attached to your letter, it likewise would not apply to such feed lot operators.

We hope that this letter has been of some assistance to you. If we can be of any further service, please feel free to call upon us.

Very truly yours,
A. EUGENE CRUMP

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 16
February 5, 1985

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your request for an opinion dated January 29, 1985, regarding a proposed legislative bill, LB 602.

The proposed bill is basically enabling legislation and provides a procedure for the legislature to follow relating to the appropriation of funds in certain circumstances specified therein. It is generally recognized that the legislature's power includes that of providing modes of procedure. As stated in State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 460, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979), "{t}he test is the end result, not the means".

This bill establishes a procedure only (the means) and sections 2 and 3 clearly require separate action in the form of a specific legislative appropriation (the end result). In any event, it is also true that constitutionality must be judged not merely on the basis of what is done by a particular bill, but on the basis of what is authorized to be done.

The question thus becomes whether any separate appropriation under sections 2 and 3 would be constitutionally valid.

In Weaver v. Koehn, 120 Neb. 115, 231 N.W. 703 (1930), the Supreme Court of Nebraska was confronted with a legislative appropriation of some $260,000.00 to be paid depositors in failed banks. The situation presented was almost identical to any appropriation which would be authorized by sections 2 and 3 of the bill now under consideration. The court held:

> The banking business, as it relates to state banks in Nebraska, is recognized as being quasi-public in its transactions with the people generally, and particularly in respect of its transactions with depositors of money in such state banks. And this, of course, includes individuals and corporations and, in effect, all depositors of money therein. But the appropriation of money by the state, to reimburse depositors for losses sustained by them in failed banks, clearly appears to be the taking of money belonging to one class to pay the claims of those in another class. And this is in violation of the due process provision of the federal and state Constitutions. Clearly it has not yet come to pass that the state, in its supervision of the banking business, has become an eleemosynary institution. Id. at 120 Neb. 117.

In addition, Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution provides:

The credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation . . . .

This constitutional provision also presents serious questions in light of the proposed bill. While at first blush, State ex rel. Douglas, supra, would appear to support the proposed bill's constitutionality, a careful reading indicates that the statutory scheme thereunder involved "{no} State appropriation, revenue or tax". Lenstrom v. Thone, 209 Neb. 783, 311 N.W.2d 884 (1981), also appears to be distinguishable in that the proposed bill involves a direct appropriation.

In light of Weaver v. Koehn, supra, and Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution, it appears that any separate appropriation as authorized by sections 2 and 3 of this bill would be constitutionally suspect. It is, therefore, our opinion that the bill itself is constitutionally suspect under Weaver v. Koehn and Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Finally, it should be pointed out that the FDIC and the FSLIC do not appear to be "an agency of the federal government" and section 2 of the bill should be amended to clarify the circumstances in which the bill would apply.

Respectfully submitted,

Special Assistant Attorney General

Opinion No. 17
February 7, 1985

Dear Senator Eret:

This is in response to your request for an opinion dated February 1, 1985. In that letter, you ask for an opinion "regarding the applicability of authority derived from Article III-Section 25 of the Nebraska Constitution to the passage of legislative bill LB 442."

Article III, section 25 of the Nebraska Constitution in pertinent part provides:

> No allowance shall be made for the incidental expenses of any state officer except the same be made by general appropriation and upon an account specifying each item.

The issue involved in your question then is whether the appropriation provided in LB 442, involves "the incidental expenses of any state officer".

The answer to this question would appear to have been resolved in State ex rel. Douglas v. Beerman, 216 Neb. 849, 347 N.W.2d 297 (1984). In that case the court defined the word "expenses" as used in our Constitution as follows:

> An "expense" is something expended in order to secure a profit or bring about a result. Expenses are the charges incurred by an employee in connection with the performance of his duties, and typically include transportation, meals, and lodging while traveling. Expenses are the money given to an employee as reimbursement for such charges. Webster's Third New International Dictionary, Unabridged (1968). Black's Law Dictionary 518 (5th ed. 1979) defines an expense as that which is "expended, laid out or consumed. An outlay; charge; cost; price." Id. at 216 Neb. 856.

The appropriation contemplated by LB 442, in our opinion, would not constitute "expenses" within the meaning of Article III, section 25 of the Nebraska Constitution as our court has defined that term. Therefore, Article III, section 25 provides no authority for and has no application to LB 442.

In addition, Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution and Weaver v. Koehn, 120 Neb. 115, 231 N.W. 703 (1930), appear to prohibit the exact type of appropriation provided by LB 442.

Respectfully submitted,

February 11, 1985

The Honorable Gene Crump
Acting Attorney General
Lincoln, Ne 68509

Re: Whether wagering on sporting events as authorized by LB 72 violates Article III, section 24 of the Constitution of Nebraska?

Dear Mr. Crump,

It is a truism of constitutional construction that state constitutions are limitations on, rather than grants of legislative power; hence, whatever is not specifically prohibited is allowed.

Article III, section 24 prohibits certain types of gambling activities and provides exceptions:

> Games of chance and lotteries prohibited. The Legislature shall not authorize any game of chance, nor any lottery, or gift enterprise . . . Provided, that it may authorize and regulate other lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises which are intended solely as business promotions or the proceeds of which are used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes without profit to the promoter.... Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of wagering on the results of horse races by the parimutuel or certificate method.

Gambling is defined by Black's Law Dictionary, 5th Edition as > Making a bet. To play, or game for money or other stake; hence to stake money or other thing of value on an uncertain event. Gambling consists of a consideration, an element of chance and a reward.

All gambling is speculative and involves chance; but not all gambling constitutes a "game of chance", which is a term of art having a legal definition. The stock market and commodities futures trading, for example, fit the definition of gambling, yet neither is deemed a "game of chance" prohibited by Article III, section 24.

Some propositions may be stated for your consideration.

(1) Article III, section 24 is not a blanket prohibition against all forms of gambling but excises out certain types.

(2) The heading and language throughout the provision clearly delineate the precise type of gambling activity targeted for proscription -- games of chance relying on the luck of the draw and selection by lot rather than skill: lotteries, raffles, bingo, parimutuel wagering on horse races. Parimutuel wagering will be considered later and distinguished from wagering on sporting events as authorized by LB 72.

(3) Wagering on sporting events was in high flower when Article III, section 24 and subsequent amendments were adopted. As defined by LB 72, a sporting event on which wagering is authorized is > a contest in any sport, between individual contestants or teams of contestants, without regard to the amateur or professional status of the contestants, which is publicly announced before its occurrence.

The Constitution could easily have prohibited all wagering on any sports had such been the intent. Obviously, the concern is with "games of chance". Sporting events are not games of chance; and the wagering authorized by LB 72 is not based on the luck of the "draw", selection by "lot" or parimutuel "pooling". Thus, the elements necessary to bring gambling activity within the prohibitory language of Article III, section 24 are absent. Not being specifically prohibited, such wagering may be authorized by the Legislature without violating the Constitution of Nebraska.

Defining the significant gambling terms in Article III, section 24 will facilitate establishing the intent of the provision and demonstrate that the wagering authorized by LB 72 is outside its reach. The terms to be defined are: GAME OF CHANCE, LOTTERY, GIFT ENTERPRISE, PARIMUTUEL, WAGER. All definitions are from Black's Law Dictionary, 5th Edition.

> Game of chance. One in which (the) result as to success or failure depends less on skill and experience of the player than on purely fortuitous ... circumstances ... not under control of (the) player.

Sporting events are not games of chance, and the success or failure of bettors is profoundly influenced by "skill and experience". Many factors which are not "purely fortuitous" enter into wagering on sporting events.

Since wagering on sporting events lacks the essence of a game of chance -- i.e., lack of player control and total inability to, in any manner by any means, predict the outcome of the event in question -- it is clear that LB 72 does not authorized a game of chance

> Lottery. A device whereby anything of value is, for a consideration, allotted by lot or chance. * * * Scheme by which result is reached by some action or means taken and in which result, man's choice or will has no part nor can human reason, foresight, sagacity or design enable him to ... determine such result until the same has been accomplished....

It has been repeatedly demonstrated that wagering on sporting events allows a bettor's "choice, will, human reason, foresight, sagacity and design" to determine the result of a sporting event "before the same has been accomplished". There being no drawing of lots, LB 72 does not authorize a lottery.

> Gift enterprise. A scheme for the division or distribution articles to be determined by chance amongst those who have taken shares in the scheme. A sporting artifice by which, for example, a merchant or tradesman sells his wares for their market value, but, by way of inducement, gives to such purchaser a ticket which entitles him to a chance to win certain prizes...after the manner of a lottery.

Quite obviously, LB 72 does not authorize a gift enterprise.

> Pari mutuel betting. A mutual stake or wager; a betting pool. A form of betting on horses and dogs in which those who bet on (the) winner share total stakes less a small percentage for the management.

Because of the "pooling" and indeterminate nature of the amount to be won by individual bettors, parimutuel betting partakes of the nature of a game of chance or lottery. It should be noted that the exception made for parimutuel wagering does not go to simple wagering on horse races but rather to a specific kind: parimutuel. Being, itself, in the nature of a game of chance, specific exception was deemed necessary to lift paramutuel wagering from the prohibition against games of chance, with which Article III, section 24 deals.

Wager. The word 'wagering' is practically synonmous with the words betting and gambling, and the words are so used in common parlance and in statutory and constitutional enactments.

CONCLUSION

Wagering on sporting events as authorized by LB 72 involves betting a given amount which will yield a winning bettor a fixed, predetermined return. For example, if Team A is the bettor's choice, he or she will bet $11 to win $10. Unlike parimutuel wagering, there is no mutual stake or pool whose total amount and number of winners determine how much a winning bettor will receive. In other words, there is no diminution of the amount won even if every bettor on a given sporting event picks the winner. The bookie simply "takes a bath" and pays the losses from his pocket.

Unlike lotteries and other games of chance, whether a bettor wins or loses is not based on a "draw" or "lot" of any kind but rather on his or her individual selection. Each bettor can win on any given sporting event.

Clearly, the thrust of Article III, section 24 is against games of chance and does not prohibit every form of gambling. The type of wagering authorized by LB 72 does not fit within any of the prohibited varieties. Such being the case, LB 72 does not violate the Constitution of Nebraska.

Do you agree?

Sincerely,

Ernie Chambers
State Senator

LEGISLATIVE BILL 712. Placed on General File as amended.
Standing Committee amendments to LB 712:
AM0158

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. That section 77-2715.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-2715.01. (1)(a) Commencing in 1984 the Legislature shall set the rate of the income tax imposed by section 77-2715 and the rate of the sales tax imposed by subsection (1) of section 77-2703.

(b) The Legislature shall set the rates of the sales tax and income tax so that the estimated funds available plus estimated receipts from the sales, use, income, and franchise taxes will be not less than three per cent nor more than seven per cent in excess of the appropriations and express obligations for the next two succeeding calendar years. The purpose of this subdivision is to insure that there shall be maintained in the state treasury an adequate General Fund balance, considering cash flow, to meet the appropriations and express obligations of the state.

~~(c) The rates of the sales and income taxes shall be fixed so that the total sales and use taxes levied will as nearly as possible equal the total individual income tax levied for the calendar year for which the rates so fixed will be effective. The Legislature shall set the rates in such a manner that total sales and use tax revenue should not exceed total individual income tax revenue in any particular year.~~

~~(d) For purposes of this subsection, total sales and use taxes levied shall mean the total state sales and use tax liability of all taxpayers for the calendar year reduced by the additional one-half of one per cent sales and use tax imposed by section 77-2715.04. Total income and franchise taxes levied shall mean the total state income and franchise tax liability of all taxpayers for the calendar year.~~

~~(e) The sales tax rate so fixed by the Legislature shall be an increment of one-half of one per~~ ~~cent, and the income tax rate so fixed shall be an increment of one per cent.~~

(c) ~~(f)~~ For purposes of this section, express obligation shall mean an obligation which has fiscal impact identifiable by a sum certain or by an established percentage or other determinative factor or factors.

(2) The Speaker of the Legislature and the chairpersons of the Legislature's Executive Board, Revenue Committee, and Appropriations Committee shall meet with the Tax Commissioner within ten days after ~~the fifteenth of~~ July 15 and ~~October~~ November 15 of each year and shall determine whether the rates for sales tax and income tax should be changed. In making such determination they shall recalculate the requirements pursuant to the formula set forth in subsection (1) of this section, taking into consideration the appropriations and express obligations for any session, all miscellaneous claims, deficiency bills, and all emergency appropriations.

In the event it is determined by a majority vote that the rates must be changed as a result of a regular or special session or as a result of a change in ~~the provisions of~~ the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and amendments thereto, other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, and the rules and regulations issued under such laws, they shall petition the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to make whatever rate changes may be necessary.

Sec. 2. That section 77-27,132, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1984, be amended to read as follows:

77-27,132. (1) There is hereby created a fund to be designated Tax Refund Fund which shall be set apart and maintained by the State Treasurer for prompt payments of all tax refunds under ~~the provisions of~~ sections 66-461, 77-2106, and 77-2701 to 77-27,135 and transfers to the Nongame and Endangered Species Conservation Fund pursuant to sections 37-439 and 77-27,119.01. Such fund shall be in such amount as the State Treasurer, with the advice of the Tax Commissioner, shall determine is necessary to meet current refunding requirements under ~~the provisions of~~ sections 66-461, 77-2106, and 77-2701 to 77-27,135. Any money in the Tax Refund Fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to sections 72-1237 to 72-1269.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 18
February 8, 1985

RE: Constitutionality of LB 298

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion regarding the constitutionality of LB 298 in the form first read on January 17, 1985. You suggested that LB 298 may be unconstitutional in that it may be an improper delegation of legislative authority in violation of Article II, Section 1, and Article III, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution.

LB 298 alters §45-103 Neb.Rev.Stat. (Reissue 1984) to provide that interest on decrees and judgments shall be ". . . at a rate equal to the coupon yield equivalent, as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, of the average accepted auction price for the last auction of 52 week United States treasury bills settled immediately prior to the date of judgment."

First, the Legislature has the power to determine the rate of interest on judgments. The question then appears to be whether the Legislature can require the court to determine the rate of interest on judgments according to a formula established by the Legislature. It is our opinion that it may do so. While the Legislature cannot delegate its power to make a law, it can make a law to delegate a power to determine some fact upon which the law is dependent.

