

the right thing. You waive the corporation and the Legislature falls right into line. How many meatloaf sandwiches and chicken dinners have HNG/Internorth provided the Legislature? I'm not aware of that many. How much liquor have they poured down the gullets of the legislators? I'm not aware of that many activities that HNG/Internorth have given to the senators. They got all of this without doing anything.

SENATOR HANNIBAL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I don't even know if they have a membership in the Lobby Room. Here they get all of these signatures, all of these signatures, and they are going to leave Omaha anyway. Why was this done? To distract us, to add some comic relief to the tragedy of what the Legislature is doing. These remarks may seem off the mark, but they are as much on the mark as what the Legislature is doing. When all of these votes have been taken and the "repelicans" have defeated the Democrat over in the other part of the building, he will simply call us back into Special Session. There will be grumbling, weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth, but we will come back and we will consider the issues that he tells us to consider and the "repelicans" will vote against them and we'll adjourn, then he'll call us back. That is alright because I come almost every day, Honorable Chairperson, and as I said to some of the others, it is nice to have company.

SENATOR HANNIBAL: Your time is up. I understand we have a priority motion, Mr. Clerk?

CLERK: Yes, sir. Mr. President, Senator Beutler would move to reconsider the vote on the Johnson amendment.

SENATOR HANNIBAL: Senator Beutler.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature, I usually don't do this sort of thing because it is not appropriate, we just argued the matter. But in this particular case there are couple of people who were not here and didn't understand the issue who want to vote again on it. So I don't offer you any additional arguments. I'm not here to take up additional time, but I think only in fairness to those people it would be appropriate to take one more quick vote on the issue. Thank you.
