

going to ask for the rationale for this because I'm sure the Appropriations Committee has one. Once you get off in that Alice in Wonderland world, everything seems logical and reasonable to you. Your mind gets filled with fumes. You deal with so many numbers that what is real doesn't appear real anymore in the same way that if you repeat the same word over and over, pretty soon it loses its meaning and it is a sound that does not convey anything to your mind at all other than the sound that you are making. That is what happened to the Appropriations Committee. So, they said, we have got to deal with this wastage in state spending. We have got to make some cuts so that the public will see how frugal, stingy, tight fist and cruel the Legislature is. Now how can we do that? What we could do is find out which steps the blind people enter the building through and put little items that they would trip over and fall down the steps, but that doesn't take away any money, that just shows our cruelty and that is not what the public wants, they want us to be cruel and take some money. Maybe what we could do is build some ramps for those in wheelchairs to go up and put grease on them. If the person's wheels don't slip, the grease will get on the wheels and when the person tries to manipulate the wheels the hands will slip off and we will still achieve the same effect. For those of you who are trying to puzzle out where I am, I said page 8 of this atrocity put together by the Appropriations Committee. If you look in the agency column, the second number 13, Program 143, school lunch. They want to cut $8,000 out of that. I think this really took something to do. I bet ole John Wayne is clanking around in Cowboy Heaven looking down at the Legislature and saying, "By God, I like that. A-ha, a-ha, a-ha-ha-ha." They have got a wrap by John Wayne on the video, and he likes these kind of things. Because he engaged in make believe fights on the screen, there are grown people who thought that John Wayne was really fighting people, that his knuckles were coming in contact with people's jaws and they were really being knocked unconscious so they made John Wayne a hero. Ronald Reagan types, all these silly people who live in make believe worlds thought so much of John Wayne that they had the U.S. Government strike a medal to honor John Wayne who was not even a good actor. That is the kind of stupidity and silliness that this government will undergo and throwing away money and its integrity then you are going to come down here and cut $8,000 off the lunch program.
