

of wise men and women over there decided that the best part of their wisdom requires them to knuckle under to the American automobile manufacturers acting through Lizzie. You know the most famous Lizzie in history up until now, "Lizzie Borden took an ax and gave her mother 40 whacks, and when she saw what she had done, she gave her father 41." I don't know which one she did in first, but she supposedly got both of them. Well my friend Lizzie, head of the Department of Transportation, is about to do the same thing to the public through these legislators. This Legislature is Lizzie Dole's ax and with this ax she is going to bludgeon into submission the citizens of this state. They want to, those who support this bill, amend it so that these cops can stop fighting crime and go after the new criminals. You hear about the new rich, the new poor and now we've got the new criminals, those who won't wear seat belts. So if a cop is tired he can drive around looking in people's car and pull somebody over. Suppose it's a young lady who is attractive? He can pull her over and talk to her, he doesn't have to give her a ticket, and tell her, you know, I could ticket you because you're not wearing your seat belt, but I'm not going to do that. I'm going to tell you why you ought to wear your seat belt and give her a 20 or 30 minute lecture, while away some boring time, while pretending that he is enforcing the law. Then he sees somebody like Chambers that he doesn't particularly care for and knowing in advance that it's not likely I'm wearing my seat belt, pull me over. Chambers, you're in violation of the law. By God, you get a ticket, so he writes out the citation. I say I think the law is unjust, I think it's unfair and I'm not wearing the seat belt because I'm not going to let a bunch of knucklehead people tell me as a grown man what I'm going to do in my own car.

PRESIDENT: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: He says, and there is a price you pay. I say, what's the price, officer? He says, sign this ticket and appear in court. I say, I won't sign the ticket. Then he's got to stop what he is doing and take me to jail. He's got to take me to jail if I refuse to sign the ticket so maybe what we can do is organize enough people who don't want to wear these belts to make a cop take every one of them to jail by refusing to sign the ticket, then pull all these cops out of service. Make them take us to jail. Make them spend the time booking us in. Let them set a bond on