> The true distinction, therefore, is between the delegation of power to make the law, which necessarily involves a discretion as to what it shall be, and conferring an authority or discretion as to its execution, to be exercised under and in pursuance of the law. The first cannot be done. To the latter no valid objection can be made. Searle v. Yensen, 118 Neb. 835, 226 N.W.2d 464 (1929).

As written, LB 298 does not purport to authorize the judiciary to independently establish a rate of interest on judgments or decrees. Rather, it authorizes the judiciary to make a finding of fact, that is, the rate of interest, according to a formula established by the Legislature. Therefore, LB 298 would not violate the stricters of Article II, Section 1 or Article III, Section of the Nebraska Constitution.

We would point out however, that the statute does not attempt to define "coupon yield equivalent" which would be necessary to an understanding of the formula proposed by the legislation.

Sincerely,
A. EUGENE CRUMP
Deputy Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 19
February 11, 1985

Re: Length of Appropriations By Legislature

Dear Senator Warner:

You have asked for the opinion of this office as to whether or not the legislature is empowered to make biennial appropriations under the provisions of Article III, Section 22 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Article III, Section 22 states in pertinent part: "Each Legislature shall make appropriations for the expenses of the government." It is our view that this provision allows the Legislature to make appropriations for annual or biennial periods; or the Legislature may appropriate for any other length of time. The only limitation is that no appropriation may extend past the end of the fiscal year ending during the next upcoming odd-numbered calendar year.

Our reasoning behind these conclusions is as follows:

Prior to its 1972 amendment, Article III, Section 22 provided:

> Each Legislature shall make appropriations for the expenses of the Government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session, and all appropriations shall end with such fiscal quarter.

When the Legislature went to annual sessions in 1971 it was clear that this language would require annual appropriations because appropriations could not extend past "the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session." Since regular sessions were coming up annually, this meant that appropriations would have to be made annually also. See, 1971-72 Attorney General Opinions, No. 29, March 30, 1971.

The 1972 amendment to Article III, Section 22 eliminated the language limiting appropriations "until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session." Thus, the Legislature is no longer limited to appropriating on an annual basis simply because it meets on an annual basis. However, nothing in Article III, Section 22 prohibits such annual appropriations either.

Nevertheless, we do not believe the 1972 amendment eliminated all limits on the length of appropriations. We say this because Article III, Section 22 continues to state: "Each Legislature shall make appropriations. . . ." (Emphasis supplied.) The use of the term "each Legislature" is unique in Article III, Section 22, being found no where else in Article III. Elsewhere the term "the Legislature" is used. This certainly suggests that the term in Article III, Section 22 means something different.

The term "the Legislature," as used in Article III, clearly refers generically to that body of government which has the authority to legislate, i.e., to make statutory laws for the state. See, Black's Law Dictionary (5th ed. 1979), p. 811; Webster's Third New International Dictionary (1967), p. 1291. On the other hand, the term "each Legislature" is commonly understood to refer to a particular embodiment of that legislative body during which the members remain basically the same throughout. For example, it is common to refer to "the Eighty-Eighth Legislature" meaning that particular embodiment of the Legislature that met for sessions in 1983 and 1984. This is distinguished from "the Eighty-Seventh Legislature," that particular legislative body which held sessions in 1981 and 1982. And so on.

Of course, under the scheme of Article III, section 7 each member of the Legislature is elected for a four year term, with approximately half of the members being elected every two years. Therefore, a particular embodiment of the Legislature in which all the members are the same (except for resignations, deaths, etc.) can last for only two years at the most.

It is a well-established principle in interpreting constitutional language that words used in the Constitution should be given their ordinary and common meaning. The language in the Nebraska Constitution should be given the meaning which obviously would be accepted by a layman. See, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees v. Department of Public Institutions, 195 Neb. 253, 257, 237 N.W.2d 841 (1976); School District of Seward Education Association v. School District of Seward, 188 Neb. 772, 778, 199 N.W.2d 752 (1972).

We believe that the ordinary and common meaning of the term "each Legislature" is different from the ordinary and common meaning of the term "the Legislature." As discussed above, in common usage, "the Legislature" refers generally to that body of government having legislative powers; while, in common usage, "each Legislature" refers to each particular embodiment of that body lasting for two years. Accordingly, under Article III, Section 22, each particular embodiment of the legislative body as it exists for two years has the power and the duty to "make appropriations for the expenses of the Government."

Since each Legislature has the power and duty to make appropriations, it is obvious that the preceding Legislature cannot make appropriations to last longer than the end of the fiscal year ending during the first calendar year in which the succeeding Legislature holds its session. Otherwise the earlier embodiment of the Legislature could end up binding the later embodiment of the Legislature with regard to appropriations in contravention of Article

III, Section 22. In other words, the particular embodiment of the Legislature meeting in 1985 and 1986 cannot make appropriations lasting longer than the end of the fiscal year in 1987, i.e., June 30, 1987. Neb.Rev.Stat. §84-701 (Reissue 1981).

While Article III, Section 22 does not make reference to appropriations not extending past the end of the fiscal year in which the next Legislature first meets, we have selected that date as a practical matter since it allows for continuing government operations while the new Legislature has time to organize, study and make appropriations for the next fiscal year. To state that appropriations could last only until the new Legislature commences its first session would be impractical and contrary to established practice. The Constitution, of course, must be construed as a whole and should be interpreted with reference to established laws, usages and customs at the time of its adoption. Dwyer v. Omaha-Douglas Public Building Commission, 188 Neb. 30, 36, 195 N.W.2d 236 (1972). A provision in the Constitution must be given an interpretation which appears best calculated to effectuate the design of the Constitution. State ex rel. School District of Scottsbluff v. Ellis, 168 Neb. 166, 171, 95 N.W.2d 538 (1959). The interpretation that, under Article III, Section 22, the new Legislature makes appropriations which start at the beginning of the first full fiscal year after that Legislature first meets comports with established usage and the overall design of Article III, which calls for each new embodiment of the Legislature to commence its work in January of odd-numbered years. Article III, Section 10; Article III, Section 7. In reading the Constitution as a whole, this interpretation seems most appropriate and in keeping with the intent of the voters in adopting the 1972 amendment to Article III, Section 22. See, State ex rel. Douglas v. Beermann, 216 Neb. 849, 860, 347 N.W. 2d 297 (1984).

In summary, it is our opinion that Article III, Section 22 of the Nebraska Constitution allows any particular Legislature to appropriate on an annual or biennial or any other basis. It does not, however, allow appropriations extending past the end of the fiscal year ending during the next upcoming odd-numbered calendar year. As currently defined by statute the fiscal year ends on June 30, so that appropriations by the Eighty-Ninth Legislature could not extend beyond June 30, 1987.

A. EUGENE CRUMP

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 21
February 12, 1985

Dear Senator Wesely:

This is in response to your request concerning LB 61. You asked for an evaluation of the constitutionality of LB 61 and the attached amendments, and in particular Section 6 of the bill.

The purpose of the bill is to help public hospitals continue to exist and deliver health care services. The promotion of public health has traditionally been recognized as one of the leading objectives in the cases defining a "public purpose." Lennox v. Housing Authority of the City of Omaha, 137 Neb. 582, 290 N.W.2d 451.

One thing that might raise the suspicion of some about the present bill is the authority granted to public hospitals to enter into limited partnerships and other agreements with private corporations or other public hospitals to deliver health care services.

In State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 283 N.W.2d 12, the Supreme Court of Nebraska was called upon to determine the constitutionality of a legislative bill, the purpose of which was to assist private mortgage lenders in providing financing for single family residences at reduced interest rates for low and moderate income families.

In an action to test the bill, the Nebraska Attorney General claimed a number of constitutional encroachments.

The Supreme Court prefaced its inquiry by stating that: "We must keep in mind the oft-declared rule to the effect that in construing an act of the Legislature all reasonable doubts must be resolved in favor of its constitutionality. Dwyer v. Omaha-Douglas Public Building Commission, 188 Neb. 30, 195 N.W.2d 236."

In finding the housing act constitutional, the Supreme Court made the following observation pertinent to the present inquiry.

> The fact that certain of the funds once obtained through bonds may go to private lending institutions who in turn will make the funds available for low and moderate income citizens does not change the public purpose for which the funds are intended. The vital point in all such disbursements is whether the purpose is public. If it is, it does not matter whether the agency through which it is dispensed is public or not. How the funds are disbursed is not the critical issue, but rather whether the object for which it serves is a public purpose. The test is in the end result, not in the means. See United Community Services v. The Omaha Nat. Bank, supra. A law may serve the public interest although it benefits certain individuals or classes more than others. John R. Grubb, Inc. v. Iowa Housing Finance, 255 N.W.2d 89 (Iowa, 1977). (Emphasis added).

We perceive that the provisions of LB 61 are more obviously for the public purpose intended than the legislation in Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, and in light of the position of the Nebraska Supreme Court in that case, we are of the opinion that LB 61 would pass a constitutional attack.

Section 6 of LB 61, about which you specifically asked, provides in effect that all financial obligations of a hospital owned or operated by a governmental entity are exclusively obligations of the hospital and not a debt of the state or other governmental entity.

This is in keeping with Article XIII of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that the state, except for purposes not applicable here, may not contract debts to exceed the aggregate of $100,000.

People dealing with governmental agencies are legally on notice of the necessity to determine these and other limitations concerning the authority of governmental bodies to incur obligations and have a sufficient appropriation to fund the same.

Article III, Section 22 and Section 25 are examples. Section 22 provides in part that: "Each Legislature shall make appropriations for the expenses of the Government." Section 25 provides in part: "No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of a specific appropriation made by law, and on the presentation of a warrant issued as the Legislature may direct, and no money shall be diverted from any appropriation made for any purpose or taken from any fund whatever by resolution."

In speaking of the above provisions, the Supreme Court of Nebraska stated:

> The object and purpose of such a constitutional provision was to render all departments of the state government dependent upon the will of the people as expressed by their duly elected representatives, and to require such departments of government, except as otherwise provided in the Constitution, to return to that source at regular stated intervals for the necessary means of existence, because the people have learned and will continue to learn that the very preservation of their liberty depends largely upon control of the purse by their periodically elected representatives. State ex rel. Norfolk Beet-Sugar Co. v. Moore, supra." Rein v. Johnson, 149 Neb. 67, 30 N.W.2d 548.

What has been said is consistent also as to governmental subdivisions whose powers and duties are created by the Legislature which, may not accomplish indirectly, what it may not do directly. This was confirmed in State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223, 82 N.W.2d 269, where the Supreme Court of Nebraska, in construing Article XIII, Section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution against lending the credit of the state in aid of private persons, corporations, etc. concluded that said provision applied equally to political subdivisions. We believe the same to be true generally of constitutional limitations upon the state.

We can find no constitutional provision of which a violation by Section 6 of this bill is suspected. It merely places limitations, consistent with other provisions of the constitution, on persons dealing with the public hospitals as there provided.

Very truly yours,
A. EUGENE CRUMP

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 22
February 19, 1985

Dear Senator Hoagland:

You have referred to us a copy of LB 226 which amends Neb.Rev.Stat. §28-611 (Reissue 1979). You have also provided a transcript of the committee hearing in regard to LB 226. The question you ask is whether or not the proposed bill is required in order for prosecutions to be commenced against persons who issue insufficient or no account checks for payments on credit accounts.

As the testimony before the committee indicated, §28-611 at the current time has two major sections regarding acts made criminal. Section one makes it a crime for one to issue a check or a signed order for the payment of money knowing that there is no account or that there is insufficient funds or credit for the payment of such check or order when one receives present value. Section three makes it unlawful for anyone to otherwise issue or pass a check or similar signed order for the payment of money knowing that they have no account with the drawee or knowing that they have insufficient funds or credit for the payment of such check or order. The distinction between the two provisions is that section one requires the receipt of some property or service having a present value at the time the check is issued while section three does not.

The typical circumstance that will arise in check prosecutions under §28-611(1), is that an individual issues a check and immediately receives merchandise or services which are delivered to the individual in reliance upon the check. Uniformly statutes making such an act criminal have been upheld. See, State v. Kock, 207 Neb. 731, 300 N.W.2d 824 (1981), a case which interpreted subdivision one of §28-611 and sustained its constitutionality.

Section three does not require present value. It makes criminal the act of passing a check or similar signed order for the payment of money when the issuer knows that they do not have an account or that they have insufficient funds in their account to pay the check. Section three includes passing a no account or insufficient fund check as a payment on account. Thus, the examples referred to during the hearing would fall within the prohibitions of section three.

Similar statutes are in force in several states. The provision in the Nebraska statute was derived from the model penal code. There is a split of authority as to the validity of such statutes within the United States. Some cases have held that such statutes are unconstitutional because they authorize imprisonment for a debt in violation of the Constitution. See, People v. Vinnola, 177 Colo. 405, 494 P.2d 826 (1972). Other courts have held such statutes constitutional even where intent was not a requirement of those statutes. See, Ennis v. State, 95 So.2d 20, cert. denied, 355 U.S. 868 (1957).

The issue has not been squarely faced in Nebraska. However, we believe that the indications from previous decisions of our court would lead to the conclusion that it is likely §28-611(3) would be held constitutional. We have previously cited for you State v. Kock, in addition, White v. State, 135 Neb. 154, 280 N.W.2d 433 (1938), and State v. Hocutt, 207 Neb. 689, 300 N.W.2d 198 (1981) involve these issues. The latter case involved §69-109 which provides a criminal penalty for the disposition of property subject to a security interest. In that case the attack was upon the grounds that the statute violated the provision against the imprisonment for debt. Our Supreme Court however held

> . . . this court stated that § 69-109 was enacted to prevent the fraudulent transfer of mortgaged chattel property. With such a provision engrafted by judicial construction, § 69-109 is distinguished from the statute held unconstitutional in State ex rel. Norton v. Janing, supra, and does not constitute imprisonment for debt.

We believe that the same reasoning would apply to the provisions of §28-611(3) on the issuance of checks where there is insufficient funds or no account since the statute requires proof of knowledge thus intent to commit the prohibited act. The act actually punished by this section is the act of placing into the stream of commerce bad commercial paper knowingly. It is not for purposes of imprisoning debtors. It is our belief that the present statutes serve as a sufficient basis for bringing these cases and we believe that the Nebraska Supreme Court would sustain the constitutionality of this statute.

For the reasons expressed in this opinion, we believe that LB 226 as proposed will not add significantly to the current authority of county attorneys to prosecute these cases and indeed may cause some confusion between subparagraph one and subparagraph three which would be undesirable.

