

lot of them. And I need a lot of white people to be without and destitute. I need them to feel the arrogance of the Department of Roads and these others who run these street projects. Then suddenly they open their eyes and they say, you know, we have got a problem. I say, no, my problem is over. They destroyed me. You have got a problem now.

PRESIDENT: One minute, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: At a time when it was, in fact, we, you weren't interested in talking and you are not now. So I am in a no lose situation on this one. If the bill is killed, then I will see how the Legislature saw fit to deal with those who I am told are really my enemies. I don't have to drop the hammer on them. I don't have to be the executioner with the axe severing their head from their business body. Let the Legislature do it. And since you all know each other better than I could ever hope to know you, maybe I ought to let it just be a family affair and stay out of this one and follow your lead and see what guidance you will give me. Be big or get out, that's what they told the farmers.

PRESIDENT: Your time has expired, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Maybe those suckers need to be closed down, so I will watch and see what you are going to do to them. I think I will ride this particular vote out.

PRESIDENT: Senator DeCamp.

SENATOR DECAMP: Mr. President, an old man named Terry Carpenter used to get up every once in a while after debate and he would say, read the bill, read the bill, you are not talking about the bill. And I am telling you, read the bill. Most of the arguments are directed against the original version of the bill. The current version, I am not seeking to get damages for business. I am seeking one simple little thing, and read the bill. What does it say? It says I want...I want you to be able to get into and out of your property. That's all. Ingress and egress, that is what I am talking about. Holy cripes, is that so unreasonable? And then with Senator Beutler's amendment we even standardized it to where it is even more limited. We said, if it is reasonable to have ingress and egress. That is what we are talking about. I am simply saying, give the average citizen out there exactly what you claim he has
