

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, if some of us are macho and still have a touch of that pioneer spirit, why don't you say that if we have air bags we don't have to have the safety belt, or say some other suitable safety device?

SENATOR MOREHEAD: Because we know, Senator Chambers, that even with an air bag you are not fully protected, unless you also have a safety belt. We really want to protect you, Senator Chambers. I hope your crystal ball works correctly.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Now I work a letter to Lizzy offering to buy Conrail and she...

SPEAKER NICHOL: Time is up.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Haberman.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I'm going to point something out to you. I'd like to have you listen. It says only where the seat belts are provided that the people in the front seat have to be strapped in.. Well, if we pass this law, Senator Remmers and the rest of you in favor of it, there are 411,796 people that cannot conform to the law. Do you know why? There are only three seat belts in a pickup, and four people can legally ride in them. Yeah. So that means everybody out where I come from, if somebody drives a pickup, if you've got four people, you's in trouble, Senator Conway, because you can't conform to the law. I don't know about these big semis. I'd have to ask Senator Beyer. But I think they are included. They ride, sometimes, three people and I think they only have two. So how can they conform to the law? Does this include tourists when they come into our state, Senator Morehead? You just nod yes or no. Does it include tourists that are passing through the state?

SENATOR MOREHEAD: Yes.

SENATOR HABERMAN: So now we have some tourists that are passing through the state and, boy, are we going to get them. They don't have their seat belts on. But they can't conform to the law if there are four of them in a pickup. How do they know what the law is? Are we going to stop at every station and hand out a little pamphlet and say, hey,