Sincerely,
A. EUGENE CRUMP
Deputy Attorney General

WHEREAS, Nebraska farmers and ranchers are faced with severe financial stress because of high interest rates and low prices for the farm commodities which they raise; and

WHEREAS, it is of paramount importance that they receive assistance immediately or they will be unable to continue in business; and

WHEREAS, the federal government has initiated and continued a policy of providing cheap food for the citizens of the United States and the world; and

WHEREAS, federal deficit spending and the subsequent demand for dollars in the money supply and Federal Reserve Board policies relating to the money supply have resulted in a reduced supply of money available to farmers and ranchers; and

WHEREAS, these factors have resulted in low prices for farm commodities and high interest rates; and

WHEREAS, the federal government has a vested interest in the restoration of prosperity to the farm sector; and

WHEREAS, HR 1035 is pending before the House of Representatives at the present time; and

WHEREAS, HR 1035 would provide advance production loans to farmers and ranchers from the Commodity Credit Corporation, and the interest rate on such loans would be 9 1/8 per cent; and

WHEREAS, participation in this program would discourage overproduction of farm commodities, which would eventually enhance prices for those commodities; and

WHEREAS, an interest rate of 9 1/8 per cent would enhance the financial stability of agribusiness including farmers, ranchers, and financial institutions in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, immediate implementation of the provisions of HR 1035 would allow producers to plant their crops this spring and would allow them to maintain and continue their business operations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

That the Nebraska Legislature hereby asks the House of Representatives to act favorably with respect to HR 1035 and as an alternative that the President issue an order directing the USDA to implement the provisions of HR 1035 administratively.

WHEREAS, this airline service fills a void in necessary service to many people in the State of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 53.

Introduced by Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee: DeCamp, 40th District, Chairperson; Beyer, 3rd District; Haberman, 44th District; Labedz, 5th District; Pappas, 42nd District; Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insures accounts in member banks up to $100,000 per account, although the FDIC has the discretion to cover accounts in excess of that amount if it desires to do so; and

WHEREAS, notwithstanding the $100,000 limitation, the FDIC has, regularly and publicly, and most recently and notably in the case of Continental Illinois National Bank, decided to cover deposits in a closed bank beyond the $100,000 limitation; and

WHEREAS, the FDIC has announced its decision not to pay losses exceeding $100,000 per account resulting from the closure of two Nebraska banks, the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank; and

WHEREAS, the FDIC has acted in a discriminatory fashion in its decision to cover accounts at the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank in a different manner than accounts at the Continental Illinois National Bank and at other institutions; and

WHEREAS, because of the FDIC's announced policy regarding its coverage of accounts at the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank, the State of Nebraska is subject to a risk of potential loss of up to $800,000 resulting from funds deposited in those institutions under the Nebraska Capital Expansion Act.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

The Legislature hereby requests the Nebraska Attorney General initiate a lawsuit in the United States District Court on behalf of the State of Nebraska seeking to enjoin the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation from enforcing its decision not to cover losses in accounts above $100,000 at the State Bank of Dannebrog and the Uehling State Bank or, in the alternative, seeking to recover appropriate monetary damages from the FDIC for losses suffered by the State of Nebraska as a result of the FDIC's discriminatory policy.

Further, the Legislature hereby directs its Executive Board and Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee to provide whatever assistance is reasonably necessary to effectuate the filing of this action and the purposes of this resolution.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 23
February 26, 1985

Dear Senator Goodrich:

In your letter of January 29, 1985, you call our attention to LB 242 and request our opinion as to the constitutionality of this proposal.

This legislation would confer upon the State Board of Education the power to, among other things " . . . borrow money and issue and purchase negotiable bonds, notes, or other obligations . . . ."

This legislation has been artfully drafted and its drafters appear to have been mindful of the decision of the Nebraska Supreme Court in Meyer v. Duxbury, 183 Neb. 302, 160 N.W.2d 88 (1968), and have gone to great lengths to weave its provisions within the restrictive confines of that decision, as well as the confines of the Constitution and other applicable decisions of our court on questions involving the constitutional limitation upon the extension of the credit of the state and the incurring of a debt in excess of $100,000 by the state.

While the drafters appear to have successfully negotiated this perilous path, we caution, however, that the use of constitutionally innovative schemes to utilize credit in the financing of essentially state functions has literally exploded in the last few years. It is difficult to predict at which point our court may be faced with either putting an end to the systematic erosion of these constitutional prohibitions or to essentially declare them to be nullities.

Our only concern with the language of this bill is in Section 6 where reference is made to "revenue and other income" being available to retire bonds issued, and in Section 11 where reference is made to "revenue, money or properties" being available to pledge as security for such bonds. We assume these references are not to revenue income or money derived by the board from the Legislature through the appropriation process, nor does the reference to property include state owned property of the board.

We are therefore of the conclusion that the provisions of LB 242 as they have been carefully drafted fall within the present constitutional confines as they have been set forth by our court, however, we cannot say with certainty that our court will indefinitely accept as constitutional financing plans such as the one proposed by LB 242.

Sincerely,
A. EUGENE CRUMP

Opinion No. 24
February 22, 1985

Dear Senator Remmers:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning the constitutionality of LB 504.

Said bill provides in part:

(9) Any person convicted of violating subsection (1), (2), (3), or (8) of this section shall not be eligible for probation or suspension of sentence and shall only become eligible for parole upon the satisfactory attendance and completion of appropriate treatment and counseling on drug abuse.

The violations referred to involve manufacture, possession, and other acts relating to controlled substances and counterfeit controlled substances.

Other sections of said bill also provide that on conviction of certain other drug violations, if the offender is placed on probation, a condition of probation shall be mandatory treatment and counseling on drug abuse.

As a general rule, the Legislature has the power to fix the punishment for crime, including probation, provided it is within the U.S. constitutional prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment. See, generally 24(B) C.J.S., Criminal Law, Sections 1975 et seq.

In State v. Muggins, 192 Neb. 416, 222 N.W.2d 289 (1974), the Supreme Court of Nebraska approved an order of probation requiring the defendant, who had been convicted of driving while intoxicated, to attend the Alcohol Safety Action Program, sometimes referred to as the Alcohol Abuse Course. While the court was not considering the constitutionality of the order, it approved the same in the following language:

> There is certainly nothing in the nature of a course of study described as an "Alcohol Abuse Course," or in the record of this case, that would cause us to conclude that a condition of probation requiring a probationer convicted of driving while intoxicated to undertake and complete such a course would not be a proper condition of probation under the foregoing statutes specifying proper terms and conditions of probation.

In State v. Nuss, 190 Neb. 755, 212 N.W.2d 565, the Supreme Court of Nebraska invalidated a condition of probation which required a defendant, who was placed on probation, to also serve 14 days in a county jail, because this condition was not authorized by statute. In doing so, the court stated: "Although the trial court's motivation was admirable, imprisonment as a condition of probation must rest on statutory authority."

While this does not answer the question of whether the Legislature may mandate the exact course of action the court must take, it evidences a recognition by the court that it has no inherent authority to devise probationary conditions. This supports the argument that the Legislature may make such mandatory restrictions as provided in LB 504.

In the recent case of State v. Havorka, 218 Neb. 367, ____ N.W.2d ___ (1984), the Supreme Court of Nebraska construed a recent statute concerning convictions for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs which required the court to order such person not to drive any motor vehicle for any purpose for a period of six months from the date of the order. The court held that under this statute, the trial court could not interrupt the six month period to permit the probationer to drive during part of that period and then impose the restriction on the balance of the six month period. The court based this decision on the fact that the legislative provision was clear and unambiguous but specifically declined to determine "whether the Legislature may, under any circumstance, limit a court's authority to suspend a sentence and impose probation under such conditions as it may prescribe," because neither party had raised that issue.

Other state supreme courts have faced similar questions and have upheld the authority of the Legislature. In State v. Sittig, 75 Wis.2d 497, 249 N.W.2d 770 (1977), the Supreme Court of Wisconsin held that a mandatory sentence statue requiring a jail sentence for a person driving while his drivers license was under suspension did not violate the doctrine of separation of powers or, in other words, was not an invasion of the authority of the judiciary.

Like Nebraska, the court had previously recognized that the determination of the punishment to be imposed for violation of crimes was within the province of the Legislature. The court stated:

> Specifically, this court is committed to the doctrine that courts have no inherent power to stay or suspend execution of a sentence in a criminal case in the absence of statutory authority. . . .
> In the absence of this inherent right, a court's refusal to impose a mandatory sentence or a sentence within limits prescribed by the legislature, constitutes an abuse of discretion by the court and also the usurpation of the legislative field.

In State v. Holmes, 276 N.W.2d 823, Supreme Court of Iowa, (1979), the court stated as to a similar argument:

> Defendant asserts that statutory preclusion of probation violates separation of powers by limiting the authority of the judiciary to exercise discretion in granting or denying probation. We have held, however, that our judiciary holds no inherent power to grant probation. State v. Wright, 202 N.W.2d 72, 76 (Iowa 1972); see State v. Drake, 259 N.W.2d 862, 864 (Iowa 1977). The power to grant probation is statutorily conferred; therefore, statutory preclusion of probation cannot infringe on judicial authority to exercise discretion in the matter. Accord State v. Motley, 546 S.W.2d 435, 437 (Mo. App. 1976); State v. King, 330 A.2d 124, 128 (Me. 1974); Black v. State, 509 P.2d 941, 942-943 (Okl. Cr. 1973); State v. Morales, 51 Wis.2d 650, 187 N.W.2d 841, 843 (1971).

Attached hereto is an Opinion of Attorney General No. 169 issued in 1982 concerning legislation similar to that here in question. It concludes that such legislation is constitutional.

Also enclosed is a copy of a previous Opinion from this office expressing the opinion that certain mandatory conditions as to parole were constitutional.

In view of the various statements of the Supreme Court of Nebraska and other courts as discussed above, although the Supreme Court of Nebraska has not specifically determined the separation of powers issue, we see no reason to retreat from our position that such mandatory requirements, being reasonably related to the crime involved, are constitutional.

Very truly yours,
A. EUGENE CRUMP

Opinion No. 25
February 20, 1985

Dear Senator Chambers:

This is in response to your inquiry of February 11, 1985, concerning LB 72.

While your letter merely asks if we agree with the propositions set forth therein, the body of the letter is prefaced as follows:

Re: Whether wagering on sporting events as authorized by LB 72 violates Article III, section 24 of the Constitution of Nebraska?

We are therefore treating it as a request for an opinion in that regard.

Article III, section 24 provides as follows:

> The Legislature shall not authorize any game of chance, nor any lottery, or gift enterprise where the consideration for a chance to participate involves the payment of money for the purchase of property, services, chance or admission ticket, or requires an expenditure of substantial effort or time; Provided, that it may authorize and regulate other lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises which are intended solely as business promotions or the proceeds of which are to be used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes without profit to the promoter of such lotteries, raffles, or gift enterprises. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of wagering on the results of horse races by the parimutuel or certificate method, when conducted by licensees within the race track enclosure at licenses horse race meetings, or to prohibit the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of bingo games conducted by nonprofit associations which have been in existence for a period of five years immediately preceding the application for license; Provided, bingo games cannot be conducted by agents or lessees of such associations on a percentage basis. (Amended, 1934, 1958, 1962, 1968.)

The crux of the issue here revolves around the question of whether or not the Legislature, by LB 72, would "authorize games of chance" by authorizing wagering on sporting events. If so, it is in violation of the above constitutional provision.

We generally agree with your statement that "Sporting events are not games of chance;". There may be some exceptions. We would also generally agree with you that the winners of the contests are usually not determined by the luck of the draw, selection by lot, or other such devices, but we cannot agree that the wagers are not determined by chance in many cases.

While some courts have approved (there are also cases contra), in the absence of an express statute or constitutional provision, betting upon games or sporting events such as horse racing, (where parimutuel betting was not involved), baseball, and others which were considered to involve predominantly skill rather than chance, see, annotation--Games of Chance or Skill, 135 A.L.R. 104 (1941), we are not persuaded that the Nebraska Supreme Court, in light of previous Nebraska opinions, would follow that line of cases.

In State ex rel. Sorenson v. Ak-sar-ben Exposition Company, 118 Neb. 851 (1929), the Supreme Court of Nebraska held that the parimutuel system of betting on horse races was a game of chance which the Legislature could not constitutionally authorize. The court placed considerable emphasis on the fact that all of the money bet on a particular horse went into a pool and the bettors did not know at the time of making the bet the exact amount of money they would receive should they hold a winning ticket. To this extent, even though the race itself may have been predominantly a game of skill or sporting event , the betting itself in a common fund became a game of chance or a lottery.

Apparently because of this case, the above provision of the Constitution was amended to include the language "Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the enactment of laws providing for the licensing and regulation of wagering on the results of horse races by the parimutuel or certificate method, when conducted by licensees within the race track enclosure at licensed horse race meetings."

Following said amendment, the Attorney General brought an action against a number of establishments in the city of Omaha charging that they were willfully violating the statutory and constitutional provisions of the State of Nebraska prohibiting gambling, betting, and operating unlawful horse race betting establishments and gambling rooms. In said case, State ex rel. Hunter v. The Araho, 137 Neb. 389, 289 N.W.2d 545 (1940), the case was submitted on a stipulation of facts. The stipulation set out that a national news service gathered news pertaining to the weather conditions, conditions of the track, race track odds on various horses prior to each race, final results of races at all of the various race tracks throughout the United States, and transmitted such information by telegraph to various subscribers including each of the establishments named as defendants and simulataneously received by each of them as per contract; that the public generally was invited to enter such establishments to place bets with the defendants on horse races being held daily in various places outside the State of Nebraska and in the United States and in other countries; that race horse forms and scratch sheets were provided, and black boards, charts, and other paraphernalia were in such places of business, and that all information of every kind concerning the horses and races, and the results thereof, were given to the patrons.

It was further stipulated that losses and winnings of the patrons were wholely dependent upon the chance outcome of the horses participating in each race, and the selection made by the patrons, and the bets of money made pursuant to such selections.

It was further stipulated that none of said establishments were conducted in or located within any race track enclosure at licensed race meetings in the State of Nebraska.

While not in the facts one way or the other or discussed by the court, it is presumed that the parimutuel method was not being followed as it would have been virtually impossible to do so on race tracks throughout the country and in foreign counties by the bettors participating in the establishments in Omaha, Nebraska.

The Supreme Court reviewed the wording of the Constitution in 1929 in the case of State v. Ak-sar-ben Exposition Company, mentioned above, and the fact that the Constitution was amended because the court had held that the parimutuel system of betting on race horses was "a game of chance, a lottery, likewise gambling, and unlawful under the Constitution."

