LB 500 changes provisions related to school buses. The bill repeals current law requiring school bus drivers in a city or village to have at least 400 feet of clear vision when a bus stops to unload pupils. The requirement is retained for drivers outside of a city or village.

The State Department of Education will need to revise a rule to reflect the elimination of the requirement for bus drivers in cities and villages. The estimated cost for rule revision is $600. It is assumed the department can handle the revision with existing resources of the agency.

COMMENTS: The Department of Education estimates the cost to implement LB 500 would be $600 General Funds for Rules
Development. There is no reason to believe the agency could not absorb this amount within current budget resources
