

Speaker I'll overlook it.

SPEAKER NICHOL: No, well, the young lady tells me that I did, and I didn't mean to.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Well, that is all right. I excuse you, Mr. Speaker.

SPEAKER NICHOL: All right.

SENATOR HABERMAN: A question of Senator Vickers, please.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Vickers, Senator Carson Rogers, the Speaker made a mistake apparently, and I overlooked his light, which was on, so he'll get to speak and then I'll let you close again, if you'd like. Senator Haberman.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Senator Vickers, you made the remark that this bill has nothing to do with financing and, therefore, it is not germane. I would like to ask you a question. On the original 662 did it have any financing in it?

SENATOR VICKERS: The original 662?

SPEAKER NICHOL: This is 662.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Isn't that the reorganization bill that we just passed here the other day?

SENATOR VICKERS: The original 662 had a section in it dealing with the valuation of farmland, as I recall.

SENATOR HABERMAN: But it didn't have anything about putting sales tax or financing in it, did it?

SENATOR VICKERS: Not that I recall.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Thank you, Mr. President. There is a prime example of why this should be germane because 662 had nothing to do with sales tax and anything else, and it went through this body as being germane and being acceptable. So I can't see the difference between what Senator Carson is trying to do and what this body did with 662. So I would say that maybe this is one of the times that you have erred in your ruling. Thank you, Mr. President.
