

SPEAKER NICHOL: Record, Mr. Clerk, please.

CLERK: 27 ayes, 1 nay to cease debate, Mr. President.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Debate has ceased. Senator Chambers, would you like to close, please.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, I would. I am glad that Senator Chizek acknowledged that they found some flaws in the bill after they slept for two days while I was trying to bring them up. I raised the issue of the problem with "technique", Senator Hoagland. Senator Johnson and Senator DeCamp were late. But you all were so intent on doing the work of B'nai B'rith that you were going to take the bill untouched. I knew about the amendment that is coming and I will have my time to mock and scoff and extract my pound of flesh because you are going to have to come back and accept the very thing you rejected the other day that you were so angry about me discussing. And now all of you are going to have to return like the proverbial dog Jesus talked about returning to his vomit and consume that which you rejected, not because I am offering it, but because some of the good guys are going to offer it. And you are going to accept it not because you have thought about it or you have come to any conclusion based on an intellectual process, but because those who allow you to vote a certain way have told you, now you can vote for it. That is the way it is played around here and I always know, that as the song says, "My Day Will Come", and you can see from that that all black people can't sing, by the way, can't all sing well.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Did you wish us to vote on that?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: No, that which is self-evident requires no vote. But, at any rate, the purpose that I had in mind for that second amendment I think has been served. So I want to withdraw it. I have a third proposition up there. Oh, may I withdraw that, Mr. Chairman?

SPEAKER NICHOL: Well, we are going to leave...if you are withdrawing this motion, is that what you are doing? We are going to leave this bill as soon as we are through with this amendment that we are on.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, can I substitute one and get a vote