In the Araho case, the defendants insisted that the amendment declared a new policy in the state with reference to betting on horse races and had the effect of repealing the existing statutes with reference to horse race betting, and rendered former court decisions, holding that such betting constituted a game of chance and a lottery, of no effect. The Supreme Court of Nebraska stated:

> In our opinion, nothing in the amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska, or in the laws passed to carry said change into effect, supports the contention of the defendants that the bars are now down on all forms of games of chance, betting, and gambling in connection with horse races or any kind, wherever held.

The court went on to perpetually enjoin the defendants from permitting or allowing the illegal betting or gambling to be carried on as discusses above.

It should be noted that the court made no particular distinction in that case between "gambling," "betting," and "games of chance."

It is apparent that the type of gambling being carried on in State ex rel. Hunter v. The Araho could well be practiced under the provisions of LB 72. While this may not be what the drafters of this bill had in mind, it is firmly established that "The constitutional validity of an act of the Legislature is to be tested and determined, not necessarily by what has been done or possibly may be done under it, but by what the statute authorizes to be done under and by virtue of its provisions. State ex rel. Douglas v. Thone, 204 Neb. 836, 845, 286 N.W.2d 249 (1979), see also United Community Services v. Omaha National Bank, 162 Neb. 786.

There is another perspective to be consider apart from the precedent in the Araho case, as to the question of whether the act of betting, on an admitted game of skill, may nevertheless be a game of chance.

In Baedaro v. Caldwell, 156 Neb. 489, 56 N.W.2d 706 (1953), the Supreme Court of Nebraska determined that a pinball machine was a gambling device. In doing so, the court stated: "The test of the character of the game is not whether it contains an element of chance or an element of skill but which of these is the dominating element that determines the result of the game."

Thus, a student of the game of baseball may by careful study of the batting averages of a particular team, its success against various types of pitchers, who the pitchers may be in a given game, weather conditions, and a host of other factors, be said to be a "skill" bettor. Other bettors who may bet on the same game may have none of this information or only a vague feeling as to which team is superior. Thus, while the game of baseball may be a game of skill, the persons betting, in many, if not most cases, are dominated by the element of chance in the selection of the team they make. In other words, unless the bettors on a sporting event take the time and trouble to make the proper calculations as to which team to bet on, often within certain odds or point spread established by bookies, the selection is primarily one of chance and not of skill. It must again be emphasized that the Legislature in LB 72 is authorizing not a sporting event, but the betting on a sporting event. We feel that the Supreme Court of Nebraska would probably hold that in doing so, the Legislature is authorizing a game of chance contrary to the Nebraska Constitution.

We are not unmindful of your statements that the stock market and commodities futures trading are within the definition of gambling yet are not deemed to be "games of chance" prohibited by the Nebraska Constitution.

In this regard, we point out that there have been cases holding various transactions on the stock market and in futures trading to be gambling or games of chance. These have usually involved situations where it can be proved that it is a mere sham and the real intent of the parties is merely to speculate on the rise or fall of the prices and property is not intended to be delivered. It is the generally accepted rule that a contract for the sale of stocks or other commodity to be delivered at a future day is valid, even though the seller has no goods and has not other means of getting them than to go into the market and buy them before the day of delivery, provided the parties really intend that the goods are to be delivered by the seller and the price is to be paid by the buyer. Generally the difficulty in prosecution results from a matter of proof where an actual investment is not involved. This is discussed generally in 38 C.J.S., Gaming Sections 9 et seq. We do not believe that the Legislature could, under our constitution, authorize speculation for money on the stock market where the parties mutually intended that no buying or selling of stock, or other property, actually occur.

Very truly yours,

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 57.

Introduced by Pappas, 42nd District.

A Resolution Proposed for Adoption by the Nebraska Legislature Regarding Winnebago Retrocession

WHEREAS, pursuant to Public Law 280, the State of Nebraska was granted criminal and civil jurisdiction over the Winnebago Indian Reservation in 1953; and

WHEREAS, the assumption of state jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation has led to steadily increasing costs for civil and criminal law enforcement in Thurston County, such costs falling heavily upon the taxpayers of Nebraska and Thurston County since the federal government has wholly failed to provide federal financial assistance for P.L. 280 law enforcement; and

WHEREAS, due to the tax-exempt status of tribal trust land and individual Indian allotments on the Winnebago Reservation, Thurston County has not had a sufficient tax base to meet the ever-increasing costs of law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation; and

WHEREAS, since 1957 state assistance has been provided for law enforcement purposes in Thurston County, and the cost of this assistance has increased each biennium; and

WHEREAS, Public Law 90-284 adopted as an Act of Congress on April 11, 1968, contains a number of provisions dealing with civil rights and jurisdiction of Indians; and

WHEREAS, Section 403 (a) of Public Law 90-284 provides that the United States is authorized to accept a retrocession of all or any measure of the jurisdiction acquired by a state pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953; and

WHEREAS, the Winnebago Tribe has petitioned the State of Nebraska to effectuate a partial retrocession of civil and criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation to the United States and has demonstrated the capability to assume its portion of associated responsibilities; and

WHEREAS, the Bureau of Indian Affairs has confirmed that it will detail law enforcement personnel to the Winnebago Reservation immediately upon the effective date of retrocession, thereby assuring that a law enforcement "vacuum" will not result.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NEBRASKA LEGISLATURE IN SESSION ASSEMBLED THAT THE STATE OF NEBRASKA HEREBY:

1. Retrocedes criminal jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation acquired by the State of Nebraska pursuant to Public Law 280 of 1953, except as provided in paragraph 2 of this resolution, such retrocession to be effective at 12:01 A.M., July 1, 1985.

2. Provided that the Winnebago Tribe shall have jurisdiction to prosecute Indians committing offenses involving the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways and roadways within the exterior boundaries of the Winnebago Reservation, and the State of Nebraska shall have jurisdiction to prosecute non-Indians committing similar offenses.

3. Retrocedes effective at 12:01 A.M., July 1, 1985, that amount of civil jurisdiction over the Winnebago Reservation--no more and no less--that is exercised exclusively by other Indian tribes in other states not subject to P.L. 280, as defined by controlling/evolving caselaw; whereby the Winnebago Tribe shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over those civil causes of action arising within the exterior boundaries of the Winnebago Reservation which affect the health, safety, welfare or other self-government interests of the Tribe and its members. The State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall continue to exercise jurisdiction over those civil causes of action for which the Tribe has not assumed exclusive jurisdiction through retrocession, i.e., over those civil causes of action which affect the interests of the State of Nebraska or its citizens to the point where tribal self-government would be affected. Accordingly, the State shall retain exclusive jurisdiction over those causes of action arising within the Reservation where both parties are non-Indians and tribal self-government is not implicated.

3. That the State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions shall take all necessary action to effectuate this resolution, including cooperative agreements with the Winnebago Tribe, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and/or the Department of Interior deemed by the affected parties to be necessary to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of civil and criminal law enforcement on the Winnebago Reservation and in Thurston County.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 26
February 20, 1985

Dear Senator Barrett:

You have submitted to us several specific issues pertaining to LB 713 for an opinion:

1. IS THE NEBRASKA DEPOSITORY INSTITUTION GUARANTEE CORPORATION AN AGENCY OR INSTRUMENTALITY OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA?

Opinion: No.

David A. Domina, as Special Assistant Attorney General, issued an Attorney General's Opinion on December 5, 1983, in which he stated:

> The NDIGC is, by virtue of the nature of its statutory existence, a private corporation formed, controlled and operated for the benefit of its member institutions. The NDIGC is, of course, a special type of corporation, in that its assessments of members are regulated by statute, and its operating rules, procedures and activities are subject to regulation by the Department of Banking and Finance. Neb. Rev. Stat. Sec. 21-17, 132 et seq., as amended. However, in its ultimate essential character, the NDIGC is a private corporation, operated and funded for private purposes, with optional membership.

The legislation authorizing the creation of this corporation specifically provided in Section 21-17,135(4): "no state funds of any kind shall be allocated to or paid to the corporation."

The letter from the Department of Banking and Finance of August 7, 1978, granting approval stated in part:

Final approval for the Nebraska Depository Institution Guaranty Corporation is granted subsequent to compliance with the following:

3) That the Nebraska Depository Institution Guaranty Corporation will in no way mislead the public in believing that the Guaranty Corporation is affiliated with, or a department of, the State of Nebraska.

4) That the word "insured" is not used at this time in any advertisement or publication, but rather the words "guaranty" or "protected" are used in place of the word "insured".

"State agencies" are completely dependent, initially at least, on the appropriation of the legislature. Catania v. Univ. of Neb., 204 Neb. 304, 282 N.W.2d 27 (1979). There was no authorization for any state funding of NDIGC.

The Nebraska Supreme Court dealt expressly with the question of whether a corporation was an "instrumentality" of the State entitled to the limited immunity of the State from suit in Crete Mills v. Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, 132 Neb. 144 (1937). In Crete Mills, the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, a corporation organized by an act of the legislature, was held to not be an instrumentality of the State.

This conclusion was reached in spite of the fact that the corporation was partially funded by the legislature and was immune from state taxation by statute. In reaching its conclusion, the court relied on several facts.

First, like the NDIGC, the directors of the Board of Agriculture were selected from within the corporation--in the same manner as private corporate directors. The Board of Agriculture, like the NDIGC, did not comply with Article IV, section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution, which requires that the heads of executive departments be appointed by the governor with the consent of the legislature.

Second, neither the Board of Agriculture nor the NDIGC complied with various funding restrictions imposed by the Constitution on State agencies. For example, funds were neither paid into the state treasury, nor paid out only after getting a state warrant. Instead, funds were collected and disbursed in the same manner as a private corporation operates.

The court then focused on the issue of whether the fact that the Board of Agriculture served a public purpose should modify its conclusion. It found that it should not, stating:

> 'That a corporation is organized to promote objects of a public nature does not necessarily deprive it of its private character. . . . 'For instance, a bank created by the government for its own uses, whose stock is exclusively owned by the government, is in the stricter sense a public corporation. . . . But a bank whose stock is owned by private persons is a private corporation, although it is created by the government, and its objects and operations partake of a public nature.'
> Id. at 252-53 (quoting 1 Thompson, Corporations (3d ed.) pp. 35, 36, quoting Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U.S.) 518, 688).

The NDIGC has apparently been treated as an "instrumentality" for federal tax immunity purposes. This fact, however, is irrelevant for purposes of a contract claim. In a contract action, an individual or entity can be liable only on contracts entered into by itself, or by an agent authorized to bind the individual or entity. The key question, then, is whether NDIGC was authorized as an agent to bind the State in contract. The term "instrumentality" is not a magic word for the determination of this issue.

Regardless, the apparent determination by the I.R.S. that NDIGC is an "instrumentality" is not conclusive for purposes of determining whether the State can be sued for the acts of NDIGC. Questions of the latter type are controlled entirely by state law wholly separate from federal tax law. Brush v. C.I.R., 300 U.S. 352, 57 S.Ct. 495 (1937). See also, Federal Reserve Bank v. Metrocentre, 657 F.2d 183, n. 2 at 185 (8th Cir. 1981); Federal Land Bank of St. Louis v. Priddy, 295 U.S. 229, 235, 55 S.Ct. 705, 708 (1935).

The FDIC has been held to be an instrumentality of the United States for certain purposes. See e.g., Safeway Portland Emp. Federal Credit Union v. FDIC, 506 F.2d 1213 (9th Cir. 1974) (FTCA suit). However, the FDIC and the NDIGC are radically different in regard to their relationship to the government. Therefore, treatment of the FDIC as an instrumentality cannot in any way be relied upon for a determination of whether the NDIGC is an instrumentality for certain purposes. See, Crete Mills, supra.

The FDIC is statutorily government created, operated, owned and backed. The NDIGC is not.

(1) The statute creating FDIC states: "There is created a Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation . . . " 12 U.S.C. §1811. The NDIGC statute states "depository institutions may form" the NDIGC. §21-17,132, R.R.S.

(2) The statutes state that FDIC directors are selected politically--appointed by the President and approved by the Senate. 12 U.S.C. §1812. NDIGC directors are selected privately--by the members of the corporation. §21-17,133 (1982 Cum.Supp.) and Crete Mills, supra.

(3) The statutes state that FDIC is a "mixed-ownership government corporation". 31 U.S.C. §9101(2)(c). NDIGC is entirely private owned. §21-17,135(4), R.R.S. and Crete Mills, supra.

(4) FDIC accounts are fully backed by the United States Treasury. The Nebraska statutes and Constitution prevent State backing of the NDIGC. §21-17,135, R.R.S. and Nebraska Constitution, Art. XIII, Sec. 3.

2. DID THE LEGISLATURE PROVIDE OR COULD THE LEGISLATURE HAVE PROVIDED FOR STATE LIABILITY FOR NDIGC OPERATIONS AND OBLIGATIONS?

Opinion: No.

The statutes under which the NDIGC acted specifically provide that the State will not be bound by the NDIGC's obligations to the depositors of insolvent institutions. The statutes state that "No state funds of any kind shall be allocated or paid to the corporation." §21-17,135(4). It is the NDIGC corporation which is obligated to the depositors. §21-17,135(1)(a). The NDIGC is solely responsible to the depositors, and the State is prohibited by statute from aiding the NDIGC in fulfilling this obligation.

Again, the December 5, 1983, opinion of David A. Domina, Special Assistant Attorney General, is instructive. He stated:

> Unfortunately for the CSC depositors, the State of Nebraska has not actually guaranteed the deposits of any depository institution in this state. Indeed, legislation which would do so might, itself, contravene the constitutional mandate in question." (Art. XIII, section 3, Nebraska Constitution)

The state constitution is also a part of any state contract. Scotts Bluff County v. State, 133 Neb. 508 (1937). The following discussion will reveal that the state constitution prohibits any obligation of the State to depositors. That is, the State Constitution necessarily prohibits state liability stemming from NDIGC obligations.

