

my purpose is accomplished, which is getting the bill moving today and maybe some other people have some purposes of providing some additional input even if only informational, but we might learn something that could be then brought to the floor. I doubt it...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, thank you.

SENATOR DECAMP: ...but it is...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You gave me a...

SENATOR DECAMP: ...just a practical accommodation.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You answered very forthrightly. This reminds me of that letter the other day, and I am going to have opportunities to talk about that. But if the Legislature wanted to take a position on an issue, they could have offered a resolution and done it in the way that the Legislature does things, but instead they did it extra legislatively by circulating a letter outside the Legislature but giving the public the impression that this is an act of a majority of the legislators, therefore, it represents a legislative action. So instead of having a public hearing which is really a sham and has no real part to play in how this bill is handled, they ought to just get together and circulate a letter or let those people who want to say something write letters and do it. But to pervert the system twice, I think is not a good idea so I am reserving how I will vote on this bill, but I really do have to object to the idea of this charade. Senator DeCamp, do you have something you would like to add?

SENATOR DECAMP: Senator Chambers, believe it or not, I tend to agree with you about the letter. I signed it, however, I think you are right. I will introduce a resolution condemning Khadafy and terrorism and do give us a chance to debate and I think that is appropriate and I think it is fair and I think it is the best method and I am preparing such a resolution. I apologize for not having gone around and immediately done that to condemn "your actions and Khadafy" and everything else. I think it is appropriate that we do that, condemn you formally, yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And that will then give me the opportunity to meet my antag...my protagonists or
