

Legislature, this is nonsensical. I am not calling Senator Hoagland that now. I want that clear. I am talking about what you are doing now as a legislative process. How many of you think the Attorney General is as stupid as the Legislature is saying the Attorney General is? Now there is not even an official responsibility placed on his office until July of 1986, and you mean to tell me you think between now and that time when there is no requirement for him to do anything he is going to lay aside money, assign personnel, and start a training program, when in July, I meant during the January 1986 session, the Legislature may decide this is not the way to go? Now let's say that the Attorney General does begin to lay aside personnel and spend money and set up training. Then the Legislature decides that this whole scheme is not what it should be and wipes it out. Where does that leave the Attorney General's Office with all that work and the money expended for no purpose? You all need to see this is a highly political bill that we are dealing with and you are asking agencies of government to act on faith because the Legislature is going to enact legislation based on hope for luck. Other agencies have often asked the Legislature why assign a responsibility without the funds to carry it out? But none to date have been able to come to the Legislature and say you want me to do something before you even pass the law requiring me to do it. The Attorney General, when this thing passes, is not going to look at it and say because I have duties that will be imposed on me in July of 1986 I am going to begin in November of 1985 to implement that which I am not even required to do. That is nonsensical, and by nonsensical I mean there is not a logical progression from one point to the next point to the next point so that you reach a conclusion based on that which went before in a rational fashion. That is what I mean by nonsensical. Apparently some people have made agreements and told of certain things they are going to put in this bill no matter what, and they got cut off at the pass because they got the Legislature to do it last night, and found out they didn't have all their ducks lined up although they had enough turkeys to vote for it, and now they are telling the ones who voted for it, you were snookered and put in the role of turkeys because you trusted us, you did that which was not well thought out and now we have got to tell you you made a mistake and now we are asking you to do a bigger thing in the way of a travesty. We are asking you to put in place legislation that has no effect whatsoever, and based on that