The legislature could not constitutionally have provided for state liability for NDIGC operations even when the legislation authorizing creation of NDIGC was first adopted. Richard G. Kopf, Special Counsel to the Legislature, in a report on February 2, 1984, to the Special Commonwealth Committee stated:

> Perhaps the most well-reasoned Attorney General's opinion generally on this subject matter was that of the Special Assistant Attorney General David Domina when he issued on December 5, 1983, an opinion to Senator Harris. One of the questions presented to Mr. Domina by Senator Harris was whether or not the State could appropriate moneys to the Nebraska Depository Institution Guarantee Corporation for the benefit of depositors in Commonwealth Savings Company. Mr. Domina concluded that such an appropriation would be unconstitutional under Article XIII, Section 3, stating:
> The appropriation contemplated appears to be decidedly different from the expenditure of public funds for the purpose of attracting industry, creating jobs, encouraging economic growth, welfare and prosperity. This appropriation would appear to have, as its purpose, reimbursement of funds lost in a business venture by CSC depositors who relied upon two private enterprises, CSC and NDIGC, to protect their deposits against loss.
>
> In summary, the law regarding Article XIII, Section 3 is comprised of semantic distinctions which are at best difficult to understand. Nevertheless, certain things can be discerned. Our Constitution, which may be characterized as a "Granger document", was intended to restrict the rights of "government to provide financial aid to corporations." Memorandum of Jack W. Rodgers, supra, at page 3. Except as provided for industrial development programs otherwise authorized for political subdivisions, or donations to clearly charitable organizations, a key point in finding that legislation is not prohibited by Article XIII, Section 3 is the non-existence of general fund moneys, as opposed to quasi-governmental bond revenues, State v. Douglas, supra; State v. Duxbury, supra. Therefore, in my opinion, the appropriation of general fund moneys to in essence reimburse funds lost in a business venture, such as a private bank or industrial loan and investment company, would, absent peculiar circumstances, contemplate an appropriation which is so "clear and palpable as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind" in the sense of ultimately being for a private purpose.

In Scotts Bluff County v. State, supra, the court set out the fundamentals of the creation and scope of a state contract, stating:

> "The authority to bind the state by contract need not be express, but may be implied; but it must be an actual, as distinguished from an apparent authority, and cannot be varied or enlarged by mere usage. The Constitution of the state is a part of state contracts, and, where an agent is appointed by law to contract for the state, the law under which he acts is as much a part of the contract made by him as if it were formally embodied in the contract. Statutes qualifying or limiting the grant of authority to contract are mandatory, and contracts not conforming thereto are not binding on the state. The governor and other executive officers of a state have no general authority to contract in its behalf and can bind the state only within the power specially conferred on them by law." 59 C.J. 170.

Id. at 512.

In Scotts Bluff, supra, the statute involved limited the extent to which the state could be liable. The court stated:

As applied to the controversy now before us, the conclusion is that the words of the statute, "the state shall not be liable for any money in excess of the appropriation made for that purpose," by implication, became a part of these contracts entered into by and with the bridge contractors, out of which the present action proceeds; and the representatives of the state could not impose upon the state a contractual obligation under the state aid bridge act except subject to this controlling limitation. The state necessarily must be conceded the right to limit its obligations to the money expressly appropriated for these donations.

Plaintiff's allegations in the pleading demurred to, viz., "that thereafter the Allied Contractors, Inc., commenced construction of said bridges and proceeded therewith; that shortly prior to the 1st day of October, 1920, the state aid bridge fund of the state of Nebraska became depleted and the state was without funds with which to pay its proportion of the cost of the remainder of the construction of said bridges," by necessary effect, plead and admit that any further expenditures by the state would be in excess of the "appropriation made for that purpose," and would transgress the statutory limitation expressly prescribed.

It is obvious that no right to contribute can exist based upon the nonperformance by the state of Nebraska of a contract which it was prohibited from making, and as to which, after October, 1920, by necessary implication, further performance by the state was prohibited.

Id. at 513-14.

3. CAN THE STATE OF NEBRASKA BE ESTOPPED FROM DENYING THAT THE NDIGC IS AN AGENCY OR INSTRUMENTALITY OF THE STATE, AND FURTHER ESTOPPED FROM DENYING THAT THE STATE IS LIABLE FOR NDIGC OBLIGATIONS TO DEPOSITORS OF COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS COMPANY?

Opinion: No.

The State cannot do indirectly that which it could not do directly. Thus, an estoppel theory cannot be used to circumvent the constitutional prohibition against State liability for NDIGC obligations. This fact was recognized by Special Assistant Attorney General David A. Domina in the December 5, 1983, opinion, in which he concludes:

> . . . assuming that a miscellaneous claim could be appropriately filed by a CSC depositor asserting estoppel theory, it is my opinion that the appropriation of funds for the purpose of allowing the claim would be for a "private" purpose exclusively, and would contravene Neb. Const. Art. XIII. Sec. 3. (p.6)

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that the doctrine of estoppel has only a very limited application to the state, if at all, even aside from constitutional prohibitions. Omaha Nat. Bank v. Jensen, 157 Neb. 22, 43-44 (1943); Volker v. McDonald, 120 Neb. 508, 512, 233 N.W. 890, 892 (1931). Further, the elements constituting an estoppel theory are highly factual. These elements have certainly not been satisfied on the bare evidence presented at this time. Accordingly, based on the fact that the constitution would prohibit an estoppel theory in this case, that an estoppel theory can rarely, if ever, be asserted against the State, and that the evidence does not support an estoppel theory in this case, the State cannot be liable on an estoppel theory to the depositors of Commonwealth Savings Company.

4. CAN THE LEGISLATURE PROVIDE FOR STATE LIABILITY FOR NDIGC OBLIGATIONS TO DEPOSITORS OF COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS COMPANY BY MEANS OF PAYMENT OF THE CLAIM CONTAINED IN LB 713?

Opinion: No.

It is our opinion that LB 713 is not the proper vehicle by which to settle the claims of depositors of Commonwealth Savings Company against the state for several reasons.

(a) The bill does not contain sufficient specific language effecting a release of all possible claims against the State of Nebraska. Under Sections 81-8,239.05 et seq. the state may be required to reimburse or indemnify employees as to liability imposed upon the employee. This act should therefore provide for a release of all state employees also.

(b) Mary Croissant, Louisa R. Lessman, Timothy J. Gill and Shea W. Pence are not proper claimants. In Anderson v. State, Docket 383, Page 216, the District Court of Lancaster County, Nebraska, held that the Receiver is the owner of the claims and that the cause of action belongs to the Receiver not the individual depositors. There has been no determination that there is a class action. In the Anderson case the court concluded that this is not a proper class

(c) It is questionable as to whether it is proper to have the claimant determine the amount to be paid.

(d) As will be set forth in the response to inquiry #5, the Act is constitutionally suspect.

5. WOULD PAYMENT OF THE MISCELLANEOUS CLAIM CONTAINED IN LB 713 BE IN CONTRAVENTION OF ARTICLE XIII, SECTION 3, OR ANY OTHER PROVISIONS OF THE NEBRASKA CONSTITUTION?

Opinion: The act is constitutionally suspect.

(a) Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution provides that the legislature may not extend the credit of the State in aid of any individual, association or corporation. it provides:

> The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, except that the state may guarantee or make long term, low interest loans to Nebraska residents seeking adult or post high school education at any public or private institution in this state. Qualifications for and the repayment of such loans shall be as prescribed by the Legislature. (Amended, 1968.)

In an Attorney General's opinion dated December 5, 1983, Mr. David Domina, after reviewing the law, stated:

> Arguments suggesting ostensible "public" purposes of such an appropriation can certainly be made. However, in the language of the Nebraska Supreme Court in Chase v. Douglas County, supra, it is my opinion that the private purpose and character of the contemplated appropriation is so "clear and palpable as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind". Accordingly, it is my opinion that the appropriation under consideration cannot be made by the Nebraska Legislature without contravening the mandate of Neb. Const. Art. XIII, Sec. 3.

(b) In 1909, a guaranty fund for the protection of bank depositors was created. Laws of Nebraska, 1909, c. 10, p. 87; Compiled Statutes of Nebraska 1922, §8024 et seq. In 1923, the legislature created the Guarantee Fund Commission for the purpose of assisting in conserving and administering the guarantee fund. Laws of Nebraska, 1923, c. 191, p. 438. The Guarantee Fund Commission was similar to the NDIGC, although it had a closer relationship with the government (i.e. it was created by statute and the governor appointed the members of the commission).

With the demise of the economy in general, and the banking industry in particular in the late 1920's, the Guarantee Fund Commission found its fund depleted. By December of 1928, the Guarantee Fund Commission had a $15,948,350.11 deficit. See Abie State Bank v. Weaver, 119 Neb. 153, 156, 227 N.W. 922 (1929), aff'd 282 U.S. 765, 51 S.Ct. 252 (1931).

The legislature sought to aid the depositors of insolvent banks who were thus left unprotected by the Guarantee Fund Commission. In 1929, the legislature appropriated a sum of money from the State treasury for this purpose. Laws of Nebraska, 1929, c. 33, p. 139.

The governor, Arthur J. Weaver, sought a declaratory judgment as to whether this appropriation was valid, and if so, how it was to be executed. Weaver v. Koehn, 120 Neb. 114, 231 N.W. 703 (1930). Three district court judges of Lancaster County sitting en banc, held the appropriation unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of Nebraska agreed with the district court judges in all respects.

The court state:

> The evidence was submitted and the suit was argued in the district court for Lancaster county before three district judges, namely, the Honorables Shepherd, Broady, and Chappell, sitting en banc, and the court, so organized, found, adjudged and decreed that the above named appropriation of $260,111.34, for the reimbursement of depositors in failed banks, was and is an unconstitutional proceeding and is therefore void and of no effect. The following reasons in support of their conclusion appear in the judgment rendered by the above named court, in respect of the invalidity of the appropriation in suit, namely:
>
> "First, because it is offensive to the due process provision of the Constitution, and not for a public purpose; secondly, because the title to the act is insufficient to disclose the nature, purpose, and the effect of said appropriation, and of the legislation resulting therein; and, thirdly, because said appropriation involves the taking of the property of the public generally for the relief of private persons without obligation on the part of the state, either legal or moral."
>
> From the judgment so rendered, the plaintiff has appealed.
>
> Chapter 33, Laws 1929, so far as applicable here, follows:
> "There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of $260,111.34, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to refund to depositors in banks closed by the department of trade and commerce such part of their deposits as was deposited in any of said banks by any of said depositors after said banks were closed and while operated by and in charge of the guaranty fund commission. The department of trade and commerce shall ascertain and determine which depositors are entitled to payment under this section and the amount to be paid to each of said depositors, said amount being the amount of the claim as allowed by the district court against the guaranty fund less any payments made on said claim from any source. The auditor of public accounts is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants on the state treasury for the amounts so determined upon the presentation of proper vouchers approved by the department of trade and commerce and the state treasurer shall pay the same out of moneys in the general fund not otherwise appropriated."

The judgment is clearly for affirmance. The banking business, as it relates to state banks in Nebraska, is recognized as being quasi-public in its transactions with the people generally, and particularly in respect to its transactions with depositors of money in such state banks. And this, of course, includes individuals and corporations and, in effect, all depositors of money therein. But the appropriation of money by the state, to reimburse depositors for losses sustained by them in failed banks, clearly appears to be the taking of money belonging to one class to pay the claims of those in another class. And this is in violation of the due process provision of the federal and state Constitutions. Clearly it has not yet come to pass that the state, in its supervision of the banking business, has become an eleemosynary institution.

In view of the facts as presented, it clearly appears to us that the losses of individual depositors in state banks cannot lawfully be made up nor paid from the appropriation of money that belongs to all of the people of the state. The deposits herein were merely business transactions between the bank and the depositor, and the public should not be made to pay for the losses that a depositor may have suffered in such transactions.

In State v. Cornell, 53 Neb. 556, it is said: "It is for the legislature in the first instance to decide what is and what is not a public purpose, but its determination of the question is not conclusive upon the courts." And in Abie State Bank v. Weaver, 119 Neb. 153, this language was used: "It is elementary that it is not within the province of the courts to annul a legislative act unless its provisions so clearly contravene a provision of the fundamental law, or it is so clearly against public policy, that no other resort remains." In Gray, Limitations of Taxing Power, 123, sec. 170, the author says: "The state exists for the benefit of all; any devotion of its powers to merely private ends is such a perversion of its purpose and duties as to be utterly void; and it is the duty of the judicial agents of the state to protect the community from such perversion."

The judgment of the learned trial judges is in all things affirmed. Id. at 116-18. (emphasis ours)

The facts involved in this decision are so similar to those presented by this claim that one must carefully consider this previous determination. Unless the Supreme Court overrules this decision, this proposed bill is unconstitutional.

CONCLUSION

As this bill is presently drafted, there are serious constitutional questions as to its validity. This subject area, however, continues to be of major concern to many in and out of government. There is, in our opinion, a procedural vehicle by which a constitutionally valid settlement might be effected. The State Tort Claims Act provides such a procedure. Under the Act, if there is a pending action, the claimant and the Attorney General can agree upon a proposed settlement. The settlement is then presented to the District court for approval. If approval of a settlement in excess of $50,000 is obtained from the court, an appropriation of the funds by the legislature is necessary. In our opinion this procedure is constitutionally sound.

Respectfully submitted,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 28

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your letter of February 22, 1985, seeking an opinion on the constitutionality of LB 588. Specifically you ask whether the bill violates Article XIII, Section 3, of the Constitution which provides that, "The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . ."

LB 588, which is the Nebraska State Land Bank Act, establishes the Nebraska State Land Bank Board. This would appear to be a quasi-public corporation. See, State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445 at 454, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979). The act states specifically that the board is not a state agency. As we understand the bill, the State Land Bank Board would issue certificates of guaranteed land value to farmers and ranchers setting a guaranteed value on their farmland. These certificates are in essence a promise to purchase the land at the guaranteed value. The board will in turn issue general obligation bonds to guarantee the certificates. Upon default of a farmer's or rancher's loan with a lending institution, the board will purchase the land at the guaranteed value unless sold for more than this amount, and thus the lender will be guaranteed payment of his loan.

In view of the holding in State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, supra, we cannot say that this bill as we understand it is a violation of Article XIII, Section 3, of the Constitution. While not stated in so many words, the bill sets out what appears to be a legislative determination of public purpose. Of course, the prohibition of Article XIII, Section 3, is applied only to the use of public funds to benefit a private purpose. As in the Mortgage Finance Fund case, the court will give great deference to such legislative findings of public purpose. Such findings, however, are not conclusive and there are limits beyond which the Legislature cannot go. State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223, 82 N.W.2d 269 (1957). We thus cannot say that the court, by approving the Mortgage Finance Fund, intended to suggest that proposals for any and all arguably public purposes would be similarly condoned. As a result of the increasing use of devices which essentially permit the state to do indirectly what it cannot do directly, the court will at some point in time be faced with the prospect of essentially discarding the constitutional prohibitions against indebtedness and the extension of the state's credit.

