

uniformity clause was put in there to keep us from doing. That's one of the biggest problems I have with 1063 and that's one of the biggest problems I have with changing 70 some years of the Constitution. I think the people of the State of Nebraska need to think long and hard before they want to relegate to us the ability to hand things out like that. And in 1970 they did. You said you could classify personal property, 1970 they did say, yes, you can exempt all personal property but at least at that point in time they were promised we were going to still treat everybody within a class somewhat the same. 1063 is a total deviation from, that policy. Also, the last 25 years in this state we have marched onward in what I think is developing a tax policy that does get away from the horse and buggy days, does get away from the feudal days when a property was wealth and marches on toward a sales tax system, more based on sales and income tax, better based on the ability to pay. We've been going that way, oh, for the last 25 years and even before that with some of the exemptions and intangibles prior to that. With 1063...

PRESIDENT MOUL: One minute.

SENATOR MOORE: ...once again, 72 years in the Constitution, 25 years of tax policy. It finally stops moving forward, at least in my opinion, as far as moving us backwards. And I know that many people want to believe the choice is this or things going back on or Senator Warner rightfully states, given present law, they are back on. I certainly feel the choices are more than that. And I think the body should indefinitely postpone LB 1063 and I think to (inaudible) 1063, coupled with the constitutional amendment, asking people to repeal the uniformity clause so we can give, treat everybody the same, treat everybody equally with one exception, I think you're going to be asking the people to do a little much and I don't know why the people would want to do that.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Thank you, Senator Moore. Senator Lamb.

SENATOR LAMB: Thank you, Madam President and members, you know I don't know how I'm going to vote on this really because as many of you know, early on I came out in support of the concept and I know not very many people are listening, but I think Senator Crosby will listen to me if I call her name and then I'll have at least one person that is listening. Henry I think, Henry listens part of the time too, but when we were talking
