

thinking of us. Senator Landis.

SENATOR LANDIS: The question having been divided, I now call the question on the first section of the Scofield substitute amendment.

SPEAKER NICHOL: And that is...

SENATOR LANDIS: The six and six representation, I believe.

SPEAKER NICHOL: All right. The question has been...you were calling the question on the first part. All right. The question is the adoption of the first part of the Scofield amendment. All those in favor vote...Senator.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Point of order.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Yes.

SENATOR HIGGINS: It was my understanding you could not speak and then call the question, that you either had to call the question or speak, but you couldn't do both.

SPEAKER NICHOL: That is true. Do you object?

SENATOR HIGGINS: Yes.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Okay, in that case, Senator Remmers.

SENATOR LANDIS: I'm sorry. Mr. Speaker, inform me how I argued the question in any way. I simply asked if that was the subject we were on, and then with that confirmation moved the question. I made no arguments for or against the bill. I simply moved the question in the very first sentence of my recognized speech before the body. I appropriately called the question.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Tell you what I'm going to do, I'm going to put that to a vote of the body as to whether or not we cease debate on the first half. If we...I perhaps made the error there, Senator Higgins, and I'm sorry and I apologize to you. But since I did say it, I'm going to stick with it and put it to a vote of the body. Thank you. I'll try to avoid that in the future, Senator Higgins. Thank you. The question is, shall debate cease on the first part of the amendment? All those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. We