We would also point out that in the Mortgage Finance Fund case, the court noted specifically that there were no state funds involved, and that the revenues generated by the bond sales fell within the special fund doctrine which would take the matter out of Article XIII. The same rationale would appear to apply in this case. We would, however, be remiss if we did not point out a potential problem in this regard. Article XIII, Section 1, of the Constitution is, of course, a limitation upon the indebtedness of the state. This bill authorizes the board, a nonstate agency, to issue general obligation bonds. Presumably these bonds are only the obligation of the board, but in order to make this perfectly clear and to avoid future legal questions, a statement in the legislation that the bonds are not in any way intended to be an obligation of the state would clarify this matter.

A. EUGENE CRUMP

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 29

Dear Senator Haberman:

In your letter of January 28, 1985, you call our attention to LB 278, which if passed, would give to the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority the power to issue bonds to pay the cost of buying or taking assignment of agricultural loans made by production credit associations or loans made by any failed financial institution.

This bill would authorize the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority to utilize a maximum of one billion dollars to finance such purchases or assignments, and calls for the appropriation by the Nebraska Legislature of 150 million dollars to the fund to secure the bonds issued.

Your specific question was "would the State be able to loan funds to the failed Commonwealth Savings Company under LB 278?" (Emphasis added). As we read the provisions of LB 278, it would not be the state which would be loaning money to Commonwealth or any other failed financial institution, but rather it would be the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority who would issue bonds to be sold to the public, the proceeds of which would be used to purchase or secure loans made by institutions such as Commonwealth. We would be of the opinion that the provisions of Article XIII, Sections 1 and 3, of the Nebraska Constitution would absolutely prohibit the state directly loaning funds to any financial institution. We believe this to be true regardless of the avowed public purpose of such an extension of credit.

As you may recall, the constitutionality of the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority's predecessor, the Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, was tested in the case of State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979). There the Nebraska Supreme Court held that a fund which was premised on the public policy of providing adequate low cost housing was for a valid public purpose, and that since the fund created there was not a state entity but rather was a quasi-corporation independent from the state, that the prohibitions found within Article XIII of the Nebraska Constitution were not applicable and that that financial arrangement was therefore constitutional.

The court has not had occasion to rule on the expansion of the concept originally tested with reference to the Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund as that concept has grown to include other aspects of the economy other than housing, nor has the court been faced with a proposal such as this calling for the appropriation of state monies to advance such an avowed public purpose.

We do not believe that the court by approving the Mortgage Finance Fund intended to suggest that proposals for any and all arguably public purposes would be similarly condoned. As a result of the escalation of the use of this device which essentially permits the state to do indirectly that which it could not do directly, the court will at some point in time be faced with the prospect of essentially discarding the constitutional prohibition against indebtedness and the extension of the state's credit.

We are troubled by the fact that here state monies will be appropriated for the purpose of serving as collateral for the loans extended by the fund. We believe the court will scrutinize closely the public purpose behind such an appropriation for, in actuality, it is doing indirectly that which the Legislature could no do directly.

The present bill goes one significant step beyond the Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund in that 150 million dollars of state money are appropriated to the Investment Finance Authority to secure the bonds which will be issued by the Authority. It is this appropriation which raises the issue of whether there is a violation of Article XIII, Section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution, which provides that, "The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . ."

This provision has been interpreted simply to mean that there should not be an expenditure of public funds for a private purpose or to encourage private enterprise. "The legislature cannot appropriate the public monies of the state to encourage private enterprises." Oxnard Beet Sugar Co. v. State, 73 Neb. 67 at 68, 105 N.W. 716 (1905). See, also, State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223 at 229, 82 N.W.2d 269 (1957), and United Community Services v. The Omaha National Bank, 162 Neb. 786 at 799-800, 77 N.W.2d 576 (1956). It should be noted that this caselaw has interpreted the constitutional language "credit of the state," to apparently mean any expenditure or direct appropriation of public money, as well as the extension of credit or granting of a loan, and not simply the obligation of the state for future indebtedness as one would normally construe the meaning of term "credit." In this regard, see, also, Chase v. County of Douglas, 195 Neb. 838 at 850, 241 N.W.2d 334 (1976). Likewise, the mere transfer of money from the State General Fund to what is in essence a quasi-public corporation (see, State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445 at 454, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979)) would not appear to alter the status of these funds as public funds. Again, the constitutional prohibition has been interpreted in a very general fashion to limit the expenditure of public funds for a private purpose, regardless of the nature of these public funds or by whom they are held. See, Chase v. County of Douglas, supra, at 847.

Certainly, in State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, supra, the court made it abundantly clear in its ananlysis that there were no state funds involved in the repayment of any debt contemplated by the act.

> The Act does not, however, violate Article XIII, section 3, because the credit of the state is not in any manner being given or loaned in aid of any individual. Only the Fund is involved. It is the Fund which acquires the monies through the sale of bonds, and it is the Fund which repays the bonds through revenue it acquires. If there is insufficient revenue with which to repay the bonds, the state in no manner becomes obligated or liable. The Act specifically provides that the bonds may not be a debt, liability, or general obligation of the state, and must contain on the face thereof a statement that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the sate is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on such bonds. §76-1630, R.S. Supp., 1978. The Act could not be clearer that the credit of the state is not being given or loaned in any manner.

Id. at 461-462. This, of course, would not be the case under the proposed bill wherein these public funds would be used to the direct benefit of private individuals who purchased the bonds in the event that there is a default of the bonds. Arguably then, this portion of the legislation would use public funds to directly benefit private individuals, and not those individuals who might otherwise benefit from the application of the bond revenue themselves which is part of the avowed public purpose of the legislation.

If, however, the court should find that the stated public purpose of this legislation covers this particular aspect of the bill involving the infusion of state funds, this would eliminate the constitutional prohibition of Article XIII, Section 3. Of course, as we have indicated, the court will give great deference to legislative findings of public purpose, nevertheless, these are not conclusive and there are limits beyond which the Legislature cannot go. State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, supra, at 230. We thus cannot say with any certainty how the court will view this particular aspect of LB 278 in determining whether the appropriation is for a public purpose and thus whether or not there is a violation of Article XIII, Section 3. Obviously, it is a significant departure from the Mortgage Finance Fund case and this may well have some bearing on any analysis of this particular question.

However, if the Legislature and the court find that such an appropriation is for a valid public purpose, then the remainder of the bill would no doubt be considered constitutional. This conclusion is premised on, in addition to the court's finding of a valid public purpose, the assumption that the entirety of the appropriation would be made this session and that it would not be contingent upon revenue being generated from some other future source or upon future appropriations which we believe would violate Article III, Section 22, of the Nebraska Constitution.

We hope this adequately responds to your inquiry.

Sincerely,
A. EUGENE CRUMP

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 30

Dear Senator Lamb:

You have asked if AM0074 to LB 662 of the Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session (1985), as amended has constitutional problems.

AM0074 to LB 662, as published in the Legislative Journal for February 4, 1985, at pages 456 to 457, was amended on February 19, 1985, to read as follows:

1. Strike original sections 1 and 19 and insert the following new section:

Sect. 15. Notwithstanding any other provision of sections 1 to 6 of this act or Chapter 79, after the effective date of this section, whenever the question of closing an elementary school attendance site is raised following a reorganization governed by section 79-402, the Reorganization of School Districts Act, or sections 79-426.23 to 426.26 in which a school district has attached itself as a whole to a Class II, III, IV, or V school district or has become part of a Class VI school district, such elementary school attendance site shall not be closed unless a majority of the qualified electors of such school district, as it existed prior to reorganization, vote pursuant to subsections (2) to (4) of section 79-426.15 to close such site. Approval of a proposition to close an elementary school attendance site shall require a majority of all qualified electors voting at a special election called for such purpose.

Obviously, if a school district has attached itself as a whole to a Class II, III, IV, or V school district or has become a part of a Class VI school district and years later a question is raised as to whether to close an elementary school attendance site, there could be a difficult, if not impossible, task in determining "the qualified electors of such school district, as it existed prior to reorganization. . . ." The reason, of course, is that there is no known legal procedure by which such "qualified electors" could be determined. There is yet another problem. If the identity of the "qualified electors" could somehow be determined but it was discovered that one or more had subsequently established a residence outside the boundaries of the "school district, as it existed prior to reorganization," a court could find that this amendment is unconstitutional in that it would permit "electors" to vote who are not residents of the "school district, as it existed prior to reorganization." We are therefore of the opinion that there are several constitutional problems with this amendment.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 63.

Introduced by Vickers, 38th District; Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, This is a time for the Nation to choose what kind of agriculture it wants;

WHEREAS, the health and stability of American agriculture affects all Americans and citizens of other nations as well;

WHEREAS, 15 states, comprising the farm-belt heartland of the United States, recently joined together to send state legislative delegations to Washington, D.C., to impress upon federal policy makers the severity of the current agricultural crisis;

WHEREAS, this action on the part of the 15 states follows the best traditions of Federalism, that unique experiment put into operation in a new Nation more than 200 years ago;

WHEREAS, these 15 state legislative delegations urged immediate steps to deal with the current farm crisis, and offered to work with federal policy makers for long-term solutions to put agriculture on a stable and profitable path for the benefit of all Americans;

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature will continue to work with her sister farm-belt legislatures to fashion long-range agricultural policies;

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature recognizes that 'a little bit more or less' of the same agricultural policies will doom the family farmer and wreak undesirable and unacceptable harm on the landscape of rural America;

WHEREAS, the policies of the Federal government play, and will continue to play, a pervasive and critical role in agriculture;

WHEREAS, the present debate about agriculture's future tends to be narrowly focused and to revolve around unrealistic extremes;

WHEREAS, the farm-belt states can play a significant role in developing long-range Federal agricultural policies;

WHEREAS, the future health and stability of agriculture requires that the states and the Federal government work in a partnership;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT

The Administration and the Congress work closely with Nebraska and her farm-belt sister states in developing measures that help rather than hinder the long-run stability and health of agriculture;

This resolution be delivered to President Reagan.

Laid over.

AM0475

1. Strike original section 1 and all amendments thereto and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. That section 45-103, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

45-103. (1) Interest on all decrees and judgments for the payment of money, except as provided in subsections (2) to (4) of this section and except when the state or any of its political subdivisions are party thereto, shall be from thirty days after the date the summons is served ~~the date of the rendition thereof~~ at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature until the same shall be paid. If ~~; PROVIDED, if~~ such judgment or decree shall be founded upon any contract, either verbal or written, by the terms of which a greater rate of interest, not exceeding the amount allowed by law, than the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, shall have been agreed upon, the rate of interest upon such judgment or decree shall be the same as provided for by the terms of the contract upon which the same was founded. Interest on a judgment appealed to the district court shall be determined in accordance with subsection (3) of section 24-541.06.

(2) Interest prior to judgment shall only accrue on lost wages and special damages if no compensation was previously received for such lost wages or special damages.

(3) If a plaintiff has refused to accept an offer by defendant to confess judgment pursuant to section 25-906 or 25-907 or sections 25-1309 to 25-1312 and if the judgment is for an amount equal to or less than the amount confessed, no interest shall accrue between the time of the offer to confess judgment and the time of rendition of the judgement.

(4) This section shall not apply to any action arising under Chapter 42 or to any action arising under Nebraska law in which judgment interest rates are otherwise specifically provided.

Sec. 2. (1) If the Nebraska Supreme Court establishes standards or guidelines for the progression of civil cases, no prejudgment interest or defense expenses shall be allowed under section 3 or 4 of this act on any tort action which is completed within the time specified by the standards or guidelines.

(2) A delay, under section 3 or 4 of this act, which is caused by a party's counsel or insurer shall be deemed a delay by the party.

Sec. 3. (1) In a tort action in which a judgment has been entered for the payment of money, any party, by appropriate motion within thirty days of entry of judgment, may allege to the court that any other party caused unreasonable delay in the progress and final disposition of the action.

(2) If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay by a party against whom a judgment was entered, the court shall assess interest on the total judgment at a rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, against the dilatory party for the period of the delay. Such period of interest shall not commence prior to the date on which service of process was accomplished on the dilatory party in the action nor subsequent to the date of entry of judgment. The prejudgment interest, if awarded pursuant to this section, shall be in lieu of any prejudgment interest provided for in section 45-103 and shall be in addition to the post-judgment interest provided for in section 45-103.

(3) If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay by the party in whose favor the judgment was entered, the court shall award the moving party that portion of his or her total defense expenses as are reasonably attributable to the delay.

Sec. 4. In a tort action seeking payment of money which results in a judgment that no money is owed, or which is dismissed or otherwise disposed of without settlement or trial, any defendant may allege by appropriate motion filed within thirty days of such judgment or other disposition that any other party caused unreasonable delay in the progress and final disposition of the action. If the court, upon notice and hearing, finds that there was such delay, it may order the dilatory party to pay such portion of defense expenses as are reasonably attributable to the delay. Such amounts shall be in addition to any taxable court costs otherwise allowed by law.

Sec. 5. If a tort action is tried by a jury, the jury shall be instructed by the court that it is not to include in an award of damages any sums for prejudgment interest, as such interest will be added by the court in those instances where it is allowed by law.

Sec. 6. This act shall be operative for all cause of action filed on or after April 1, 1986.".

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 7, 1985

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am herewith returning LB 113 without my signature and with my objections.

LB 113 requires licensed operators of motor vehicles to be part of the pool of potential jury members. Since the list of licensed operators is much broader than those legally eligible to serve on a jury, the bill would result in an inefficient use of public resources in the jury selection process. Additionally, I am uncomfortable in requiring a citizen too apathetic to vote to participate in our judicial system. Civic responsibility among citizens ought to be cultivated not mandated.

I urge you to sustain my veto.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ROBERT KERREY
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 32

Dear Senator Lundy:

This is in response to your letter of February 15, 1985, in which you ask several questions about the constitutionality of LB 691. Your questions concern the proposed amendment to Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-1,102 (Reissue 1983) which would purport to vest both legal and equitable title of the assets of an insolvent bank in the Banking Department, where the department acts as the receiver and liquidating agent, and would further provide that:

> All taxes and assessments on the real estate owned by the bank which are unpaid upon the declaration of insolvency, all unpaid taxes or assessments on real estate subsequently received by the department as receiver of the bank, and all such taxes and assessments which accrue during the receivership shall be void, and the property affected by the tax or assessment shall be wholly discharged and released therefrom.

