

four days unlimited bill requests would be accepted by the bill drafter and then between the fourth and the eighth day one more request per senator and per committee. This is a little change from before because since we have unlimited bill introductions now we were afraid we might get into the situation where the bill drafter just would not be able to handle the volume of requests. So I call that to your attention and hope that you can get your requests in today and if you have an emergency then you have the prerogative of another request between the fourth legislative day and the eighth legislative day. Thank you.
