

don't know anything about. Thank you, Mr. President.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Chronister, please.

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wonder if I could ask Senator Vard Johnson a question, please.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Yes.

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Senator Johnson, would a farmer have to pay sales tax on the cost or expenditure of installing an electric line to his irrigation well?

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Well generally speaking, Senator Chronister, we don't tax a service so, you know, if the running the line in is a service, which I think it is, I don't think the farmer would have to pay the sales tax on the cost of running that line in from the road to his irrigation well.

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Is it really considered a service?

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: I will confer with committee counsel and try to come up with a better answer to that question, but I'm just doing it off the top of my head, Senator Chronister. I know that these questions are coming in from some place and if you would simply confer with me privately I could probably give you a better answer than I can when dealing with a technical question on the spur of the moment, but my belief is that is not a taxed transaction.

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Okay, thank you.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Sieck, please. Senator Harold Sieck.

SENATOR SIECK: (No response.)

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Labeledz. I was trying to get Senator Sieck's attention. Senator Sieck, you're up.

SENATOR SIECK: Call the question.

SPEAKER NICHOL: The question has been called. Do I see five hands? No, I was trying to get Senator Sieck's attention and you were talking to him, so I called you to
