dealer, when you go into Omaha, how many cars do you suppose you would find in that car auction? Sometimes I see 2,000 but I will guarantee you there will be zilch, and the same way with we have a lot of small businesses,...

SPEAKER BAACK: One minute.

SENATOR NELSON: ...the farm implement dealers, they no longer can make it. Many, many of them are going out of business. How much more can we put on the backs of those? As we say, we are all homeowners, and so this thing, this fallacy of saying that, oh, boy, I am going to make news, I am going to make news media, I am going to say this and this, there are a lot of things that are at stake. I had an attorney come to my house the other night. All right, Arlene, put a tax on the doctors. Well, he was mad at the doctors. Put a tax on the attorney's degree. All right, put a tax on the professor's degree, I suppose. That is their method of making income. Maybe we ought to go to a sales and income but I think for us to come down here and put in the Constitution, remember nothing can be changed after that time, you cannot add or subtract, or so on. The intentions of Senator Beutler and Senator Ashford were good but...

SPEAKER BAACK: Time.

SENATOR NELSON: ...I am afraid it was not the right way to do it. Thanks, Mr. President.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Nelson. Senator Crosby, you are next.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Mr. Speaker and members. I'd like...when Senator Beutler spoke a few minutes ago about the year 2001, I heard the fanfare for the common man in my head. I'll bet a lot of you did because what is what we are talking about this morning is the common man. All of us are in this together, and I, again, I have listened to everybody and I think we all agree that we need to look at it from a point of view of everyone in the State of Nebraska, not just someone who lives on farmland or in a farm area, or who lives in a city. I also want to bring to your attention, but, Senator Hefner, thanks a lot for paying that city sales tax, we need all the help we can get in Lincoln because, comparatively speaking, LB 1059 did very little for the school district in Lincoln. So I do appreciate that contribution. There are leaks in the sales tax. We know
