

money. The Christians in their churches, where they are supposed to be worshiping Jesus who went into a synagogue and whipped people out because they were changing money. All they were doing was jacking up the exchange rate to make a little more profit, but at least you got something for your money. They gamble in the churches and you may not get anything. You let Jesus come down to one of these churches and try to throw over some bingo tables. They'd call the police in with a stun gun, mace, a club, handcuffs and a pistol, and Jesus would have more knots on His head than a porcupine's got quills, and you all know it. I'm bring the truth to us and talking realistically about the hypocrisy going on here when we talk about gambling. There is old Senator Elroy Hefner, looking at the newspaper, playing like it doesn't involve him. He goes to church. He is for Christian gambling. He is for gambling in the schools. He is for gambling at these service clubs. Uplift society by gambling. These conservatives, how can they vote for any kind of gambling, horse racing, stealing money from the public? What a Legislature, and they've got the nerve to point the finger at Las Vegas, point the finger at New Jersey. I don't understand it, a heathen, a lost soul such as myself, whose spiritual eyes are dark and cannot see the truth. But all of these people, with the sensitivity, and as Senator Nichol said, the preacher prays whether you are here or not, and it does you good whether you are here or not. But it doesn't make you consistent.

SPEAKER NICHOL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I'm going to watch the votes on this board. I'm going to watch all those people who talk about the video slots being so evil. I'm going to see if they are going to vote for this Christian bill. Senator Labeledz knows I'm not going to vote for it. Senator Labeledz, the only time I set foot in church is if people ask me to come there and talk about something other than religion, but I manage to talk about religion anyway, but I won't go there. I can't vote for gambling in churches. I think the churches ought to be clean. I think people ought to be able to get away from the sinfulness of the world when they go to church. They shouldn't have to sit up there and watch the priest dispense wine and crackers with this hand and lottery tickets, pickle cards and bingo cards out of the right hand. What a picture that shows. I think you ought to defeat Senator Conway's amendment, then kill this bill. But,
