

that we will visit in Washington. And I hope that we do not take back an empty sack, Senator Chambers, that we do have something that we can present to the people that were there, whether it be President Reagan or some of the majority and minority leaders of Congress. But I would hope that this Legislature will not put its head in the sand and say, there is nothing we can do. The battle is still out there and we have got to fight it and, hopefully, we will assist certain farmers to stay in agriculture. Thank you.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Lamb, then Senator Schmit, then Senator Vard Johnson. Senator Lamb.

SENATOR LAMB: Mr. President and members, I guess as I read the resolution it really doesn't mean that much. As I read it, it says that we will give one group $20 million, we will give another group sympathy. Now that is great, but I guess I would like to see something a little bit more concrete than is expressed in the resolution. Now Senator Landis mentioned that he is supportive of the amendment to the resolution. But, you know, I remember during the Special Session he was not all that supportive of the ag land valuation amendment. He is saying something there, but I think that is true. But, Senator Landis, could I ask you a question?

SENATOR LANDIS: I was hoping you would.

SENATOR LAMB: Did you want to respond to my little statement there?

SENATOR LANDIS: You bet. Senator Lamb will recall that I sponsored...

SENATOR LAMB: It's a mistake...it's always a mistake because Senator Landis is so dramatic that I cannot...I know I can't compete with him but I made this mistake.

SENATOR LANDIS: If you would like a little truth, I have got a little bit for you. In the middle of the Special Session I offered an amendment to help needy farmers and to target relief to people in need, stood on the floor, sponsored it, argued for it and voted for it as well. I thought that was the proposition to help farmers in need and it was my resolution, my amendment that sought to do exactly that in the Special Session and I only got 19 votes and I am
