

please?

SENATOR CHRONISTER: As long as you are on a roll, Rex, go ahead.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Do you have the bill, the amendment, before you?

SENATOR CHRONISTER: I did but I just sent it back down. Go ahead.

SENATOR HABERMAN: All right. Are you familiar with the practice of chiropractors?

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Not any more so than a lot of others but go ahead.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Are they licensed to use electrical stimulation equipment?

SENATOR CHRONISTER: To a certain degree, yes.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Are they licensed to use ultrasound, the application of ultrasound?

SENATOR CHRONISTER: Rex, I don't know about that.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Okay, thank you. Thank you very much. I am not trying to embarrass anybody. I am just trying to show you this bill has a lot more to it than what we are talking about protecting the citizens. So I am raising the questions. That is all that I am doing. I am not chastising anybody for not knowing those answers. Maybe we will have to find out those answers if the bill advances. So, thank you, Mr. President.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Goll, are you closing on the advancement of the bill?

SENATOR GOLL: I will waive closing to Senator Wesely.

SPEAKER NICHOL: All right, Senator Wesely, would you like to?

SENATOR WESELY: Mr. Speaker, again, I think the bill is narrow in focus. It deals with certain items that are