Your first question is whether Article VIII, Section 4, of the Nebraska Constitution grants the Legislature the power "(1) to provide for the cancellation of delinquent taxes and special assessments by the authority which imposes the taxes only, or (2) may the State be allowed to forgive any delinquent taxes or assessments on its property without due process or compensation requirements?"

Article VIII, Section 4, of the Constitution provides as follows:

> Except as to tax and assessment charges against real property remaining delinquent and unpaid for a period of fifteen years or longer, the Legislature shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town, or district whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or any corporation, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for state purposes, or due any municipal corporation, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatever; Provided, that the Legislature may provide by law for the payment or cancellation of taxes or assessments against real estate remaining unpaid against real estate owned or acquired by the state or its governmental subdivisions.

Before proceeding further to answer your question, we should clarify the meaning of this section. Upon first glance, it might appear that this prohibition against the release of taxes applies only to taxes levied for "state purposes" or due any municipal corporation. If this were the case, it would not include the taxes levied by counties and other governmental subdivisions of the state. Of course, the state government itself has not received revenue from property taxes since the adoption of the Sales and Income Tax Act in 1967. We believe, however, that a proper reading of the language in this section "for state purposes" means those taxes levied by the state or any of its political subdivisions of government. A comprehensive review of the cases interpreting this provision, all of which occurred during the period prior to 1967 in which property taxes were levied by both the state and political subdivisions of government, convinces us of this fact. In those cases the court, while not dealing directly with this issue, uniformly applied this prohibition against the release of taxes to all taxes levied by the state and its political subdivisions, regardless of whether those taxes were ultimately used for the purpose of running state government or to support local governmental functions. In this regard see, County of Lancaster v. Trimble, 33 Neb. 121, 49 N.W.938 (1891); Steinacher v. Swanson, 131 Neb. 439, 268 N.W. 317 (1936); Peterson v. Hancock, 155 Neb. 801, 54 N.W.2d 85 (1952); and State ex rel. Meyer v. Story, 173 Neb. 741, 114 N.W.2d 769 (1962). Thus, we do not believe that this interpretation by the courts would change merely because the state government no longer receives revenue from property taxes. The political subdivisions nevertheless remain solely creatures of the state and taxes levied by them are in effect taxes for "state purposes" in the general sense, and as used in this section of the Constitution.

As we understand your first question, you wish to know whether the Legislature may cancel taxes on state owned property only by granting this power of cancellation to the particular governmental authorities which levied the taxes in the first place, or whether the Legislature itself may pass laws directly canceling such taxes. As we read this constitutional provision, and particularly the last sentence, the Legislature itself may pass legislation directly canceling delinquent taxes which have been levied on property owned by the state or its governmental subdivisions. There are simply no requirements that the discretionary authority to cancel such taxes be provided to the local subdivisions which originally levied such taxes. In fact, this constitutional provision is the basis for existing legislation which permits the state or other governmental subdivisions to cancel delinquent taxes on its property where those taxes exceed the value of that property. See, Neb.Rev.Stat. §77-2801, et seq. (Reissue 1981). Likewise, there are simply no requirements under the Constitution for compensation to be paid to governmental subdivisions where such taxes have been canceled.

Your second question is as follows:

> Does LB 691, which vests all legal and equitable title of the assets of an insolvent institution in the Banking Department, represent an unconstitutional taking of the property of (1) an insolvent bank, or (2) possible third-party creditors or lien holders of such assets, without meeting due process requirements or providing just compensation?

The Department of Banking, according to the overall statutory scheme, is acting as a receiver and liquidating agent for an insolvent bank, Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-198 (Reissue 1983). It does so with the same powers, and thus has the same general limitations of its authority as any other receiver under the laws of the state, Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-199 (Reissue 1983). Likewise, the Banking Department as receiver may be subject to the jurisdiction of the district court in the exercise of its powers. None of these other statutes pertaining to this aspect of the Banking Department's fiduciary role as a receiver are repealed by LB 691, and the amendment to Neb.Rev.Stat. §8-1,102 contained in the bill must be construed within the framework of this existing statutory scheme. Even the amended version of §8-1,102 would contain the following language, "the department shall become the receiver and liquidating agent to wind up the business of that bank, . . ."

Normally a receiver is only considered to have equitable title to the property which it supervises. The bill here purports to give both legal and equitable title to the Banking Department as receiver. We do not believe that this destroys the basic nature and fiduciary capacity of the Banking Department as a receiver. Consequently, whatever the nature of the title the statute purports to give to the Banking Department, it can be exercised only within the limited capacity of the Banking Department as receiver and liquidating agent. In this sense the Banking Department is not a true owner of such property because it has substantially less than full control over such property. Whatever powers of ownership the Banking Department may exercise as receiver, it does so only in its limited fiduciary capacity on behalf of the depositors of the insolvent bank and not as an outright owner of that property. To construe this statute otherwise, and suggest that the Banking Department thus would have full control and authority over such property, and that the state would be the outright owner of such property, would clearly render this amendment unconstitutional as a taking of property without due process of law and just compensation.

Your third question is whether "LB 691 represent(s) an unconstitutional taking of the vested rights of a political subdivision in the collection of its delinquent taxes or special assessments?"

We do not believe that political subdivisions have a vested right in the collection of taxes other than as provided by statute and the State Constitution. "The revenues of the county do not become the property of the county in the sense of private ownership, . . ." Peterson v. Hancock, supra, at 814. Here the Constitution provides a mechanism whereby delinquent taxes on state owned land may be canceled by subsequent legislation. If that procedure is followed, the requirements of the law have been complied with.

Your fourth question is whether

> LB 691 unconstitutionally impair(s) the contract rights (1) of political subdivisions in the collection of delinquent taxes or special assessments, or (2) of private individuals holding mortgages or liens against assets of an insolvent bank coming under LB 691?

As indicated above, the right of political subdivisions to levy and collect taxes is governed solely by the Constitution and statutes of the state. There are no contractural rights involved. We furthermore fail to see how the contractural rights of individuals holding mortgages or liens on such property would be affected by the cancellation of delinquent taxes owed on the property. LB 691 would apparently not affect the status of the lien and mortgage holders, and those liens and mortgages will remain on the property regardless of the passage of LB 691.

Your fifth question is:

> Does LB 691 represent special legislation since it will effect (sic) only Commonwealth and the other insolvent financial institutions throughout the state will not be treated in a like manner because the receivers of those institutions will not be the Banking Department:

We do not read LB 691 to apply only to one financial institution, but rather it would apply to all banks or financial institutions subject to receivership by the Banking Department. This appears to be a reasonable classification based on actual differences in situations or circumstances. The Legislature may make reasonable classification of persons, corporations, and property for purposes of legislation concerning them, but such classification must rest upon real differences of situations and circumstances surrounding members of a class relative to the subject of the legislation. Prendergast v.

Nelson, 199 Neb. 97, 256 N.W.2d 657 (1977). Legislative classifications will be upheld against constitutional attack if they bear some reasonable relationship to the legitimate purposes of the legislation. Pegasus of Omaha, Inc. v. State, 203 Neb. 755, 280 N.W.2d 64 (1979).

Your sixth question is, "Would a delegation by the State to give political subdivisions discretionary authorization to forgive taxes and special assessments be constitutional?"

Of course, Article VIII, Section 4, of the Constitution is a general prohibition which forbids the Legislature from releasing any taxes except as permitted by this provision. We think this provision is clear, and the Legislature cannot pass legislation which would allow the forgiveness of taxes in any form, including the mechanism of granting discretionary authority to political subdivisions. In any event, the Legislature could not do indirectly what it cannot do directly. Peterson v. Hancock, supra, at 821. Again, this answer must be understood to be qualified by the last sentence of the constitutional provision which does permit the Legislature to pass laws releasing taxes on property owned by the state or political subdivisions.

Your seventh question is as follows:

> If taxes and special assessments are forgiven, would that violate the constitutional prohibition against the impairment of the obligation of contracts, as applied to holders of bonds for which taxes and special assessments have been pledged for repayment thereof?

Such bondholders would have no contractural right to repayment of taxes levied against specific property, only to the repayment of the bonds by revenues in general. There would thus be no such impairment of contract under the proposed legislation.

Your final question is simply whether LB 691 is constitutional. Article VIII, Section 4, of the Constitution, as we have indicated, is a general prohibition against the cancellation of property taxes by the Legislature. The exception to this is for property owned or acquired by the state or its political subdivisions. The apparent intent of LB 691 is to fall within this exception. The underlying question which must be addressed is whether or not it achieves this result, or in other words, does the property of insolvent banks to which the Banking Department acquires title as receiver pursuant to statute come within this exception pertaining to property owned or acquired by the state. We think this is a very doubtful result.

As we have previously indicated, whatever title the Banking Department has, it has only in its limited fiduciary capacity as receiver and only for those very limited purposes. This property is not owned by the state in the true sense of that term, since it is held only for the limited period of the receivership and cannot be used by the state for its own purposes. The state simply does not have the full powers incident to outright ownership of such property. Thus, we do not believe it likely that a court would find that the state, through the Banking Department as receiver, is a true owner of such property for the purpose of the exception to Article VIII, Section 4, of the Constitution. A review of the legislative history of this constitutional amendment suggests that the intent of this exception was to apply only to property owned by the state as that term is generally understood. There is absolutely nothing to suggest that it was meant to apply to those circumstances in which the state might acquire some limited and temporary power or title to property. In this regard, the subsequent attempt by LB 691 to cancel the taxes on such property would most likely be held to be unconstitutional and in violation of Article VIII, Section 4, of the Constitution.

ROBERT M. SPIRE

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 33
March 12, 1985

Dear Senator Pappas:

This is in response to your letter of March 5, 1985, concerning LB 161 and proposed amendments you have indicated that you intend to make to that legislation.

Your primary concerns deal with the issue of federal preemption in the area of railroad safety. Contrary to what some individuals have apparently said, railroad safety has not been preempted by the federal government to preclude all state activity. For example, 45 U.S.C.A. §434 provides as follows:

> The Congress declares that laws, rules, regulations, orders, and standards relating to railroad safety shall be nationally uniform to the extent practicable. A State may adopt or continue in force any law, rule, regulation, order, or standard relating to railroad safety until such time as the Secretary has adopted a rule, regulation, order, or standard covering the subject matter of such State requirement. A State may adopt or continue in force an additional or more stringent law, rule, regulation, order, or standard relating to railroad safety when necessary to eliminate or reduce an an essentially local safety hazard, and when not incompatible with any Federal law, rule, regulation, order, or standard, and when not creating an undue burden on interstate commerce.

Likewise, as you point out, federal law specifically allows states to participate in investigative and surveillance activities in accordance with Federal Railroad Administration guidelines, 45 U.S.C.A. §435. If your proposed amendments conform to the requirements of the federal State Safety Participation Program as set forth in federal law and federal regulations, there can be no question as to any issues of federal preemption. This would, of course, include elimination of the penalty provisions from LB 161 as it is presently written, and as you have indicated you intend to do.

We would also concur with your conclusion to amend LB 161 to place this safety program under the authority of the Public Service Commission, since under Article IV, Section 20, of the Nebraska Constitution, the Public Service Commission is given general authority over the regulation of common carriers, which include the railroads.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
Attorney General

Mr. V. Johnson asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 717 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM0596

1. Strike the original sections and insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. As used in this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) All terms shall have the same meaning as in the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967;

(2) Economic net income shall mean the federal taxable income of the financial institution or the portion of the consolidated federal taxable income attributable to the financial institution on the consolidating working papers:

(a) Increased by the income from obligations that are exempt under the Internal Revenue Code;

(b) Increased by any deduction allowed for a net operating loss; and

(c) Decreased by the income attributable to investment in obligations of the United States government and its instrumentalities and obligations that are exempt under the Internal Revenue Code. The amount of the reduction shall be computed by multiplying the economic net income after the adjustments are made pursuant to subdivisions (2)(a) and (2)(b) of this section by the percentage of the total assets invested in such obligations; and

(3) Financial institution shall mean any bank, building and loan association, cooperative credit association, industrial loan and investment company, investment company, investment trust, mortgage banker, sales finance company, savings and loan association, trust company, and any other institution considered to be a financial institution under 12 U.S.C. 548.

Sec. 2. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1985, on the economic net income of every financial institution doing business in this state at one hundred and twenty-five per cent of the rates imposed on corporations under section 77-2734.02. For fiscal years beginning prior to January 1, 1985, the tax shall initially apply for the period from January 1, 1985, to the end of the fiscal year.

(2) For a financial institution that is subject to tax in another state, its economic net income shall be the portion of its income that is determined to be connected with its operations in this state pursuant to section 4 of this act.

Sec. 3. A surtax of twenty-five per cent of the tax imposed under section 2 of this act is hereby imposed for each taxable year beginning before January 1, 1991.

Sec. 4. (1) A financial institution that is subject to tax in more than one state shall apportion its income in the manner provided in sections 77-2734.10 to 77-2734.15, except as provided in this section. The adjustments provided in this section shall apply solely to the taxes imposed by this act.

(2) The property factor shall also include intangibles such as cash, loans, installment obligations, receivables, and securities. The numerator of the property factor for this state shall include (a) coin and currency in this state, (b) loans and installment obligations applied for at offices in this state, (c) bank card receivables for residents of this state or corporations maintaining their commercial domicile in this state, and (d) securities used to meet reserve deposit requirements to the extent they relate to deposits in this state.

(3) The numerator of the sales factor for this state shall include (a) interest and other receipts from intangibles included in the numerator of the property factor in this state, (b) merchant discount income from merchants located in this state, and (c) charges for traveler's checks and money orders that are issued in this state.

Sec. 5. (1) There shall be allowed a credit to individuals and corporations against the taxes imposed by sections 77-2715 and 77-2734.02 for the taxes imposed by this act.

(2) The credit is not refundable and shall only be used for the taxable year for which the taxes imposed by this act were paid.

(3) The credit may not be used by any other person, except that a financial institution that is operated in the form of a partnership or a subchapter S corporation may distribute the credit to its partners or shareholders in the same manner as income is distributed under sections 77-2714 to 77-27,135.

(4) If the financial institution is a part of a unitary group that is subject to tax under 77-2734.02, the amount of the credit shall not exceed the portion of the income tax imposed by such section that is computed in the manner prescribed in this subsection. This computation shall be used whether the unitary group is subject to tax in another state or is only subject to tax in this state.

For each of the three apportionment factors, the numerator attributable to the financial institution shall be divided by the total numerator of that factor for this state.

The results of the computations for the three apportionment factors shall be averaged and multiplied by the group's total income tax liability imposed by section 77-2734.02 before any other credits.

