

there. So you've got a rule and reg. that is somewhat akin to an agency just making a rule and regulation out of the blue, with no authorization at all. So what Senator Marsh is trying to do is put the law back in place that gave the authorization for the regulation. Now that, on the surface, shouldn't be too bad of a problem. However, there are some interpretations that may be having some very bad, adverse effects on some of the industries involved. That does cause a problem. It causes a problem for me. I'm going to pledge to Shirley, excuse me, to Senator Marsh and the factions involved that if there is a way that we can work out Senator Marsh's goal to accomplish this situation for the attorneys and the volunteer fire fighters, and not adversely affect the industries involved, that we can bring a bill in and eliminate an awful lot of debate, and we can make both parties happy, and we can move on. I think that I'll ask one final time if Shirley Marsh would be willing to withhold her motion at this point, let the bill advance to Select, and then advance on to E & R for Engrossment. Then we'll pull it back, if necessary, if we can reach a compromise. Senator Marsh, would you be willing to do that at this point?

SENATOR MARSH: There is one other speaker to speak. I thought I'd listen to what he had to say before I do it.

SENATOR HANNIBAL: Fine.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Nelson, please. Were you through, Senator Hannibal? All right. Senator Nelson.

SENATOR NELSON: Mr. Speaker, I have a couple of questions of Senator Marsh, if she would please respond.

SENATOR MARSH: Yes, Senator Nelson.

SENATOR NELSON: Senator Marsh, I see on page 3, Section 3, storage tank shall mean any tank used for containment of hazardous substances for any period of time, except those farm tanks having a storage capacity of less than 1,000 gallons containing substances. I guess maybe I'm getting technical, but when it says less than 1,000 gallons that means a tank of 1,000 gallons is included in this. Am I correct?

SENATOR MARSH: No, the intent is not to be messing with
