

as close to a nest of vipers, dig into the internal structure of Ak-Sar-Ben and how it functions. They have bought out the World Herald by giving Harold Anderson the kingship, he can wear his little short pants, his funny clothes and be mated with a very young woman that they call the queen, or whatever they call her. They always have these doddering old fools attached to a very young woman. Why don't they take an elderly "dahme" or dame and hook her up with one of these young studs and keep all of that stuff parallel? It is a degrading, demeaning operation. And we ought to at least, in the Legislature, tell them that they can come and breathe their hot breath and smoke up those glass doors all they choose, but their foul breath will not come into this room and twist and distort what it is we are to do here. There is no legitimate concern about any of the other small tracks. This is Ak-Sar-Ben. I hope this one time, or this second time the Legislature will show some steel in the spine and apply some steel to the rump of Ak-Sar-Ben and send them back out there. You let them take people out of the churches on Sunday, which by the way is something, as I said the other day, I reluctantly have to give them credit for doing, but that is beside the point. Most of what they do is not good and I hope you will go ahead and allow this bill to be read today. I have not talked to Senator Conway about this. I'd like him, if he would, to answer a question. Senator Conway, and I know you are on an important call. I think he is talking to Mr. Reagan. Senator Conway, have I talked to you about your motion or anything related to it, this morning?

SENATOR CONWAY: I missed the question, ask again.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Have I talked to you about your amendment, your motion, this morning, or what I'm about to say, or anything on that line?

SPEAKER NICHOL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: He said no. Thank you. I'm not going to apply what I am saying directly to Senator Conway, but I'm going to create a hypothetical. A person could introduce a bill in this Legislature and forces could be brought to bear that might cause the introducer to take a position that is not to the introducer's liking, that is not according to the introducer's will. So I hope that we save Senator Conway from himself, save the Legislature from Ak-Sar-Ben, and go