Sec. 6. Any financial institution shall be credited in the computation of the taxes due under this act with the amount paid during the taxable year under section 44-1213, 77-908, 77-909, or 81-523 in lieu of intangible tax by the financial institution or another member of the unitary group that includes the financial institution.

Sec. 7. The taxes imposed by this act shall be due on the fifteenth day of the third month following the end of the taxable year. There shall be no extensions granted for the payment of the tax required by this act.

Sec. 8. (1) The Tax Commissioner shall allow the payment of any tax due under this act by means of electronic funds transfer. The use of the electronic funds transfer shall not change the rights of any party from the rights they would have had if a different method of payment is used.

(a) The financial institution that is designated to receive the funds transferred on behalf of the state shall provide (i) a report to the Tax Commissioner of all payments received by the end of the business day of its receipt and (ii) a report of all payments received, in the format required by the Tax Commissioner, within thirty days of the end of each calendar quarter for the payments received during such quarter.

(b) The Tax Commissioner shall retain five per cent of the amounts collected as reimbursement of the costs of collection and administration of the taxes imposed by this act. The collection fee shall be deposited in the Financial Institutions Collection Fund, which is hereby created. Any money in the fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to sections 72-1237 to 72-1269. The fund shall be administered by the Department of Revenue.

(2) The provisions of sections 77-2714 to 77-27,135 relating to the determination of deficiencies, penalties, interest, the collection of delinquent amounts, and appeal procedures for the tax imposed under section 77-2734.02 shall apply to the taxes imposed under this act.

(3) No refunds of the taxes imposed by this act shall be allowed unless a claim for such refund is filed within three months of the date on which the taxes were due or the date on which the taxes were paid, whichever is later.

(4) The Tax Commissioner shall prescribe the necessary forms and the supporting documentation to be filed for reporting and paying the taxes.

(5) The Tax Commissioner shall promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary to enforce this act.

2-3225. Each district shall have the power and authority to levy a tax of not to exceed three and five-tenths cents on each one hundred dollars of actual valuation annually on all of the taxable property, except intangible property, within such district unless a higher levy shall be authorized by a majority vote of those voting on the issue at a regular election on a referendum question submitted by resolution of the board of directors and certified to the Secretary of State on or before August 25 of the election year. The Legislature recognizes that districts which contain ground water conservation districts have greater financial needs than other districts. To meet that need, any district in which a ground water conservation district was located on the effective date of this act may levy an additional tax (1) commencing January 1, 1986, of not more than one half of one cent and (2) commencing January 1, 1988, of not more than one cent on each one hundred dollars of actual valuation annually on all of the taxable property within such district. When adopted by the board, the levy shall be certified by the secretary to the county clerk of each county which in whole or in part is included within the district. Such levy shall be handled by the counties in the same manner as other levies, and proceeds shall be remitted to the district treasurer. Such levy shall not be considered a part of the general county levy and shall not be considered in connection with any limitation on levies of such counties.

Sec. 3. That section 46-631, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-631. The board of directors may levy and collect annually taxes necessary to finance the activities of such district to the amount of not more than (1) one cent until January 1, 1986, and (2) one half of one cent on and after January 1, 1986, on each one hundred dollars of the actual value of all taxable real property within such district. It shall, on or before the first day of August in each year, certify its tax levy to the county clerks of the counties wholly or partially within the district, who shall extend the same on the county tax list, and the same shall be collected by the county treasurer in the same manner as state and county taxes. It shall be the duty of the board to apply for and to receive from the county treasurers all money to the credit of the district. The county treasurer shall disburse the same on the order of the treasurer of the district.".

(4) The name given to any detached bank or branch bank established and maintained pursuant to this section shall not be substantially similar to the name of any existing bank or branch bank which is unaffiliated with the newly created bank or branch bank and is located in the same municipality. The name of such newly created bank or branch bank shall be approved by the director.

(5) With the approval of the director, any bank or banks may establish and maintain any number of electronic satellite facilities or manned electronic satellite facilities at which all banking transactions, defined as receiving deposits of every kind and nature and crediting such to customer accounts, cashing checks and cash withdrawals, transfer of funds from checking accounts to savings accounts, transfer of funds from savings accounts to checking accounts, transfer of funds from either checking accounts and savings accounts to accounts of other customers, payment transfers from customer accounts into accounts maintained by other bank customers or the bank, including preauthorized draft authority, preauthorized loans, and credit transactions, receiving payments payable at the bank or otherwise, and such other transactions that the Director of Banking and Finance upon application, notice, and hearing may approve, may be conducted. Such electronic satellite facilities or manned electronic satellite facilities may be established only by a bank as defined in subdivision (4) of section 8-101 or by a national banking association whose main chartered office is located in the State of Nebraska. Neither such electronic satellite facilities, the manned electronic satellite facilities, nor the transactions conducted thereat shall be construed as the establishment of a branch bank or as branch banking. Such facilities shall be available on a nondiscriminating basis for use by customers of any other bank becoming a user bank. It shall not be deemed discrimination if a facility does not offer the same transaction services as other facilities.

Any bank may become a user bank by agreeing to pay the establishing bank its ~~pro rata~~ transaction ~~and other costs, including a reasonable return on capital expenditures incurred in establishing and maintaining such facilities~~ fees. Such agreement may be implied by the use of such facilities. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a user bank from agreeing to responsibilities and benefits which might be contained in a standardized agreement. The establishing bank shall file with the director the information necessary to originate a transaction at any facility. Such information shall ~~must~~ contain a means of designating the bank or processor to which such transactions shall be switched and shall ~~must~~ also contain information adequate to perform authorization of cash withdrawal and other transactions authorized by this section. The director shall make such information available to any other bank desiring to become a user bank. The establishing bank shall be responsible for transmitting transactions originating from its facility to a switch, but nothing contained in this section may be construed to provide that any in-house or auxiliary office premises transactions shall be required to go through a switch. The director shall refuse to approve the establishment of any electronic satellite facilities or manned electronic satellite facilities unless such facilities will be available on a nondiscriminating basis through methods, fees, and processes that the establishing bank has provided for switching transactions. Once approval is given for the facility of an establishing bank, the director, upon notice and after a hearing, may revoke the approval for the facility or may suspend the use of such facility if he or she determines that it is not available on a nondiscriminating basis, that the necessary information is not on file with the director, or that transactions originated by customers of user banks are not being switched to processing centers. Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit nonbank employees from assisting in transactions originated at the facilities, and such assistance shall not be deemed to be engaging in the business of banking. Such nonbank employees may be trained in the use of the facilities by bank employees.

(6) An establishing bank shall not be deemed to make a facility available on a nondiscriminating basis if, through personnel services offered, advertising on or off the facility premises, or otherwise, it discriminates in the use of the facility against any user bank.

(7) Off-premises electronic satellite facilities and manned electronic satellite facilities may be established and maintained by a bank or by a group of two or more banks or a combination of a bank or banks and a third party. No one, through personnel services offered, advertising on or off the facility premises, or otherwise, may discriminate in the use of the facility against any other user bank desiring to use the services of the facility.

(8) It is an intent of this section that this section shall apply to banks chartered by the State of Nebraska and all national banking associations whose main chartered offices are located in the State of Nebraska and that there be an equal opportunity to all Nebraska banks for the use of and access to a switch and that no discrimination shall exist or preferential treatment be given in either the operation of such switch or the charges for use thereof. The operation of such switch shall be with the approval of the Director of Banking and Finance. Approval of such switch shall be given by the Director of Banking and Finance when he or she shall determine that its design and operation are such as to provide access thereto and use thereof by any Nebraska bank without discrimination as to access or cost of its use.

(9) If the director, upon notice and hearing, determines at any time that the design or operation of a switch or provision for use thereof does discriminate against any bank in providing access thereto and use thereof either through access thereto or by virtue of the cost of its use, he or she may revoke his or her approval of such switch operation and forthwith order the discontinuance of the operation of such switch.

(10) If it shall be determined by the Director of Banking and Finance, after notice and hearing, that discrimination against any bank has taken place or that one bank has been preferred over another or that any bank or person has not complied with any of the provisions of this section, he or she shall forthwith issue a cease and desist order or an order for compliance within ten days from the date of the order and upon noncompliance with such order, the offending bank shall become ineligible to receive and hold any deposits of any nature of the State of Nebraska or any political subdivision thereof.

(11) The provisions of section 8-101 and this section shall apply to banks and their activities only. Nothing in such sections may be construed to provide any authority for any nonbank institution to engage in any of the banking transactions enumerated in this section. When reference is made in this section to activities by third parties, such activities shall be limited to the ownership, operation, and maintenance of electronic satellite facilities.

(12) Nothing in this section shall prohibit ordinary clearinghouse transactions between banks.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 34

Dear Senator Lamb:

You have asked if the Standing Committee Amendment #2 which pertains to section 15 of LB 662 of the Eighty-ninth Legislature, First Session (1985) is constitutional.

That amendment, after the underscored period, inserts on page 1, line 19, of LB 662 the following:

> If such school district divides and the various portions join more than one district pursuant to this act, such elementary school attendance site shall not be closed unless a majority of the voters who, on the date of the election provided in this section, reside in the portion of such district, as the boundaries of such district existed prior to the reorganization, which contains such elementary school attendance site, vote to close such site.

We have extensively researched this matter and have discovered no case law which is directly in point. On the other hand, it appears to us that this amendment, if it were to become operative law, would grant certain voters of a school district (those who reside in the portion of such district as it existed prior to the reorganization) greater voting rights than others who reside in the same district. Thus, it could be argued that the above quoted amendment is not in conformity with the legal concept of one elector one vote.

While we cannot say that this amendment is unconstitutional, we can say that the constitutionality of this amendment, in our opinion, would be very difficult, if not impossible, to defend.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 36

Dear Senator Wesely:

This is in response to your letter of February 21, 1985, concerning LB 387. LB 387 would authorize the natural resource districts to issue bonds and notes and would change the powers and duties of the Nebraska Conservation Corporation to include assistance to political subdivisions of the state by making loans to such political subdivisions for natural resource development practices. Your specific question is whether the bill would allow state funds to be used or pledged through the Conservation Corporation to support general obligation bonds issued by that corporation, and whether or not this would be a violation of the state constitutional provisions concerning the limitations on state indebtedness or loaning or giving of the state's credit.

Under Neb.Rev.Stat. §2-4205 the Nebraska Conservation Corporation is established in essence as a quasi public corporation, but not a state agency. This provision is not amended by LB 387. Likewise, Neb.Rev.Stat. §2-4224 (Reissue 1983) provides that any bonds issued by the corporation shall not constitute any debt or general obligation of the state or any pledge of the faith and credit of the state. This provision was likewise not amended by LB 387.

As we read LB 387, we do not find any provision which allows state funds to be used or pledged to support the general obligation bonds issued by the Conservation Corporation. Consequently, and in accordance with the decision in State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 283 N.W.2d 12 (1979), we find no violations of the state constitutional provisions limiting the state's indebtedness nor prohibiting the loaning of the credit of the state.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 37

Dear Senator Schmit:

This is in response to your letter of March 8, 1985, concerning LB 552. Your question is whether LB 552 is constitutionally suspect as a result of the U.S. Supreme Court rulings in Miller Brothers Company v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954) and National Bellas Hess v. Department of Revenue of the State of Illinois, 386 U.S. 753 (1967).

These two cases involved an attempt by states to hold out-of-state retailers, which did not actually conduct their business within those states, liable for collection and remittance of use taxes on goods purchased outside the states by those states' citizens. In the case of Bellas Hess these sales were made solely through the mails. The court held that this was an impermissible burden on interstate commerce and a violation of due process.

Unlike the situations in these decisions, LB 552 does not impose a mandatory burden upon out-of-state retailers to collect and remit use taxes for the State of Nebraska. The original language of the bill would have only required an out-of-state retailer to supply a list of Nebraska customers to the Nebraska Department of Revenue for which it would reimburse the retailer. This may have been an impermissible attempt to extend the state's police power beyond the state's boundaries. 16 Am.Jur.2d, Constitutional Law § 383. The committee amendments to LB 552 made the remittance of such lists optional. Likewise, the committee amendments also allowed such out-of-state retailers the option to voluntarily become licensed to collect and remit Nebraska use tax. Since neither of these provisions are mandatory it is difficult to see how the state has imposed an undue burden on interstate commerce, such as the court found in the above cases.

The only real questions involve the attempted denial of access to the state's courts for collection of debts stemming from transactions between out-of-state retailers and citizens of Nebraska, where these out-of-state retailers chose not to comply with either of the two above-mentioned optional provisions of the law. We are unaware of any authority which would hold that such a provision would entail a burden on interstate commerce, but this result cannot be ruled out. Moreover, this may well be a violation of Article I, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that the courts of the state shall be open for every person, and in turn the privileges and immunities clause of the United States Constitution, Article IV, Section 2 which grants the same privileges to citizens of one state as afforded to citizens of another state. This includes the right of access to the courts for the purpose of bringing and maintaining actions. 16 Am.Jur.2d, Constitutional Law § 730. Again, however, we are unable to find any case authority directly dealing with this issue.

Admittedly, foreign corporations not registered with the Secretary of State presently have a limited ability to maintain actions in the courts of the state pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. §21-20,121 (Reissue 1983). See, Rigid Component Systems v. Nebraska Component Systems, Inc., 202 Neb. 658, 276 N.W.2d 659 (1979). This would, of course, include many of the out-of-state retailers to which this bill might apply. It should be noted, however, that this provision in LB 552 applies to all persons and not merely corporations. This constitutional issue would undoubtedly also be compounded by the fact that the prohibition against access to the courts would apply to credit card systems holding debts which may have arisen from transactions with out-of-state retailers, since such credit card systems may very well be citizens of the state, or otherwise have authority to conduct their business in Nebraska.

As noted in Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, at 406-407, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1966),

> . . . the privileges and immunities clause is not an absolute. It does bar discrimination against citizens of other States where there is no substantial reason for the discrimination beyond the mere fact that they are citizens of other States. But it does not preclude the disparity of treatment in the many situations where there are perfectly valid independent reasons for it. Thus the inquiry in each case must be concerned with whether such reasons do exist and whether the degree of discrimination bears a close relation to them.

In this case the discrimination does not appear to be based solely on the fact that these out-of-state retailers are not citizens of Nebraska, but whether such a provision would be upheld is difficult to say. In short, this provision of the bill raises several constitutional questions for which there are no ready answers outside of a determination by the courts.

Sincerely,
ROBERT M. SPIRE
