

the University of Nebraska to provide scholarship support for the students who attend private colleges in Nebraska." But he says he does believe in encouraging especially bright students to attend the University, usually as either Regent's or honor scholars. He just doesn't think they ought to come from Nebraska? We ought to send out state to get them? We've got nothing but a bunch of stupid heads in Nebraska. That shows you how poor Nebraska schools are although I understand we rank up there somewhere number one or number two in education. Mr. Roskins or Chancellor Roskins, President Roskins I guess it is, says need-base scholarship programs should be funded at an appropriate level, at an appropriate level, but not at the expense of current programs. Who do they think is paying for those current programs? I am. Every taxpayer in Nebraska is and I don't have any children going to any colleges. I feel like I'm being ripped off. You're taking my tax dollars and you're sending them to New Jersey, Hawaii, Florida, all over the country.

PRESIDENT: One minute.

SENATOR HIGGINS: And you're not even doing it to help needy students who could be brilliant and bright and who are brilliant and bright. Our present system is for the rich and the super rich. This amendment doesn't say they have to go to an independent college. They can still go to the beloved University, college here in Lincoln. That private little empire that grows every year by leaps and bounds. You wait till I give the press what I've compiled over the summer on the waste at the University. And if you want to talk, Senator Wesely, about the brilliant professors, this is something I've known for years and never spoke about.

PRESIDENT: Your time is expiring.

SENATOR HIGGINS: The University of Nebraska Medical Center had a professor who their own security guard arrested at night for running stark naked across the campus.

PRESIDENT: Your time is expiring.

SENATOR HIGGINS: That's too bad because you would have loved to have heard the rest.

PRESIDENT: Senator Sieck, did you want to be recognized
